THE INAUGURATION.

The Meeting Called by the Executive Committee.

An Orderly Gathering and Harmonious Action—A Committee of Fifteen Appointed to Act With the Other Fifteen.

The Thursday Night Meeting.

The meeting of delegates of political clubs and representative citizens called by the Maryland executive committee was held at Willard hall last evening. The attendance was fully as large as that at the meeting Wednesday night. The proceedings, however, were very orderly, and in this respect the meeting presented a marked contrast to the Wednesday night meeting.

Mr. D. B. Ainger, as chairman of the executive committee, called the meeting to order.

General E. W. Whitaker nominated Mr. A. M. Clapp as chairman, and Mr. Clapp was elected.

General E. A. Carman and Dr. E. A. Adams were nominated for the office of secretary, and Dr. Adams was elected.

A motion made by Mr. B. H. Warner to appoint a committee of five on credentials was carried, and the chair appointed the following: Messrs. B. H. Warner, A. T. Longley, E. W. Whitaker, H. I. Gregory and P. H. Eaton.

MR. CLAPP'S REMARKS.

Mr. Clapp thanked the meeting for the greeting accorded him as chairman and for the honor of calling him to preside. A few weeks ago, he said, the republican party had had stood shoulder to shoulder fighting valiantly for what was dearest to them. Their efforts had been crowned with success. The country by a popular verdict had declared General Garfield and General Arthur elected president and vice-president of the United States. They met there that night to provide ways and means for the inauguration of their president. It was fitting that their proceedings should be characterized by dignity, harmony and unity of feeling. He referred to the feeling manifested in the city on the question of the inauguration, and said he believed the question had been solved. This meeting was called for the purpose of appointing a committee of fifteen to meet the committee appointed Wednesday night and jointly and harmoniously to provide the ways for giving to General Garfield and General Arthur the grandest inauguration ever seen in the city.

Upon motion of Mr. Sypher a recess was taken for fifteen minutes to give time to the committee on credentials to prepare a report.

GENERAL SYPHER MAKES A SPEECH.

During the recess, upon motion of Colonel Ainger General J. H. Sypher was called upon and made a speech, saying that the meeting was called upon to carry out and complete the work begun the night before. He congratulated the meeting on the marked differences between the assembly there and the one in the same hall the night before. This was an orderly assembly. The meeting last night was a mixture between a convention and a mass meeting. He knew no other name to give the Wednesday night meeting than that of a "mob in broad-cloth." He acquitted the individuals present. It was the stupidity of the management that made a mob of the assembly. Some of the newspapers reported that he had made a partisan harangue. The newspaper people here had so little experience in political affairs that they did not know the difference between a harangue and a little pleasantry. He would say a positive man was an honor to his race. A man who straddled the fence was a disgrace to his race. Since David Davis got down on the wrong side of the fence the Evening Star had lost its only constituent. To illustrate the vicissitudes of the life of a straddler the speaker related the experiences of little Isaac Partington on a velocipede in Mrs. Partington's parlor. He meant no partisanship in his speech the night before. Referring to his life in the south, the speaker said he had learned to despise the lickspittle who wanted to be on all sides of the question. A political jesuit was not a fit associate for gentlemen. Having disposed of the Evening Star to his satisfaction, General Sypher continued at some length, criticising the Wednesday night meeting and the committee appointed. He reiterated that the committee was not representative of the convention. He intimated that the committee was in the nature of a patent pavement, real estate ring. He called attention to the fact that the resolution offered by Mr. Barber at the Wednesday night meeting proposed to give the committee appointed at that meeting full power to make all arrangements for the inaugural ceremonies. He characterized that resolution as deceptive. He did not think the full purport of the resolution was understood the night before. The man who offered it either did not know any better or he was trying to hoodwink the meeting. It was either a dishonest or an ignorant proposition. He hoped the committee to be appointed that night would be a committee of honest, intelligent republicans, who would do honor not only to the president-elect but to the capital of the nation. He despised trickery. He hoped if there were any persons here who would attempt to force a patent pavement real estate ring upon the meeting, that they would be voted out of the meeting. He wanted to see the Washington ring go down under the heel of the honest citizens. He again disclaimed that his remarks at the Wednesday night meeting were partisan. The speaker concluded with a speech reviewing the results of the recent election, interlarding his remarks with many little anecdotes and stories, which served well the purpose of keeping the crowd in good humor during the long absence of the committee on credentials.

After General Sypher concluded ex-Mayors Bowen and Emory were invited to seats upon the platform.

William B. Moore, W. W. Curtis, Cissby S. Noyes, J. Hale Sypher, Dr. C. M. Ford, E. Kurtz Johnson, Peter Campbell, General E. A. Carman, W. J. Stephenson, Colonel Robert Boyd, Captain George Boyd, W. S. Hoge, M. H. McWhorter, James E. Waugh, J. B. Tanner, H. I. Gregory, B. H. Warner, H. A. Jones, S. S. Baker, J. A. Williamson, W. W. Burdette, W. H. H. Cissell, J. Lansburgh, Wash. B. Williams, H. Browning, M. W. Beveridge, Dr. D. W. Bliss, Samuel Norment, William Thomson, Thomas L. Hume, J. T. Mitchell, Ed. Harris, H. A. Willard, C. W. Spofford, B. H. Stinemetz, William Gibson, Edw. Droop, J. C. Ergood, William Stickney, H. O. Towles, L. J. Davis, O. H. Morrison, S. S. Henkle, H. H. Wells, A. G. Riddle, Enoch Totten, William B. Webb, Arthur MacArthur, Andrew Wylie and John A. Bentley.

Colonel Perry Carson said that he had been elected a delegate from the District central committee, and his name had not been announced.

Mr. A. P. Cunningham said that he was an accredited delegate from the Nebraska association.

Mr. Cunningham began swinging his arms, and was evidently on the point of making a speech, when the chairman asked him:

"Are you from Nebraska, sir?"

"Yes, sir," replied Mr. Cunningham.

"Then you had better go there."

This sally raised a hearty laugh, and Mr. Cunningham returned to his seat.

Mr. W. C. Chase of the ninth district also made a claim that his name was omitted in the report. Debate, however, was stopped and the report, upon the motion of General W. H. Browne, was adopted.

General Sypher offered the following resolution, stating that it was similar to the one adopted at the Wednesday night meeting.

WHEREAS, It has become an established custom among the people of the United States upon the election of their chief magistrate every four years to conduct him into office with suitable and honorable demonstrations and ceremonies in attestation of their high personal esteem and of their supreme loyalty to the nation; and

WHEREAS, There seems to be an apparent lack of harmony among different political organizations and citizens of this city, all having a common desire and purpose to participate in this great public pageant and to make it alike honorable to the occasion and highly creditable to the people and to the capital of the nation; therefore,

Resolved, That a committee of fifteen be appointed by the chairman of this meeting, including himself, to unite and confer with a similar committee of like number, appointed by the meeting held in this hall last night, and to this committee, consisting of thirty members, shall be, and hereby is, delegated ample power and authority to consummate full and complete arrangements to make the inaugural ceremonies and festivities of March a grand and memorable occasion.

Mr. R. W. Austin offered an amendment that in appointing the committee five citizens representing the District of Columbia be selected, and that the rest of the committee be selected from representatives of the various political organizations of the city. He stated that the committee appointed at the Wednesday night meeting was composed of twelve citizens and only three representatives of state associations.

General Browne moved to lay the amendment upon the table, but afterward withdrew his motion.

General Sypher made a speech deprecating the proposed amendment, and saying that he was willing to leave the appointment of the committee to the judgment and discretion of the chairman. He again sharply criticised the action of the Wednesday night meeting, upon which Mr. Frye, interrupting General Sypher, said he did not want to hear these continual reproaches upon the gentlemen chosen at the meeting of Wednesday night. General Sypher said he had no reproaches—the action of the meeting of Wednesday night was a part of history.

Mr. Austin's amendment was unanimously voted down.

The resolution offered by General Sypher was then adopted.

The chair stated that he would announce the committee through the papers, and the meeting adjourned.

THE COMMITTEE OF FIFTEEN.

After the meeting the chairman designated the following as the members of the committee called for by the resolution: D. B. Ainger, J. A. J. Cresswell, A. M. Clapp, Colonel H. C. Corbin, M. M. Parker, William B. Reed, J. R. Thompson, J. M. Vale, J. O. P. Burnside, E. W. Whitaker, W. B. Moses, Thomas Somerville, Professor R. T. Greener, B. H. Warner and E. Kurtz Johnson.

The Races.

On account of the rain yesterday the races at the National fair grounds were postponed until 2 o'clock to-day. There are two events on the card, which promise to furnish fine sport. All horses advertised will start. A novel feature of the day will be the entertainment of the large number of grangers, now in the city, at the grounds by the board of directors of the Fair association. This will be the last chance of the season of witnessing turf events in this city. Trains leave Baltimore & Ohio railroad depot at 12:10 and 1:30 p. m.

AMUSEMENTS.

National Theatre—"The New Magdalen."

To-night Miss Ada Cavendish will take a benefit and will offer as the attraction the dramatization of Wilkie Collins' remarkable novel entitled "The New Magdalen," with the beneficiary in the role of Mercy Merrick. Last season when Miss Cavendish was here she appeared in this same character, and those who saw her then will need no urging to attend this evening. Miss Cavendish has gained decided favor here on account of her sterling merit as an actress, and the benefit to-night should be a substantial one.

Ford's Opera-House—"100 Wives."

The play of "100 Wives" continues to attract large audiences at Ford's opera-house, justly so, too, for the scenery, music and acting are all good.

Theatre Comique.

There will be a matinee at the Theatre Comique at the usual hour this afternoon. The entertainment given by the blondes is one of the best ever seen here.

The Glass-Blowers.

The entertainments given by the Bohemian glass-blowers have been so successful and the attendance has been so large that they have decided to remain here another week. Those who have not yet seen their really wonderful exhibitions of glass-working should certainly visit 439 Seventh street northwest without delay.

THE GREAT APPETIZER AND SURE CURE FOR Coughs, Colds, Bronchitis, ASTHMA, CONSUMPTION, And all Diseases of the THROAT AND LUNGS.

TOLU ROCK AND RYE

☞TRADE MARK REGISTERED.☜

In this new combination we have blended together by DISTILLATION (which cannot be effectually done in any other way), the Balsam Tolu, Rock Candy, pure old Rye Whisky and a VALUABLE TONIC, which preserves all the virtues of the ingredients, yielding valuable expectorant qualities and giving the article a fine flavor and an agreeable taste. Balsam Tolu has long been used by the medical profession for its soothing, healing and nourishing properties, in allaying any irritation of the throat, chest and lungs. Tolu Rock and Rye is a diffusive stimulant, creating a healthy appetite and toning up the system generally. The eminent chemist, Prof. G. A. Mariner, of Chicago, has analyzed and cheerfully recommends its use. The purity of the ingredients used makes it a pleasant, healthful tonic and appetizing beverage for all.

☞YEARLY CONSUMPTION OVER 1,000,000 BOTTLES.☜

CAUTION.—DON'T BE DECEIVED by unprincipled dealers who try to palm off upon you "common Rock and Rye" in place of our TOLU ROCK and RYE, as ours is the only MEDICATED preparation; the genuine has the name of LAWRENCE & MARTIN on the Government Revenue Stamp on each bottle.
