HOME AFFAIRS.

CITY NOTES.

—Rooms sends New York papers in advance of the mails.

Sixty tramps lodged in the station-houses on Saturday night. Time for the night lodging house to open.

—Whisperings of a grand dramatic and musical entertainment for the benefit of Miss Kate Goodall, one of Washington's favorite vocalists, are heard.

—Theodore Thomas is one of the most particular of men in the musical profession. He never allows talking in his orchestra, or in the audience when he can prevent it.

—Fifty-eight arrests were made by the police during the twenty-four hours ending at eight o'clock yesterday morning. Thirty of them were pulled up being drunk in the streets.

—Saturday afternoon Detective Vosburgh arrested a colored boy, named John Williams, who was offering a heavy silver mug, lined with gold, for sale on the street for thirty-five cents.

—Saturday afternoon a colored boy snatched a pocket-book, containing between $40 and $50, from a lady who was shopping on Seventh street, between E and F, and got away with it.

—The hydrant on Thirteenth street, between E and F streets, needs immediate attention, as a stream of water flows continually therefrom, making a great loss of Potomac water.

—The cadet battalion of St. John's Academy, Alexandria, attended the funeral of their late school mate, Edwin A. Dent, which took place from St. Dominic's church at two o'clock yesterday afternoon.

—Our reporter was on hand Saturday night at this and of the telescope to get the facts concerning any fuss that might take place between Saturn and Mars consequent upon their neighborly tendencies.

—The annual inspection and review of the District Fire Department will be held at three o'clock to-morrow afternoon in the open space opposite the east front of the Capitol. The Marine Band will be present.

—Charley Snyder, an old Washington boy, who has been catching for the Louisville club during the past season, returned yesterday morning, and during the day was quite a lion among his base ball friends in this city.

—The half-grown young men at the saloon in Sheldon's Hall last evening who sat in the back part of the room should remain at home hereafter until they understand how to behave themselves in the company of ladies and gentlemen.

—About noon Saturday Officer Bryan noticed two thieves coming out of Willow Tree alley. When he approached them they dropped a coat and ran, making their escape. The coat, which was recovered, is a black frock.

—About half-past twelve o'clock yesterday a horse, attached to a buggy, belonging to Mr. A. Saks, became frightened, at the corner of Second and H streets northwest, ran down New Jersey avenue, and ran into a fence in front of Dr. Merriam's residence, upsetting the buggy and damaging it to the amount of about $20.

—About half-past six o'clock Saturday evening, while Peter Wilkins, with two ladies and a gentleman, were driving on the Avenue, the horses became frightened and ran into a buggy belonging to Mr. Solomon, between Third and Four-and-a-half streets northwest. The occupants were thrown out, but none of them were injured.

—Saturday morning, a colored man while splitting wood at Mr. Wood's coal and wood yard, on L street, between Thirteenth and Fourteenth streets northwest, cut his hand very badly with the axe. He was conveyed to the residence of D. Russell, close by, where he secured surgical attention. He was afterwards taken to his home, No. 1933 Twelfth street northwest, by the officer.

—Messrs. Harmon, Boswell & Co. (of 313 Eighth street northwest) are among our most extensive dealers in furniture and other housekeeping appliances. Lace curtains and lambrequins are among their specialties, and are presented in great variety. It affords us great pleasure to invite the public to examine their very large and carefully-selected stock. The most courteous and prompt attention awaits all customers.

—Saturday morning Officer McGlue, of the Third Precinct, found a dead colored female infant in the back room of Mrs. Annie Osnin's house, No. 190 Bridge street. The mother of the infant, was Jane Thomas, a colored girl, seventeen years of age, living in service with Mrs. Osnin. After the child was born the girl cast it away in the back yard of No. 128 Bridge street, from which it was removed to the room where it was found. Coroner Patterson, after an investigation, gave a certificate of still-birth.

—A meeting of the Ladies' Aid Society of Central Hill will be held at McCauley's Hall, 226 Pennsylvania avenue southeast, tomorrow afternoon, at two o'clock. All residents of the Capitol Hill and Navy Yard portions of the city interested in the good work of the society are earnestly invited to attend this meeting, at which the subject of what means are best for helping the deserving poor to help themselves will be considered and the work for the winter season outlined.

—On Saturday afternoon the western-bound train carried out a committee of five ladies from the United States Treasurer's office, having in their charge three beautiful floral tributes to the memory of the late Senator Morton. They consisted of a crown, anchor and a broken column, having been designed and executed by Henry Small, jr. The choicest flowers were used in their construction, and no finer emblems will be presented by admiring friends of the dead Senator than those taken from Washington by the ladies' committee.

The Sale of the Shepherd and Douglass Paintings.

On Thursday and Friday evenings of this week art connoisseurs in Washington will be polled to see these two justly famous collections sold under the hammer. Rare chances will be offered to the purchaser, and it is hoped that our citizens will endeavor to keep the choice paintings in our city collections, and not allow them to be captured by art lovers from distant cities. The gallery will be open for inspection on Tuesday and Wednesday. Cards of admission, which are required, can be had of Duncanson Bros.

A Lively Scene.

The excitement in the vicinity of Seventh and D streets during most of yesterday was occasioned by the great rush made upon Messrs. Hahn Bro.'s clothing house by persons in quest of overcoats, and, strange to say, no one of the numerous callers went away unsupplied, an evidence that their selection is sufficiently complete as to embrace styles to suit every taste and condition. These gentlemen have made overcoats their great specialty for the present season, and it is certainly surprising to see what a vast stock they carry. If you want a $5 or a $50 overcoat, give them a call.

PULPIT ECHOES.

SERMONS AND SERVICES IN THE CHURCHES YESTERDAY.

Rev. Mr. Mason at the Calvary Baptist—Dr. Sunderland at the First Presbyterian—Foundry Church Services—And Other Events of Interest.

The Calvary Baptist.

Yesterday, at the Calvary Baptist, the morning and evening services were quite interesting. During the morning services the ordinance of baptism was administered. The Rev. A. P. Mason, pastor of the church, delivered an impressive and eloquent sermon, which was listened to with marked attention by the large congregation present. He took for his text the twenty-fourth and twenty-fifth verses of the twenty-fourth chapter of the Acts:

"And after certain days, when Felix came with his wife Drusilla, which was a Jewess, he sent for Paul, and heard him concerning the faith of Christ.

"And as he reasoned of righteousness, temperance, and judgment to come, Felix trembled, and answered, Go thou way for this time; when I have a convenient season, I will call for thee."

The reverend speaker gave in a excellent manner an account of how Felix was the bad ruler and the extortioner. He was the Roman who, with his mistress Drusilla, sent for Paul, then their prisoner, to hear what he had to say of this new religion of which he Paul had been preaching. They were dumbfounded when Paul spoke mostly to them of their sins. He spoke of righteousness and the faith of Christ. He pointed to this wicked ruler the sins he was committing every day and hour and directed him to the right path and to the faith in Christ. The woman ran away, but Felix remained and trembled at the words of Paul.

Dr. Mason drew a vivid picture of Paul, the prisoner, and Felix, the judge—one preaching the Word of God, the other trembling at the Heaven-inspired words. Felix was not repentant, and had no idea of repenting. He sought only the filthy money for the release of Paul. He would do no repentance at a future time, and again and again he commanded Paul to come before him and discourse.

Then Dr. Mason spoke directly to his hearers. He admonished all those who had wronged their fellow-men to give back their ill-gotten gains. He reminded the merchant that by falsifying in his business transactions he was doing no less than stealing. He made allusion to persons trying to get the money of the government without doing service therefore, and accounted this dishonest. He exhorted all those who had this in their possession that was not theirs to at once make restitution. He did not know, and he did not care, who he struck in the forehead by his remarks, if it only brought them to a conscientious duty. He alluded to persons who had come to him to obtain for them places in Government office, knowing that they would receive moneys for which they would give no equivalent labor. This he denounced and called stealing.

He reasoned righteousness with his hearers. He knew they would like to hear of such knowledge of truth sooner than of disputed truth, and on this he argued. He did Paul with Felix, he reasoned with them. He argued only against putting off the time to repent, and become true Christians. Let it be done to-day. Men must be brought up to the truths they know before being taught new ones. Those who are living in sin must be told of it. Let their consciences work upon them. They must be asked to appeal to their consciences. If they reason of righteousness and the judgment to come they may be induced not to wait until another day to repent and make restitution. He again appealed to the merchant and business man to do what was honest and righteous even if it brought him no pecuniary benefit. Those that were careless of their creditors were asked to think of those who would like to pay their debts at all. He said, "Remember the Sabbath, and keep it holy." Remember the old Sabbath, which dwelled in the tabernacle of God."

The reverend gentleman again exhorted his hearers to repent at once, and not put off till an other and more convenient day, for he would be mated that day that the wail of lost spirits "Hell is paved with good intentions," be reminded and that the word sinner can repent, for he that cometh to God's in no wise cast out.

He finished his excellent sermon with an impressive prayer.

First Congressional Church.

Rev. Dr. Rankin, the pastor, preached from Luke, xii., 44: "And Jesus turned to the woman and said unto Simon, Seest thou this woman? I entered into thy house, thou gavest me no water for my feet: but she hath washed my feet with tears, and wiped them with the hairs of her head." His subject was a "True Recognition of Jesus Christ." He began by saying that the Savior received two kinds of attention when here upon earth—social and spiritual. Men invited him to their houses, and he went. He did not brick himself up in walls or cloister himself in some solemn garb, lest humanity should find its way to Him and touch Him. Jesus was here by invitation as the guest of Simon the Pharisee, a man belonging to the proudest and mightiest of the Jewish sects. But Simon had no true recognition of Him as a Savior, of himself as a sinner. And so this woman steals in upon the scene to show what that recognition is. Could there have been a greater contrast? Simon, the Pharisee! This nameless woman! And yet Jesus preferred the attentions of the last to those of the first.

There is a type of religion offered in the spirit of cold respectability. People take sittings in a fashionable church, ask the minister to dinner parties, want to entertain delegates to religious meetings and have the missionary at their houses. It goes with Jesus for just what it is worth. "I entered thine house." Such people have uses for religion. Then there is a head religion—the acceptance of Christianity as a civilization, the recognition of Christ as the Author of a new spiritual movement. Such people have no relations to Christ as a personal Savior. He comes near to them. "They gave me no water for My feet, no kiss; they see not anoint His head with oil." This woman illustrates the true recognition—that of penitence and love.

The Doctor closed by a caution against criticising what seems to us extravagant and extraordinary in the religious life of others. He said too many people were thinking of what Simon like Pharisee would say. To bring down the standards of sanctity into the world would make confusion. But they are the true standards. And if we had a proper recognition of what we owe the savior we should fill our lives full of what would make Heaven rejoice.

Foundry Church.

A very large congregation was in attendance at this church at the morning service yesterday. The President was in his seat some time before the service began. He was accompanied by a young lady, no other one of the family being present. Rev. R. Peyton Brown preached from the sixth verse of the fifth chapter of Romans, "For when we were yet without strength, in due time Christ died for the ungodly." The argument he made from the text was "Christ's death as an atonement for sin is God's method for the salvation of sinners." After the sermon the communion was administered to eight tables around the altar, about thirty persons being at each table. Mr. Brown was assisted in the communion by six preachers, and afterward seven persons joined the church. Among the communicants were noticed Hon. O. H. Singleton, of Mississippi, and several other members of Congress.

First Presbyterian.

Rev. Dr. Sunderland discoursed last evening upon Genesis xv., 16: "For the iniquity of the Amorites is not yet full." When the cup is full, drink it to the dregs. When the first man, Adam, sinned, he was treated with sorrow; when the first man was killed by Abel the affair was looked upon with shame; but when the whole land became overrun with crime and anarchy God cut off this world of infamy by the great flood which overspread the land and swallowed up all the descendants of Adam but eight, and so will retribution sweep over the land, &c. Retribution is written everywhere over the portals of sin. Go where we will, we can never escape from the wrath of God.

Church of the Redeemer.

There was a full attendance yesterday, both morning and evening. It being communion sabbath, Mr. Wilson took no text, but delivered a brief address appropriate for the occasion. At the close, in accordance with the form in the Reformed service, he extended a cordial invitation to "fellow Christians of other branches of Christ's Church, and all who love our Divine Lord and Savior Jesus Christ in sincerity" to join with them in the sacred ordinance. The sacrament was then administered to nearly forty communicants.

The Christian Church.

The pulpit of the Vermont Avenue Christian Church was occupied by the regular pastor, Rev. J. D. Power, who preached in the morning on the "Union of Christians," handling his subject in an eloquent and able manner, showing that they could be united under one name Christians and one creed, the Bible. Services are held every sabbath day, morning and evening. Strangers visiting the city and others are invited. The seats are free.

Preaching Services at Howard University.

Rev. W. W. Patson, D. D., President of the University, preached in the lecture room at five o'clock in the afternoon, the regular hour for preaching service, from Mark vi., 3, first clause: "Is not this the carpenter?"

The sermon, which was able and logical, concluded with an earnest appeal to all to accept the religion of truth and God.

Services in Georgetown.

TRINITY (CATHOLIC) CHURCH.

High Mass was celebrated at this church yesterday morning by the pastor, Rev. Father Murphy, at half past nine o'clock. In the afternoon vespers was celebrated by Rev. Father Casey. At the morning service the choir, under the direction of Prof. Speth, sang Haydn's Third Mass at the offertory, and Prof. Speth played a voluntary. In the afternoon, at vespers, the choir sang the "Gregorian Chant," "Salve Regina" and "Tantum Ergo," by Rossi.

ST. JOHN'S CHURCH.

At the morning service the rector read the pastoral letter issued by the House of Bishops at the last General Convention, and enjoined by canon to be read by each rector to his congregation. In the afternoon the sermon was preached by Rev. Kinloch Nelson, of the Theological Seminary, at Alexandria, who delivered an impressive discourse from St. John xvii, 17.

Preliminary Memorial Meeting of Colored Citizens of Washington.

A large number of the representative colored men of the District assembled Saturday evening in the lecture-room of the Columbia Law Building to make further arrangements for a large memorial mass meeting, to be held within a few days in honor of the late Hon. Oliver P. Morton.

Mr. Perry Carson was elected chairman, and called the meeting to order.

On motion, the chair appointed a committee of three, with Dr. John Bagwell at its head, to draft suitable resolutions concerning the death of Senator Morton. They retired from the room and soon reported as follows:

"The colored citizens of Washington, representing the colored States of the Union, recognize in the sad intelligence of the death of the late Hon. O. P. Morton a befitting occasion to pay tribute to the deeds of a great man and to bear testimony of his life work in the service of his country and humanity. In his death has passed away a statesman who stood without a peer in the councils of the nation, and the equality of citizenship has lost its ablest and most fearless defender. In token of his great services in defense of human rights, we, in the name of the colored people of the United States, deeply deplore his death, and profoundly feel the bereavement of one who swerved not in the most trying hour of our nation's history.

"While the nation mourns its mighty dead, we, for whose freedom, enfranchisement, advancement and prosperity he never failed to advocate and do end, will mingle our expressions of the deepest sorrow and grief with the millions of people sadly bereaved. Therefore,

"Resolved, That in the death of Hon. Oliver P. Morton we meekly submit to the will of Almighty God, who has thus entirely and afflicted us, but who doeth all things well.

"Resolved, That in his death we are caused to pause and ask 'How are the mighty fallen?' In him the country has lost a representative statesman, a fearless advocate, and the colored people one of their greatest benefactors.

"Resolved, That in the dispensation of Almighty Providence we recognize that God buries the workman, but carries on his work; and, though dead, the works of Oliver P. Morton will remain a monument to his probity and patriotism.

"Resolved, That a memorial meeting be held at every city for the purpose of giving a fitting expression of our gratitude for his eminent services and our confidence for the irreparable loss his death has occasioned, and we recommend to our people in all parts of the country to hold similar meetings in tribute of respect to departed worth.

"Resolved, That we tender to the widow and family of the deceased statesman our deepest sympathy in their bereavement, and commend them to the loving care of our Heavenly Father, who alone can heal up the broken in heart and give comfort to every true mourner.

"Resolved, That a copy of these resolutions be engrossed and presented to the widow and family of our deceased, as a token of our love, respect and sorrow."

On motion the above resolutions were unanimously adopted and a committee of eleven appointed to make arrangements for the mass meeting to be held the week. After the committee had retired, the chairman announced the meeting organized.

Spiritualism and Thomas Paine.

About two-score people were attracted last evening to Sheldon Hall, on F street near Ninth, by the announcement that Miss Metadi would give a science and answer questions to definite goods. After giving "Nearer my God to Thee," which the medium was controlled by Thomas Paine, answered the following questions:

"Do you believe in God?" In spirit life, repent the sins and blunders they had committed in workers made everything subservient to B.F. with the wood free from a government annuity, like its prototype, on the dominion of monarchical, feudal and tributary principles of slavery."

The topic was a treatise on political reform, and occupied considerably of American eagle and Fourth of July. Mr. Paine, in spirit, was as enthusiastic over our country as Mr. Paine, the man, ever could have been. He thought it would survive all attacks, and by the time another century had left its wound would be the land of true liberty.

At a brief business meeting after the seance it was decided to continue these free meetings.

A Fatal Gunning Accident.

About noon Saturday, while a party of boys were bird-hunting on Mr. John Biggins' place, near Howard University grounds, a gun in the hands of George Bell was accidentally discharged, and the contents entered the left side of George Briney, fatally wounding him. Briney was taken to the Freedman's Hospital, and every effort made to save his life by Drs. Parmer and Glennan, but the wounded boy died about six o'clock on Saturday evening. Bell was arrested in the afternoon by Officer Filield and locked up in the Second Precinct station. At eleven o'clock yesterday morning Coroner Patterson held an inquest at the Second Precinct Station, and the jury found a verdict that Briney came to his death by reason of a gun-shot wound of the abdomen, accidentally inflicted by George Bell. Bell was released.

Odd Fellows' Visitations.

Grand Master Joseph H. Daniel, I. O. O. F., has made the following appointments for the official visitations of the grand officers to the subordinate lodges of this jurisdiction: Beacon, No. 15, November 5; Friendship, No. 12, November 8; Eastern, No. 7, November 9; Excelsior, No. 17, November 12; Columbia, No. 10, November 13; Metropolis, No. 16, November 16; Harmony, No. 9, November 19; Federal City, No. 20, November 21; Mechanics, No. 18, November 22; Covenant, No. 13, November 26; Washington, No. 6, November 27; Central, No. 1, November 30; Union, No. 11, December 3; Oriental, No. 19, December 6; Naomi, No. 1, D. German on the Oral Method.

Those who dropped in at the Y. M. C. A. rooms on Saturday evening had an opportunity to witness Prof. Hennes' method of teaching German without the use of English. Although this was only the first regular lesson, he could have been found rattling off questions in German, and what was more, eliciting answers in the same language, from even the beginners. Before he got through, he had given them quite a vocabulary, including the various parts of the body, with some verbs and pronouns, occasionally stopping to show the connection of the words with the English, through the Anglo-Saxon. The class were quite enthusiastic in their admiration of the system and its anticipated results in imparting ability to talk the language. They adjourned to meet on Wednesday evening, at room 2, 81, Closed building.

The Tailors' Strike.

A meeting of the Tailors' Union was held Saturday night at the hall, over Buckley's store, Seventh street northwest. Mr. William Ketler, presided with Mr. John Shea as secretary. The committee reported that Messrs. James Lackey and F. Bieberger had signed the Union price list, and that Messrs. W. S. Teel and Eiseman Bros. had refused to sign, whereupon it was decided to put the two latter places on a strike to-day. After the transaction of other business of minor importance the Union adjourned.

Choice Lots for Sale.

Thomas M. Plowman, architect and engineer, as will be seen by advertisement elsewhere, offers for sale a number of choice lots fronting on Lincoln Park. These lots are eighty seven feet above tide-water, and possess unequaled advantage for builders. Water and gas are in close proximity, and city passenger-cars are close at hand. This large tract of land enables persons to select sites with a guarantee that no shanties will be erected thereon.

Suicide of an Actress.

The chief constable of Ingersoll, Canada, telegraphs here of the suicide by shooting of a woman named Frances Robinson. At the time of her death she was traveling with the Emerson Musical Troupe, and previously with the Australian Opera Company. The Canadian authorities have some valuables belonging to her in their possession. It is believed that relatives of the deceased reside in Baltimore and Washington.

Art Sale This Morning.

The collection of elegant Italian sculptures, classical vases from the antique, French bronzes and other works of art, which has been on exhibition for the past few days at the sales rooms of Mr. Thomas Dowling, will be sold this morning at eleven o'clock, and continue at the same hour tomorrow. The collection is well worthy the attention of art lovers, and we trust the sale will be well attended.

Installation at Falls Church, Va.

Rev. Mr. Platt, a native of Baltimore, and a young man who has enjoyed the best educational advantages of this country and abroad, will be installed pastor of the Congregational Church of Falls Church, Va., on Wednesday evening. The council meets at two p. m. Rev. Dr. Rankin, of this city, will preach the sermon.

Law Summary.

—The grand jury was in session this morning.

—The argument on demurrer in the case of J. K. Dupont and others, vs. Mary Dupont and others, involving the question of a trust, was continued yesterday. The question is presented as to whether the property in controversy was given to the defendant in trust for the benefit of the complainants, or whether it was a gift to her absolutely.

—Detective Sergeant Weitz has given notice that on Saturday next he will sell at public auction, at his residence, the property recently in his possession, consisting of a horse and buggy, a new lead, a silver watch, and a pistol, all taken from a thief, who he stole it the same day.

Malicious Prosecution.

Michael Sims, through his attorney, Mr. P. J. Jennings, has entered suit against William Emmons and Samuel Lansburg for malicious prosecution, and asks the sum of $[illegible] damages. The charge alleged that the defendants had caused the arrest of the plaintiff, upon the false charge of having committed a theft, and he was thereby made to undergo much expense, and feels injured to the extent of the damages claimed.

Real Estate Transfers.

John Patch to Joseph Patch, for $6,000, lot 3, Mosher's subdivision of "Discovery;" J. F. Ray to J. L. Hall et al., for $10,000, part of lots 21 and 22, square 401; L. B. Segar to W. F. Segar, for $7,000, lot 6, square 849; E. C. Carrington, jr., trustee, to Theodore Mosher, for $10,000, lots 27, 108, 109, 147, 148, 85, 86, 87 and 88 of Manchester, in the county.

Marriage Licenses.

Marriage licenses have been issued to the following applicants: H. L. Frederwach and K. Frank; John Boenker and Emma Bertelmann.

Police Court.

United States Cases.—Charles Tenley, assault on Benjamin F. and Catherine Evans; defendant pleaded guilty to the charge of assaulting Mr. Evans and not guilty in regard to his wife; fined $20 in the first case. William Stewart, an umbrella grabber, went down for thirty days. Edward Smith, assault on Adeline Smith; case continued until to-day. James R. McClellan, receiving a dog, the property of Patsy Morgan, knowing it to have been stolen; case continued till to-day. The case of William Trenton was continued till Tuesday, bonds being fixed at $1,000. Michael Nolan assaulted his wife Mary, but, as she refused to prosecute him, he was discharged from custody. Priscilla Latham, maintaining a nuisance, did not appear, and an attachment was issued for her. Jane Starkey, same charge was found guilty; sentence deferred. John Woodward, threats against Mary Allen; discharged.

District Cases.—Peter Crowley, profanity; paid $5. Daniel Lyon, loud and boisterous; dismissed. William Beasley used naughty language and forfeited $5. Louis Peckins, a little colored boy, who gave his age as twelve years, but, judging from appearances, was not more than seven or eight, was arraigned on the charge of vagrancy and was sent down for thirty days. Jerry Nolan, charged with vagrancy; bonds or ninety days. John Coleman, loud and boisterous; $5 or seven days. Benjamin McNulty, charged with keeping a vicious dog; dismissed. John Miller, a Capitol policeman, was arrested on the charge of refusing to pay a hackman his fare, amounting to $1; ordered to pay the bill or spend thirty days in the work house.

Minor District Notes.

—A reassessment of the special improvement taxes on lots A to F, H and I, square 112, is requested.

—Britton Jamison and Mack Williams have been pardoned from the work house.

—The District government office will be closed to day, the day of Senator Morton's funeral.

—Henry Hunter has been awarded the contract for laying a sixteen-inch pipe sewer in square 675.

—A permit to build was issued to Hammond Pinkney for a two-story brick, on Fifteenth, between L and M streets; $500.

—The Inspector of Buildings expects to change his official quarters to room No. 35, fourth floor, Columbia buildings.

—Mr. William Dickson, as attorney for Hon. William Williams, asks a drawback on the assessment of squares 727 and 722.

—The Commissioners have decided to offer Mrs. Sipes $100 for the sole right of a patent water spout invented by her late husband.

—Messrs. Young & Middleton request a reconsideration of their application for the return of $100, paid under protest for brokers' license.

—Collector John F. Cook has submitted a report of the collections for the month of October from general, personal, license averaging, special and water sources, amounting to $[illegible], which has been distributed in the usual manner.

—Dr. W. F. Wallace, overseer for the District Engineer, was last Saturday assaulted by a man named Battis, corner of Thirteenth and F streets, while engaged in the examination of an alleged defective sewer with the view of having repairs made.

—Street lamps have been authorized in the following localities: One on Second street, between Massachusetts avenue and E street northeast; one on Massachusetts avenue, between First and Second streets northwest; one on E street, between First and Second streets northeast.

—A number of business men on Seventh street, between Fourth and Sixth streets, petitioned the District Commissioners to allow the contractors for paving that street to use the paving blocks now on hand, instead of waiting for the arrival of new cargoes, there being such a slight variation in the size, and in view of the fact that the season is far advanced that their business must suffer with the street in its present condition.

The Dashaways.

The Dashaways held forth last night in Temperance Temple; A. C. Constantine in the chair, and L. H. Patterson secretary. The hall was crowded, many ladies being present. The meeting was enlivened with the following programme: Remarks by W. H. Boyd; music by South Washington Glee Club; remarks by L. H. Patterson; invitation by John F. Finch; music by the Glee Club; remarks by W. H. Boyd; [illegible] and Sam Hayes; song, by W. H. Boyd; remarks by John J. Meany and L. Wall; music by the Glee Club; remarks by Edward Humphrey and Joseph Williams. Quite a number signed the pledge.

Result of a School-Boy Fight.

Saturday morning, about 10:30 o'clock, Marshall Parker, aged thirteen years, and James Hicks, a boy of the same age, got into a spirited fight in the alley in the rear of the shepherd's row, Second street northwest, and Parker shot Hicks in the leg. Dr. Poulton, who dressed the wound, pronounced it serious, but not fatal. Officer Smiley took the wounded boy to his home, No. 426 Willard street. Parker was arrested by Lieut. Kelly Saturday evening.

GEORGETOWN NEWS.

THE CANAL.

The boats sunk in the canal last week have been raised, to the great relief of the commission merchants and coal shippers. There arrived yesterday in the Georgetown level more than one hundred boats, laden with grain and coal. The grain boats carry about 30,000 bushels of wheat and 8,000 bushels of corn. Some of the boats also bring baled hay. At least 10,000 bales of prime will have arrived in town by to-night.

GEORGETOWN PARAGRAPHS.

The town has been remarkably quiet for the past few days. During the week there were but few arrests made, but on Saturday the town seemed to have let itself "loose," and quite a number of the young men got on a general frolic. The consequence was there were fifteen arrests made Saturday night, mostly for intoxication and disorderly conduct. Three persons were accommodated with lodgings.

R. Sampson, Baltimore, Md.; B. Buel and Peter F. Burtis, of Chicago, Ill., are the guests of the West End Hotel.
