A SONNET.

Once a poet wrote a sonnet
All about a pretty bonnet,
And a critic sat upon it
(On the sonnet,
Not the bonnet),
Nothing loth.

And as if it were high treason,
He said: "Neither rhyme nor reason
Has it. And it's out of season!"
Which? The sonnet,
Or the bonnet?
May be both.

'Tis a feeble imitation
Of a worthier creation,
An æsthetic innovation!
Of a sonnet,
Or a bonnet?
This was hard.

Both were put together neatly,
Harmonizing very sweetly;
But the critic crushed completely.
Not the bonnet,
Or the sonnet,
But the bard!

Brockway Released.

Yesterday morning the Attorney-General held a consultation with the District Attorney on the propriety of releasing Brockway, and later in the day sent him a letter inclosing one from the Secretary of the Treasury directing him to act in the matter according to his discretion. After a short interview between Mr. Guild, Brockway's counsel, and the District Attorney, the Marshal made out a release. Brockway was brought up from jail and taken before Judge Wylie. He read the letter and ordered Brockway's release, who gave his personal recognizance for $5,000. The letter from the Secretary of the Treasury, referred to above, was not made public. The release shows that in the opinion of Secretary Folger Brockway had not violated the terms upon which immunity was granted him by Attorney-General Devens.
