Washington Stock Jobbing Rumors Depress Northern Pacific.

Gould and His Colleagues Talking About Prospective Bull Movements.

REVIEW.

Special Dispatch.

NEW YORK, Dec. 10.—The week opened tamely at the stock exchange, and the earliest prices were not materially changed, the exceptions being Northern Pacific preferred, which was ½ higher, and Delaware and Hudson, Central Pacific, and Oregon Navigation, which were ½ lower. Manhattan railway opened 2 off, at 45.

Soon after the opening, however, decided weakness was developed on Villard stocks, principally Oregon Transportation and Northern Pacific preferred and in Union Pacific. The decline of 1½ in Northern Pacific preferred was on Washington advices of bills to be presented prejudicial to the company's land grants. Union Pacific was sold down 1½ partly on a dispatch from Denver stating that the board of trade of that city is determined to prevent the Union Pacific company from discriminating against the Denver and Rio Grande railroad in the transportation of Colorado anthracite coal to stations on the Denver road. The dash at the stock was also for the purpose of shaking out stock in the interest of the shorts. Oregon Transportation was inherently weak, selling down at ½, and Woerishoeffer's brokers were large borrowers and sellers of this stock. The three stocks above mentioned were the weak features during the forenoon, and their influence upon the rest of the market was of course depressing, but the declines were only fractional, except Central Pacific, North Western common, which fell 1 per cent.

Governments strong, sterling unchanged, loaning rates for stocks unchanged; money on call 2½.

Reports from the western pool difficulties to-day were very conflicting. A leading New York broker's wires from Chicago says that everybody in that city believes the Iowa pool will dissolve. On the other hand, parties in New York who ought to know say there is no probability of any great war of rates, and present negotiations will terminate in an iron clad agreement between the Union Pacific on the one side and the Rock Island, Northwestern, and St. Paul on the other. The Quincy, it is claimed, will be forced to terms by the Northwestern and the St. Paul's road coming to an understanding with the Rock Island. There was a fractional recovery in prices between 12 and 2 o'clock. St. Paul recovered ¾ per cent. of the decline. Oregon and Transcontinental recovered ½, so did Union Pacific. At 2:15 the market was dull and steady.

GOSSIP.

Gould said yesterday that he anticipated a strong bull market in January, and meanwhile he didn't think there would be much decline in prices. The Windsor hotel bears were on the rampage yesterday, and Cammack, Smith, Woerishoeffer, and W. L. Scott were very confident of lower prices.

On the other hand, brokers of sound judgment declared the market evidently wants to go up, and say that if the speculating directors and presidents of western roads would stop speculating and talking bearish stocks would advance. It is admitted that the eastbound trunk line matters, east of Chicago, are virtually settled up already in advance of the meeting here this week, and it was upon this early information on Saturday that Mr. Cammack bought in 10,000 Lake Shore shorts. The Pennsylvania Central peoule have been harmonized in the coke business by promise of an increased allotment, and, as stated, the freight and passenger percentages will be arbitrated. Trunk line traffic fell off nearly 13,000 tons last week, owing to higher rates of freight.

Bond dealers report an increased demand for old, but lessened inquiry for new railway mortgages. A broker on Saturday disposed of $100,000 in New York Central old bonds at private sale ¼ per cent. above the market quotations. It is claimed that investors are also buying up fractional lots of good railway stocks daily, and taking them from the street, and conservative men believe that all the dividend payers are good purchase for a long pull.

Short interest in Union Pacific is remarkable, and deliveries in some cases four days behind.

It is claimed that Dillon personally holds 47,000 shares of Union Pacific, and that there are only 35,000 shares beside in the market here.

Mr. Clark, of the Union Pacific, says the court holding at St. Paul this week will appoint receivers for the St. Joseph and Western railroad. Clark describes matters west of the Missouri as unsettled, owning to competition, and that all business offering to the three roads could be handled by one road.

There is a New Orleans rumor that Louisville and Nashville company will issue a batch of second mortgage bonds to put the Mobile and New Orleans division in good order.

Woerishoeffer's brokers are borrowing large amounts of Oregon Transportation, and they have also been considerable sellers of the general market.

A special Chicago dispatch says it is very likely that the Iowa pool meeting will not be held on Dec. 13, as was proposed.

Parties thoroughly conversant with all particulars regarding the Iowa pool matters, and who are also largely identified with the securities of these roads, say they don't believe that there is any probability of any great war of rates, and they are satisfied that the present negotiations for an alliance will ultimately terminate in an iron clad contract between the Union Pacific on one side, and the Northwestern, Rock Island, and the St. Paul on the other. Unquestionably the St. Paul and the Northwestern will finally consent to come into a mutual agreement with the Rock Island. This will force the Quincy to terms and thus end the western troubles.
