Captain Charles E. L. B. Davis, Corps of Engineers, U. S. A., assumed charge of the tenth lighthouse district at Buffalo last Monday. A Buffalo paper gives his address as "Room No. 4, Miller & Grohner's building."

Major Franck E. Taylor, First Artillery, has engaged quarters for the winter for his family at the Baldwin Hotel, San Francisco. He is ordered with his battery to Fort Canby, Washington Territory, at the mouth of the Columbia River.

The Wilmington (Del.) Morning News says that three companies of the Thirteenth Infantry passed through there late Saturday night en route for New Mexico. They were evidently recruits for the regiment from David's Island, New York Harbor.

General George W. Getty, colonel Third Artillery, the commandant of the artillery school at Fortress Monroe, went to New York last week, where he is on duty as member of the board on gunnery. During his absence the post and school is commanded by Colonel La Rhett L. Livingston, major Fourth Artillery.

General Hazen has issued the following bulletin: "The officers in charge of the military telegraph lines will at once oversee and send to the signal officers of the posts on the frontier, a daily telegraph similar to morning and evening of the latest press news, to be known as Frontier Press Bulletins. Officers charged with special duties will take the necessary action."

Lieutenant Francis D. Rucker, Eleventh Infantry, who is now in the city, is the son of General Daniel H. Rucker, colonel and assistant quartermaster-general. He was a brother of Lieutenant J. A. Rucker (Tony), Sixth Cavalry, who lost his life so gallantly three years ago in Arizona in a brave endeavor to save the life of a brother officer.

At the meeting Tuesday, at New York, of the National Rifle Association, the subject of sending a representation of American riflemen to England to shoot with English volunteers at Wimbledon was discussed. General Wingate, on behalf of the committee appointed to take charge of the matter, reported that the great trouble likely to arise will be the adoption of a rifle. Most of the riflemen in this country are accustomed to a wind gauge, and in England the wind gauge is not in use.

The sale of the Boston Navy-Yard is mooted—probably in the interest of some band of speculators; but this scheme should not be permitted to succeed. The Boston yard is one of the best in the country, and a man-of-war fitted out there can generally be depended on; but, if any navy-yards are to be sold, let them be those at Pensacola and Philadelphia. The latter may justly be called a den of thieves, and naval officers dread it both as a place to be stationed and as a place to fit out.—Providence Star.

General Philip H. Sheridan has forwarded to the Soldiers' Bazaar at Boston the sword he carried on his famous ride from "Winchester, twenty miles away," to his struggling army at Cedar Creek, October 19, 1864. It is the same sword Sheridan carried at Appomattox, Five Forks, Winchester, Cold Harbor, Chickamauga, Wilderness, and in over forty other battles and engagements during the war. It will be on exhibition during the Soldiers' Bazaar, and will be regarded as one of the most valuable relics of the rebellion.

One George W. Davis kidnapped his own child recently, near Perrysburg, Ohio, but was finally released, only to be snapped up by a deputy United States marshal on the charge of deserting from the regular army several years ago. Since the recent opinion by the Attorney-General that the period of the statute of limitation for the crime of desertion does not begin until the surrender or arrest of the prisoner, the officials are looking sharp after lots of deserters throughout the country. "Ticket scent, ticket for Canada, if you please, sir—nearest point!"

The following naval orders were issued Wednesday: Commander William R. Bridgman, to command the Despatch, at the Washington Navy-Yard; Commander Charles E. Clark, detached from the command of the line-of-battle ship New Hampshire, at Coaster's Island Harbor, R. I., and placed on waiting orders; Ensign De Witt Coffman, ordered to the Colorado, at New York; Gunner William W. Carter, order to special duty at the Norfolk Navy-Yard from December 27; Gunner George P. Cushman, ordered to ordnance duty at the Norfolk Navy-Yard; Carpenter Joseph L. Thatcher, ordered to the Washington Navy-Yard; Carpenter George W. Conover, detached from the Washington Navy-Yard and ordered to the Naval Academy.

General John S. Simonson, colonel retired, died Tuesday evening, at the residence of his son-in-law, Judge Hauk, New Albany, Ind., at a very advanced age. General Simonson was a native of Pennsylvania and served as sergeant in a New York volunteer company during the war of 1812-'14. Removing to Indiana he was appointed a captain in the Mounted Riflemen in 1846, on the organization of that regiment (now the Third Cavalry), and remained in service until his death. During the Mexican war he distinguished himself for gallantry, and was brevetted major for the battle of Chapultepec, September 13, 1847, the day the City of Mexico was taken. He was promoted to major of his regiment September 16, 1853, and became lieutenant and colonel May 13, 1861, by the resignation of his seniors to go South, and was placed on the retired list September 28, 1861, for disability resulting from exposure in his long service. He was brevetted brigadier-general March 13, 1865.

The late Captain William A. Webb, once U. S. N., who died last week in Goochland County, Virginia, was a native of Norfolk, and was a son of the late Commodore T. T. Webb, with whom he first went to sea, when he was only twelve years of age. He was a master in the navy, in the Gulf squadron, during the Mexican war, and was present at the capture of Tobasco by Commodore Matthew C. Perry in 1846, and was commended in general orders for skill and courage at the attack on Fort Burrides. When the rebellion broke out he was a lieutenant, but followed his State in the struggle and was made a commander in the rebel navy. He commanded the gunboat Teaser during the battles of the Merrimac in Hampton Roads, and afterward commanded the rebel ironclad Atlanta, in which he was captured while trying to run out of the Savannah River to break up the blockade off Wilmington. He was in Europe when the war ended. His brother was formerly collector of the port of Norfolk, and one of his sisters is Mrs. James A. Greer, the wife of Captain Greer, U. S. N.

The navy-yard people are in high feather today over the reports which they profess to have from Washington that the recommendation of the Naval Advisory Board, looked up as it is now by the Secretary of the Navy and President Arthur, will speedily increase to law, which means a much-needed revival of business on a just now rather dilapidated government ship-yards. The Brooklyn Navy-Yard for two or three years past has been almost as quiet as Greenwood Cemetery, and but for the occasional repair of some old hulk it might as well be closed altogether. There are many important outside business interests depending upon activity in the yard, and the prospect of having a few steel sloops of war built there is recognized by the Brooklynites at large as something synonymous with a "boom" in trade. Hence everybody is in favor of the bill. A pregnant fact in this connection is worth mentioning—namely, that the Democratic organ, the World, calls upon the representatives of that party in Congress to take such action as will give the President's recommendations immediate effect. If this call is heeded of course the thing is settled in the affirmative. Of the $30,000,000 to be appropriated (if the plans of the advisory board are to be adopted) it is expected that $20,000,000 at least will be disbursed at ports in this part of the country, and that of this Brooklyn will get the lion's share.—New York Correspondence Philadelphia Public Ledger.
