

Saint Mary's Beacon

VOL. IX LEONARDTOWN, MD., THURSDAY MORNING, MARCH 21, 1872 NO. 21

ST. MARY'S BEACON

Published weekly, except on Sundays and public holidays, at the office of the publisher, J. F. Ring & James S. Downs, Leonardtown, Md.

Subscription price, $2.00 per annum in advance, or $1.00 per month. Single copies, 5 cents. The price of advertising is as follows: For the first insertion, 75 cents per square; for the second, 50 cents; for the third, 25 cents; for the fourth, 12 cents; for the fifth, 10 cents; for the sixth, 7 cents; for the seventh, 5 cents; for the eighth, 4 cents; for the ninth, 3 cents; for the tenth, 2 cents. For a full and complete list of the terms of advertising, apply to the publisher.

R. R. R. RADWAY'S READY RELIEF

CURES THE WORST PAINS

in from One to Twenty Minutes

NOT ONE HOUR

after reading this advertisement need any one doubt that Radway's Ready Relief is a cure for every pain. It is the first and is the only pain remedy that instantly cures the most excruciating pains, such as Rheumatism, Gout, Neuralgia, Migraine, Headache, Toothache, Stomachache, Colic, Cholera, and all other pains, in from one to twenty minutes.

RADWAY'S READY RELIEF

will cure almost every kind of inflammation of the bladder, inflammation of the prostate, gonorrhoea, leucorrhoea, and all other urinary troubles, in from one to twenty minutes.

It is a powerful diuretic, and causes the urine to pass freely, and in from one to twenty minutes, the urine is found to be free from all impurities, and the patient is cured.

HEALTHY BEAUTY!

strong and pure rich blood—increased of flesh and weight—clear skin and healthy complexion secured to all.

Dr. Radway's Sarsaparilla Resolvent has made the most astonishing cures: so quick, so rapid as the cleanest of the body, under the influence of this truly wonderful medicine, that every day an increase in flesh and weight is seen, and the patient is cured.

DR. RADWAY'S PERFECT PAIN-KILLER

is a powerful diuretic, and causes the urine to pass freely, and in from one to twenty minutes, the urine is found to be free from all impurities, and the patient is cured.

It is a powerful diuretic, and causes the urine to pass freely, and in from one to twenty minutes, the urine is found to be free from all impurities, and the patient is cured.

LICENSED AUCTIONEER.

H. A. EDWARDS, having qualified as an Auctioneer, according to the laws of the State of Maryland, gives notice that he will attend to the sale of all real and personal property that may be offered at public auction in St. Mary's county, at the residence of the auctioneer, H. A. Edwards, Leonardtown, Md., on the 21st day of March, 1872.

HOPELESS.

There are times when the heart, overwhelmed with sorrow, Happiness seeks only beyond the dark tomb; No peace for the day, no hope for the morrow, All earthly things wrapped in uncertainty's gloom.

There are times when fancy strange, secret, aching Strives to cover the signs of the storm there has been; Though hollies the smoke from the mountain is blowing; It shows the volcano that slumbering within.

There are times when the heart, within in anguish is breaking; Looks not on this earth for hope's morning dawn; Mourns the foundation of nature is shaking; And maddest reigns monarch when reason is gone.

When full to the brim is the cup of woes' measure; We sigh for the sunset of life's weary day, Then succumb we to the welcome with pleasure The herald that calls us forever away.

JOSEPH MAZZINI.

A recent telegram announces the death, at Pisa, Italy, of Joseph Mazzini. He was born on the 28th June, 1805, at Genoa, where his father was a physician and a lecturer on science at the university. He received a thorough education for the law, but, however, he soon abandoned for the purpose of engaging in politics. He was a remarkably eloquent speaker and a fervent thinker, and it was not long before he became extremely popular with the young Genoese and obtained much influence with them by addressing them through the columns of the Genoa Indicator, a journal which he himself established, and in which, under cover of literary criticism, he endeavored to arouse his countrymen to agreement with his own political views. At that time the Italian government supported every liberal of connection with Carbonarism, and the journal was soon suppressed, to be followed soon by the Genoa Indicator, in which he gave a cold assent to the views of the romantic revolutionists who held with Mazzini. This journal also was suppressed, and Mazzini occupied his time in writing for the Florence Antiquary articles signed "An Italian," which he afterwards collected and published in three volumes. In 1839 he was apprehended on the charge of being connected with the Carbonari, and after six months imprisonment in the fortress of Savona was liberated on condition that he would leave Italy. He then went to Marseilles, where he founded a society and a journal both called "Young Italy," and whose motto, "God and the People," expressed the principles by which they were actuated. The Sardegnian Ambassador succeeded in getting Louis Philippe to order Mazzini's banishment, but he eluded the law for nearly a year, and surreptitiously published and distributed his journal. But at last he was forced to leave France and to go to Switzerland, where he organized an armed expedition against Savoy, which failed through the neglect or treachery of Raouffort, to whom the military command had been intrusted. In May, 1833, he launched another army into Piedmont, where it was defeated and dispersed, as was also another in the following year. Mazzini lost all his influence and lay in hiding in Switzerland till 1836, when he went to London, and there supported himself for several years by his pen and established a newspaper called Apollon, and devoted to the interest of Italian working-men. When the revolution of 1848 broke out in France he went to Paris, where he presided over a club of Italians which was patronized by Lamartine. Shortly afterwards he removed to Milan, where he organized republican clubs, notably the Cirola Nazionale, and bitterly opposed the annexation of Lombardy to Piedmont; his journal, the People's Italy, created a division among the patriots which precipitated the ruin of Lombard independence. After the fall of Milan he joined Garibaldi, and when Rome was declared a republic he was chosen Deputy to the Constituent Assembly for Leghorn, where he was received with acclamations, and where he announced, in a famous brochure, that the war of kings had ended—that of the people's began. After the murder of Rossi and the flight of the Pope to Gaeta the Mazzini party became dominant, and Mazzini suddenly appeared at Rome, where he remained minister of the situation. On the 18th March, 1849, he exhorted "republican Rome" to ally itself with "monarchical Piedmont," and on the 23rd of the same month he became Dictator by the reorganization of the Triumvirate with Arminio and Saffi. He organized an army of 5,000 men, and with them prepared to govern and defend the newly established republic. He prescribed and protected all the old religious forms, and, in so far, set the part of a conservative. After sustaining the siege of the French under General Oudinot as long as possible, he proposed to carry the war into the provinces; the Assembly refused to do this, whereupon he resigned his position among the Triumvirs, and went to England after remaining for a time in Switzerland. In London he strongly advocated Italian unity. In 1860, with Kossuth and Ledru-Rollin, he constructed the famous "Mazzini loan," which had for its object and which succeeded in effecting a new Italian insurrection, which broke out in February, 1863, and was terminated by the victory of the Austrians. In 1867 he organized an expedition to re-

HOPELESS.

There are times when the heart, overwhelmed with sorrow, Happiness seeks only beyond the dark tomb; No peace for the day, no hope for the morrow, All earthly things wrapped in uncertainty's gloom.

There are times when fancy strange, secret, aching Strives to cover the signs of the storm there has been; Though hollies the smoke from the mountain is blowing; It shows the volcano that slumbering within.

There are times when the heart, within in anguish is breaking; Looks not on this earth for hope's morning dawn; Mourns the foundation of nature is shaking; And maddest reigns monarch when reason is gone.

When full to the brim is the cup of woes' measure; We sigh for the sunset of life's weary day, Then succumb we to the welcome with pleasure The herald that calls us forever away.

JOSEPH MAZZINI.

A recent telegram announces the death, at Pisa, Italy, of Joseph Mazzini. He was born on the 28th June, 1805, at Genoa, where his father was a physician and a lecturer on science at the university. He received a thorough education for the law, but, however, he soon abandoned for the purpose of engaging in politics. He was a remarkably eloquent speaker and a fervent thinker, and it was not long before he became extremely popular with the young Genoese and obtained much influence with them by addressing them through the columns of the Genoa Indicator, a journal which he himself established, and in which, under cover of literary criticism, he endeavored to arouse his countrymen to agreement with his own political views. At that time the Italian government supported every liberal of connection with Carbonarism, and the journal was soon suppressed, to be followed soon by the Genoa Indicator, in which he gave a cold assent to the views of the romantic revolutionists who held with Mazzini. This journal also was suppressed, and Mazzini occupied his time in writing for the Florence Antiquary articles signed "An Italian," which he afterwards collected and published in three volumes. In 1839 he was apprehended on the charge of being connected with the Carbonari, and after six months imprisonment in the fortress of Savona was liberated on condition that he would leave Italy. He then went to Marseilles, where he founded a society and a journal both called "Young Italy," and whose motto, "God and the People," expressed the principles by which they were actuated. The Sardegnian Ambassador succeeded in getting Louis Philippe to order Mazzini's banishment, but he eluded the law for nearly a year, and surreptitiously published and distributed his journal. But at last he was forced to leave France and to go to Switzerland, where he organized an armed expedition against Savoy, which failed through the neglect or treachery of Raouffort, to whom the military command had been intrusted. In May, 1833, he launched another army into Piedmont, where it was defeated and dispersed, as was also another in the following year. Mazzini lost all his influence and lay in hiding in Switzerland till 1836, when he went to London, and there supported himself for several years by his pen and established a newspaper called Apollon, and devoted to the interest of Italian working-men. When the revolution of 1848 broke out in France he went to Paris, where he presided over a club of Italians which was patronized by Lamartine. Shortly afterwards he removed to Milan, where he organized republican clubs, notably the Cirola Nazionale, and bitterly opposed the annexation of Lombardy to Piedmont; his journal, the People's Italy, created a division among the patriots which precipitated the ruin of Lombard independence. After the fall of Milan he joined Garibaldi, and when Rome was declared a republic he was chosen Deputy to the Constituent Assembly for Leghorn, where he was received with acclamations, and where he announced, in a famous brochure, that the war of kings had ended—that of the people's began. After the murder of Rossi and the flight of the Pope to Gaeta the Mazzini party became dominant, and Mazzini suddenly appeared at Rome, where he remained minister of the situation. On the 18th March, 1849, he exhorted "republican Rome" to ally itself with "monarchical Piedmont," and on the 23rd of the same month he became Dictator by the reorganization of the Triumvirate with Arminio and Saffi. He organized an army of 5,000 men, and with them prepared to govern and defend the newly established republic. He prescribed and protected all the old religious forms, and, in so far, set the part of a conservative. After sustaining the siege of the French under General Oudinot as long as possible, he proposed to carry the war into the provinces; the Assembly refused to do this, whereupon he resigned his position among the Triumvirs, and went to England after remaining for a time in Switzerland. In London he strongly advocated Italian unity. In 1860, with Kossuth and Ledru-Rollin, he constructed the famous "Mazzini loan," which had for its object and which succeeded in effecting a new Italian insurrection, which broke out in February, 1863, and was terminated by the victory of the Austrians. In 1867 he organized an expedition to re-

HOPELESS.

There are times when the heart, overwhelmed with sorrow, Happiness seeks only beyond the dark tomb; No peace for the day, no hope for the morrow, All earthly things wrapped in uncertainty's gloom.

There are times when fancy strange, secret, aching Strives to cover the signs of the storm there has been; Though hollies the smoke from the mountain is blowing; It shows the volcano that slumbering within.

There are times when the heart, within in anguish is breaking; Looks not on this earth for hope's morning dawn; Mourns the foundation of nature is shaking; And maddest reigns monarch when reason is gone.

When full to the brim is the cup of woes' measure; We sigh for the sunset of life's weary day, Then succumb we to the welcome with pleasure The herald that calls us forever away.

HOPELESS.

There are times when the heart, overwhelmed with sorrow, Happiness seeks only beyond the dark tomb; No peace for the day, no hope for the morrow, All earthly things wrapped in uncertainty's gloom.

There are times when fancy strange, secret, aching Strives to cover the signs of the storm there has been; Though hollies the smoke from the mountain is blowing; It shows the volcano that slumbering within.

There are times when the heart, within in anguish is breaking; Looks not on this earth for hope's morning dawn; Mourns the foundation of nature is shaking; And maddest reigns monarch when reason is gone.

When full to the brim is the cup of woes' measure; We sigh for the sunset of life's weary day, Then succumb we to the welcome with pleasure The herald that calls us forever away.

HOPELESS.

There are times when the heart, overwhelmed with sorrow, Happiness seeks only beyond the dark tomb; No peace for the day, no hope for the morrow, All earthly things wrapped in uncertainty's gloom.

There are times when fancy strange, secret, aching Strives to cover the signs of the storm there has been; Though hollies the smoke from the mountain is blowing; It shows the volcano that slumbering within.

There are times when the heart, within in anguish is breaking; Looks not on this earth for hope's morning dawn; Mourns the foundation of nature is shaking; And maddest reigns monarch when reason is gone.

When full to the brim is the cup of woes' measure; We sigh for the sunset of life's weary day, Then succumb we to the welcome with pleasure The herald that calls us forever away.

HOPELESS.

There are times when the heart, overwhelmed with sorrow, Happiness seeks only beyond the dark tomb; No peace for the day, no hope for the morrow, All earthly things wrapped in uncertainty's gloom.

There are times when fancy strange, secret, aching Strives to cover the signs of the storm there has been; Though hollies the smoke from the mountain is blowing; It shows the volcano that slumbering within.

There are times when the heart, within in anguish is breaking; Looks not on this earth for hope's morning dawn; Mourns the foundation of nature is shaking; And maddest reigns monarch when reason is gone.

When full to the brim is the cup of woes' measure; We sigh for the sunset of life's weary day, Then succumb we to the welcome with pleasure The herald that calls us forever away.

HOPELESS.

There are times when the heart, overwhelmed with sorrow, Happiness seeks only beyond the dark tomb; No peace for the day, no hope for the morrow, All earthly things wrapped in uncertainty's gloom.

There are times when fancy strange, secret, aching Strives to cover the signs of the storm there has been; Though hollies the smoke from the mountain is blowing; It shows the volcano that slumbering within.

There are times when the heart, within in anguish is breaking; Looks not on this earth for hope's morning dawn; Mourns the foundation of nature is shaking; And maddest reigns monarch when reason is gone.

When full to the brim is the cup of woes' measure; We sigh for the sunset of life's weary day, Then succumb we to the welcome with pleasure The herald that calls us forever away.

HOPELESS.

There are times when the heart, overwhelmed with sorrow, Happiness seeks only beyond the dark tomb; No peace for the day, no hope for the morrow, All earthly things wrapped in uncertainty's gloom.

There are times when fancy strange, secret, aching Strives to cover the signs of the storm there has been; Though hollies the smoke from the mountain is blowing; It shows the volcano that slumbering within.

There are times when the heart, within in anguish is breaking; Looks not on this earth for hope's morning dawn; Mourns the foundation of nature is shaking; And maddest reigns monarch when reason is gone.

When full to the brim is the cup of woes' measure; We sigh for the sunset of life's weary day, Then succumb we to the welcome with pleasure The herald that calls us forever away.

HOPELESS.

There are times when the heart, overwhelmed with sorrow, Happiness seeks only beyond the dark tomb; No peace for the day, no hope for the morrow, All earthly things wrapped in uncertainty's gloom.

There are times when fancy strange, secret, aching Strives to cover the signs of the storm there has been; Though hollies the smoke from the mountain is blowing; It shows the volcano that slumbering within.

There are times when the heart, within in anguish is breaking; Looks not on this earth for hope's morning dawn; Mourns the foundation of nature is shaking; And maddest reigns monarch when reason is gone.

When full to the brim is the cup of woes' measure; We sigh for the sunset of life's weary day, Then succumb we to the welcome with pleasure The herald that calls us forever away.

HOPELESS.

There are times when the heart, overwhelmed with sorrow, Happiness seeks only beyond the dark tomb; No peace for the day, no hope for the morrow, All earthly things wrapped in uncertainty's gloom.

There are times when fancy strange, secret, aching Strives to cover the signs of the storm there has been; Though hollies the smoke from the mountain is blowing; It shows the volcano that slumbering within.

There are times when the heart, within in anguish is breaking; Looks not on this earth for hope's morning dawn; Mourns the foundation of nature is shaking; And maddest reigns monarch when reason is gone.

When full to the brim is the cup of woes' measure; We sigh for the sunset of life's weary day, Then succumb we to the welcome with pleasure The herald that calls us forever away.

HOPELESS.

There are times when the heart, overwhelmed with sorrow, Happiness seeks only beyond the dark tomb; No peace for the day, no hope for the morrow, All earthly things wrapped in uncertainty's gloom.

There are times when fancy strange, secret, aching Strives to cover the signs of the storm there has been; Though hollies the smoke from the mountain is blowing; It shows the volcano that slumbering within.

There are times when the heart, within in anguish is breaking; Looks not on this earth for hope's morning dawn; Mourns the foundation of nature is shaking; And maddest reigns monarch when reason is gone.

When full to the brim is the cup of woes' measure; We sigh for the sunset of life's weary day, Then succumb we to the welcome with pleasure The herald that calls us forever away.

HOPELESS.

There are times when the heart, overwhelmed with sorrow, Happiness seeks only beyond the dark tomb; No peace for the day, no hope for the morrow, All earthly things wrapped in uncertainty's gloom.

There are times when fancy strange, secret, aching Strives to cover the signs of the storm there has been; Though hollies the smoke from the mountain is blowing; It shows the volcano that slumbering within.

There are times when the heart, within in anguish is breaking; Looks not on this earth for hope's morning dawn; Mourns the foundation of nature is shaking; And maddest reigns monarch when reason is gone.

When full to the brim is the cup of woes' measure; We sigh for the sunset of life's weary day, Then succumb we to the welcome with pleasure The herald that calls us forever away.

HOPELESS.

There are times when the heart, overwhelmed with sorrow, Happiness seeks only beyond the dark tomb; No peace for the day, no hope for the morrow, All earthly things wrapped in uncertainty's gloom.

There are times when fancy strange, secret, aching Strives to cover the signs of the storm there has been; Though hollies the smoke from the mountain is blowing; It shows the volcano that slumbering within.

There are times when the heart, within in anguish is breaking; Looks not on this earth for hope's morning dawn; Mourns the foundation of nature is shaking; And maddest reigns monarch when reason is gone.

When full to the brim is the cup of woes' measure; We sigh for the sunset of life's weary day, Then succumb we to the welcome with pleasure The herald that calls us forever away.

HOPELESS.

There are times when the heart, overwhelmed with sorrow, Happiness seeks only beyond the dark tomb; No peace for the day, no hope for the morrow, All earthly things wrapped in uncertainty's gloom.

There are times when fancy strange, secret, aching Strives to cover the signs of the storm there has been; Though hollies the smoke from the mountain is blowing; It shows the volcano that slumbering within.

There are times when the heart, within in anguish is breaking; Looks not on this earth for hope's morning dawn; Mourns the foundation of nature is shaking; And maddest reigns monarch when reason is gone.

When full to the brim is the cup of woes' measure; We sigh for the sunset of life's weary day, Then succumb we to the welcome with pleasure The herald that calls us forever away.

HOPELESS.

There are times when the heart, overwhelmed with sorrow, Happiness seeks only beyond the dark tomb; No peace for the day, no hope for the morrow, All earthly things wrapped in uncertainty's gloom.

There are times when fancy strange, secret, aching Strives to cover the signs of the storm there has been; Though hollies the smoke from the mountain is blowing; It shows the volcano that slumbering within.

There are times when the heart, within in anguish is breaking; Looks not on this earth for hope's morning dawn; Mourns the foundation of nature is shaking; And maddest reigns monarch when reason is gone.

When full to the brim is the cup of woes' measure; We sigh for the sunset of life's weary day, Then succumb we to the welcome with pleasure The herald that calls us forever away.

HOPELESS.

There are times when the heart, overwhelmed with sorrow, Happiness seeks only beyond the dark tomb; No peace for the day, no hope for the morrow, All earthly things wrapped in uncertainty's gloom.

There are times when fancy strange, secret, aching Strives to cover the signs of the storm there has been; Though hollies the smoke from the mountain is blowing; It shows the volcano that slumbering within.

There are times when the heart, within in anguish is breaking; Looks not on this earth for hope's morning dawn; Mourns the foundation of nature is shaking; And maddest reigns monarch when reason is gone.

When full to the brim is the cup of woes' measure; We sigh for the sunset of life's weary day, Then succumb we to the welcome with pleasure The herald that calls us forever away.

HOPELESS.

There are times when the heart, overwhelmed with sorrow, Happiness seeks only beyond the dark tomb; No peace for the day, no hope for the morrow, All earthly things wrapped in uncertainty's gloom.

There are times when fancy strange, secret, aching Strives to cover the signs of the storm there has been; Though hollies the smoke from the mountain is blowing; It shows the volcano that slumbering within.

There are times when the heart, within in anguish is breaking; Looks not on this earth for hope's morning dawn; Mourns the foundation of nature is shaking; And maddest reigns monarch when reason is gone.

When full to the brim is the cup of woes' measure; We sigh for the sunset of life's weary day, Then succumb we to the welcome with pleasure The herald that calls us forever away.

HOPELESS.

There are times when the heart, overwhelmed with sorrow, Happiness seeks only beyond the dark tomb; No peace for the day, no hope for the morrow, All earthly things wrapped in uncertainty's gloom.

There are times when fancy strange, secret, aching Strives to cover the signs of the storm there has been; Though hollies the smoke from the mountain is blowing; It shows the volcano that slumbering within.

There are times when the heart, within in anguish is breaking; Looks not on this earth for hope's morning dawn; Mourns the foundation of nature is shaking; And maddest reigns monarch when reason is gone.

When full to the brim is the cup of woes' measure; We sigh for the sunset of life's weary day, Then succumb we to the welcome with pleasure The herald that calls us forever away.

HOPELESS.

There are times when the heart, overwhelmed with sorrow, Happiness seeks only beyond the dark tomb; No peace for the day, no hope for the morrow, All earthly things wrapped in uncertainty's gloom.

There are times when fancy strange, secret, aching Strives to cover the signs of the storm there has been; Though hollies the smoke from the mountain is blowing; It shows the volcano that slumbering within.

There are times when the heart, within in anguish is breaking; Looks not on this earth for hope's morning dawn; Mourns the foundation of nature is shaking; And maddest reigns monarch when reason is gone.

When full to the brim is the cup of woes' measure; We sigh for the sunset of life's weary day, Then succumb we to the welcome with pleasure The herald that calls us forever away.

HOPELESS.

There are times when the heart, overwhelmed with sorrow, Happiness seeks only beyond the dark tomb; No peace for the day, no hope for the morrow, All earthly things wrapped in uncertainty's gloom.

There are times when fancy strange, secret, aching Strives to cover the signs of the storm there has been; Though hollies the smoke from the mountain is blowing; It shows the volcano that slumbering within.

There are times when the heart, within in anguish is breaking; Looks not on this earth for hope's morning dawn; Mourns the foundation of nature is shaking; And maddest reigns monarch when reason is gone.

When full to the brim is the cup of woes' measure; We sigh for the sunset of life's weary day, Then succumb we to the welcome with pleasure The herald that calls us forever away.

HOPELESS.

There are times when the heart, overwhelmed with sorrow, Happiness seeks only beyond the dark tomb; No peace for the day, no hope for the morrow, All earthly things wrapped in uncertainty's gloom.

There are times when fancy strange, secret, aching Strives to cover the signs of the storm there has been; Though hollies the smoke from the mountain is blowing; It shows the volcano that slumbering within.

There are times when the heart, within in anguish is breaking; Looks not on this earth for hope's morning dawn; Mourns the foundation of nature is shaking; And maddest reigns monarch when reason is gone.

When full to the brim is the cup of woes' measure; We sigh for the sunset of life's weary day, Then succumb we to the welcome with pleasure The herald that calls us forever away.

HOPELESS.

There are times when the heart, overwhelmed with sorrow, Happiness seeks only beyond the dark tomb; No peace for the day, no hope for the morrow, All earthly things wrapped in uncertainty's gloom.

There are times when fancy strange, secret, aching Strives to cover the signs of the storm there has been; Though hollies the smoke from the mountain is blowing; It shows the volcano that slumbering within.

There are times when the heart, within in anguish is breaking; Looks not on this earth for hope's morning dawn; Mourns the foundation of nature is shaking; And maddest reigns monarch when reason is gone.

When full to the brim is the cup of woes' measure; We sigh for the sunset of life's weary day, Then succumb we to the welcome with pleasure The herald that calls us forever away.

HOPELESS.

There are times when the heart, overwhelmed with sorrow, Happiness seeks only beyond the dark tomb; No peace for the day, no hope for the morrow, All earthly things wrapped in uncertainty's gloom.

There are times when fancy strange, secret, aching Strives to cover the signs of the storm there has been; Though hollies the smoke from the mountain is blowing; It shows the volcano that slumbering within.

There are times when the heart, within in anguish is breaking; Looks not on this earth for hope's morning dawn; Mourns the foundation of nature is shaking; And maddest reigns monarch when reason is gone.

When full to the brim is the cup of woes' measure; We sigh for the sunset of life's weary day, Then succumb we to the welcome with pleasure The herald that calls us forever away.

HOPELESS.

There are times when the heart, overwhelmed with sorrow, Happiness seeks only beyond the dark tomb; No peace for the day, no hope for the morrow, All earthly things wrapped in uncertainty's gloom.

There are times when fancy strange, secret, aching Strives to cover the signs of the storm there has been; Though hollies the smoke from the mountain is blowing; It shows the volcano that slumbering within.

There are times when the heart, within in anguish is breaking; Looks not on this earth for hope's morning dawn; Mourns the foundation of nature is shaking; And maddest reigns monarch when reason is gone.

When full to the brim is the cup of woes' measure; We sigh for the sunset of life's weary day, Then succumb we to the welcome with pleasure The herald that calls us forever away.

HOPELESS.

There are times when the heart, overwhelmed with sorrow, Happiness seeks only beyond the dark tomb; No peace for the day, no hope for the morrow, All earthly things wrapped in uncertainty's gloom.

There are times when fancy strange, secret, aching Strives to cover the signs of the storm there has been; Though hollies the smoke from the mountain is blowing; It shows the volcano that slumbering within.

There are times when the heart, within in anguish is breaking; Looks not on this earth for hope's morning dawn; Mourns the foundation of nature is shaking; And maddest reigns monarch when reason is gone.

When full to the brim is the cup of woes' measure; We sigh for the sunset of life's weary day, Then succumb we to the welcome with pleasure The herald that calls us forever away.

HOPELESS.

There are times when the heart, overwhelmed with sorrow, Happiness seeks only beyond the dark tomb; No peace for the day, no hope for the morrow, All earthly things wrapped in uncertainty's gloom.

There are times when fancy strange, secret, aching Strives to cover the signs of the storm there has been; Though hollies the smoke from the mountain is blowing; It shows the volcano that slumbering within.

There are times when the heart, within in anguish is breaking; Looks not on this earth for hope's morning dawn; Mourns the foundation of nature is shaking; And maddest reigns monarch when reason is gone.

When full to the brim is the cup of woes' measure; We sigh for the sunset of life's weary day, Then succumb we to the welcome with pleasure The herald that calls us forever away.

HOPELESS.

There are times when the heart, overwhelmed with sorrow, Happiness seeks only beyond the dark tomb; No peace for the day, no hope for the morrow, All earthly things wrapped in uncertainty's gloom.

There are times when fancy strange, secret, aching Strives to cover the signs of the storm there has been; Though hollies the smoke from the mountain is blowing; It shows the volcano that slumbering within.

There are times when the heart, within in anguish is breaking; Looks not on this earth for hope's morning dawn; Mourns the foundation of nature is shaking; And maddest reigns monarch when reason is gone.

When full to the brim is the cup of woes' measure; We sigh for the sunset of life's weary day, Then succumb we to the welcome with pleasure The herald that calls us forever away.

HOPELESS.

There are times when the heart, overwhelmed with sorrow, Happiness seeks only beyond the dark tomb; No peace for the day, no hope for the morrow, All earthly things wrapped in uncertainty's gloom.

There are times when fancy strange, secret, aching Strives to cover the signs of the storm there has been; Though hollies the smoke from the mountain is blowing; It shows the volcano that slumbering within.

There are times when the heart, within in anguish is breaking; Looks not on this earth for hope's morning dawn; Mourns the foundation of nature is shaking; And maddest reigns monarch when reason is gone.

When full to the brim is the cup of woes' measure; We sigh for the sunset of life's weary day, Then succumb we to the welcome with pleasure The herald that calls us forever away.