THE CHILD OF PROMISE. By WILLIAM MELLEN CARR, M. D. Washington: H. B. Burnham & Co.

If "The Child of Promise" presents a novel title it surely fills as new and novel a field in the literary world. The author tells us in the preface that readers in general have not had facilities at hand heretofore "whereby they may acquire an intelligent, comparative view of the historical and scientific claims of the two schools of medicine without wandering through much that bears but little upon what they seek for and interests them still less. Therefore do they possess only the convictions based upon their experience concerning the comparative capabilities of these two systems in their attempts to meet and overcome disease." This little work gives a very interesting epitomized review of the medicine of the earliest ages, shows from which spring the "Hippocratic" or allopathic school of to-day, what has been its bent and methods, and how it has carried itself as toward its rivals in the medical arena to the present time. Its latest and most powerful rival in its history, the homœopathic school of medicine, also comes in for a fair amount of attention, and the distinctive features of this school, together with the principles and methods which it has developed, are plainly and succinctly set forth. In the clash of contention and conflict as between these two schools during the last half century the incidents and facts of the efforts made on the one hand by "systematic and persistent persecution of the new school," "so that its (allopathy's) chief aim, the places of power and the power of authority, are permitted to dwell in it," while on the other hand the efforts to "obtain the right to dissent from the tenets of allopathy and still be recognized in the exercise of this right to that extent that humanity shall not in any instance suffer through the barriers which allopathy would endeavor to place in the path of duty, which the vagaries of disease make it necessary that every physician shall conscientiously follow," are with rare skill and logical acumen laid before the reader. Although the subject of medical science is one that does not prove alluring to the general reader, the fresh and fascinating way in which the "Child of Promise" takes up the live issues of discussion and contention as between the rival schools of medicine, and presents them in its pages, is sufficient reason for believing that this work when once taken up will be read with increasing interest until the last line is reached.

BANKERS' EXCHANGE.

Three-day bills	486	Sixty-day bills	482

By Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Nov. 12.—Money ruled at 4@5 per cent. Exchange was strong and the nominal rates were marked up ½ per cent. to 482 for sixty days and 483 for demand, actual business being done at 481 for long and 484¼@485 for short sight. Governments were firm and ¼@¾ per cent. higher except for extended 6s, which are unchanged. State bonds were dull and generally nominal. Railroad bonds were fairly active, but irregular. The stock market was irregular at the opening, but generally weak and lower, and the entire list soon became heavy, prices declining ¼@1¼ per cent., the latter for Texas Pacific. Before noon, however, the speculation took an upward turn, and an advance took place in which the entire market participated. This was followed by a fractional reaction, but during the afternoon the dealings were characterized by a very strong tone, and after the second call, when the best figures of the day were current, Memphis and Charleston showed an advance of 6 per cent., Nashville and Chattanooga 4½, Chicago and Alton 3½, Louisville and New Albany 3¼, Alton and Terre Haute preferred 3, and the remainder of the list ½@2½ per cent. In the final sales there was a reaction of ¼@3¼ per cent., in which most of the active stocks shared. The transactions aggregated 301,154 shares, including Delaware, Lackawanna and Western, 18,000; Denver and Rio Grande, 7,600; Erie, 24,200; Kansas and Texas, 6,200; Lake Shore, 18,300; Memphis and Charleston, 8,700; Northwestern, 5,700; Northern Pacific, 45,600; Pacific Mail, 28,100; St. Paul, 19,200; Texas Pacific, 12,900; Union Pacific, 5,300; Western Union, 12,300.

Pasty, Colorless Faces.

Lank forms, hollow cheeks, and lack-luster eyes plainly mark the debilitated. They show that the blood lacks richness and the frame vigor, that digestion and assimilation, twin functions, without the vigorous discharge of which there can be no such thing as stamina, are disordered and weak. To the feeble, infirm, and lean, Hostetter's Stomach Bitters specially commends itself. Proofs, were such necessary, might be multiplied ad infinitum, to show that waning vitality is but the preface to exhausting disease, and that in order to interpose a bulwark against the latter, vigor must be increased, not only by judicious nutrition, and the selection of easily assimilable articles of diet, but by removing that not easily surmounted obstacle to health, imperfect digestion. For faulty digestion the Bitters is the most popular and amply tested of remedies, strengthening the stomach, fertilizing the blood and banishing every dyspeptic symptom. Moreover, it is a standard remedy for chills and fever, rheumatism, constipation, and billiousness. MWF

Department in the position of anticipating the surplus revenue, which can readily be approximated, and would also give positive assurance that money, which belongs in circulation to meet the legitimate requirements of business, would not be absorbed by the Treasury of the United States. The proposal to buy bonds in the open market is believed not feasible, as on the issue of such a proposition the market price would probably advance to a limit that the Secretary would not be justified in the purchase. Any action by the Treasury Department in this direction, and such action will soon be necessary, would without doubt have an influence for higher prices generally in the market. The markets at Chicago were firm and dull to-day, wheat closing at a further advance of about 1 cent per bushel. Money ruled easy at 4@5 per cent.

NEW YORK STOCK MARKET.

NEW YORK, Nov. 12, 3:15 p. m.—The market opened at about yesterday's closing, and has been dull and steady during the day, the closing prices generally showing no material changes from the prices of yesterday. Northern Pacific, both preferred and common, in exception were strong, closing without the aid of rumor 1¾ per cent. and 1½ per cent higher respectively. To-day's market has been without features, but inferences are to be drawn that in the reaction which was looked for dullness has taken the place of a decline, and the strength of the market denotes that, without depressing influences, a further advance may be looked for. The situation of the money market is only reassuring in view of the effect to be given the market by disbursements from the Treasury, as the absorption on account of the surplus revenues of the Government, if continued, must have the effect to make money scarce in the open market, where at present it is by no means a drug, and it seems that the Secretary of the Treasury can only insure such disbursements by making direct calls for 3½ per cents; and further, such calls, if made in amounts of $10,000,000 for the first two or three weeks, followed by weekly calls for an amount approximate to the weekly absorption by the Treasury, would place the
