PROPOSALS FOR MAIL LOCKS.

POSTOFFICE DEPARTMENT, WASHINGTON, D. C., Oct. 23, 1880.

SEALED PROPOSALS will be received at this Department, UNTIL 12 O'CLOCK NOON, ON THE 26TH DAY OF JANUARY, 1881, for furnishing a new kind of mail locks and keys for the sale and exclusive use of the United States through registered mails.

As the public exposure and searching examination necessary to intelligent bidding on any prescribed model of a lock and key would tend to impair, if not entirely destroy, the further utility of such locks and keys for the purposes of the mails, the Postmaster-General prescribes no model or sample for bidders, but relies for a selection on the mechanical skill and ingenuity which a fair competition among inventors, hereby invited, may develop in samples submitted by them.

Specifications of the conditions and requirements relating to proposals, samples, contract, etc., as well as forms of proposal, will be furnished on application by letter to the Second Assistant Postmaster-General.

No proposal will be considered unless it shall have been submitted in accordance with such specification and forms.

The contracts which may be made will be in conformity to the specifications and the accepted proposal. But the right is, however, reserved to reject any and all of the proposals.

JAMES N. TYNER, Acting Postmaster-General.

JOB PRINTING OF ALL KINDS NEATLY AND PROMPTLY EXECUTED AT THE OFFICE OF THE NATIONAL REPUBLICAN.

ANOTHER OF THE FOOLS.

Experiences in Florida Social Life.

BANKS OF THE ST. JOHN, FLORIDA, November 14, 1880.

To the Editor of The National Republican:

SIR: Now that the heat of political strife has passed away, leaving me stranded upon the rugged shores of defeat, I feel like carefully examining into the motives which actuated both sides during the late campaign here in Florida, with the view of gaining what instruction is possible, for future operations. It is difficult, indeed, for you of the north, residing quietly in a section of the country where certain well-known rules of political conduct are adhered to and respected, to comprehend the condition of affairs here when any unusual political excitement arouses the latent prejudices which the lapse of time does not eradicate. Their presentation in the manner I have recently beheld them has absolutely appalled me, and I feel sad to think what must be unlearned by these southern people before they are in a fit condition to even accept the great groundwork of our country's true progress—a respect for individual rights.

In my opinion there are only two courses open by which good results can be accomplished here. One is to enter upon a missionary work of enlightening a people who are the most pharisaical in the world, believing themselves to be superior to all the rest of the world, by virtue of a dead institution, which educated them to be masters, physically as well as politically. They revere the dead institution as a martyred birthright, and they cling to its dying twin sister, state rights, as the only remaining object worth living for.

Blinded with their tears of mourning, they can see no good in the re-born nation; they live in the past of hate and desire no part in the future brotherhood; they exist in memory, and the last quarter of the nineteenth century is not in any form for them.

What a labor to attempt to revivify such a skeleton of society! The alternative consists in adopting the course which proved so successful in Washington; imparting a sufficient number of northern people here to assume control and benefiting them in spite of themselves. A dissection of the southern character presents a curious conglomeration; impetuous and imperious, unargumentative and prejudiced, it claims to be hospitable and chivalrous.

It professes to welcome immigration, but those who immigrate must first acknowledge fealty to the local opinions. Like a petted child that desires companions, provided those companions touch none of its playthings, it welcomes the settler if the settler admits
