MARYLAND DEMOCRATS.

Delegates to the National Convention—The Platform.

BALTIMORE, May 10.—The Maryland Democratic convention was called to order at noon to-day at Ford's Opera House by Hon. Stevenson Archer, chairman of the state central committee. Over two hours were consumed by the committee on credentials in discussing the claims of two contesting delegations from Anne Arundel county. The committee finally reported in favor of seating the delegation favored by the German element. Col. H. Kyd Douglas was elected chairman of the convention. A committee on platform, after a few moments' deliberation, reported the following resolutions:

The Democratic party of Maryland, in convention assembled, resolve: That it returns its earnest thanks to the members of the late legislature for their careful fulfillment of old pledges made by the last convention.

It is fitting at the close of the third year of the presidential term of Grover Cleveland to acknowledge our sense of the services which he has rendered to the people of the United States. An adverse majority in the Senate has prevented his carrying into effect those legislative reforms to which he was pledged, and which he has so earnestly desired to achieve, but he has made compensation to the people for this loss by his wise, honest, and capable administration of his duties as President. He has restored to the people large portions of that public domain which ought always to have remained their heritage. We will owe to his well ordered purpose the construction of a navy sufficient for the protection of our interests at home or abroad. He has, above all, brought the public service to the highest standard of efficiency, not only by rule and precept, but by the examples of his own untiring, unselfish administration of public affairs. The people, acting through their respective legislatures, will bring the Senate to his support. With a full sense of his personal and political merits and power for future influence, we declare our preference for Grover Cleveland as his own successor in the office of President of the United States, and we instruct our delegates to the convention at St. Louis to cast their unanimous vote for him as the Democratic candidate for President, and to vote as a unit in all matters which pertain to the business of that convention.

National taxation ought to be limited to the aggregate annual expenditure for the following purposes: The interest on the public debt, with adequate provision for the payment of its principal at maturity; the payment of pensions granted by the United States, and to provide means for all necessary expenses of an economically administered government; unnecessary taxation is unjust taxation, and ought not to be longer tolerated. Success in great political contests cannot be achieved without effort, and this convention requests all of those whom it represents to begin at an early day the work of complete organization for the coming campaign.

The platform was unanimously adopted.

The following delegates at large were elected: Hon. A. P. Gorman, Germon H. Hunt, Col. L. V. Baughman, and John B. Brown. Electors at large, Henry Page, and James Hodges. Delegates from the six congressional districts: First, Wm. S. Wilson, Thomas Humphreys; second, N. C. Burke, James R. Whitford; third, Col. Albert Ritchie, Frank A. Furst; fourth, Wm. T. Biedler, Robert Crane; fifth, R. H. Edelin, T. H. Hunt; sixth, Daniel Annan, Buchanan Schley. Electors: W. Scott Roberts, Col. James J. Berritt, Willoughy N. Smith, I. G. Moale, R. C. Combs, and H. The resolutions were referred to the committee on episcopacy. The election of bishops and officers will take place May 17 at 10 a. m.

SOCIETY OUT IN FORCE.

Success Attends the Children's Hospital Concert.

The amateur concert for the benefit of the amusement fund of the Children's Hospital was given at the residence of Mrs. Warder yesterday afternoon. Artistically and financially the project was a great success. The dining room, drawing room, and library all open out of the spacious hall, and they were seated with chairs loaned by Mr. Moxley, and transported to and from the house by Mr. Williams, and the grand piano was loaned for the occasion by Mr. Metzerott, to all of whom the lady patronesses desire to return their thanks for courtesies. Mr. Spring Rice, Mr. Dodge, and Mr. Dahlgren, and Dr. Ruth performed the difficult task of seating the audience of 500, as each individual wished to be placed where she could see everybody else, and there was not such a seat in the house. There were nine numbers on the programme, first a duet on the piano by Mrs. Winthrop Chanler and Miss Bell, who is the sister of Prof. Alexander Bell; Miss Gilpin sang two songs, Miss Nona Stosch rendered a reverie on the violin most acceptably; Miss Howard sang two selections; Mrs. Chanler two movements upon the piano; Mr. Digby Bell, of the McCaull Opera Company, then sang "The Potato and the Acorn," and was so loudly applauded that he answered the encore with "Two Lovely Black Eyes;" Prof. Miersch then played a violoncello solo, and a second one on encore; Miss Gilpin sang three songs exquisitely, and the programme was closed with Schumann's "A La Fontaine," piano, Mrs. Chanler and Miss Bell. The excellence of the bill was well worth twice the price of the admission, and the very few men who stood about the door were the only individuals who suffered the slightest inconvenience for sweet charity's sake. It was near 6 o'clock when the exercises closed, and the audience were invited to partake of ice cream, cakes, and lemonade in the dining room. The lady patrons were congratulated upon the success of the concert, and all were delighted with the entertainment. Among those present were Mrs. Blatchford, Mme. Bonaparte, Mrs. Matthews, Mrs. Palmer, Mrs. Stockbridge, Mrs. Farwell, Col. John Hay, Col. Frey, Dr. and Mrs. George B. Loring, Mrs. John R. McLean, Miss Carter, Miss Jennie Sherrill, the Misses Shellabarger, Mrs. Lyman Tiffany, the Misses Tiffany, Mrs. Edwards, the Misses Bayard, Miss Dodge, Miss Dahlgren, and M. Roustan.

Mrs. Judge Symes gave a delightful luncheon of twelve covers yesterday. The table flowers were white and green, and were gratefully cool to the senses. The centerpiece was a mound of snowballs fringed with lilacs, and the favors were alternate bouquets of Puritan roses and May white carnations. The name cards were white, with the monogram of the hostess, S. F. S., in gold. Mrs. Symes received her guests in a pretty gown of white nun's veiling over white satin. They were Mrs. Carlisle, Mrs. J. P. Jones, Mrs. Palmer, Mrs. Gordon Mackay, Mrs. Manderson, Mrs. Gen. Lander, Mrs. Henry Strong, Mrs. Lucy Page, Mrs. Maury, and Mrs. Brinton Stone.

Mrs. John Forbes and the Misses Forbes, of New York, who have spent the winter at the Buckingham, return to their city home to-day. They will spend the summer in the Adirondacks.

Senator Cameron's family will summer at Lochiel, near Harrisburg.

Mrs. Cleveland drove out in the phaeton yesterday afternoon with Miss Cleveland in the guest seat.

The engagement of Miss Lizzie T. Levy, daughter of the late Capt. C. M. Levy and granddaughter of the Rev. Dr. M. J. Raphall, to Mr. N. N. Miller, of this city, is announced. Cards for the wedding will soon be issued.

THOS. F. MILLER NOMINATED.

The Successor to Judge Snell Named by the President.

Yesterday afternoon President Cleveland sent to the Senate the name of Thomas F. Miller to be judge of the police court in this District, vice Judge Snell, whose time expires in a few days. Mr. Miller was very strongly indorsed and the selection is a popular one. The nominee is a well known attorney of the District and, although a young man, is one of the best criminal lawyers in the city. His friends are very much gratified at his selection, and believed that he will make a most excellent judge.

He has participated in some of the most prominent cases tried before the criminal court, and was associated with Mr. C. Maurice Smith, another able attorney, in the Clark murder trial, Hamilton murder trial, and several other capital cases. In a majority of them the counsel was successful, and it was rare indeed that a case was lost that opportunity had been given in which to make preparation.

Mr. James L. Norris, the prominent patent attorney and president of the Jackson Democratic Association, said last night to a REPUBLICAN reporter:

"I am delighted that the President appointed Thomas F. Miller, esq., judge of our police court. Mr. Miller has resided in this city for over twenty years, and is a rising and distinguished lawyer, in a successful practice. He has been for many years an active and reliable member of the Jackson Democratic Association, many members of which urged his appointment."

Mr. Norris is confident that Mr. Miller in his new career will administer justice to all persons impartially, and that his decision will be prompt, clear, and concise, and will meet with universal commendation, and that no one, except those who come before him for violation of law, will ever regret his appointment. Mr. Miller, it is believed will so discharge the duties of his position as to reflect credit upon his court and the administration. His appointment was urged by the bulk of the bar, by many business firms, and citizens, also by others eminent in political life.

TEMPLARS AT CHURCH.

They Listen to a Sermon by Rev. Dr. Naylor.

One of the requirements made upon the membership of Washington Commandery, No. 1, K. T., is the due religious observance of Ascension Day. Last evening, at 7:15, the sir knights met at their asylum in the Masonic Temple for the purpose of attending divine service at Hamline M. E. Church, Ninth and P streets. Columbia Commandery and members of sister commanderies also met at the same place, and when the Washington members formed in line in front of the temple to start for the church they were joined by their traters, making a parade of 250 templars. The 34 artillery band headed the line, and after a short parade the church was reached. The body of the edifice was reserved for the visitors, and the remaining part of the church was filled with friends and others. The pastor, Rev. and Companion H. B. Naylor, conducted the services. The choirs of McKendree Chapel and Hamline Church rendered the music for the occasion under the leadership of Mr. William Pope. They numbered thirty-five ladies and gentlemen. They were assisted by Mr. Elphonzo Young, jr., cornetist; Mr. Jardine, clarionetist, and Mr. Frank Colburne, organist. Miss Kate Wilson sang a beautiful solo, "Father, Thy word is past." Text was followed by the anthem, "A multitude of angels" by the combined choirs.

Rev. Dr. Naylor's sermon was based on Deuteronomy, XXXII, verses 49 to 53. His theme was on Moses, as a lawgiver, a leader, a prophet, and a type of Christ.

The services were concluded by singing "All Hail the Power of Jesus' Name."

The Knights Templar then returned to the temple and were dismissed.

THE FISHERIES QUESTION.

A Majority Report Criticises the Actions of the Administration.

The injunction of secrecy has been removed by the Senate from the report of the committee on foreign relations upon the fisheries treaty. The majority reviews the history of the fishery question from colonial days down to the present time, and then proceeds to discuss the action of the President in calling the conference in defiance of congressional sentiment and action. "It is not difficult to see," says the report, "that, in evil times, when the President of the United States may be under influence of foreign and adverse interests, such a course of procedure might result in great disaster to the interests and even the safety of our government and people."

In conclusion the majority says: "The committee thinks it due to the Senate to state that, contrary as it believes to the universal practice of the executive in connection with the consideration of treaties, when the Senate has asked for all the papers and information in detail concerning the progress of the negotiations, the Executive has not thought it for the 'public interest,' in this instance, to communicate all such papers and such detailed information to the Senate, although the Senate requested it; and it was stated, in reply to the resolution of request, that the deliberations of the plenipotentiaries were in confidence, and 'that only results should be announced and such matters as the joint protocolists should sign under the direction of the plenipotentiaries.'"

The minority of the committee hold that it is entirely competent for a majority in the Senate to declare that the treaty has been negotiated and signed in a proper manner, and by persons duly qualified, or otherwise to return it to the President as a paper that does not call into exercise the powers and jurisdiction of the Senate upon the question of its ratification by them. And if a majority in the Senate shall declare that the treaty is sent to the Senate by the President and is duly signed and authenticated, of if no objection to it on that ground is made, then the subject matter of the treaty is in order and should be considered by the Senate.

It is not disputed, or so far as the undersigned are informed, doubted by any one that the Senate may accept and ratify, on the part of the United States, any treaty that the President has made with a foreign government that he sends to the Senate for consideration, and may waive any informality attending its negotiation.

FOREIGN MISSION WORK.

The Methodist Protestant Church Laboring in the Wilderness.

The second day's session of the meeting of the general executive board of the Woman's Foreign Missionary Society of the Methodist Protestant Church at the Central Chapel, corner M and Twelfth streets northwest, was opened yesterday morning with a consecration meeting conducted by Mrs. M. J. Lucas, of Pittsburg. The corresponding secretary, Mrs. M. A. Miller, read a letter from Miss Bonnett, the society's missionary at Yokohama, giving an excellent showing of the work accomplished. The members of the executive board present are Mrs. F. A. Brown, of Steubenville, Ohio, president; Miss Jane Roberts, of Baltimore, secretary; Mrs. M. A. Miller, of Pittsburg, corresponding secretary; Mrs. J. E. Palmer, of Pittsburg, auditor; Mrs. J. D. Anderson, of Pittsburg, treasurer. Branch societies represented are as follows: Maryland, Mrs. J. T. Murray, Mrs. A. R. O'Brien; Genesee, N. Y., Miss Mary Moal; Muskingum, Ohio, Mrs. J. A. Thrapp, Mrs. J. W. H. Brown; north Illinois, Mrs. Johnson; Pennsylvania, Mrs. Emma Miller; New Jersey, Mrs. J. D. Coxson and Mrs. L. W. Stultz.

At the afternoon session Rev. F. T. Tagg, corresponding secretary of the board of missions, read his report, in which he thoroughly reviewed the work done at Yokohama, Japan. Mrs. M. A. Miller, corresponding secretary of the society, followed with a report on the work of the women. The subject of changing the meetings of the society was then discussed. Some of the delegates favored quadrennial meetings, while others favored meeting annually at the time and place of the conference meeting. It was decided to make no change from the present system. The proposition to build a school for girls and women at Yokohama was adopted. A large tract of land for that purpose has been secured on the high land above that city. It was also decided to make no change in the system of work at the seven ports of entry in Japan, but to vigorously prosecute the work in the interior.

The evening session was entertained by an able essay by Mrs. Annie Wragg on "Women's Work." The subject, "How to Make a Missionary Meeting Interesting" was then discussed by a number of delegates. The meeting will come to a close with three sessions to-day, devoted mostly to routine work. It is expected that Rev. Dr. Murray, of Baltimore, will deliver an address at one of the sessions.

GEORGETOWN.

Extending the Street Railroad to the New Bridge.

The bill now pending before the committee of the District of Columbia of both the Senate and House, granting to the Washington and Georgetown railroad the right to extend its line from its western terminus on M street to the new bridge, ought to be taken up and passed. The distance from the present terminus of the road to the bridge is about half a mile, and citizens living in the extreme western portion of the town, and especially along the line of this road, as well as the large crowds who visit the bridge are compelled to walk this distance. Travel between these two points is likely to be heavy from now until cool weather, and as the company is willing and ready to go on with the work Congress should give them the right of way.

The large clock manufactured by Messrs. H. G. & J. E. Wagner, of this place, for the central tower of Georgetown University—heretofore fully described in the REPUBLICAN—has been put in place and running order. This is said to be the largest clock of the kind ever manufactured in the District. It is not only an ornament to the university, but an evidence of Georgetown's business enterprise. The M Street Christian Temperance Union is making arrangements for a grand Temperance rally on Monday night. Forrest Hall has been engaged for the occasion, and the 34 artillery band will furnish the music. Prominent speakers have been secured to address the meeting, which promises to be a very interesting affair.

A meeting of the Free Bridge Mounted Club was held last night at the office of C. H. Pickling, esq., 1304 Thirty-second street. It was determined to make the organization a permanent one. A constitution and by-laws were adopted, after which the meeting adjourned. The club promises to be one of the leading social features of Georgetown.

The Rock creek and the gas and water committees of the Citizens' Association met last night, and elected their respective chairmen as follows: Mr. W. A. Gordon was elected chairman of the former, and Mr. James Nolan of the latter.

SENEY RENOMINATED.

Opposition to Him in the District—A Bolters' Convention.

UPPER SANDUSKY, OHIO, May 10.—The Democrats of the fifth district to-day renominated Congressman Seney. The platform indorses President Cleveland and free trade and instructs the nominee to vote for the Mills bill. There is opposition to the nomination at Findlay, and it is said an anti-Seney convention will be held.

THE MONOTONOUS TALE.

WASHINGTON AGAIN FAILS TO MAKE THE LARGER SCORE.

For Six Innings They Deceive the Hoosiers and Give an Idea They Know How to Play Ball—The Deception Exposed in Two Innings.

INDIANAPOLIS, IND., May 10.—A succession of monotonous blanks characterized today's game up to the fifth inning, when Irwin reached first on an error, and by some rapid base running, aided by a little infield hit, scored the only run made by his side. Indianapolis failed to reach the home plate until the seventh inning, when a couple of hits, two errors, and two stolen bases gave three runs. In the eighth Hines made one of the longest home run drives ever seen on the grounds. Buckley and Donnelly's playing at third base were the features of the game. Score:
