Harper's Magazine. THE ever-increasing circulation of this excellent monthly proves its continued adaptation to popular desires and needs. Indeed, when we think into how many hands it penetrates every month, we must consider it as one of the educators as well as entertainers of the public mind, for its vast popularity has been won by no appeal to vulgar prejudices or depraved tastes.—Boston Globe. The character which this Magazine possesses for variety, enterprise, artistic position, and the literary culture that has kept pace with it has not led the times, should cause its conductors to regard it with justifiable complacency. It also testifies that to a great claim upon the public gratitude. The Magazine has done good and not evil all the days of its life.—Brooklyn Eagle. THE Bazar is edited with a contribution of tact and talent that we seldom find in any journal; and the journal itself is the organ of the great world of fashion.—Boston Transcript. The Bazar commends itself to every member of the household—to the children by its droll and pretty pictures, to the young ladies by its fashion-plates in endless variety, to the provident matron by its patterns for the children's clothes, to the pattern-makers by its tasteful designs for embroidered shawls and luxurious dressing gowns. But the reading-matter of the Bazar is uniformly of great excellence. The paper has acquired a wide spread popularity for the fire-side enjoyment it affords.—N. Y. Evening Post.
