

THURSDAY MORNING, August 28th, 1873.

NEWS AND OTHER NOTICES.—By reference to notice elsewhere published, it will be seen that the Republican Central Committee for St. Mary's, Capt. A. A. Lawrence and others, have requested primary meetings of their party to be held at the usual places of voting in the several election districts of the county on Saturday next, the 30th of August, instant. The object of these meetings, as stated in the call of the Committee, is to elect five delegates from each district to represent the Republican Party in a County Convention to be held at Leonardtown on Saturday, the 6th of September next, this Convention being convened to elect five members of the Central Committee for St. Mary's and three delegates to represent the party in the State Convention of the Republicans which assembles at Frederick City, Md., on the 12th of September, 1873.—For fuller particulars, see call of the Committee.

It is impossible at this early day even to approximate the damage sustained in our county by the late rains and freshets, but enough is known to warrant the declaration, that it is largely in excess of any single year's disaster from flood or storm which has occurred in this section within the past quarter of a century. The damage to the public roads and bridges alone is estimated by competent judges to be $1,000,000 and upwards, but this is probably a mere bagatelle compared to the aggregate loss incurred in private quarters, one gentleman of our acquaintance alone putting his loss above $2500. The damage from washing of the land, and also to mills, mill-dams, fencing, to wheat and oats not under cover, to growing crops, particularly the tobacco crop, is without parallel, we are instructed, in the recollection of the "oldest inhabitant." In nearly all bottoms or low lands the tobacco crops have been drowned outright and nearly everywhere they are more or lessrenched. In lands of similar location, the corn crop, also, is badly injured, and altogether, considering the present depressed condition of our planting interest, a gloomier outlook than that now before our people has never been encountered. Bad as it is, however, we shall not better it by grieving over and talking about it. Pluck, energy and self-denial we still may command. Misfortunes, like those under notice, are sometimes blessings in disguise—they often develop the true manhood of a people.

Though rumors are rife, and have been, for ten days or more past, of new movements and collections on the chess-board of our local politics, we have been able thus far to eliminate nothing sufficiently definite to authorize the mention of any particulars worthy of credit or indorsement. Our local politicians are closely keeping their own secrets at present and are likely so to until the cards are shuffled for the final deal. We expect that all unsettled preliminaries for the November game will be finally disposed of before or during the September Term of our Court and that present conflicts and estrangements will then be terminated or bridged over, or become chronic for the remainder of the campaign. As we have no investments at present in any body's "ring"—and we have just about as many as we ever had—and remember no insults or injuries we are called upon to resent or revenge, we shall persist in keeping the BEACON clear, editorially, of local and personal entanglements, and shall devote whatever political force we possess to the sustenance of the State Nominations of the Democratic party, Messrs. WOODFORD and FRANKLIN.

The New York Tribune reiterates the charges made by it against Senator Carpenter, of disreputable conduct at Long Branch, and says: "Our object is answered in directing the attention of the people to the unclean life of the brilliant but unprincipled man who occupies the chair of the United States Senate, and who from his high position should be an example to the youth of the land. The politics of the country need cleansing and purifying. The politicians who debate public sentiment and defy public opinion, who mock at virtue, scout all considerations of honesty or honor, and flaunt their vices in the nation's face, need to be held up to public gaze and reprobation. Under cover of loyalty to a righteous cause, rapacity, lust and greed have had full sway for years, and the result is the country is honeycombed with all manner of corruption. In such a state of things, the only way of escape is to lift the veil and show the honest, decent, truth-loving people of the country what manner of men their rulers are. That is the work of pure and upright journalism."

William E. Niblack, of Indiana, in a long letter as one of the Congressmen who voted against back pay, but took the money, does not believe, with Carpenter, that keeping down the salaries would close the doors of Congress against all but aristocrats and millionaires; nor, with Mr. Hamilton, that his constituents were bound to keep him like a gentleman; nor with Mr. Machen, that he was worth all he got and more too; nor with Butler, that it was nobody's business; but Niblack confesses that he knew it was all wrong; that the bill was "against public policy," unfair, indecent, "without a parallel in our history," and "presuming very largely on the forbearance of an already sorely-taxed people." In a word, he knew it was all wrong, and just went and did it! If all others will disgorge, so will Niblack, but if not, not, and so most people think Niblack had better have kept out of print.

The Washington authorities having approved the finding of the court-martial in Oregon, six of the Modocs will be hanged on the 3rd of October. The other Indians now held by the troops on the Pacific coast will probably be given up to the State authorities.

Literary Notices.—Nothing finer has yet been produced in this country in the form of a magazine than the September Aldine. Europe and America have been laid under contribution to furnish the most marvellously beautiful pictures which the best artists can produce. Mr. A. F. Bunker has a series of three magnificent views in the Rocky Mountains, made expressly for the Aldine.—In these days of Yellowstone expeditions and excursions to this famous region, these pictures present unusual interest. A full-page view of Clear Creek Canon, Rocky Mountains, opens up the wonderful grandeur of those hidden solitudes in a way to make them seem real; a large picture of the Snowy Range of the Sierra Madre is wild, gloomy, and grand, while a sketch of the interior of the Rocky Mountains, gives one the impression that all the world is made of mountains. A charming full-page picture after Lejeune, a French artist, called "The Blue Bird," shows a bewitching young woman confined in a strong tower to keep her from her lover.—Mr. John Hows, a New York artist, has a full-page study of "Brookside Willows," remarkable for its faithful interpretation of nature and minute detail. A fine picture is seldom seen. Mr. A. Hallow gives a society sketch called "Who is It?" of two ladies peeping down stairs to catch a glimpse of the man at the hall door. Dore, the great French artist, furnishes two large pictures illustrating the fairy tale of the "Sleeping Beauty." One of these shows the wonderful "Sleeping Palace," with the huntsmen in profound slumber; the other mirrors the "Sleeping Beauty" in her vine-covered balcony in the golden sunlight. These two pictures are magical in their effect, and full of the subtle genius of Dore. Peter Moran has a charmingly drawn picture called "An American Farm Scene," which is truthful and characteristic. There is also a fine picture of "Emperor Charles V. and Titian," after Beckers, which illustrates a well-known historical event. "A Sky Terrier," closes the grand list of illustrations for September. Each of these pictures are well described in the letterpress, the editorial articles on "Colorado" and the "Sleeping Beauty" being of special interest. Mrs. Julia C. R. Dorr opens the number with an exquisite poem of considerable length, entitled "Bena; a Legend of Brussels." It has all the beauty and grace of Tennyson's "Locksley Hall," which it resembles. R. K. Weeks adds a gem of a poem called "In September." The prose contributions are all excellent. "A Great Man in a Green Hat," is a capital satire on the modern art of "interviewing," written by G. P. Lethrop. "F. W." has a chatty article "Concerning Costumes." "The Burgomaster in a Bottle," is one of those quaint French stories which only Messrs. Eckmann-Charlier could have written. "On the Trap" is an exciting love story by E. B. Leonard. W. W. Bailey has one of his pleasant and readable essays on "Motions in Plants." James Jackson Jarves, the well-known writer on art, contributes a very interesting account of "Mrs. Browning's English Home." The department of Music, Art, and Literature, are each well filled with good solid reading matter, fully maintaining the high reputation the Aldine has long since earned.—Subscription price $5.00, including Chromos "Village Belle" and "Crossing the Moor." James Sutton & Co., publishers, 58 Maiden Lane, N. Y.

The Science of Health for September is an unusually good number, with facts and information which, if acted on, would render it worth more to every reader than a year's subscription, containing "Obedience and Health," "How Long May We Live," "Practical Temperance," "Experience in Water-Cure," "Pre-Natal Influences," "Disease and Its Treatment," "Nature vs. Civilization," "Doctors and Malt Liquors." In Seasonable Dishes, under the head of "Household Department," we have instructions for the Preparation and Use of Tomatoes in various ways; Peaches, Pears, Plums, Melons, etc.; how to Remove Fruit Stains; Canning Corn; Description of a Distilling Store; and an unusual amount of information in Talks with Correspondents. This magazine is published at the low and popular price of two dollars a year, or offered for six months on trial, for $1.00. Address S. R. Wells, Publisher, 389 Broadway, N. Y.

The September number of Wood's Household Magazine is on our table. We all have a good word to say for this publication—it is such a whole-souled book—so wide awake, so lively and entertaining, yet always so chaste and refined. It is a regular little go-ahead, too, as comparison between its numbers will prove. We learn that the firm of S. S. Wood & Co. dissolved in March last, the "Co." (S. E. Shutes, Mayor of Newburgh,) retaining possession of the magazine, and recalling H. V. Osborne (Tenoroon) as editor. So, though the publication really changed hands, it has not suffered from the management of a new publisher or new editor, but under the redoubled efforts of its energetic proprietor, has gained new force and new attractiveness. Price only one dollar a year. Address Wood's Household Magazine, Newburgh, N. Y.

The Phenological Journal for September, now on our table, must be pronounced by every reader a capital number. Its examination has given us much satisfaction. It contains over twenty set articles, besides shorter papers; among them being Hiram Powers, with portrait; Extraordinary Scientific Discoveries; Living Utopia; Life; Dr. Horatio Doar, with portrait; Laughter, illustrated; Sketches from Real Life, No. 4 illustrated; Good Behavior— which every-body should read; Prof. J. M. Kieffer, with portrait; Mary Lee's Dream, a story for teachers; Over-training; Curiosities of Abstinence; Local Opinion; or The Temperance Experiment at Vineland; Dr. Wilder's Wit and Wisdom; From Cheboygan to Mackinac on Ice; The Chinese Wheelbarrow, illustrated; John T. Gordon, a Murderer, with portrait, etc. Subscription price, $3 a year. S. R. Wells, Publisher, 389 Broadway, New York.

NEWSPAPER ENTERPRISE.—The Baltimore American celebrated its one-hundredth anniversary on Wednesday, the 20th instant, by sending out a fac simile edition of the first copy of that paper, published on the 27th day of August, 1773. It contains four pages of three broad columns each, and was published by W. Goddard. Like many other journals, the American has made long strides in size and progress since that day, and for enterprise in its news departments it is not excelled by any paper in Baltimore city. It deserves in a business aspect the high state of prosperity to which it has attained.

DEMOCRAT MONTHLY MAGAZINE for September is rich in literary novelties, and also gives a fine display of the new Fall Fashions. Democrat seems to outbid all his contemporaries in the value of Premiums to its subscribers; he announces an astounding offer for 1874, of the large and celebrated chromo, "The Old Oaken Bucket," after Jerome Thompson, and several other equally large and valuable Chromos, "The Captive Child," "Home, Sweet Home," and "After the Storm," for the ensuing three years, worth $15 each. This is certainly unparalleled, and we wonder how it can be done. Send for Circular. Address W. Jennings Democrat, 838 Broadway, N. Y.

Democrat's Young America is as full of novelties as an egg is full of meat. The September No. of this entertaining Juvenile Monthly will be a valuable accession to any family of children. An announcement is made that hereafter it will be furnished at $1.00 per year, with a valuable Premium, Girls and Boys will please note this. Address W. Jennings Democrat, 838 Broadway, N. Y.

Blackwood's Magazine for August begins the ninth book of "The Parisians," and Schiller is treated of in the "Century of Great Poets, from 1750 downwards." "The North; The Land of Love and Song," is a fine poem by R. G. Halliburton. "Savalls and the Carlists in Catalonia," is timely and instructive. Besides these the current number contains other articles of varying value.

PRAIRIE.—There was exhibited at the Corn and Flour Exchange on Saturday morning, by Col. James R. Herbert, a bunch of wheat stalks from which had been cut 300 good heads, the production of a single grain of wheat. It was grown on the farm of Col. Robert Beverley, in Essex county, Va. Another bunch from the same gentleman's farm, containing 146 heads, producing one and a half pint of good wheat, the yield of two grains, was sent to the Corn Exchange, Alexandria. Those who examined the bunch exhibited on our "Change pronounced it a great curiosity. One gentleman had before seen twenty-seven stalks from a single grain, and it was regarded as nearly wonderful, but this bunch is nearly five times greater. With such facts as these there is no occasion for men to go West to farm; "there is life in the old land yet."—Valt. Daily Sun.

DEATH OF ALEXANDER PENN.—Mr. A. Alexander Penn, for many years a prominent wholesale grocer of this city, died on Sunday morning at his late residence, No. 87 North Charles street, aged 58 years. Mr. Penn was a native of Charles county, but came to Baltimore many years ago to engage in business. He was a man of strict integrity, and had the respect and confidence of all who were brought in contact with him. At one time he was a member of the City Council, and as such carefully guarded the interests of the city. Several years ago, in consequence of declining health, he retired from active business pursuits, but he never recovered.—His funeral took place yesterday afternoon at St. Paul's Church, and was largely attended.—Baltimore Gazette of Tuesday.

DECLINATION.—Mr. Editor.—Please allow me space enough in your column to offer my thanks to those who announced me as a candidate. To those friends I would say, that for me, the prospect for success is very limited, owing to the present deranged and corrupt state of affairs, and as I am convinced that I would have to sacrifice those principles which I have cherished and maintained from my earliest childhood, and which I have firmly determined nothing but death shall ever deprive me, Sir, by withdrawing my name as a candidate from your columns, you will gratify my obligations, &c.

DIED.—Departed this life July 18th, 1873, Mrs. S. SAN R. ABELL, aged 33 years, 3 months and 18 days. Long she struggled against disease, Which buffed skill and care, And long she lingered with pain And sufferings hard to bear.

Honors to Jesus on high. Another has entered her rest, Another has escaped the sky And lodged in Immanuel's breast. The soul of my dear wife is gone To brighten the triumph above, Bled to Jesus' throne, And clasped in the arms of his love. Dear husband, children, mother, brothers, sisters, all. Prepare yourselves, O ready band, To meet me in that happy land.

MARY ANN ABELL, youngest child of Samuel R. Abell, departed this life July 18th, 1873, aged 6 months and 3 days. I take this little angel, said he, And lay it in my arms, and bid her, Protection I shall find in me, In such a tender bliss.

BALTIMORE MARKETS.—WHEAT.—The market for Wheat has continued active and firm since our last report, with a good demand from both shippers and millers, but prices have undergone little or no change. The receipts of Southern wheat were rather more liberal, and to Thursday, inclusive, amounted to 50,000 bushels, against 50,000 bushels same time last week. The offerings were all taken each day, and we learn of no lots held over.—The sales reported were 3,000 bushels inferior good white at 150¢@155 cents; 5,000 do. prime to choice do. at 155¢@160 cents; 10,000 do. inferior fair red at 150¢@158 cents; 22,000 do. good to prime do. at 170¢@177 cents; 23,500 do. prime choice and do. at 176¢@180 cents, and 2,000 do. do. at 182 cents, taken for seed.

CORN.—The market for Western mixed Corn has been quiet during the week, and the business reported is light owing to the scarcity of freight room offering, and to the firm view of holders. The market generally held at 30 cents, but the stock is a little in excess of this day week, and large portions of which is held by shippers. We hear of sales of only 21,000 bushels at 30 cents, and 1,000 bushels at 29 cents, and 2,000 bushels at 28 cents, and 1,000 bushels at 27 cents, and 1,000 bushels at 26 cents, and 1,000 bushels at 25 cents, and 1,000 bushels at 24 cents, and 1,000 bushels at 23 cents, and 1,000 bushels at 22 cents, and 1,000 bushels at 21 cents, and 1,000 bushels at 20 cents, and 1,000 bushels at 19 cents, and 1,000 bushels at 18 cents, and 1,000 bushels at 17 cents, and 1,000 bushels at 16 cents, and 1,000 bushels at 15 cents, and 1,000 bushels at 14 cents, and 1,000 bushels at 13 cents, and 1,000 bushels at 12 cents, and 1,000 bushels at 11 cents, and 1,000 bushels at 10 cents, and 1,000 bushels at 9 cents, and 1,000 bushels at 8 cents, and 1,000 bushels at 7 cents, and 1,000 bushels at 6 cents, and 1,000 bushels at 5 cents, and 1,000 bushels at 4 cents, and 1,000 bushels at 3 cents, and 1,000 bushels at 2 cents, and 1,000 bushels at 1 cent, and 1,000 bushels at 0 cent.

GRAIN.—The receipts are less liberal, and the market is firmer and prices are again in the sellers' favor. The market opened firm, and sales of 250 to 300 bushels were reported at 100 cents, but with more liberal offerings prices declined. The market closed at 85¢@92 cents. At the close, however, the feeling is again firmer, and to-day there were sales of 500 bushels at 92¢@95 cents.

Tobacco.—The market for leaf Tobacco was fairly active, and prices for all descriptions are fully sustained. The inspections of Maryland leaf tobacco, for the week ending August 26th, 1873, were 1,000,000 lbs. of No. 1, and 1,000,000 lbs. of No. 2, and 1,000,000 lbs. of No. 3, and 1,000,000 lbs. of No. 4,
