You can publish a three-line advertisement of "Wanted," "For Rent," "For Sale," or "Lost," three times for twenty-five cents in THE REPUBLICAN.

Mr. A. S. Solomons returned from New York yesterday.

The grand jury was yesterday discharged until next Tuesday at eleven a. m.

Colonel Bain lectured at Wesley Chapel last evening on "Our Age and Our Duty," and was listened to by a large and intelligent audience.

At the quarterly meeting of the First Baptist Church, held on the 12th of April, Robert C. Fox was elected a trustee of the church, vice Erastus M. Chapin, resigned.

Margaret B. Bush yesterday filed a suit in equity against John B. Archer and others to foreclose a deed of trust on sublot 18, S. A. Terry's subdivision of original lot 1, square 22.

The motion to quash the indictment against William H. Turner and other motions in regard the star-route cases will be heard to-day in the Criminal Court, before Judge Wylie.

The board of commissioners of the Chesapeake and Ohio Canal met last night in Room No. 10, Willard's Hotel, but declined giving any account of the proceedings to the press at this time.

Building Inspector Entwisle has condemned the wooden building 3116 U street northwest, it being dangerous to life and limb; also the wooden building owned by Mrs. Johnson, 907 K street southwest.

Master Odell Whipple, of the Force School, distinguished himself by being the only boy in the fourth grade who passed a perfect examination in spelling yesterday. How many Congressmen can show a similar record?

Another large crowd attended the "World's" Museum last night, and the applause that greeted each act showed their appreciation of a very fine programme. The manager is endeavoring to get a new batch of curiosities for next week.

Professor William H. Dall will deliver the seventh lecture in the course of the anthropological and biological societies' course at the National Museum this afternoon at half-past three o'clock. His subject will be "Deep Sea Explorations."

The East Washington Band of Hope, presided over by Mrs. Dr. Rodgers, will meet this evening at two o'clock in the lecture room of Odd-Fellows' Hall. The band is rapidly gaining in membership and influence under its present excellent management.

A. B. Williams yesterday filed a suit for divorce for Reuben Perrin against Elizabeth Perrin. Mr. Williams was so afraid of having the papers seen by any inquisitive newspaper men that he took them away immediately after the cause was entered in the docket.

The Republican Invincibles, of East Washington, will hold a public meeting at 642 Pennsylvania avenue southeast, next Monday evening, when interesting speeches will be made by several prominent members of Congress and many others. The occasion will be one of great interest to all.

Detectives Voss and Acton yesterday arrested a colored man on Seventh street, who gave his name as William Smith. The detectives have reason to believe that his real name is Charles Butler. The man had two suits with him that he was trying to dispose of, and which it is thought were stolen.

The members of the South Washington branch of the Land League will next Monday, at St. Dominick's Hall, present Congressman William E. Robinson with a set of resolutions and a vote of thanks, as an acknowledgement of their appreciation of his efforts on behalf of Irish-American citizens imprisoned by the British government.

Mrs. Gaylord, the Connecticut lady suffering from aberation of the mind, has been identified as having visited this city in January, 1878, and was sent home after a brief sojourn here. She was sent to the asylum yesterday by the authorities and her relative communicated with, who will doubtless send for her. Mrs. Gaylord is perfectly quiet in her bearing and talks about religion constantly.

William E. Spalding, esq., one of our most prominent citizens, is lying very seriously ill at his residence, No. 1120 Connecticut avenue, and his condition is regarded as critical by his physicians. Mr. Spalding has been identified with the interests of Washington for forty years. He was for many years one of the owners of the National Theatre, and his paint and oil establishment on the Avenue is one of the landmarks. His numerous friends will heartily regret his illness.

The contract for the plastering of the extension of the City Hall has been awarded to Joseph Beckert by Edward Clark, esq., architect, under whose supervision the work is being done. Mr. Beckert worked on the old City Hall, thirty-four years ago, and is therefore much gratified to have the opportunity of putting the finishing touches thereon. He also worked on the United States Capitol extension for twenty-five years, during which time he personally prepared the ground work for the master pieces of Brumidi and Lentze.

The residence of Mr. Lowe, No. 108 Second street northeast, was entered on Thursday night by burglars, and the lower portion of the house completely gutted while the family were asleep. No policemen are ever seen in that locality, but there are some families in that section that will give thieves a warm reception if they are discovered in time. It has not been long since that Mr. W. C. Dodge, on B street near First street northeast, was alarmed by a burglar in his residence, who beat a retreat with the male members of the family after him en dishabille. The burglar escaped.

Capital City Guard Fair.

The Capital City Guards' fair has been a great success, the rooms being crowded each night, and the ladies have cause to be congratulated. The receipts are large, and promise to be better next week. The friends of the company have turned out most nobly. The popular Knights of St. Augustine were out in force on Wednesday night, Webster Rifles on Thursday night, Gethsemane Commandery, K. T., on Friday night, and Washington Cadets Monday night. The ladies have concluded to open the fair to-day from two to six o'clock p. m., so that children may have a chance to attend. The voting has been very lively this week, and promises to be hot next week. The contests for the police uniform and for the fishing-tackle are warm, the contestants being Officers John T. Layton, William West, and Clinton, on Capitol Hill, for the suit, and I. Landrie, John L. Webster, William Malvin, and others for the tackle. The committee hope to see a large attendance of children to-day.

The Hess Acme Opera Troupe.

The name of Charles D. Hess has become as thoroughly identified with English opera in America as Colonel Mapleson's has with Italian opera in England, and the numerous opera troupes which he has organized and controlled during the past twelve years have been characterized by the excellence of the artists and the fine selection of operas in their repertories. Next week the Acme Opera Company, which Mr. Hess organized and has been carrying on a remarkably successful tour through the country, will open an engagement at Ford's Opera-House. The troupe comprises such artists as Adelaide Randall, Louise Searle, Alfred Willie, Mark Smith, James and Henry Peakes, Miss Elsner, and others. "The Chimes of Normandy" is billed for Monday night; "The Widow," Tuesday; "The Mascotte," Wednesday, and "Fra Diavolo," Thursday. The box-sheet is now open.

"The Snake Charmer."

"The Snake Charmer," which was produced at the Bijou Theatre in New York with most elaborate scenic effects, will be presented for the first time in this city at the National Theatre to-day at the matinee. The scenery of the first act was painted by Hawley, the scenic artist at Wallack's; that of the second by Graischer, and that of the third by Graham, both of whom are artists of recognized ability. The costumes are said to be especially gorgeous. Although Manager McCaull has been handicapped by the uncertainty of movements of his leading attraction, Miss Catherine Lewis, he is determined to give as perfect a representation as the circumstances will permit, and Miss Paulin will sustain the leading role.

COLUMBIA RIFLE ASSOCIATION.

Reorganization for the Present Season—Military Match This Afternoon.

For some time the Columbia Rifle Association has had in contemplation a reorganization of its rules and regulations, putting the entrance fee and monthly dues on a basis that would encourage the military of the District to join in large numbers. The long-range practice with the fine rifles was confined to a small number of gentlemen of what might be termed scientific shots, and, therefore, to keep up the expenses of the ranges the entrance fee was fixed from the first at $10 and the monthly dues at $2 for each member. The reorganization was thought necessary, owing to the great interest taken in rifle practice last season by the military organizations of the city, and the whole matter was left to the executive committee, which held a special meeting for that purpose last evening. In conformity with the generally expressed views of the leading riflemen of the various military companies of the city, the executive committee unanimously fixed the rates as follows: Entrance fee, $2, and monthly dues fifty cents to each member. This will include and arrangements will soon be made at the range at Benning's for the military riflemen to practice at all distances, from two hundred up to one thousand yards. This is for the purpose of giving the men the necessary experience to enable them to contest for places if they so desire on the military team that is to shoot the great international match with the English at Creedmoor next September. Immediately after this reorganization was perfected last evening there were seven military riflemen proposed and elected, four from the Light Infantry Corps and three from the Rifles, and it is stated that some fifteen or twenty others will propose for membership as soon as the modification is known. A subcommittee was also appointed last evening to prepare a spring and summer programme for both military and fine rifle matches, the said committee at once announcing a military subscription match for this afternoon, at Benning's, the terms of the match to be stated on the ground. Many of the participants will drive out, leaving the city at about two o'clock; others will go on the 4:40 train, Baltimore and Potomac Railroad. A letter was read at the meeting last evening from Mr. J. H. Steward, optician, No. 406 Strand, London, in which he announced that he had forwarded to the Columbia Rifle Association, as prizes, one "Duke field-glass" and one "Camp field-glass," to be shot for by members of the C. R. A., on such conditions as the club might make. This is the second contribution of this kind from this gentleman, he last year sending a Lord Bury telescope, which was won by Dr. S. L. Scott, of the C. R. A. The Columbia Rifle Association is to be congratulated on its prospects for the coming season.

THE INDIAN QUESTION.

Large Meeting at Congregational Church of the Women's Indian Association.

The Congregational Church was filled last night by a large audience to witness the proceedings of the first public meeting of the Women's National Indian Association. The platform was occupied by Justice Strong, Senator Dawes, Dr. Gallaudet, Rev. Byron Sunderland, Commissioner of Indian Affairs Price, Mr. Kelley, Captain Jas. Stephenson, and General Armstrong, accompanied by two Indian youths from the Hampton Institute. The exercises were opened by prayer by Rev. Dr. Sunderland, after which the presiding officer, General Hawley, stated that the object of the association was to spread correct information concerning the present necessities and condition of the Indians of the United States, to induce the

with them, especially in regard to providing means for their education, and ultimately to bring about a division of their lands in severalty, with a view of the dissolution of tribal relations and the bringing of the Indians into the pale of citizenship. At the close of his remarks he presented General Armstrong and the two young Indians to the audience. These were Thomas Wildcat, a young Shoshone chief, and James Mury, a member of the Pawnee tribe, and each read an original essay, which were listened to with much interest. Addresses followed from General Armstrong,

SENATOR DAWES, AND OTHERS,

in which the Indian policy of the country was reviewed and the necessities of the future discussed. The two Indians first came in attired in the neat military uniform worn by the students of the school, and during the evening withdrew to the vestry and reappeared attired in full Indian costume, and gave an exhibition of sign language of the Western Indians.

AT A SACRIFICE.

The Astonishingly Low Prices Asked at Baum's, on Seventh Street.

Mr. Charles Baum was one of the first Washington merchants who introduced the Eastern selling system here; making a separate department for each sort of goods, and marking the articles in plain figures. Success naturally came, and to-day he probably has as much, if not more, custom than any dealer in the city. THE REPUBLICAN reporter visited this immense establishment on Seventh street yesterday morning, and in conversation Mr. Baum said that although he had had his spring opening two days before the fire a portion of his stock had been injured by the conflagration, and he was determined to

at no matter what sacrifice, to make room for the stock he has purchased for his reopening in May. A walk through the store disclosed the fact that everything was marked down fabulously low. Embroidery fit to ornament a queen's cuffs was selling for ten cents a yard; fans that rivaled Minnie Palmer's were being almost given away; fine silks were less per yard than the cost of a cocoon; buttons which were fit to be mounted as scarf pins were down so low that the reporter laid in a stock for his pinned-up shirt, and will commit no more matutinal sins in future;

LADIES' AND CHILDREN'S SUITS

were lower than the bottom of a coal mine; undergarments were still lower, and laces that seemed to be double first cousins to Valenciennes were lower still. The line of spring dress goods is being rapidly sold, and it would be advisable for our readers to visit Baum's immediately if they desire to secure pretty colors and excellent material considerably below the original cost of the goods.

Barnum and Jumbo.

Monday week the small boy will hide his books under the front steps, the "cullud" girl will leave her pots and pans and go down to the corner, the ecclesiastical gentleman will revolve in his mind the usual deeds contained in the category of mortal sins, and the entire population will be attacked by a mild form of insanity. The cause of all this upheaval will be the arrival of Barnum's Great and Only Show, the Great London Circus, and Jumbo. Barnum is the only man who ever succeeded in getting the national bird of a foreign country in an equescurriculous combination, and while the American eagle, perched upon the top of the centre pole, screams exultingly for Barnum, the elephantine British Lion gobbles down American peanuts with the delight of an epicure. Jumbo will be accompanied by twenty-two elephants, who, while they do not equal him in size, are his ambitious rivals in the peanut-chewing act. The other celebrities will be discussed next week.

For Sweet Charity.

Our people should not forget the entertainment to be given to-morrow evening by the Auxiliary Blue Anchor Society at Masonic Hall, in aid of the sufferers in Louisiana. Remember that contributions of provisions and clothing will be as thankfully received as money, everything donated being sent the sufferers free of charge. There is scarcely any one but can and should contribute their mite to this worthy cause. The entertainment to be given promises to be pleasing, and those who attend will feel they have gotten value received in return. Let the response be universal and liberal. Those attending the opera can afterward pass a pleasant hour at the ball, dancing and partaking of refreshments, and by so doing will aid this society in their noble and worthy efforts.

"My Sweetheart."

Miss Minnie Palmer will give her last performance of "My Sweetheart" at Ford's Opera-House to-day and to-night. The marked improvement made by this charming little lady during the last year shows the possibilities that are in her, and that she will completely fill the place of Lotta is not doubted. She has youth, beauty, and a graceful figure as natural advantages, while her indomitable energy and perseverance will enable her to overcome all obstacles to complete success. Her pleasant voice, laughing eyes, and graceful movements at once gain the affections of her audience, and the applause that follows her songs and dances is expressive of their complete approbation.

Italian Opera.

The season of Italian opera, which will commence on Monday night at the National Theatre, promises to be a brilliant one. Two stellar attractions, Gerster and Kellogg, are announced, as well as Mlle. Maria Lediso, who will appear at the Wednesday matinee. The operas selected are those in which the artistes are heard to the best advantage. On Monday night Gerster will appear in her unrivaled role of Amina, in "La Sonnambula;" on Tuesday Miss Kellogg will interpret Marguerite, in Gounod's "Faust" at the matinee Wednesday Mlle. Lediso will sing Leonora, in the ever popular "Il Trovatore," and the season will close with Gerster in the part of Rosina, in "Il Barbiere di Seviglia."

Mrs. Scoville's Arrival.

Mrs. Scoville arrived in this city yesterday, and repaired at once to the Tremont House. She proved inflexible to the tender blandishments of THE REPUBLICAN young man, and refused to see any one. Her mission here at this time, it is supposed, is to look after the profits arising from Guiteau's book. During the day Mrs. Scoville removed from the Tremont House, and it is believed is now stopping at a friend's house on Sixth street northwest.

The Skating Rink.

There was a large and fashionable assemblage at the Skating Rink last night to witness Mr. Rex Smith's evolutions of the bycicle and to indulge in a promenade to the delightful music of Schrooder's orchestra. Mr. Smith's performance was most wonderful, and he displayed perfect control over the brass-dealing steed. Immediate steps will be taken by Messrs. Kelly to transform the rink into the skating-school that was so popular last summer.

LOCAL MENTION.

A DRUGGIST'S OPINION.

WASHINGTON, D. C., March 18, 1882.
GENTLEMEN: The sales of Brown's Iron Bitters have steadily increased of late, and my regular customers speak of it in the highest terms on account of its great strengthening properties. The general results coming under my observation have been very flattering to the manufacturers. Yours, respectfully,
HENRY A. JOHNSTON.
[To strengthen and build up the system nothing acts so well as Brown's Iron Bitters.]

THE JEWEL and Designio Cigars, five-cent straights. Morcoe's, 1207 Pa. ave. n. w. (Wide open doors.)

Speer's Port Grape Wine.

Decidedly one of the finest and most creditable of any wine bearing the above name is from the vineyard of Mr. Alfred Speer, of Passaic, N. J. The Wine is expressed from the Ripe Portugal Port Wine Grape, cultivated in this country, which, under the hand of Mr. Speer, has been brought to the highest state of perfection. The Wine possesses the very highest medicinal virtues, and the Port Grape Wine, certainly as an article of beverage, is not, in our judgment, to be surpassed in color, taste, or any of the qualities which constitute a handsome and agreeable wine.

Speer's Port Grape Wine is valued by the wealthiest families in New York as superior to the best imported Port.
