CITY NOTES.

—Rooss sends New York papers in advance of the mail.

—Repairs have been completed on the hydrant on Thirteenth street, between E and F streets.

—Nuptual festivities have been unusually numerous this fall. Is it not Saxe who says that "Cupid goes up and Mercury goes down?"

—Some burning sawdust in a spittoon caused a scare at the Post-Office Department yesterday among the clerks, who have a vivid recollection of the Patent Office fire.

—The dirt around the man-trap at the southwest corner of Sixteenth and K streets has caved in, making an ugly hole in the parking, which ought to be attended to at once.

—The Commissioners of the District have rescinded the order prohibiting George W. Boyd, clerk in charge of special assessments, from receiving drawbacks in payment of special improvements.

—Yesterday, while a little colored boy was playing on Covington street between Rhode Island avenue and R street, a carriage ran over him, knocking out his lower and upper teeth. A doctor was called in and rendered medical aid.

—A literary and musical "reception" will be tendered to the gentlemen of the Immaculate Conception Parish by the Carroll Institute, at its rooms, on G street, this evening. The best talent of the Institute will take part in the entertainment.

—Yesterday afternoon a human arm and hand was found in the rear yard of premises No. 1335 B street northwest, and carried to the Second Precinct Station-House by Emory H. Butters and James B. Clark. The limbs were buried by the authorities.

—Conductor Hill, of car 25, of the Pennsylvania avenue line, desires the man that gave him the counterfeit $10 bill a day or two since to return the $9.95 change he got, and receive his counterfeit note in return. He promies not to prosecute the party who took him in.

—James Johnson, colored, was arrested by Officer Lewis, of the First Precinct, about six o'clock last evening, on a warrant sworn out by Eleanor Forks, also colored, charging him with assault and battery. He was locked up for a hearing in the Police Court this morning.

—While the Metropolitan line of street-cars (Ninth and F streets) employ but fifty per cent. as many horses and men as the Avenue line, they charge almost half again as much for a single fare, and require the passengers to do the conductors' work. "Reform" is needed here.

—The destroying of trash by fire, in the rear of a house on Tenth street, near R, yesterday, caused considerable excitement in that neighborhood. It was a very dangerous operation, as the houses in the vicinity are all frame, and sparks from the fire were flying around quite freely.

—A colored man, named John Williams, assaulted Charles Lewis, also colored, in South Washington, yesterday afternoon, and about eight o'clock last night Williams was escorted to the station by Officer Dyer, of the First Precinct, and locked up for an introduction to Judge Snell this morning.

—The awards of merit for declamation at the Franklin Male Grammar School yesterday, were received by the following, in regular order of merit: George W. Rawlings, subject, "Catiline's Banishment." Frank Shaler; subject, "King Henry V. at Agincourt." Robert Rodgers; subject, "Clan McAlpine."

—The following have been installed officers of Clements Lodge I. O. of G. T., for the ensuing term: Seth L. Clark, W. C. T.; Miss E. T. Smith, W. V. T.; B. M. Elmonston, W. S.; Carrol Smith, W. F. S.; J. R. Mahoney, W. T.; Miss V. M. Evans, W. C.; Mrs. M. R. Mahoney, W. M.; Miss F. E. Smith, W. I. G.; R. P. Evans, W. O. G.

—The alarm of fire turned in from box 212 last evening, about eight o'clock, was caused by the explosion of a coal-oil lamp in the house of Dr. Borland, corner of Eleventh and N streets northwest. The department responded promptly, but did not go into service, as the neighbors rendered the necessary assistance. Damage trifling.

—A negro boy played snatch-and-go, yesterday, on the pie man who serves at the Franklin School Building. When the pie-man turned his head to attend to a customer, the boy snatched half of a pie from the stand and made off, but was met on the other side of the street by a big policeman, who ran him in to await the action of Judge Snell this morning.

—About nine o'clock last night fire was discovered in the frame work of the back bay-window in house No. 207 Fifteenth northwest, occupied by B. O. Caughhoun. The flames originated in an adjoining house, No. 205, occupied by M. Strickland, caused by a defective flue. Sergeant Bergan, of the Seventh Precinct, extinguished the flames without turning in an alarm. Damage slight.

—Randall Henson filled himself with fighting whiskey last night and stood on the corner of Virginia Avenue and Four and a half Street, southwest, and swatted to thresh every one that passed that way, until officers Dyer and Hutchinson, of the First Precinct came along and marched him off to the station house, where he was locked up for a hearing in the Police Court this morning, on the charge of being drunk and disorderly.

—The push carts can be used for conveying live as well as dead freight, as was demonstrated at the corner of Eleventh street and Pennsylvania avenue northwest, yesterday afternoon. A man, who had been on a little tear, found his legs unable to support him at that point, and charivied one of these vehicles to convey him home. A large crowd assembled, and after a slight delay the procession moved off, the occupant being apparently well satisfied with the novel conveyance.

—On Tuesday, Private Duffy, one of the proprietors of the American House of this city, received a dispatch from Richmond, Va., stating that their old friend Capt. Henry T. Mosler, Company F, First Virginia Regiment, who so hand somely entertained Company A on their recent visit at the state Fair, was to be married. Col. Monroe commandant of Company A, quietly got the company together and proceeded to Bohrer's store and selected a handsome present for the gallant captain, and sent it by express Wednesday morning.

Charles Stewart's Forgeries.

The case of Charles Stewart, indicted for forgery, was taken up yesterday in the Criminal Court. It will be remembered that at a previous term of the court the accused was arraigned and a jury impanneled, and at that juncture the court adjourned for the day. The defendant, being on bail, was permitted to depart; but that night he suddenly disappeared from the city, and failing to answer, the bond was declared to be forfeited. His security, not wishing to lose his money, set about a search for the fugitive, and finally ascertained that he was in the vicinity of Fredericksburg, Va. He went there, found him, and brought him back on a requisition. He was put in jail, where he has been confined ever since.

The indictment charges him with forging a promissory note for $700 in the name of Caroline Davis and executing a bogus deed of trust to Mr. A. A. Birney, to secure note and money loaned on it. The evidence adduced tended to show with positive directness the truth of the charge made, and the jury, after being out only a few minutes, returned a verdict against him.

District Attorney Wells, in asking for the passing of sentence, remarked that he hoped the sentence would be a severe one. The land records of the District were so weighed down with these rascalities that not a man or woman owning property were cure of a clear title to their possessions.

The court said that these schemes of villainy were striking terror to those who possessed property in this District, and while the defendant was a man of more than ordinary intelligence still he was satisfied that there were others, well-posted in real estate affairs, behind him, abetting in this movement. They had not been caught, however, and the court could only deal with those persons convicted. As for asking mercy in behalf of his wife and children, the prisoner should have kept them fresh before his mind when he undertook to rob the wives and children of other men by defrauding them of their property. He thought it was deserving of it, and should be made an example in this case by meting out the fullest punishment known to the law. He then sentenced Stewart to the Baltimore penitentiary for seven years.

The second indictment was then taken up. It charged the defendant with forging the name of Evelina West to a promissory note for $600, and executing a false deed of trust to secure the repayment of the loan negotiated thereon with intent to defraud one Georgia D. Todd. He plead guilty to the allegation, and was given an additional three years in the penitentiary, making in all ten years.

A third case against the same party for false pretences was nolle prossed.

Brisk Divorce Business.

The granting of divorces and matters pertaining thereto occupied considerable of the time of Justice Wylie in the Equity Court yesterday, and two more decrees were passed granting legal separations.

Rosetta Washington was married to Jared Washington in the year 1866, and he not long afterward deserted her, failing and refusing to furnish her any support. The court granted the divorce prayed for.

Sarah A. Kimmell and Archibald J. Thomas were married in Bakersville, Somerset County, Pennsylvania, by Esquire Brookey, May 31, 1865, and three children have been born to them, shortly after the marriage they removed to this District, where they lived until 1873, when he deserted her and went to the State of Ohio. She subsequently ascertained that he married another woman there. She was granted a divorce, with permission to resume her maiden name, and given the custody of the children.

In the case of Marcia V. Shanks, applying for a divorce from her husband, Benjamin F. Shanks, on the ground of adultery and infidelity, the Court denied the decree, as the proof failed to sustain the charge.

ONE MORE APPLICANT.

Emerick W. Hansell has petitioned for divorce from his wife, Mary E. Hansell. They were married in this District, June 4, 1873, by the Rev. John C. Smith, the defendant's maiden name being Mary E. Cross. He charges that on June 15, one year after marriage, she deserted him without cause, and has not lived with him since.

Fire Commissioners.

The Board of Fire Commissioners held their semi-monthly meeting at the Columbia Building last evening, all the members being present.

The chief engineer submitted his report for the month of October, showing that there had been fifteen fires, entailing a loss of $1,700, on which there was an insurance of $1,200. He also stated that the different companies had lost a number of articles at the Patent Office fire, and gave a detailed statement of the loss to each. A report was also read from the superintendent of the fire-alarm telegraph, stating that he was at present engaged in repairing the wires throughout the District. The instruments have all been examined and found to be in perfect order. Wires are also run and in readiness for putting in circuit the new signal box for the Post-Office Department, which is expected shortly.

A number of citizens of South Washington petitioned the board for the reinstatement of Richard Keyes, formerly a member of No. 4 Company; which was laid on the table, there being no vacancy at present.

A request was received from the Quartermaster-general asking that a key of the box at Willard's Hotel be furnished him for the use of his office; which was granted.

The bills of the department for the month of October were audited and ordered to be paid. Hereafter only $1.50 will be paid for a set of horseshoes, instead of $2, as the latter price is considered too much.

A communication was read from the District Commissioners, asking that requisitions for supplies for the department for November should be sent in at once, in order to facilitate the preparation of the annual report. Applications from the following named firemen were received and placed on the file: W. E. Richardson, C. W. Barker, W. Pitts, Nathan Fortune, Edward Mills, S. S. Beach, A. H. King, John A. Kelly, James A. Ford, G. M. Lucia, John M. Sanisbury and W. J. Williamson.

The president was engaged in giving an account of his trip to Baltimore to deliver the resignation of the chief of the Baltimore firemen, when an alarm of fire sounded from box 212, and the board hastily adjourned.

Prof. Carl Richter presided at the piano, Miss Hadfield, a young miss of ten summers, played a solo on the violin, for which she was rapturously encored. Mr. Malone gave a fine exhibition of his powers as a cornet-player, being accompanied on the piano by Prof. Richter. Major Williams' rendition of "Sheridan's Ride" was the gem of the evening. Mr. E. C. Townsend then read, with considerable feeling, a poem by the late Alice Cary, and the evening's pleasure was brought to a close by Cyphi Palmout, who gave two recitations, which were delivered with his usual ease and grace.

Artificial Ice.

A project is on foot for the erection in Washington of an apparatus for the manufacture of ice during next summer by what is known as the Clecke process. By this process, which involves the evaporation of ammonia, ice is formed on a large cylinder, at the rate of a quarter of an inch per hour, until it reaches a thickness of from twenty to forty inches. Specimens of ice thus manufactured will be exhibited in front of the Le Droit building during the day to-morrow. It is claimed that it can be manufactured as low as eighty cents per ton by this process.

DISTRICT AFFAIRS.

The Pauper Insane.

Maj. A. C. Richards, Superintendent of Police, has transmitted a communication to the Commissioners in relation to the pauper patients of the District now confined at the Insane Asylum, into whose condition he was requested to make an investigation. There are fifty-eight patients for which the District pays one-half of the cost of their support, and 54 that are paid for by the United States Exclusively, as a result of the examination just made, Maj. Richards reports that all of the patients are destitute, unable to provide any means to pay for their keeping, and have neither relatives or friends on the outside who can supply funds to pay for their care and attention. Without exception, they are all destitute and would have to be provided for by the District elsewhere if removed from the asylum. Some of the parties referred to have fathers, mothers, sisters, or brothers living, but investigation reveals the fact that all of them are poor people, some out of employment, and those at work earning such meagre wages as will scarce provide for their immediate necessities, let alone contributing to the support of their kin confined in the asylum. Then, again, a number of those placed in the hospital have left children behind them, are being taken care of by relatives and friends, and to do this it takes all their little surplus money and makes them poor indeed. It is difficult to see how the District can do better with these pauper patients than to permit them to remain at the asylum.

The Coroner's Annual Report.

Dr. D. C. Patterson, coroner for the District, has transmitted to the Commissioners his annual report for the year ending October 31. He shows that the number of infanticides and deaths from neglect of unknown infants has greatly increased. He states that in his report for last year he called attention to the subject, and suggested a remedy to prevent such wholesale slaughter, and he still believes that many of these unnatural mothers can be apprehended and brought to justice by the offer of a reward to those furnishing evidence of guilt. For this purpose he recommends that a contingent fund be appropriated, to be expended either by the chief of police or the coroner. He also renews his recommendation for a morgue or some suitable place to which the bodies of persons found dead can be removed to await identification, and where examination can be made and inquests held in cases of suspicion of foul play. His estimate for the expenses of the coroner's office is $2,000—salary and stationary. The tabular statement of deaths certified by the coroner during the past year embraces from all causes, including accidents, negligence and diseases, and dealing up at 185. Among these are 6 suicides, 6 homicides, 17 infanticides, 97 by accidents and negligence, and 59 by disease.

Minor District Notes.

—Drawbacks are asked for on lot 1, square 556.

—M. A. Kanfield has been transferred to the asylum pay-roll as an overseer.

—Lamp-posts are requested on G street, between First and North Capitol streets.

—The engineer recommends the placing of window doors in the Western Market.

Accident to a Schooner.

Yesterday afternoon, while the schoooner Adele Trundell, from Philadelphia, with coal to J. E. Zog, was discharging her cargo, the maintopmast, from which is suspended the ropes and block and tackle which hoists the coal from the hold of the vessel, snapped at the head of the mainmast. The captain of the vessel, Capt. Grace, suspended work, fearing that the maintopmast would fall to the deck and seriously if not fatally injure some of those engaged in unloading the draft. The broken maintopmast was then lowered to the deck of the vessel without further damage, and the work of unloading the coal proceeded. She will finish discharging her cargo to-day, but it will require several days to repair the damage to the vessel.

The Canal Blockaded.

There was a complete jam in the canal again yesterday, and the millers, in consequence of the same, were compelled to shut down about 9:30 o'clock and remain at a standstill until noon. There was also a blockade of boats on the Aqueduct Bridge, and it was several hours before it could be remedied and the boats, loaded with coal, consigned to Alexandria shippers, allowed to proceed on their way. Just above the aqueduct a boat was stretched across the canal, which caused a blockade above that structure; but the blockade east of the bridge down to and east of the High-street bridge was the worst, and the cause of compelling the mills to shut down. When the mills are compelled to shut down it entails upon the millers great loss and delay in shipping their orders to Eastern cities. It not only entails serious loss to the millers, but materially interferes with coal shippers in loading their vessels for Eastern ports.

Found Dead in Bed.

Early yesterday morning a noted character named John Quincy Adams was found dead in the house of Alice Miller, in Fighting alley No. 1. Adams was stopping at Alice Miller's house, and was in the habit of sleeping on the sofa. About ten o'clock on Tuesday night, he repaired to his bed in apparent good health. Shortly after midnight the inmates of the house heard a noise as if some one had fallen, and, on going to the room occupied by Adams, found him lying on the floor dead, and immediately informed the police, who removed the body to the First Precinct Station House and notified the coroner. Yesterday Dr. Hartigan made a post mortem examination, and decided that death was caused by an internal rupture of a blood vessel. The coroner decided an inquest unnecessary, and gave a certificate of burial. In the afternoon the Board of Health took charge of the body and buried it in the potter's field. Adams was sixty-two years of age, was born in Alexandria, Va., of respectable parents, but his conduct was such that they discarded him, and he came to Washington, where he has always lived an abandoned life. He had stepchildren living in South Washington, a sister-in-law in New Jersey, and a brother in Norfolk, Va.

Artificial Ice.

A project is on foot for the erection in Washington of an apparatus for the manufacture of ice during next summer by what is known as the Clecke process. By this process, which involves the evaporation of ammonia, ice is formed on a large cylinder, at the rate of a quarter of an inch per hour, until it reaches a thickness of from twenty to forty inches. Specimens of ice thus manufactured will be exhibited in front of the Le Droit building during the day to-morrow. It is claimed that it can be manufactured as low as eighty cents per ton by this process.

Oldest Inhabitants' Association.

The regular monthly meeting of the Oldest Inhabitants' Association was held yesterday afternoon at the City Hall. Dr. Blake, the president, occupied the chair. The committee appointed at the last meeting to request members to be punctual in attending reported that they had visited every one whose name appeared on the roll, and the majority stated that the hour for holding the meeting (four p. m.) was inconvenient. The propriety of changing the time to later in the evening was then discussed, but owing to the small number present action was deferred until the next regular meeting. After the transaction of routine business the association adjourned until the first Wednesday in December.

The body was removed to No. 2414 N street northwest, where an inquest will be held at ten o'clock this morning.
