FOR SALE.

About 24 gallons Catawba and Concord WINE, made in Washington, D. C., 1872, from grapes grown on my farm in Maryland in 1871, and 1872 and 1873, and yet it has Are years old, to fit. This statement is no contradiction when explained by the maker. It is hoped the quality, taste and flavor of this new production will serve to set aside the too common, and often unjust, prejudice against "OLD MUSCATO WINE." Professional experts have expressed their surprise that such quality could be made in this country. This Wine requires FIVE YEARS to manufacture it, and is made by an entirely new process known only to myself, and obtained by practical experience since 1866, and at a cost that has compelled me to abandon its future manufacture, hence no more of it can be had but that I have on hand, and were I not in need this would not now be offered for sale at the price named below.

IN SICKNESS IT WILL BE APPRECIATED.

As this Wine is too high priced for the trade to handle I propose to dispose of it to some person who desires it for his own private use. It can be bought for cash at $20 per gallon by taking the whole; it is richly worth $5 per bottle when bottled off.

Persons of wealth have here an opportunity to obtain from first hands wine suitable for sick, and guaranteed free from drugs and foreign matter usually used in the making. Its own merit is its own recommendation. Call and examine it at my private residence, No. 1224 Seventh street.

in the county of Fairfax, about 18 miles from Washington, and on the main road leading to the village of Occoquan and the city of Alexandria, and being 3 miles from the station of Clifton, Alexandria and Manassas railroad, and 4 miles from navigable water, comprising 119 acres of open, arable land and 50 acres of wooded land, principally of virginia pine, and which will cut 70 cords to the acre. The Farm is well watered, there being a spring in every field. There are five tenements upon it. The Timber is very large, great in height and dense, and for four alone is worth twice the sum asked for the entire tract. The cleared land is of excellent quality, and yields well. Farms adjoining this estate are held at fifty dollars per acre. The purchase of this farm presents a good chance for a speculation, as the land will be sold at the very low price of $25 per acre, part cash and balance on terms to suit the purchaser, or will be traded for city property.

☞ TO THE PUBLIC.

Rules, Regulations, and Instructions for the Prevention of the Spread of Epidemic, Infectious, and Contagious Diseases in the District of Columbia.

Whereas, Part 1 of "An act for the Prevention of Diseases in the District of Columbia," approved June 19, 1872, it is made the duty of the Board of Health of the District of Columbia, whenever the health department of said District is threatened with, or affected by any formidable epidemic, infectious or contagious disease to issue such rules and sanitary orders, regulations, and instructions as may, in their judgment, be deemed effective for the prevention and spread of such disease; and said orders, regulations, and instructions to be and remain in full force and effect until by the said Board revoked; Provided, That the same may be modified in such manner as in the judgment of said Board may be deemed necessary. Now, therefore, the Board of Health of the District of Columbia, believing that said District of Columbia is now threatened with an epidemic disease, does hereby make and issue the following rules, regulations, and instructions, to wit:

1. Every physician or head of any family in the District of Columbia having knowledge of any case of cholera, small-pox, yellow fever, ship fever, relapsing fever, or other epidemic, contagious or infectious disease, shall, within twenty-four hours after obtaining such knowledge, or information, report the same to the Board of Health.

2. That any person dying of any of the foregoing diseases shall be buried within twelve hours from the time of death, and no burial permit shall issue from the Board of Health for the time for such interment shall, for sufficient reasons, be extended, and every case reported within the time above specified is hereby required upon the certificate of the attending physician or other responsible person having cognizance of the case to be issued by the Board of Health and secure permit for the burial of the same.

3. That railroad or steamboat company or other common carrier shall bring into the District of Columbia any person or the dead body of any person dead of, or being affected by any of the foregoing diseases; but any railroad car, steamboat, or other conveyance on which there may be any person or article affected or suspected of being affected as aforesaid shall be stopped upon the limit of the District of Columbia until the Board of Health, or the proper officer thereof shall have made inspection of said person or article and disposed of the same according to the directions of the Board of Health.

4. KEYSTONE REPUBLICANS.

THE NOMINATIONS AT HARRISBURG.

R. W. Mackey for State Treasurer and Isaac Gordon for Judge of the Supreme Court—The Resolutions Adopted—The Proceedings of the Convention Very Harmonious.

HARRISBURG, August 13.—The Republican State convention was called to order at 12 o'clock by Russell Errett, S. H. Miller, of Mercer, was selected as temporary chairman.

The usual committees were appointed, when a recess was taken to 2:30 p. m. to allow the committees to meet.

The convention again met at 2:30. It was called to order by the temporary chairman.

General Campbell, chairman of the committee on permanent organization, reported as president, Hon. A. G. Olmsted, of Potter county, with the usual number of vice presidents and secretaries.

R. W. Mackey was nominated for State Treasurer on the first ballot, receiving 115 votes. Henry, of Cambria, had 18 votes. The nomination was made unanimous.

Judge Isaac Gordon, of Jefferson county, was nominated for Judge of the Supreme Court on the tenth ballot, which resulted: Gordon, 77; Paxson, 48; Butler, 5. The nomination was then made unanimous.

The following resolutions were unanimously adopted:

First, The Republicans of Pennsylvania in convention assembled renew their expressions of confidence in and devotion to the principles of republicanism, and declares, first, that they heartily indorse and readopt the Republican national and State platforms of 1872.

Second, That the action of the administration commands their continued confidence, and is entitled by its promotion of its best interes and prosperity of the nation to the earnest support of the people.

Third, That the administration of Gen. Hartranft calls for our warmest approbation. During the short time he has been in the executive department he has established a State policy which has justly commended to the people of this commonwealth, and has amply justified the confidence we have placed in him.

Fourth. That while earnestly in favor of continuous reform, and of a revision of our State constitution as will make it an effective instrument in preventing and punishing corrupt abuses that have crept under our present system, we demand emphatically and especially whatever in other hands may be the main purpose for which the constitutional convention was called—the absolute prevention of special legislation—shall be so placed before the people as to receive their separate and decisive expression thereon.

Fifth. That the reduction of the State debt from forty-one millions of dollars to twenty-six millions of dollars, the reduction of taxes, real estate, the establishment of schools for the support of soldiers' orphans, the maintenance of our excellent and prosperous system of common schools and the establishment of the policy of paying off our debt at the rate of two millions of dollars a year, together with the generally flourishing condition of our prosperous old Commonwealth, are evidences that the Republicans during that year have faithfully and ably and have faithfully administered her affairs, and that the reins of the government may be safely left in their hands.

Sixth, That there should be rigid economy in the State and national administrations, and taxes should be reduced in both as rapidly as consistent with good government, the maintenance of the public credit, and the complete extinguishment of the State and national debts.

Seventh, That public lands belong to the people, and should be sacredly reserved for homes for actual settlers; and we denounce against all further grants of the public domain to corporations.

Eighth, That adequate provision should be made by law for the protection of persons engaged in mining and other hazardous forms of labor.

Ninth, That when retrenchment is required to lighten the burden of taxation and to continue the reduction of the public debt an increase of salaries is not the time to make, and we condemn the reserve, voting for or receiving increased pay for services already rendered, whether in State or nation, and demand that the provisions of the late act of Congress, by which salaries were increased, should promptly and unconditionally be repealed.

Tenth, That we heartily denounce corruption, wherever found, and are sincerely desirous for honest economy and political purity in all official administrations. To secure this is the duty of every citizen, and every patriot should feel bound not only to participate in politics but to labor actively to see that none but good men secure party appointments or nomination.

Eleventh, That the practice of loading the appropriation bills, essential to the support of the Government, with objectionable legislation in the shape of amendments towards the close of the session, is a prolific source of abuse and fraud upon the people, and its reform is urgently demanded; that as country and home industry have both uniformly prospered under a tariff so arranged as to afford both revenue and protection, that present tariff should be left undisturbed, and as all tariffs are levied primarily for revenue, it would be a poor Government, indeed, which could not afford to arrange its details so as to encourage the growth and home manufactures and the creation of a remunerative home market for all the products of our soil.

Thirteenth, That order and security in States large enough to maintain themselves, and the enforcement of laws enacted to protect life, liberty and freedom of thought, and cannot be secured by rendering these just and necessary laws inoperative, through Executive clemency to unrepentant assassins now undergoing punishment in pursuance of law.

Fourteenth, That as during the time the Republican party had been in power it has had to confront graver difficulties and more grave and perplexing questions of government than ever were presented to any other party to solve, and have solved them so judiciously and wisely that the country indorses its decisions and accepts its work, and it is the only organization competent to so meet the grave issues that are now constantly arising as to secure the just rights of the whole people.

Fifteenth, That we sympathize with every movement to secure for agriculture and labor their due influence, interests and rights, and the Republican party will be their ally in every just effort to secure them.

An additional resolution, reported by the committee, expressing regret at the retirement of Chief Justice Read from the Supreme bench of the State was also adopted, as well as a resolution authorizing the candidate nominated and the president of the convention to appoint a chairman of the State central committee.

The convention adjourned sine die.

ANTI-MONOPOLY CONVENTION.

Meeting of Iowa Farmers—A State Ticket Nominated.

DES MOINES, August 13.—The farmers' anti-monopoly convention reassembled at 8 o'clock, and elected H. W. Lathrop president. Speeches were made by Andrew Hostie, J. B. Grinnell and others.

An effort to ascertain the political complexion of the convention, whether the delegates were formerly Democrats or Republicans, was defeated.

The first ballot for Governor, which was made formal, resulted in the nomination of Andrew Hastie, of Warren. Frederick O'Donnell, of Dubuque, was nominated for Lieutenant Governor by acclamation. The balance of the ticket is as follows: Supreme judge, B. J. Hall; superintendent of public instruction, Professor D. W. Prindle.

The following resolutions were adopted unanimously without debate:

Whereas political parties are formed to meet public emergencies, and when they have discharged the duty which called them into being they may become an element of abuse as great as those they were organized to reform; whereas both political parties have discharged the obligations assumed at their organizations, and have become powerful instruments for the reform of abuses which have grown upon them, therefore we deem it inconsistent to attempt to accomplish political reforms by acting with and in such organizations; therefore,

Resolved, That we, in free convention, do declare as the basis of our future political action that all corporations are subject to legislative control; that those created by Congress should be restricted and controlled by Congress, and that those under State laws should be subject to the control, respectively, of the States creating them; that such legislative control should be an impartial one, adequate to the ends, reasonable nature, chartered rights, and that it should be at all times so used as to prevent moneyed corporations from becoming engines of oppression.

Resolved, The principle on which there may be property or article affected or suspected of being affected as aforesaid shall be stopped upon the limit of the District of Columbia until the Board of Health, or the proper officer thereof shall have made inspection of said person or article and disposed of the same according to the directions of the Board of Health.

4. During the prevalence of any of the foregoing diseases within the District of Columbia, it shall be used as disinfectants: In privies, dry earth, dry ashes, sulphate of iron, carbolic acid with sulphate of lime, or some other previously tested and suitable disinfectant; in water-closets, 8 or 10 pounds of sulphate of iron dissolved in 5 or 6 gallons of water, with sulphate of lime, carbolic acid added to the solution, shall be employed in quantities not less than one pint night and morning; in drains, sewers, and open ponds, sulphate of iron, carbolic acid, carbolate of lime, or other equivalent disinfectant, shall be used in such quantities and within such times as to keep the drains and sewers in the District of Columbia in proper sanitary condition.
