OUR MODOC ELEPHANT.

SECOND INTERVIEW WITH THE SAVAGES

Their Confessions as to Stolen Property—The Massacre of the Peace Commissioners—Additional Facts in the Case.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 15.—The following dispatch has been received:

BOYLE'S CAMP, TULE LAKE, June 12.—This afternoon the Modocs sent for Dr. Cabaness and requested a second interview, in order that further facts relative to the missing articles, ornaments and wearing apparel might be made known. Black Jim acknowledged that he stole $18 from Meacham and passed in that amount. Boston Charley said he had Meacham's pistol hidden under a rock and would return it if he had a chance. Meacham's memorandum book was discovered by the squaws.

Steamboat Frank said he knew where the coat and vest of Dr. Thomas were, and they could be obtained in half a day. The reversed gentlemen's coat he stated was at Curlew, in Warm Spring Indians. Lieut. Cranston's ring was there. The leading braves, including Captain Jack, said thirty or forty shots were fired during the massacre of the peace commissioners, and actively shifted the responsibility of the murder from one to another.

All agreed, however, that Bogus Charley did not participate in the massacre, and from first to last condemned it as an unfair and unsafe proceeding.

Pending the arrival of orders from General Schofield regarding the disposition of the California Modocs, no decision as to immediate movements has been obtained.

The first account sent by mail, though official, of the number of captives, is inaccurate. The total number should be reduced to 136.

THE KICKAPOO INDIANS.

Possible Settlement of the Difficulty.

SAN ANTONIO, TEXAS, June 14.—Messrs. Atkinson and Williams, the special Indian commissioners to Mexico, arrived here last night, accompanied by Senor Montero, Mexican commissioner, and Chiguana Kako, the head chief of the Kickapoos. They report that the Indian tribes in Mexico are willing to go on a reservation in the United States, provided their women and children, captured by Gen. McKenzie and now imprisoned, are returned to them in Mexico. They have written to their people to fulfill this promise, if the Indians, after the return of the captives, endeavor to avoid compliance with it. They also report that all intelligent Mexicans think it will be the best way to rid the frontier of these Indians.

Messrs. Atkinson and Williams had several days' conference with the most influential chiefs of the Kickapoos, Lipanas and Mescaliteros, resulting as above stated. They also visited Cespeda, of Coahuila, who received them kindly, and appointed a commissioner to co-operate with them in effecting the removal. They also visited Governor Coldwell, of Texas, who promises to cordially co-operated by rendering the necessary assistance.

All the Texan frontiersmen heartily wish them success in removing Texas of this band of robbers by an early removal. The military authorities are willing to accede to the request, as the Mexican authorities hold themselves responsible for the return of the prisoners if the tribes do not comply with their promise.

NEW HAMPSHIRE

A Fearful Tragedy at Hudson.

NASHUA, N. H., June 14.—At Hudson, New Hampshire, Henry Jewett, twenty-five years of age, has been endeavoring to force his suit with Miss Ella Wood, daughter of Charles Wood. Miss Wood rejected his offer of marriage, and her parents also opposed it. This morning Jewett visited Miss Wood, pulled from his pocket a six-shooter, aimed at her head, and fired. The ball entered her forehead, just above the eye, and lodged under the skin. Miss Wood fell upon the floor, but not insensible, and it is hoped the wound is not mortal. Jewett then passed from the house to the yard, where he met Mr. Wood, and endeavored to assassinate him. Mr. Wood caught the enraged man by the throat, warded off the aim of the pistol, and so fortunately escaped. Jewett then put his pistol to his own ear and discharged it, the ball entering his head and causing a wound that must prove fatal. The indications are that it was Jewett's intention to murder the entire family.

MORE ADVICE FROM AMSKA'S MURDER.

NASHUA, N. H., June 14.—It appears that the shooting affair here to-day occurred in the sitting-room of Mr. Chas. Wood's farm-house. After the first shot was fired Miss Wood grappled with the assassin, when a fearful life and death struggle ensued, in which Jewett attempted to take Mr. Wood's life. Wood finally overcame Jewett and crushed him to the floor, whereupon the latter put his pistol to his own head and discharged it. In the excitement of the moment Mr. Wood dragged him out of the house by the heels and left him under an apple tree to die.

Dr. Smith probed Jewett's wound to the depth of five inches, and says he cannot live. While he had his senses he asked forgiveness for what he had done. Some years ago Jewett married Miss Smith, of this city, but the marriage was an unhappy one, and they soon separated. Miss Wood's wound is worse than at first reported. It has been probed to the depth of three inches, and although she has her senses her recovery is doubtful.

AN OPIUM RIOT.

Celestials on the Rampage.

NEW YORK, June 15.—A Herald Pittsburg special reports a riot on Friday night at Beaver Falls between the Chinese workmen in the employ of a cutlery company. The rules of the company forbid the use of opium and prohibit gambling. A pipe taken from the mouth of one of the Chinamen at the order of Ah Pay, one of their interpreters, was the occasion of a row and a cessation of work by the Celestials. After dark an attempt was made to recover the pipe from Ah Pay, who is charged by the men with swindling and mismanagement, but he kept out of the way. The excitement in the streets was finally quelled, but was wild in their own quarters to a late hour.

The whole party has been discharged by the company, and expected to pack their traps Monday and leave for California. They may go quietly, but the whites are apprehensive of further trouble.

SEIZURE OF AN ILLICIT DISTILLERY.

An illicit whisky manufactory was seized yesterday in the Fifth ward of Pittsburgh, and captured property embracing fourteen stills, nine tubs, and 18,000 gallons of mash. The officers were attacked by a mob, who pelted them with stones. The police were quite roughly treated.

Adam Danner was arrested yesterday for attempted fraud on the pension agency.

HORRIBLE MURDERS.

A Wife of Five Months Killed by her Husband.

NEW YORK, June 15.—Francis Gillen, aged twenty-three, a steamfitter, this evening met his wife Ellen, aged nineteen, to whom he had been married five months, but with whom he had never lived, in front of 33 Crosby street, where she was walking with a friend, and after a few moments conversation brought her up Broome street, near Elm, where he stabbed her five times in the breast, two of the stabs piercing the lungs and causing death within eight minutes. Gillen was arrested and admitted the stabbing.

JAMES DUFFY KILLED IN A SALOON.

During a drunken brawl which took place this evening in a drinking saloon, a laborer named James Duffy, aged twenty-three, was stabbed in the right breast and instantly killed by one Edward Kirtland, alias Curtis, a man of bad repute, who made his escape. The quarrel appeared to have arisen between three men named Duffy, O'Brien and Pete, and Curtis was no party to it at first.

KENTUCKY.

Railroad Bridge Washed Away by a Flood.

LOUISVILLE, June 15.—Heavy rains last night and to-day flooded the Rolling fork of Green river, a few miles this side of Bowling Green, and the accumulated drift carried away sixty feet of the Louisville and Nashville railroad bridge at that point. No other damage was done. Trains will probably be delayed two days.

NORTH CAROLINA.

Large Fire at Wilmington.

WILMINGTON, N. C., June 15.—A fire was discovered at 9 o'clock, p. m., in the wholesale grocery house of Williams & Murchison. The stock is almost an entire loss from fire and water. The building was only partially destroyed. The stock and building are fully insured. Two other small fires occurred on the same block to-day, but both were extinguished with trifling loss.

PENNSYLVANIA.

Two Boys Drowned.

PHILADELPHIA, June 15.—Caleb L. Haddock and Frank Yost, aged respectively eighteen, residents of this city, were drowned in Brandywine creek, near Biddle's cotton mill, yesterday. They were bathing at the time. Their bodies were recovered and brought to this city.

TENNESSEE.

The Cholera Decreasing.

MEMPHIS, June 15.—There were twenty one interments to-day against twelve yesterday. Physicians say the number of cholera patients is increasing, but the disease yields more readily to treatment than during the past week.

ROCK ENON SPRINGS.

The Trip Thither—Beautiful Scenery—A Charming Retreat—Personal Gossip.

ROCK ENON SPRINGS, FREDERICK COUNTY, VA., June 15, 1873.

DEAR REPUBLICAN: In company with Messrs. William H. Baldwin, Thomas M. Shepherd and Wolcott Lay, I left Washington by the Metropolitan branch of the Baltimore and Ohio railroad, at 4:50 p. m., last Saturday for a two or three days' visit to this place, which is now so favorably known to our citizens, and is destined to become the great summer resort for Washingtonians.

The new route by Point of Rocks, now fairly opened, is rich in scenery, and as our iron horse moves more slowly, from time to time, while crossing some awful chasm, we look into the depth below and no longer find fault with President Garrett for not running his team over the road sooner. There is no occasion to leave the train at Harper's Ferry for the "fifteen minutes for supper;" Mr. James Wormley is on board with a basket filled with the good of his own larder, and during the hour's ride to Winchester our bodies are refreshed, and that same basket made much easier to carry.

Bob Orrick, with his leather apron, brawny shoulders and smiling face, was at the depot to take our checks and stow us and our baggage, including "that basket," into the ambulance for Rock Enon. Away we go, jolting over the pavements that have grown into existence since they were planted in the streets of Winchester.

We are out of the city at last, and on a broad, smooth pike, with the moonlight softening everything, and the pure, cool mountain air laden with the fragrance of fresh mowed hay pervading every sense, making us feel as though we "were born again." Oh, it is glorious! but there are some thirteen miles or more of it to take in before we can draw the blankets over us and sleep. So Wormley, becoming all of one sensible that "the doctor," our humorous darkey John, was not "cattle" than animals usually so rated, recommended an early supper, and took the lines himself, and from that time until we reached Rock Enon it is our candid opinion that "them animals" regretted the change a good deal more than "the doctor," who amused us between the intervals of breaking traces and the anxious and oft-repeated inquiry of one of the party, who thought it was not necessary to bring a revolver with us, "if we do, we shall be robbed."

It was a fortunate circumstance that when a trace did break it was near a babbling brook of pure mountain water or a gushing spring, where we could quaff the delicious fluid and find that no "foreign substance" required to be mixed with it to prevent bad effects from the change from our own rich "Potomac." Gradually and almost imperceptibly we ascend the mountains, the road straightfully winding its way through the passes until we hear our destination, when a couple of steep hills, arched over with huge trees, have to be climbed, and then we descend into this retreat, which we have nightly surrnamed "Wormley's Rock Enon hotel." It was just midnight when the tired "James" relinquished the reins and the "ostlerly" to the "doctor," and we stumbled into our rooms, and

"Not a creature was stirring, not even a mouse."

All were asleep inside, but one of our number knew that an window would admit him, and soon Wormley, jr., was plotting how to get some comfortable room and bed. How one sleeps here; not the tired anxious sleep of the city, but pure, restful, restoring; and then how one eats here; the plaudits resounding from the broad piazza and the beautiful lawn with its sparkling fountain, and let me say just here that Wormley means to lose none of his well-earned reputation as a caterer while he keeps this house in the mountains. He has also secured a good band of music, which adds greatly to the enjoyment of the guests.

A number of our present citizens have engaged rooms for the whole season. Some are already here, enjoying the quiet and drinking in health and strength. The weather is delightful, the country so fresh and green, and the birds full of life and song, make the woods vocal.

Your correspondent came here for a time to rest, but it is so charming that he is constrained to write about it. The journey here is much more easily and quickly accomplished than formerly. Leaving Washington by the Baltimore and Ohio railroad, Metropolitan branch, at 7:40 a. m., you reach Harper's Ferry at 10:50 a. m. and Winchester at 12 m., and Rock Enon at 3 p. m., in time for dinner. The fare to the Springs and return is reduced by this route to $5.35, tickets good to October 1.

KING BILL'S KINGDOM.

THE ANNEXATION OF HAWAII.

Rear Admiral Pennock's Report to the Navy Department—King Bill's Revenues—Danger of Bankruptcy—Another Reciprocity Treaty Talked of—Opinions Regarding Annexation—Threatened Encroachment of Foreign Powers.

In the communications of A. M. Pennock, rear admiral commanding the North Pacific fleet, to the Navy Department respecting his recent visit to Honolulu, he says there was much excitement and discussion on the part of the naturalized citizens and foreign population of the kingdom in relation to the present embarrassed condition and future prospects of the Sandwich Islands. He continues: "It is believed by many who have studied well the subject that under existing circumstances the revenues derived from all available sources will be insufficient to continue the Government successfully for a longer period than two or three years, although a rigid retrenchment in public improvements, and a reduction of many salaried officers incidental to a kingdom may possibly prolong the national existence beyond that time. All thinking men in Honolulu have arrived at the conclusion that something decisive must be speedily done to avoid incurring a foreign debt, which would ultimately place the islands at the mercy of that Government whose citizens shall hold the claim
