THE CAPITOL EXERCISES.

Orations and Other Formal Proceedings Under the Dome.

The following is the order of arrangements in the capitol during the day and while the ceremonies are in progress:

The capitol will be closed this morning to all except the members and officers of congress. At 11 o'clock the east door leading to the rotunda will be opened to those to whom invitations have been extended under the joint resolution of congress, and to those holding tickets of admission to the floor of the house and its galleries. The floor of the house will be opened for the admission of senators and representatives, and to those having invitations thereto, who will be conducted to the seats assigned to them.

THE PRESIDENT, THE PRESIDENT-ELECT, the vice president-elect, and ex-presidents of the United States and special guests will be seated in front of the speaker. The chief justice and associate justices of the supreme court will occupy seats next to the President and ex-presidents and special guests, on the right of the speaker. The cabinet officers, the admiral of the navy, the lieutenant-general of the army, and the officers of the army and navy who, by name, have received the thanks of congress, will occupy seats on the left of the speaker. The chief justice and judges of the court of claims and the chief justice and associate justices of the supreme court of the District of Columbia will occupy seats directly in rear of the supreme court.

The diplomatic corps will occupy the front row of seats. Ex-vice presidents, senators, and ex-senators will occupy seats on the second, third, fourth, and fifth rows on east side of main aisle. Representatives will occupy seats on west side of main aisle and in rear of the senators on east side.

COMMISSIONERS OF THE DISTRICT,

governors of states and territories, general officers of the Society of the Cincinnati, the Washington National Monument Society, members and ex-members of the joint commission for the completion of the monument, engineers of monument, and detail of workmen, and guests invited to the floor, will occupy seats in rear of representatives. The executive gallery will be reserved exclusively for the families of the supreme court and the families of the cabinet and the invited guests of the President. Tickets thereto will be delivered to the private secretary of the President. The diplomatic gallery will be reserved exclusively for the families of the members of the diplomatic corps. Tickets thereto will be delivered to the secretary of state.

The reporters' gallery will be reserved exclusively for the use of the reporters for the press holding tickets thereto. The official reporters of the senate and of the house will occupy the reporters' desk in front of the clerk's table. The Marine band will be in attendance.

UPON THE ARRIVAL of the procession at the capitol, and immediately after passing the reviewing stand, the members of the senate will proceed to the senate chamber, the members of the house to the hall of the house, the judiciary to the supreme court room. The diplomatic corps will proceed to the senators' withdrawing room, the President, ex-presidents, the cabinet, the president-elect, the vice president-elect to the President's room. The house being in session, and notification to that effect having been given to the senate, the senate in a body, preceded by the President, ex-presidents, the cabinet, the president-elect, the vice president-elect, the judiciary, the diplomatic corps will be conducted to the hall of the house of representatives. The president of the senate will occupy the speaker's chair, and will preside. The speaker of the house will occupy a seat at the left of the president of the senate. The other officers of the senate and of the house will occupy seats on the floor at the right and the left of the speaker. The architect of the capitol, the sergeant-at-arms of the senate, the sergeant-at-arms and the doorkeeper of the house are charged with the execution of these arrangements.

THE PROCEEDINGS

in the hall will be as follows: Prayer will be offered by the Rev. S. A. Wallis, of Pohick Church, near Mount Vernon, Va.; the oration, by the Hon. Robert C. Winthrop, of Massachusetts, read by the Hon. John D. Long, a representative from Massachusetts, and an oration delivered by the Hon. John W. Daniel, of Virginia. The benediction will then be pronounced by the Rev. John S. Lindsay, chaplain of the house of representatives.

THE ANCIENT AND HONORABLE.

Sketch of the Veteran Military Organization of Massachusetts.

The Ancient and Honorable Artillery, of Massachusetts, which arrived in the city yesterday, ranks all the rest of the visiting militia organizations both in honors and years. It was chartered in 1638 by the general court of Massachusetts, the paper being signed by John Winthrop, first governor of the commonwealth. Originally, the company was intended as a school for officers, and this character it distinctively maintained for fully half the period of its existence. During the early fights with the Indians and the war of the revolution, many of the most distinguished officers were from the ranks of the Ancients—Maj. Gen. Winslow, Maj. Gen. Brooks, Maj. Gen. Hull and Maj. Gen. Lincoln (the latter subsequently the first collector of the port of Boston) severally serving as commander of the company.

With a membership of nearly 700, and appearing as a battalion, it retains its ancient designation of a "company," its commanding officer ranking as a captain. The company had no distinctive uniform in the first years of its history. In 1787 the uniform was ordered to consist of "dark blue coat, faced with buff; plain yellow buttons; buff breeches and vest, with same buttons as coat; plain black hat, with black buttons, loop and cockade; white linen spatterdashes, to fasten under the foot and come partly up the thigh, with black buttons and black garters to buckle below the knee; white stocks; the hair to be queued; white shirts, ruffled at wrist and bosom."

In 1820 the desire of many officers in the militia to also belong to the Ancients led to a vote that members who held or had held commissions in the militia might wear on parade their respective uniforms and insignia of rank. Since 1864 this has been broadened to include the union army and navy, and the company is now divided into two wings—the right or infantry wing is composed entirely of the above classes of officers, who carry muskets; the left wing, denominated the artillery, for which a distinctive uniform of dark blue, with chapeau and plume, has been adopted, is made up of the members who have not seen service in other organizations, and these carry sabers. The color company, between the two wings, wears the full continental uniform—buff vest, buffaced coat, knee breeches, cocked hat, and redundant shirt ruffles. This variegated and various "uniform" puzzles many. On parade in the same company may be seen, side by side, the dark blue coat, chapeau, plume, and stars of a major general; the yellow trimmings and plume of a cavalry captain; a white-coated cadet of the 1st corps; a red-coated cadet of the 2d corps; an infantryman with shako, and an artilleryman with helmet and red plume—all carrying muskets, and immediately commanded by a sergeant. Instead of swords, the commissioned officers carry espontoons, and the sergeants halberds. On parade each wing is divided into five or six companies, each in command of a sergeant, who is practically a captain; the commander wears at the throat an ancient silver gorget, which is annually transmitted to his successor.

The election, anniversary celebration, and other usages are decidedly unique. They are kept by us with religious regularity, and the instigator of a new departure would be deemed guilty of an unpardonable sin. There are only three honorary members. President Arthur is one, the others being the Prince of Wales, commander of the Honorable Artillery of London, and ex-Gov. John D. Long. The officers and members of the company, who arrived yesterday, are:

Commissioned Officers—Captain, Augustus Whittemore; first lieutenant, Lieut. Col. E. B. Blasland; second lieutenant, Lieut. G. H. Gibson; adjutant, First Lieut. J. P. Frost.

Commissioned Staff—Surgeon, Lieut. John Sullivan; quartermaster, Sergt. G. P. May; assistant surgeon, Lieut. Thomas Resteaux, jr.; assistant paymaster, Lieut. G. H. Allen; chaplain, Rev. A. H. Quint.

Non-Commissioned Staff—Sergeant major, Lieut. E. E. Wells; quartermaster sergeant, J. H. Peak; hospital steward, A. S. Dinsmore; commissary sergeant, F. J. Hutchinson; color sergeant, Sergt. W. F. Bacon; color sergeant, Sergt. H. B. Emerson; band guide, William C. Pfaff; markers, Capt. G. O. Noyes and Private Edwin Warner; flankers, Capt. G. E. Hall and Sergt. I. D. Dana; general guides, Maj. John McDonough and Private S. H. Babcock.

Honorary staff—Maj. Charles W. Stevens (chief), Maj. Gen. N. P. Banks, Gen. S. C. Lawrence, Col. Isaac Hull Wright and Edward Wyman, Maj. Ben: Perley Poore, Col. H. T. Rockwell, Capts. A. A. Folsom, J. L. Stevenson, and John Mack, Col. E. J. Trull, Capt. John Thomas, and N. S. Wilbur.

Sergeants of infantry—Brig. Gen. J. N. Patterson, Capts. H. P. Wade and G. A. Keeler, Lieut. W. H. Jones, Capt. W. H. Cundy (past commander detailed to command color company), and Col. Henry Walker.

Sergeants of artillery—Thomas Savage, S. M. Hodges, E. E. Snow, F. H. Mudge, Abijah Thompson, and C. T. Hough.

The Salem Cadet Band, under the leadership of H. L. Perkins, furnish their music.

THE CONNECTICUT VETERANS.

Another Organization Dating from Colonial Times.

The Government Foot Guards of Connecticut, which also arrived yesterday, dates from 1771, when a charter was granted by the colonial legislature on the petition of Samuel Wyllis and forty-three other patriotic citizens of Hartford to the general assembly of the colony, setting forth that as the militia companies' turn to attend the governor came only once in many years that the petitioners conceive that it would be an honor to the state and government to form a company to perform the duty continually.

The Foot Guard from that was established, and a military company organized named the "Governor's Guard," uniformed in scarlet, turned up with black.

FOR MORE THAN ONE HUNDRED YEARS

it has fulfilled its agreement, and "constantly performed that service for the honor of the government," for which it was chartered. Its first parade was in discharge of the duty of attending upon the general assembly at Hartford in May, 1772, which body was pleased to put upon its records a resolution "that this assembly, having observed and approved their conduct, and as an encouragement to them, the said company's further exertion of themselves to do honor to their institution, and to answer the just expectations of the general assembly in their establishment, do grant and resolve that certain moneys which the company have expended be refunded to them out of the colony treasury, &c."

In May, 1807, the company was considerably enlarged, and the company allowed to choose its own uniform.

THE FIRST UNIFORM WORN by the company was on the occasion of its first parade, the present dress uniform—scarlet faced with black, with bearskin cap and velvet leggings—and was copied from the uniform of the Coldstream Guards, or the Prince Regent's Guards of England.

In 1809 the rank of the commanding officer was made major. In addition to the discharge of its duty of attending upon the general assembly and escorting the governor, the guard has performed duty upon many memorable and historic occasions "for the honor of the state," and in honor of the most celebrated characters in American history.

DURING THE WAR FOR INDEPENDENCE, and in obedience to the order of the commander-in-chief, Gov. Jonathan Trumbull, the guard performed escort duty for Washington, Knox, Lafayette, Admiral Ternay, Rochambeau and their aids, upon the occasion of their visit to Hartford, for the purpose of consultation and perfecting plans for future military operations against England. A little later the guard escorted the governor (Trumbull) to Danbury, to meet the council of safety, and upon his final retirement from public life, and from the labors and cares of his high office, it accompanied him to his home in Lebanon.

Under Maj. Calvin Day, the guard led the pageant in honor of Gen. Jackson, then visiting Hartford.

Upon its rolls, in the list of privates as well as in the list of officers, will be found the names of many of the most prominent men in Hartford of the past century—names honored in business life, in politics, and in all the professions, not omitting the clergy.

THE COMPANY MAKES THE PROUD BOAST, which no other military organization in the United States can make, that it has maintained an active existence, without a break, for 114 years, and has never omitted an annual parade. Two or three companies in other states claim greater age, but there is not one of them which has not seen years of dormancy; subsequently being resurrected to maintain the old name. But the First Company, Governor's Foot Guards, has never had a hiatus or lapse, and claims to be the oldest active military organization of the United States.

The officers of this company are Maj. J. C. Kinney, Capt. J. C. Pratt, First Lieut. T. C. Naedele, Second Lieut. J. R. Dwyor, Third Lieut. F. C. Clarke, Ensign Horace Lord. Staff officers—C. C. Strong, paymaster; L. T. Finn, quartermaster; Leander Hall, commissary; Dr. Wainwright, surgeon; E. H. Hyde, judge advocate; George Folts, engineer; A. H. Embler, chief of staff; Henry Bryant, inspector.

There are 105 men and officers, and several honorary members.

Other Veteran Organizations.

The German Fusileers, of Charleston, S. C., who will take part in the Washington monument ceremonies, are quartered during their stay at Mades's Hotel. This company claims to be the oldest fighting organization in this country, and rank but second or third in age to the military companies of Europe, having been organized in Germany more than 200 years ago. They took an active part in the revolutionary war, and also fought in other American wars. Many of the present members are descendants of the original founders.

The City Troop, of Philadelphia, claims an organization in 1771. They will parade in facsimiles of the original uniforms, and carry the flag under which they were victorious at Trenton and Princeton.

Monument Notes.

The Oldest Inhabitants' Association will hold a meeting in their rooms today at 10 o'clock to take some action in celebrating the birthday of Washington. The celebration will be patriotic, and will include addresses and reading of documents.

The navy yard will be kept open today, there being no authority of law to close it. Those who wish to participate in the dedication ceremonies will be granted leaves of absence without pay.

A salute of one hundred guns will be fired from the navy yard battery to-day at the termination of the ceremonies at the Washington monument.

The Union Veteran Corps (Old Guard) will entertain the Alexandria Light Infantry, of Virginia, and the Governor's Foot Guard, of Hartford, Conn., with a lunch at their armory, Masonic Temple, to-day, after the parade.

L. D. Wine, Will A. Short, J. C. Dulin Charles H. Smith, T. G. Loockerman, and H. A. Johnson have been appointed aids to Grand Marshal Dingman, Grand Lodge of Masons.

HERBERT SPENCER says, that a man's conversation is a sure index to his mental capacity; we therefore account for the numerous flattering commendations made by our most learned men of the merits of Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup.

Important Notice.

Owing to the ice gorge in New York harbor travel by the Fall River line of steamers is temporarily suspended. Notice of resumption will be given through the columns of the newspapers.

INAUGURATION FIREWORKS.

Full Programme of the Pyrotechnic Display That Will be Made on the Night of the 4th of March.

The committee on public decoration, illumination, and fireworks have entered into a crontract, which has been approved by the executive committee, with the Unexcelled Fireworks Company, of New York, to give an exhibition south of the president's house on the night of the 4th of March next, commencing at 7:30 o'clock. The following is the programme:

4 night animal balloons, elephant shape.
4 night animal balloons, pig shape.
4 night animal balloons, fish shape.
5 meteoric balloons—largest size—with display of fireworks attached. Changing colors, &c.
24 pieces Japanese 18 inch shells. Cylindrical shape.
20 Pieces Japanese 18 inch shells. Combined cylindrical and spherical shaped.
15 Pieces Japanese 18 inch shells. Spherical shape.

These goods are of Japanese manufacture being peculiar and entirely different from anything of the kind made by any other nationality. They contain twice the material that can be put into other shells, and make a display in the air four or more times as great as others, each being equal, if not superior, to an exhibition piece, at less cost.

30 pieces, 18-inch unexcelled shells, with gold rain, colored star, streamer, ball, and many other handsome effects.
15 pieces, 21-inch unexcelled shells, with same, but grander effects.
15 pieces, 30-inch unexcelled shells, mammoth, with the grandest of effects.

These shells will furnish 50 or more different and distinct effects, combining all that are produced by native and foreign manufacture.

2,000 half-pound rockets of colored and variegated effects, such as serpents, gold rain, colored stars, &c.
100 rockets, 1 pound, colored, with similar but grander effects.
150 rockets, 2 pounds, colored, with similar but still grander effects.
150 rockets, 2 pounds, special and colored, with such special effects as peacock tails, steel spangled, pirouettes, prize cometic stars, &c.

This last-named effect won the first prize at the Crystal Palace, London, England.

150 rockets, 4 pounds, colored, special, with effects similar to the above, but on a grander scale.
75 floating parachutes, ascending high in air, and sending forth floating stars with changing colors.
35 twin asteroids, 4 pounds, special, with twin star effects.
35 Pleiades rockets, 6 pounds, carrying seven stars and twirling meteors.
20 repeating telescopic rockets, with quadruple effects.

These rockets, on reaching the highest point in air, send forth four other rockets which, in their turn, ascend and throw out many kinds of effects.

20 umbrellas of fire, ascending to a great height.
20 illuminators, 4-pound size, with prismatic colored changes.
20 floral fountains, fountains of fire with floral stars of different colors.
20 floral shells, largest size.
25 extra large union batteries, colored, with varihued, golden shower, and steel spangled ball effects.
25 kaleidoscopic batteries of largest size of many colored lights, forming an ever changing kaleidoscope of great size.
40 mines of saucissons, largest size, with myriads of snake-like contortions.
40 jeweled mines, largest size, sending forth masses of colored stars.
1 extra large balloon.
16 Japanese night cylindrical shells, 18 inch.
20 Japanese night combined cylindrical and spherical shells, 18 inch.
15 Japanese night spherical shells, 18 inch.
20 unexcelled spherical 18-inch shells.
5 unexcelled spherical 24-inch shells.
5 unexcelled spherical 30-inch shells.
1,000 rockets, ½ pound, colored, &c.
50 rockets, 1 pound, colored, &c.
50 rockets, 2 pounds, colored, &c.
50 rockets, 2 pounds, colored, special.
50 rockets, 4 pounds, colored, special.
25 parachutes, with floating stars.
20 twin asteroids, 4 pounds.
20 pleiades, 6 pounds.
10 telescopes, 6 pounds.
10 umbrellas of fire.
50 batteries of stars.
25 kaleidoscopic batteries.
10 illuminators, 4 pounds.
10 largest floral shells.
10 largest mines of saucissons.
50 Japanese and unexcelled shells, largest size.
1 exhibition piece, tree of liberty.
1 exhibition piece, cross of honor.
1 exhibition piece, serpentine wheel.
1 exhibition piece, cluster of diamonds.
1 exhibition piece, jeweled cross.
1 exhibition piece, maltese cross.
1 exhibition piece, large size portrait of Jefferson.
1 exhibition piece, mammoth size, representing the United States capitol complete, with portraits of Cleveland and Hendricks, and Goddess of Liberty placing crown upon each.
1 large exhibition piece representing the Niagara Falls complete from shore to shore, with Goat island, &c. This piece will be 300 feet long and 65 feet high.

The performance will commence with a fine display of shells, batteries, &c., &c., and 5,000 large rockets fired simultaneously.

In addition to the above, the Unexcelled Fireworks Company has promised the chairman of the committee that, if the weather will permit, they will fire on the occasion one of the finest pieces of pyrotechnic art ever displayed in any country as their donation to the inaugural ceremonies.

The committee on fireworks expended a vast amount of time, labor, skill, and discrimination in selecting the above, as regards the character, beauty, effect, quality and quantity of each display named; they having in view to have the entire display one of magnificence and grandeur, which will excel any display of fireworks ever exhibited in this country, and it is only just to announce the names of this important committee, as follows:

Endorsing Office Seekers.

The East Washington Cleveland and Hendricks Club last night held a meeting at McCauley's hall. Resolutions were unanimously adopted recommending Mr. Joseph Waltemeyer for master machinist and James Boisseau for master blacksmith of the navy yard. A resolution endorsing Stephen D. Charles for commissioner of the District was read and laid over for further consideration. The committee on entertainment reported that $73 had been received for the proposed entertainment. Several new members were admitted.

Relief from Magnetic Appliance.

The Magnetic Appliance Company, at 922 F street northwest, in their large advertisement in to-day's REPUBLICAN, invite attention to one of the latest inventions looking to the relief of those suffering from rheumatism, sciatica, lack of vitality, and other kindred complaints that are dangerous and should have prompt treatment. The garments are made in the most perfect manner, flexible and soft, and the immense sale they have had elsewhere warrant the belief that the demand in this city will be large.

Lenten Dietary Made Easy.

The season when fish, fruits, eggs, and vegetables must be depended on by good church folks for their daily sustenance is now prevalent. It presents a problem to many housekeepers which it would be hard to solve without the aid of skilled aid on the outside. Mr. John H. Magruder has devoted his attention to the subject, and the result is an array of dainties that robs the Lenten season of any gastronomical difficulties. On his counter may be found the latest and best of canned, and preserved fish and other seasonable comestibles.

Wanted.

Smart, bright boys and young men to sell a beautiful photo-plate picture of the Washington Monument. The cheapest and best picture on sale. Five dollars a day can easily be made. Call at the office of THE REPUBLICAN.

EXCURSIONS TO EUROPE.—A number of attractive excursions during the coming spring and summer is announced by Messrs. Thomas Cook & Son, the well-known tourist agents, of New York and London, which are arranged on the most popular scale of prices. Full programmes of these trips, with maps showing routes followed, are to be found in their monthly paper, Cook's Excursionist, published at 261 Broadway, New York, which they announce will be sent by mail to any one interested, on application.

Charitable Contributions.

EDITOR NATIONAL REPUBLICAN: In response to the letter of the 16th instant, I have received as follows: Pixie and Flint Gray, $10, with a sentiment—"To those who are sick and are in need," whether they have or have not a creed; C. Kennedy, one ton coal; J. Holt, $10; Mrs. Ironsides, $10; Mrs. Cloudy, $7 and clothing; Mrs. E. C. Townsend, $2; Mrs. Elisabeth Hooke, $2; a friend, $5; Mrs. Green, $5; Mrs. Smith, $1 and clothing; Miss P—n, $3.33; Mr. Campbell Carrington, $5; L. T. V., $2; A. E. Dalton, $2; N. D., $10; a friend of the poor, $2; clothing and cash, $2.50; H. Heaton, jr., $10; Mrs. John A. King, $10; H. S., $1; Mrs. M. H. Totten, $10; N. Theaker, $1; a friend, $50; E. N. Davis, $1.50; F. A. Rhodes, $1; Mrs. Brodhead, $2. Many bundles of clothing were left without names. The children of East Washington on Ash Wednesday, at the suggestion of one of the teachers, each brought a pound for the poor. They built a small Washington monument of groceries, giving us nearly 300 pounds of substantial food to distribute. I. C. S., $1; two ladies, per F. W. Flowers, $2; teachers in East Washington schools, $5.37; F. P. Powers, shawl and blankets; Mrs. Leake, flannels, &c.; REPUBLICAN, $10; gumming and perforating room, bureau of engraving and printing, $4.36; B. L. W., $1, and cash, per REPUBLICAN, $2.

You have done a good work, Mr. Editor, in calling attention so effectively to the needs of the poor and sick, "whether they have or have not a creed," and, in their name, I thank you and all the donors.
