NATIONAL THEATRE—Lotta—"Little Detective."

Specially Selected for Bourbons.

The Meridian (Miss.) Mercury is a Bourbon-Democratic organ. Its editor writes for home consumption, and not for the Senate galleries in Washington. THE NATIONAL REPUBLICAN has been much complained of by Bourbon leaders for asserting that any but mild and gentle methods prevailed in Southern elections. Some of the milk-and-water Republicans have thought it unhandsome to speak so harshly of Bourbons and Bourbon practices. For the information of these gentle friends we copy the following from the Meridian Mercury of the 11th instant:

There is to be a special election held throughout the county on the 20th instant, to fill the vacancy in the county assessor's office caused by the death of Aleck Harvey. The voters will see the names of several good men announced in the Mercury as aspirants for the position. It is to be hoped that the negroes who usually vote at Marion will have the delicacy to stay away from the polls on that day; and, if they must vote, go to some other place to do it. They are free to go where they please to vote, but the Mercury's advice to them is, to stay away from Marion, the scene of their murderous election exploit there. Our advice to white voters is, to go there prepared and with strength enough to compel a peaceable election. It is not probable that the negroes will try it on again with their leaders dispersed or in jail. If the Mercury's wish—and advice—could be gratified, there would not be a single Fifteenth Amendment vote put in the box that day. Boys, do you hear that? Then heed.

We call the attention of the Mississippi Senators and Representatives to the foregoing. Unless they can produce some published Democratic dissent from the sentiments therein contained, it will be very hard for them to convince the Representatives of the Northern States, of any party, that the Bourbon Democracy of the State of Mississippi are a law-abiding class. If they will show any rebuke of the atrocious utterances above quoted by any Democratic newspaper in good and regular standing we shall cheerfully make room for it.

IT is estimated that the net profits of the Patent Bureau for the current fiscal year will amount to a quarter of a million. This shows very vigorous activity on the part of inventors, and is one of the most hopeful signs of our national progress. Invention is greatly stimulated by our patent laws and by the excellent administration of the details of the system. But it is not wise to put a penalty on invention. It is not good policy for the Government to make a direct profit out of inventors. There should be an increased expenditure in the management of the bureau, especially for the publication of catalogues of all inventions for which patents have been asked. It often happens that a man will give years of time and a deal of money to the working out of an idea which, though new to him, is in reality old and has been proven worthless. There is need of a cheap and accessible publication showing all that has been accomplished in every line of invention. After making such improvements in the facilities of the offices as are deemed advisable, the fees should be so reduced as to bring the receipts nearly down to expenses.

NOBODY can charge that the anti-Bourbon Congressmen from Virginia are narrow-minded partisans. They were elected as Democrats, they attend the Greenback conferences, and they vote with the Republicans.—New York Tribune.

The Virginia Readjusters were not elected as Democrats, and they have participated in no Greenback conference. They voted on organization just as they had long before decided to do, and it is contemptibly mean for any paper pretending to Republicanism to reproduce the spiteful utterances of their enemies against them.

A SMALL duty on tea would suffice to defray the expense of such additional rank and pay as are recommended for the Marine Corps. This tax would be unpopular, it is true, but every good old dame who sips that cheering cup would find its flavor improved by the reflection that the enhanced cost augmented our national glory by piling honors and emoluments on a class of officials whose splendid achievements are not eclipsed by anything in the annals of Terpsichore.

IF the robust editor of the Cincinnati Commercial would locate himself for a few hours on quarter day in a pension office he would be able to understand that the money is not, as a rule, paid out to frauds. Doubtless there are men drawing pensions who are not fairly entitled to do so, but it is equally true that some thousands who ought to be on the pension rolls have not been able to present the necessary proofs.

AMONG the many indications of good times in the city one cannot fail to notice that a number of extravagant citizens have recently paid $25 each for the luxury of abusing an aged mule, while one woman of means and muscle has cheerfully invested $20 in the pleasure of cowhiding a school official. Even "common drunks" are selling at prices far above the usual rates. No quotations for uncommon drunks.

IT is truly awful for those American snobs who have taken houses for the winter in Ottawa to be notified that the Princess Louise will not come back. They will scarcely be able to brace up so as to have any style about them under this afflictive dispensation.

JAMES' "DISCREPANCY"

In His Unofficial Talk and Official Report to Be Inquired Into.

When Texas was called yesterday Mr Upson introduce into the House a resolution whose purpose is to go to the bottom of the star-route matters. Mr. Upson, like many other Congressmen who represent constituencies largely dependent on the star mail service, has a shrewd suspicion that Mr. James, hysterical reformer, has favored the Railway Mail Service at the expense of those dependent on the star mail service. This resolution calls for a statement of all that has been done in reference to the mail service since March 4, 1881, to date, on whose recommendation, and the cost of such service. It will be recollected that Mr. James' cliquers claim that he has effected reductions saving to the Government $1,890,000, while his report shows clearly that so far from reducing the cost of the mail service he has actually increased its cost over $600,000. This little "discrepancy" in Mr. James' unofficial and official statements sufficiently reveal the pertinency and force of Mr. Upson's resolution, the full text of which is:

Resolved, That the Postmaster-General be instructed to make out and transmit to the House of Representatives, if not incompatible with the public interest, at the earliest day practicable, a list or detailed statement of all mail routes on which transportation service has been discontinued, decreased, curtailed, changed, restored, increased, expedited, or established since the 4th day of March, 1881, specifying the time, cause, and extent of the same, and upon whose recommendation, petition, report, or suggestion granted, and the nature thereof, giving the name, length, and terminus of each of said routes, the character, kind, amount, and cost of such service on each route respectively, and the name and residence of each and every contractor thereof.

Death of Mr. Lambert Tree.

Lambert Tree died yesterday morning at his residence, 514 Twelfth street northwest, in the eighty-third year of his age. Mr. Tree was one of the best known and most esteemed citizens in this community. He entered the postal service under the administration of President Monroe, and remained continuously in the service until last March, when his growing infirmities admonished him to retire. The whole time of his public service covers a period of more than fifty-eight years, thirty years of which he held the position of assistant postmaster of Washington. His name is connected with many postal reforms instituted in the public interest. He was a man of singularly pure character, and such was the evenness of his disposition that during his long residence here it is believed he never had an enemy. He was born in Philadelphia in 1799, and came to Washington in 1820. He has been for some years one of the vice-presidents of the Society of the Old Inhabitants. He retained his faculties to the last moment, and his death-bed was surrounded by his children and grandchildren. His funeral will take place from the family residence to-morrow at two p. m. The duties of the many positions of honor which were held by Mr. Tree were discharged with strict integrity and scrupulous fidelity. He leaves three children—Joseph B., of Louisville, Ky.; Lambert, of Chicago, and Miss Nellie Tree, of this city. They were all at his bedside at the time of his death. The death of his son, Dr. C. M. Tree, lately, gave him a shock from which he never rallied.

A Mother Finds Her Children at Last.

Cable advices have been received at St. Paul, Minnesota, that the widow of Ossian E. Dodge has at last found her children, who have been secreted in England since the death of her husband, under a provision of his will, and that the Chancery Court has awarded their custody to the mother. The testimony upon which the decision was based was taken in St. Paul and forwarded to England, and tended to disprove the charges of depravity alleged against the lady. The Dodge cases in its various phases has been a standing sensation in the Northwest owing to the prominence of the parties. Ossian E. Dodge was wealthy and well known to the musical public. Divorce proceedings were pending at the time of his death, and the lawyer of the lady, H. H. Finley, was lugged into the case as a sort of correspondent, and the children were spirited away and their father's fortune deposited in an English bank for their benefit. Ever since that time Mrs. Dodge has been trying to get some trace of her family, and appears at last to have succeeded.

Sergeant Mason's Case.

Mr. J. G. Bigelow, the counsel for Sergeant Mason, thinks that the reason General Hancock delays in ordering the trial is to wait until the Guiteau trial is ended, as the latter is an important if not an essential witness to prove the corpus delicti. He says that in military courts it is well settled that the confession of the accused shall in no case be taken to establish the defense, but after the corpus delicti has been proven then the confession can be taken. "I had much preferred an indictment and trial by the civil authorities in the regular course of law, for two reasons: First—The plea of insanity, which is our defence, can be more easily established before a regular jury than before a court-martial. Second—There is naturally a strong prejudice against Mason's act as one in violation of military discipline. I think General Hancock will convene the court-martial to try this case after the Guiteau trial is concluded, and that my client will be acquitted on the plea of insanity."

Girls' Reformatory Needed.

Hardly a day passes that does not bring to light some instance of youthful depravity, showing the great necessity of a reformatory for girls. The latest is the raid Saturday night of a house in the "Division" kept by a colored woman named Americus Murray. The proprietress and two girls, named Frances Bell and Sophia Ellison, were arrested and locked up at the station-house, and the proprietress was charged with keeping a bawdy house and the girls charged with being vagrants and prostitutes. The officers say that one of the girls captured in the raid is only thirteen years and seven months old. In the Police Court yesterday Americus Murray was sent to jail in default of a fine of $25, and the girls were sent to the workhouse for thirty days each in default of bonds for being public prostitutes and vagrants.

The White House Yesterday.

There were not many callers at the White House yesterday, and but two delegations presented themselves. Both were colored. One was headed by Professor Greener, of South Carolina, and they called in regard to the appointment of a Charleston collector. The other was headed by Fred. Douglass. Among the callers were Senators Dawes, Conger, and Blair, Representatives Caswell, Hubbell, Haskell, Ryan, Butterworth, Money, Robeson, Mason, Upson, Dibrell, Smith of New York, Jacobs, Van Horn, Atherton, Hammond, Houck, Page, and Taylor, Secretary Frelinghuysen, William E. Chandler, George W. Knott and wife, of New York, Dr. Owen M. Long, of New York, and J. D. Walker, of Delaware.

Lucky Dashaways.

The successful candidates at the Dashaway fair were as follows: Edward Humphrey, the silver tea-set, 631 votes; Joseph Acton, the I. O. M. pin, 441 votes; the letter carrier's uniform, ——, 193 votes; the business suit, Mr. Buckley, 274 votes; the crayon portrait of Mrs. Hayes, Mrs. Moulton, 230½ votes; the lady's umbrella, Miss Chappel, 192 votes; the lady's gold watch, Miss Lillie Wilson, 353½ votes; chatelaine watch, Miss Laura Miller, 65 votes; the lady's shoes, Miss Andrews, 75 votes; the large doll, Miss Nellie Mack, 115 votes; the cake basket, Mrs. Dr. Howland, 64½ votes.

Spread of Diphtheria.

The dread disease, diphtheria, is quite prevalent in this city, and is making sad havoc among the little ones. The family of Captain Horn, 67 K street northeast, has been greatly afflicted. One little child died yesterday, and three others are now sick. On Thirteenth street, near K, a family of three children are all sick with diphtheria, and the disease is of such a malignant type that the other occupants have been advised by the doctor to leave the house. There are other cases throughout the city, and parents should be careful with their children.

Jurymen Excused.

The following jurymen were excused yesterday from service: Grand jury—Lewis Auerbach. Petit jury—C. W. Thorn, H. E. Klotz, Philip J. Buckey, Henry A. Willard, and Henry Semken. The following additional talesmen have been summoned: Grand jury—Jesse B. Wilson. Petit jury—William D. Truunel, Franklin J. Acker, Thomas B. Creighton, Franklin M. Krouse, William F. Gessford, Walker Lewis, and W. H. Bohannan. The marshal was directed to fill the vacancies—one for the grand jury and five for the petit jury. The December term will convene on the 27th instant.

Atlanta Cotton Exposition.

Hon. B. K. Bruce and Hon. W. A. Pledger, the chairman of the Republican State Central Committee of Georgia, have received telegrams from Director-General H. I. Kimball, urging them to be present at the exposition on the 27th instant, the freedmen's day, and deliver addresses. Register Bruce, on account of official business, had to decline, but wired his opinions with reference to the progress of the race in this country. It being Mr. Pledger's home, he accepted the invitation, and will leave for Atlanta to-night.

Legal Holidays.

A committee of bankers consisting of J. W. Thompson, C. C. Glover, H. D. Cooke, and C. E. Bateman were before the Senate and House yesterday urging the passage of a bill making the day following the legal holiday when it occurs on Sunday. The bill passed both Houses by unanimous consent, contrary to the usual slow movement of Congress. This will make Monday following Christmas and New Year's the day to be observed.

Memorial Hospital Fund.

The following additional subscriptions to the Garfield Memorial Hospital have been received by Treasurer Gilfillan: G. H. Kuhn, $25.02; F. C. Havemeyer, New York city, $100; C. B. Webster, United States consul, Sheffield, England, $50; Congregational Church, West Haven, Conn., $13.25; Baptist Church, Wayne, Wis., $1.76; Congregational Church and Society, Springfield, Vt., $8.45; Charles W. Brainerd, Wallingford, Vt., $5.76.

Card of Acknowledgment.

The executive committee of the Garfield Memorial Hospital have adopted for a check to acknowledge contributions the same engraved design which was used for the invitations to the inaugural ball. The changes necessary in the lettering, &c., have been made, but in all other respects the design is the same, and it will make a very handsome memento.

Virginia Midland Railway Fast Mail.

On and after this date Pullman sleeping cars will be run from Washington to Atlanta, Ga., by fast mail train, leaving Washington at 11:20 a. m., making close connections at Atlanta for Florida and the South and Southwest. For tickets and sleeping-car accommodations call at Virginia Midland office, 601 Pennsylvania avenue.

Counterfeit Silver Certificates.

The counterfeiters are trying their hands on the silver certificates, and recently several well-executed pen-and-ink imitations have been received at the Treasury Department. There are, however, not very many in circulation, and as their execution requires considerable time and labor it is not anticipated that there will be.

To Jefferson Davis.

General Joe Johnston calls aloud to Mr. Jefferson Davis to account for the whereabouts of more than $2,000,000 of confederate specie. There wasn't much of that sort of thing lying around when the ship went down, and the survivors want to know about it. Telegraph lines are in operation and the mails are regular, Mr. Davis.
