WHAT I KNOW ABOUT OLD BILED CROW.

SOLO AND CHORUS—Air, Dandy Jim.

Solo.

Old Horace round the circle swings,
And talks of corners, thieves and rings—
About them all, what he don't know
Ain't worth a d—— doesnt old biled crow.

Chorus.

Like Andy Johnson, glib of tongue,
Who once around the circle swung—
The Constitution couldn't make go,
So took to eating old biled crow.

Solo.

At Pittsburg, where the soldiers met,
The Sage was in a raging fret
Because the soldiers stand so fast,
And wont go back upon their past.

Chorus.

Upon their past they don't go back;
They still are true, both white and black;
And if 'twas farming they don't know,
They can't be made to eat biled crow.

Solo.

"And now," says Horace, "don't you see
How much I'm loving Bobby Lee?
'Tis true he caused some grievous woe,
Which we shall cure with old biled crow."

Chorus.

"Toward Lee and Jeff I quite incline,
Their principles were much like mine;
And if we didn't make them go,
We can clasp hands and eat biled crow."

Solo.

"I know about the devil's dance,
And know some things about finance,
And prices, when they rise and fall,
But which is best don't know at all."

Chorus.

"I do not know, and don't much care—
It may be foul, or may be fair—
One thing I very clear can show,
It don't affect our old biled crow."

Solo.

"I think a corner is not good—
A corner in the price of food;
But if George B. should dare step in
And break it—that might be a sin."

Chorus.

"Whether George B. does what is best
Is one of the things I never guessed;
But this I may be said to know,
I'd swear he's right would he eat crow."

Solo.

"I have a favorite toothsome dish—
'Tis old biled crow—but Grant likes Fish;
He likes potatoes dry and mealy—
But I don't know, for I am Greeley."

Chorus.

"I don't care much about my feed,
I eat what pleases Whitelaw Reid;
He told me all I didn't know
About the taste of old biled crow."
