The National Republican.

VOL. XXIV.---NO. 9. WASHINGTON, D. C., FRIDAY MORNING, DECEMBER 7, 1883. THREE CENTS

1883--Washington, D. C.: Her Leading Mercantile, Financial, Professional, and General Interests--1884

BUSINESS INDEX.

The carefully classified and arranged directory of the principal business houses of Washington, to which nearly the entire first page of this issue of THE NATIONAL REPUBLICAN is devoted, is a flattering testimonial to the vigorous enterprise and spirit of the community, and a compliment to the newspaper in which the display appears. It is a very complete and satisfactory commercial index of the city, and every merchant, banker, broker, and other business man will find it convenient for reference. Those who receive it will do well to retain this impression for future reference and post it in a conspicuous place in their offices or places of business for this reason, being carefully compiled, convenient in form, and comprehensive in character. To the general reader this directory will not be without interest, affording, as it does, an accurate map of the Business of Washington, and showing the general expression of business of the city during the past few years. It is of sufficient moment to every person having the interest of our city at heart to insure it a widely extended circulation, and for that purpose we have printed a sufficient edition, so that all may be supplied, and all can obtain copies for mailing purposes at this office.
