HOME AFFAIRS.

CITY NOTES.

—Rouse send New York papers in advance.

—Fishermen commenced hauling seine yesterday down the river at Knight's and Elliot's landings.

—A temperance colony is being organized in Washington to locate in Colorado next fall. It numbers between thirty and forty members.

—The Richmond papers say that the selection of Father John J. Keane as Bishop of Richmond meets with great favor among the Catholics of that city.

—In a notice of the death of the daughter of P. H. Cooney, formerly of the Treasury Department, yesterday, the name of Corney was accidentally used for Cooney.

—Our glib-tongued friend, the vender of the Quaker Polish Powder, noticed in yesterday's REPUBLICAN as arrested at the Fifth Precinct Station, is not Henry L. Hawkins, the manufacturer of the Quaker Powder Polish.

—Early yesterday morning fire was discovered in a wood-shed attached to an unoccupied house at the corner of Seventh and H streets southwest, belonging to R. W. Riley. Officer Dyer and a citizen extinguished the flames before any damage was done, without turning in the alarm.

—Yesterday morning a lady, who declined to give her name, called at the Fifth Precinct Station and reported that while riding in a Metropolitan street car from Georgetown her pocket was picked. The thief took a Russia leather pocket book, containing about $8 and several Catholic medals.

—The alarm from box 28, about nine o'clock last evening, was caused by fire being discovered in a house on Wilson street, in the county, occupied by Fenton Howard. The flames were extinguished by the police and firemen, after a loss of $100 had been sustained, which is covered by insurance. The fire is supposed to have been of incendiary origin.

—The libel case of Freund vs. Kolb, which was to have been tried before Justice Connolly yesterday afternoon, did not come off. The defendant carried it up to the Circuit Court on a writ of certiorari, and the testimony will be heard on Saturday next. This case grew out of the celebrated "cremation puff" controversy, and a spicy trial may be anticipated.

Fine Arts.

Thomas Dowling, the well-known auctioneer, announces a great sale (by catalogue) of a magnificent collection of paintings and drawings, to take place at the salesroom, in the Corcoran Building, corner of Fifteenth and F streets. The exhibition of the collection will open on Thursday, April 4, and continue until morning of day of sale, Tuesday, April 9. The works of art to be sold include the productions of many celebrated home and foreign artists.

Oil Paintings.

An important and valuable collection of valuable oil paintings will be offered at auction by B. C. Brooker, jr., auctioneer, at his salesroom corner of Pennsylvania avenue and Eleventh street northwest, on Thursday, Friday and Saturday evenings of this week. These paintings are now on free exhibition.

Ice.

The Independent Ice Company, an association composed of some our best known and most enterprising business men, announces its readiness and ability to supply its consumers and the public generally, with that much needed commodity, ice. Office at the corner of Twelfth street and Pennsylvania avenue northwest.

A Remarkable Floor Covering.

A floor-cloth is now being manufactured, composed of cork, making a clean, soft, very handsome and durable floor covering. Its claims to extraordinary durability have been thoroughly tested. It is printed in handsome designs, and sold by all carpet dealers.

Mothers, Mothers, Mothers.

Don't fail to procure MRS. WINSLOW'S SOOTHING SYRUP for all diseases of teething in children. It relieves the child from pain, cures wind colic, regulates the bowels, and, by giving relief and health to the child, gives rest to the mother.

Lightning Rods.

The lightning rod man is among us. Fen Keys, the above man, resided at 993 Seventh street northwest, will tell you where to find him.

It is almost impossible to take Iodiflex Head-ache specific without getting instant relief. Only fifty cents a bottle, and sold by every druggist. Give it a trial.

THE railroads are now at peace, and the hotels have had their "war." The result of this recent settling of first-class hotel rates in New York leaves the United Central in the field, with rates $1 and $2 per day lower than the rest.

A FEW days and even less our remains when it will be too late to make an application for a ticket in the grand April distribution of the Louisiana State Lottery Company. A letter addressed at once to M. A. Dauphin, P. O. Box 692, New Orleans, will receive prompt attention, and if it reaches the sender of it will promptly receive a ticket, which we hope for his sake, will entitle him to fortune.

A Dishonest Servant.

Yesterday afternoon Detectives Carter and Weis arrested a colored man named John Pinkard, on a charge of larceny preferred by Mrs. Kettring, who keeps an eating house on the Avenue. The accused has been employed as a waiter at the house, and a number of articles which had disappeared mysteriously disappeared. Officers found in his possession, on searching his house a quantity of silver and other household utensils were found which he admitted he had taken at various times from his employer. The prisoner was taken to Police Headquarters and locked up for a hearing before Judge Snell this morning.

Found Drowned in Piscataway Creek.

The body of Theodore Giles, the German who disappeared from Meyer's Hotel, Friday, March 15, and who was last seen by a sailboat in the river, was found Monday floating in Piscataway creek. It was somewhat eaten by the fish, and had nothing upon it excepting a suit of clothes and two finger-rings. Mr. Meyer returned with the body yesterday.

Choosing Partners.

The clerk of the court has issued marriage licenses to the following parties: S. H. Hurley, of this city, and Margaret R. Tucker, of Montgomery County, Md.; John Johnson and Mary Sheehan; G. F. Hotzeier and Eleanor Fletcher; J. W. Slater and Emma Bowman; Champ Carter and Fanny Johnson.

MARRIED IN HASTE.

THE ROMANCE THAT PRECEDED A DIVORCE SUIT.

The Young Wife Now Claims That She Was Forced to Marry—The Other Side of the Story—The Young Husband, Having Spent All His Money, Finds That He is No Longer a Welcome Guest at His Mother-in-Law's House.

Mrs. Mary Kate Mendez has, through her solicitor, A. H. Jackson, esq., applied for a divorce from her husband, Manuel A. Mendez. There is much in this application that will carry many of the readers of THE REPUBLICAN back to reminiscences connected with the consummation of this marriage, which were made public at the time, and subsequent events that have hitherto been hidden.

THE WIFE'S STORY.

In the petition, which is made under oath, the wife tells the following life-history:

"On the evening of October 18, 1872, she was induced by Mendez to take a walk with him on Twelfth street northwest, and when near the corner of L street she was with force and arms compelled, against her will and consent, to enter a hack, and was rapidly driven to another section of the city to her unknown, and there transferred to another carriage. In this was seated a man considerably advanced in years. While in the second vehicle Mr. Mendez informed her that he had a marriage license and that she must marry him, and drew a pistol and swore if she did not that he would kill her. She was greatly frightened and utterly helpless, being then only fifteen years of age.

"She was taken in the carriage to the Young Men's Christian Association Building, and under duress and fright was induced to marry the defendant, the ceremony being performed by Rev. G. A. Hall. After the marriage her husband returned with her to the mother's house, No. 1123 Ninth street northwest, where they resided for two months. She further states that Mendez, on the 19th of October, and divers other occasions, cruelly abused and maltreated her, by cursing and applying to her hard and vile names and low epithets; that he pulled her hair with great and brutal violence, struck, bruised and mangled her flesh in such manner as to give her great bodily pain and mental suffering. She declares that at no time did he provide her with the means of support before or since October 18. She alleges that, without fault or provocation on her part, or any cause or reason known to her, Mendez left, abandoned, and deserted her on December 22, 1872, and that she has never seen or heard of him since, and that she supposes him to be in one of the South American States."

THE ROMANTIC MARRIAGE.

The story of this marriage is not a new one, but those persons cognizant of the affair fail to remember it in the light now depicted, and as in accordance with their knowledge it greatly varies from the statements contained in the deposition. Miss Katie Herbert—for that was the maiden name of the complainant—was the youngest and prettiest of three sisters residing with their mother on Ninth street northwest, and the family enjoyed the respect and society of their neighbors. The lady referred to was over fifteen years of age at that time, attending school on H, between Sixth and Seventh streets northwest, and was accorded a belle's homage and position. Before entering the school she was very shy and modest, but constant companionship with other girls wore off some of this reserve, and the little twenty odd-long rotunds began to her other attractiveness, which, added to her attractive graces. School-girls have their sweethearts, and the belle of the school of course led the van with a whole ten ensemble. At this time, the boy-band that was to be, had not come upon the tapis, and a brief insight into his life may not be out of place. He was a native of Peru, South America, and came to this country to receive his education. He was of excellent family, possessed of means, good lineage, and parents who were desirous of endowing him with a superior college training, selected the Georgetown College as the one preferable to them. He was a Catholic in religion, and the institution being under the supervision of the reverend fathers, was an additional inducement for its selection by his mother.

He attended at the college nearly four years, was devoted to his studies, and did fair to be a young man of great promise. He was not of age at the time he married Miss Herbert. Has the reader read it is not necessary to mention, but suffice it to say that it was a clear case of love at first sight on his part, and the young lady was not slow to understand and appreciate the attentions of her boy-lover. His purse-strings not being drawn very tight, and liberal allowances from home having been his good fortune, he was seen giving ostensible proof of his adoration and affection by bestowing on his lady-fair numerous elegant and handsome presents. In time promises ensented into an engagement, and the young man urged a hasty marriage. The lady was coy and doubtful as to the propriety of the venture, but persuasion finally overcame scruples, and she consented to

ELOPE WITH THE GAY PERUVIAN.

Before doing so, however, she communicated her intentions to at least one friend of her bosom, and that person did not see proper to place any obstructions in the way of the success of the project. Neither, at that time or afterwards, was anything said about abduction, threats, or forced marriage; but, on the contrary, it was asserted and not denied that the parties proceeded openly and undisguised to the parlors of the Young Men's Christian Association Building, where, in the presence of witnesses, Rev. George A. Hall performed the ceremony for them. If there was any duress at that time, the prospective bride submitted most willingly, and looked charming in her beauty and blushes.

A few days being spent in the city of New York, where he replenished her wardrobe, he decked her with jewels, and bestowed devoted attention to his young wife; added to the charm of their new life, and the horoscope of their future was without a lowering cloud. They returned to this city and took apartments at the Arlington Hotel, but had not been there long when an uncle of the bride appeared as the representative of her mother, and they, after a short talk, returned to the former home as the wife. Shortly after the discussion of the verity of the marriage in law, both of the contracting parties being minors, were treated. An additional point was advanced that the family of Mendez being Catholics, a ceremony performed in another faith would not be recognized as binding by them. This started off a representative to consult Father Maguire on the subject.

He laid the case before him and asked that the couple be remarried in the Catholic service. His reverence made a few inquiries, and finding both bride and groom were under age, declined to take any part in the affair, and spoke rather harshly of the young lady's mother for permitting such proceedings to take place. Further, he said that he took occasion to refer to the matter from the church pulpit on the ensuing Sunday. He also informed his visitor that in the young man's country the marriage would be a nullity, as he could not enter into such a compact without the consent of his parents; but while they remained here that would not operate against them. The young lovers lived in clover for some time, billing and cooing, but sad to relate, and remittances seemed to have stopped. While this should not have been a cloud upon their happiness, it did operate against the domestic peace of the husband.

If the story of the neighbors can be relied upon as true, then with the departure of Mr. Mendez's money went much of the affection of the wife.

A little more than two months elapsed after the wedding, when the husband found himself shut out from the society of his wife and denied entrance into her home or her presence. He pleaded love and constancy, and that in good time he would receive money from home and all would be well again, but it failed to meet any responsive chord where it should have met a welcome. At this juncture, the mother of the wife took the cause of her husband in and pleaded for his comfort. He received a letter from his mother, in which she invited him to return home and bring his wife; but the mild entreaties that such a request stirred up only added fuel to the already bitter fire.

Subsequently, through the advice of the Peruvian Minister, he retained counsel, but before doing so he consulted a lawyer, laid the facts of his case before him, and asked that his interest be looked after, and if an attempt at divorce should be made on the ground of desertion, to take the necessary steps to dispute it.

After reading his case he consulted to Mr. Herbert made sufficient to pay his obligations and provide with necessaries of life family who had taken a kindly interest in him and contributed to his comfort.

Thus is shown both sides of a strange case and the marriage that was thought to be fraught with so much that was likely to promote love and happiness and result in sorrow to one if not two lives.

The College of Pharmacy.

EDITOR REPUBLICAN: The report of the meeting of the Students' Association of the National College of Pharmacy on Tuesday morning, April 2nd, was in all these exceptions. The resolution is not of legal or delicate or any question, but it was decided by the class of 1878 to invite the graduates of 1877 to participate in the commencement exercises of next year, as the association had decided to hold no commencement exercises this year. A committee of five was then appointed to confer with the trustees of the college to obtain their consent to the action taken by the students. The meeting was pronounced in the highest, and the very best of feeling prevailed among the students.

The following gentlemen were elected officers for the ensuing term: President, John Gladmon; vice-president, Harry Shoolbred; treasurer, T. A. Jones; secretary, J. B. Robertson. Very respectfully, STUDENT.

Proposed Indignation Meeting.

At the Protestant Meeting of the A. M. E. Church at Union Bethel Church on M street between 4½ and Half streets, last Monday, resolutions were adopted expressing the political outrages perpetrated upon colored people and loyal whites in Northeastern Texas as recited by Rev. Dr. W. H. Simpson, a refugee from that state, and authorizing the appointment of a committee of five to confer with the authorities of this city with the view of holding a meeting and giving public expression to their views in regard to the matter.

WORKINGMEN'S ASSEMBLY.

Appeals to Mob Violence Denounced—A Workingwoman's Association Assisted—Provision for the Support of Strikes.

The regular meeting of the Workingmen's Assembly was held at Beck's Hall last evening, Mr. J. H. Ralston in the chair; G. E. Taylor, secretary.

The credentials of Walter Drury as delegate from the Painter's Union, in place of J. J. Meany, resigned, were favorably acted upon.

Mr. William Davis was admitted as a delegate from the Carpenters' Union, in place of Thomas Browning, resigned.

A communication was read from the Painters' Union, notifying the Assembly that William Heyl and Edward Kenney had been expelled from that Union for working for wages which are not allowed under their constitution.

An election was held for corresponding secretary, to fill the vacancy occasioned by the resignation of Mr. J. J. Meany, and Mr. J. P. Hamilton was chosen.

NO MOB LAW.

Mr. Ralston called Dr. Thomas to the chair and offered the following resolutions:

Be it resolved by the National Workingmen's Assembly of the District of Columbia, That we denounce all appeals to mob violence on the part of workingmen as intended to the best interests of work ngmen themselves.

Resolved, That we discountenance all such appeals and any such action, here or elsewhere, as better calculated to depress the condition of the laboring man than to elevate it.

Resolved, That in the moral support of the community in our just measures we find a better guaranty of success than could possibly be given to us by ill-considered or revolutionary actions.

Resolved, That an intelligent ballot affords the best method of relief for such evils of workingmen as can be cured in the present distressed condition of the country, and to this end we ask the co-operation of all true workingmen, here and elsewhere.

At the conclusion of the reading of the resolutions, Mr. Hanlit arose to his feet and said that the resolutions just read were intended as a fling at him for having uttered certain expressions at the strikers' mass-meeting last Tuesday evening.

Mr. Ralston disclaimed any intention of casting a reflection upon Mr. Hamilton, but did not wish that the sentiments attributed to him by a morning paper should go out to the country as the opinions of the workingmen of the District.

A lively discussion followed the reading of the resolutions, in which Messrs. Barker, Clarkson, and others participated. The matter was finally amicably adjusted by the adoption of the resolutions.

HELPING THE WORKINGWOMEN.

Mrs. Stanton, of the Workingwoman's Association of the District of Columbia, was introduced to the Assembly, and stated that she belonged to a secret organization composed of sewing-women and servants. A debt of $25 had been incurred which they were unable to pay, and they therefore appealed to the Assembly that the money should be advanced to them, in order to relieve them of their present embarrassments. They could give as security a number of sewing-machines.

The subject was referred to the finance committee, with instructions to report immediately. The finance committee retired, and after a few moments consultation returned with a favorable reply to Mrs. Stanton's request, and $25 was appropriated out of the treasury for her association.

The following was adopted as follows:

Resolved, That when any trade or labor organization is presented to this Assembly shall, with the consent or approval of this body, deem it necessary to cease work or strike upon any question involving the rights or privileges of our organization, or in consequence of any aid demand is made upon the members of this Assembly, it shall be the duty of this Assembly to pledge such moral and pecuniary support as it may be in its power to give, and shall use its best endeavors to induce other organizations represented to aid and support such strikers in their efforts to maintain their rights and defend their organization, and that no strike be regulated from time to time with and by the consent of a majority of the organizations represented.

Mr. Armstrong then addressed the Assembly in opposition to convict labor, which, he said, was a growing evil in the East.

After listening to a few remarks by Mr. McDonald, the Assembly adjourned.

Work of the Y. M. C. A.

The board of managers of the Young Men's Christian Association held its regular monthly meeting at the rooms of the association Monday evening. Rev. J. G. Ames, president, occupied the chair; F. W. Vaughn, secretary. Reports from officers being called for, the treasurer reported as follows for the month of March: Received from sustaining memberships, $129; library, $10.55; rents of rooms, $28; subscriptions, $8; renewals, $55.50; sundries, $20.87; lectures, $433.25; total, $777.17. Expenditures—lectures, $390.33. Expense account—gas, &c., $37.27; salaries of general secretary, librarian, janitor, fireman, $159; rent, $80; papers, periodicals, &c., $18.19—total, $725.11. This report was received and approved. The general secretary presented a report for the six months ending March 31, showing the following aggregates: Attendance at reading room, 35,000; Papers and magazines on file, 100; social entertainments in parlors 18; public lectures and entertainments in Lincoln Hall, 22; religious meetings held in Association Building, 260; neighborhood meetings held in different sections of the city, 21; average attendance at daily noon-day meetings, 25; average attendance at daily six o'clock meetings, 100; average attendance at Lincoln Hall meetings, 600; average attendance at social entertainments, 75; assistance rendered for relief in various ways to 280; number of known conversions resulting directly from Y. M. C. U. work, 50; letters written at rooms, stationery furnished free, 2,000; strangers directed to boarding-houses, 30.

Reports from the various committees were received.

The Committee on the Suppression of Vice reported through its chairman giving some startling facts in relation to crime and certain places in the city where vice is fostered and nourished. The president and chairman of the committee were authorized to take practical steps in the matter.

The anniversary exercises, being the twenty-fifth or "silver" anniversary, will be held in a few weeks.

Board of Health.

The Board of Health met at seven o'clock last night. The operations of the health office ending March 30, 1878, were reported, as follows:

Nuisances reported, 490; referred, 80; abated, 531; referred to Commissioners, 7; official notices issued, 2; chimney complaints, 28; causes of death investigated, 8; preliminary conditions investigated, 3; burials at public expense, 3; investigation for local cause of disease, 9 (diphteria, 3; scarlet fever, 6); premises found sanitary, 4; insanitary, 5.

Tons of garbage removed, 95; dead animals removed, 46; privies cleaned by O. E. A. Company, 553. Marine products inspected—69,000 herring, 9,285 shad, 10,042 bunches of fish, 20,000 crabs, 21,000 clams, 2,850 bushels of oysters. Condemned—10 shad, 42 bunches of fish, 2,000 crabs, 110 bushels of oysters.

Unwholesome food condemned—41 pounds of beef, 50 veal, 30 mutton, 12 pork, 16 bacon, 3 chickens, 9 geese, 112 dozen eggs, 105 cabbages, 4 bushels potatoes, 16 bushels kale, and ½ bushel turnips.

Animals impounded, 15; redeemed, 10; killed, 3; amount realized, $28.

The wood structure and premises No. 500 Seventh street southeast were condemned as nuisances and ordered to be vacated.

Dr. Bliss called the attention of the board to two cases where burial certificates had been altered after being issued from the office by the undertaker. In one the place of interment had been altered from Mount Olivet to Greenwood, and in the other the name of the deceased had been changed. It was important to have the stubs, certificates, and registry agree, as the law required that correct vital statistics should be kept, and it was necessary that some method be taken to prevent alterations of death certificates outside of the office. The matter was referred to the ordinance committee.

The Indian Found at Last.

Last Monday Detectives McElfresh and McDevitt received information that John D. Benne, the Indian who was robbed at the Washington House about two weeks ago, and who disappeared very suddenly after the arrest of the supposed thief, could be found at Rockville, Md. The officers took the 4:35 train and proceeded to Rockville, where they discovered Mr. Benne. At his request the detectives remained at the hotel until yesterday morning, when the entire party returned to Washington. Soon after their arrival the officers, acting upon information derived from Mr. Benne, procured a warrant for the arrest of B. F. Beveridge and sylvanus Gleason on the charge of being concerned in the robbery. Both the prisoners were taken to Police Headquarters, and, after furnishing bail in the sum of $2,000 each, were released until next Saturday morning, when the case will be tried in the Police Court.

Dr. Corning on the Renaissance.

Dr. Corning lectured in the "Renaissance," at the Congregation Church last evening, began with the breaking away from ecclesiastical bondage and the independence of all kinds of art in the fifteenth century, followed by the birth of perspective and the invention of oil painting, the promoting of art by Pope Julius II., the supplanting of the Gothic style in architecture, followed by the revival of sculpture with imitations of the great sculptures of the fifteenth century. The lecture embraced a most interesting idea of the lines illustrated by engravings from the masterpieces of Leonardo da Vinci, Raphael, Corado, Titian, and Hans Holbein, ending with the struggles of Albert Durer against and appealing faith and a graphic outline of the grand freedom of art in the renaissance period as contrasted with the religious bondage of the mediæval age.

Rescued from Drowning.

Yesterday afternoon about four o'clock a woman named Annie Conroy, while in an intoxicated condition, fell into the water opposite Babcock Lake and would have been drowned but for the timely assistance of some laborers who were working near by the scene of the accident. A report was circulated that the woman attempted to commit suicide, but a visit to her house last evening elicited an emphatic denial that such was the fact. She is a boarder at the house of Mrs. Holmes, on Fifth avenue, where she was taken and properly cared for.

The workmen who were cleaning out sewers yesterday found the body of a white baby in the sewer corner of sixth and S streets, about one o'clock. It appeared to be newly born, and was bent double, being tied around the neck and feet with a piece of string. It was taken in charge by the Board of Health and properly disposed of.

CITY ITEMS.

TO CONSUMPTIVES.—Wilbor's Cod Liver Oil and Lime has now been before the public for ten years, and has steadily grown into favor and appreciation. This could not be the case unless the preparation was of high intrinsic value. The combination of the Phosphate of Lime with pure Cod Liver Oil, as procured by Dr. Wilbor, has produced a new place in the treatment of consumption and all diseases of the lungs. This article can be taken by the most delicate invalid without creating the disgusting nausea which is such a prominent objection to the Cod Liver Oil when taken without Lime. It is prescribed by the regular faculty, sold by the proprietor, A. B. Wilbor, Chemist, Boston, and by druggists generally.

SPRING OPENING of Miss Annie K. Humphery, 430 Tenth street northwest. On Tuesday, April 2, and during the week, I shall open a choice stock of ladies' and gentlemen's furnishings, fancy goods, and imported hosiery, including a fine selection of ladies', misses', and children's underclothing, and ladies' and misses' corsets in every style. My French, German, and English goods surpass anything I have heretofore been able to secure, and are of the finest quality. To this opening my old and new friends and the public are earnestly invited. French, German, and Spanish spoken.
