RYLAND'S ELECTION CASES.

THE JURIST MAY APPOINT A SUBSTITUTE TO TRY THEM.

Because of His Illness—He Must Name a Proxy, as the Attorneys Can Not Choose for Themselves—Other Court News.

The illness of Judge Ryland, before whom the election cases of Owsley, Bristow, May, Morris, Krueger and Pieper have been set for trial in Johnson and Lafayette counties, will work no further evil to the interests of the state than to postpone the hearing of the evidence in the case thirty days. Judge Ryland has long been a sufferer from a native cause, and his disability has become so pronounced of late that he was compelled to adjourn the Johnson county court, which was scheduled to convene January 13, at Warrensburg, until March 2. The court in Lafayette county, which is also in Judge Ryland's district, will in all probability convene at its regular time, February 3.

If Judge Ryland's indisposition proves serious, and there is no ground for thinking it will, he will be compelled to call in a substitute judge to sit in the election trials, the only way out of the trouble which, in any event, would confront him. If his illness should confine him to his room, Judge Ryland will understand the situation immediately and will summon another judge.

The representatives of the defense yesterday thought they had a way out of the difficulty, inspired by Judge Ryland's temporary illness, and one of the attorneys approached Assistant Prosecuting Attorney George A. Neal, with a view to taking up the cases of Owsley and Bristow at Warrensburg next Monday. His plan was to have the bar of Johnson county elect a judge temporarily from among their membership, and have him sit in the cases. The attorney who made the proposition to Mr. Neal was all animation, and thought it a great scheme, until the assistant prosecutor informed him such a proceeding would be unlawful and against the teachings of the statutes, and then he waited. He had not considered it in that way. Mr. Neal explained the situation to him and showed him the law, and the attorney went away, wholly satisfied. He will probably not raise another point before Mr. Neal very soon.

The judge who sits in the election case trials will be either Judge Ryland or someone he may see fit to call in to act in his stead.

BERRY FORMALLY SENTENCED.

Will Join Beckley in a Twenty-five Years Sentence for Murder.

Flournoy, alias "Funny" Berry, convicted at the last term of the criminal court of complicity in the murder of T. W. Thompson, and sentenced to twenty-five years in the penitentiary, was yesterday taken before Judge Wofford for formal sentence and to show why, if he was so qualified, such a sentence should not be formally passed upon him.

Berry is exceedingly young looking for his years, and had yesterday to use that advantage before the court in a manner calculated to secure him a reduction of his sentence.

"How old are you, young man?" asked Judge Wofford, when Berry was standing before him ready to act his part.

"I'm just sixteen, Judge, a youah honah," said the prisoner, and the heads of twenty witnesses, whom Berry had summoned into the court room to prove this very fact, bowed an acordance.

The laws of Missouri prescribe that no boys under the age of sixteen shall be sent to the penitentiary, but shall be given a light couch of prison life in the reform school.

Judge Wofford was visibly agitated when Berry spoke up with such frankness, and his feelings at once portrayed themselves in his countenance. "Young man, do you know you have killed a man?" he asked, his eyes very nearly looked a hole through the lad before him.

Berry said he did not know such to be the case and referred to the fact that he had a number of witnesses who would swear, and swear correctly, to his age. He mentioned them to prove that he was too young to be tried at all, or would be tried, and straightway summoned one of the number before him. Berry's witness, in response to Berry, it has probably escaped the pleadings of the court room walls to echo in months, he had fully satisfied himself that Berry was 16 years old and he accordingly gave him the sentence that had been imposed by the jury.

Berry's accomplice, John Beckley, who pleaded guilty but week, and received a like sentence as Berry, will be taken away this week, and the two will begin their long and lonesome sentences together.

ATTORNEY ADAMS AS REFEREE.

Appointed by Judge Dobson in the Case Against the Hay Press Company.

Judge Dobson appointed Attorney Wash Adams referee in the case of John H. Hampton against the Kansas City Hay Press Company, E. C. Bray, president, and O. V. Dodge, vice president. Mr. Adams' bond was fixed at $1,000. The action is one to recover $1,000 Hampton claims that Bray and Dodge have been mismanaging the funds of the company and privately using them for investment in the stock of other companies. He adds further that they have been keeping the stockholders generally unacquainted with the affairs of the concern, and have never but once called a meeting of them. This meeting, he alleges, was called in 1892, when the capital stock of the company was raised from $50,000 to $100,000. The company was incorporated in 1889. The arrangements on the petition were made some little time ago. The attorneys were instructed to agree if possible on a referee, but they could not. Hence the appointment of Mr. Adams by the court yesterday afternoon.

SUING OVER MUSIC BOXES.

Peculiar Case That Came Up in the Circuit Court Yesterday.

There was a music box in Judge Slover's court room a part of yesterday afternoon. It was introduced as evidence in a case brought by the firm of Sipes & Seiple, of Cleveland, O., against J. L. Sohn and J. Loeffler & Co., local saloonkeepers, for breach of contract. Some dozen or so saloon men here have similar suits pending against them. The Ohio firm sued all of these persons to sign what are undoubtedly contracts to remit $2 a month out of the collections from the music boxes. The several suits involve about $200, each saloon man being held accountable for $20. The fact that there is a city ordinance prohibiting the use of musical instruments in saloons plays a prominent part in the case, the saloonkeepers' ground of defense being that they had that in mind when they signed the document. The case tried yesterday was against Sohn, though it was virtually a hearing of the case against Loeffler & Co., which is identically the same. One of the defendants said yesterday afternoon, "We were all crazy, every one of us. We never thought we were signing contracts at all. They just took us in. But there ain't any doubt that they're contracts. The only question is whether we can be held for the conditions. There are a whole lot of cases of the same sort on in Chicago and Milwaukee, and I don't know how many other places." The Cleveland firm is represented by Harkness, Grady & Snyder, and the saloon men by Burke & Watson. Judge Slover took the case under advisement.

DE BORD—MCURDY CONTEST.

The Bond Motion, Made for Purposes of Delay, Overruled by Judge Slover.

Attorney James Garner's recent motion in the circuit court that F. M. DeBord, the wall paper merchant, be ordered to furnish security for the costs in the DeBord-McCurdy election contest case, was overruled yesterday afternoon by Judge Slover. Mr. Garner, of course, represented County Collector McCurdy. Mr. DeBord was represented by Attorney Ed. H. Taylor. Mr. DeBord's case stands quite clearly as to the incorporation of the DeBord Wall Paper and Paint Company, last fall, in the hope of proving his financial weakness. The company has a capital stock of $1,000, and Mr. DeBord holds a controlling interest. Following this, the opposing attorneys argued on the motion to suppress the depositions taken in Mr. DeBord's behalf. This was made on Friday afternoon. All of the costs incurred in the contest so far have been for these depositions. They amount to about $1,000. Collector McCurdy's motion relative to security was, of course, one to delay the hearing of the case. The depositions fill a large box, they are so voluminous. The motion to suppress was based on the ground that the depositions were all irrelevantly and improperly taken. Judge Slover reserved his decision. He sustained the motions asking that the Crandall-O'Neill and Harrison-Capelle election cases be transferred to another division of the court. Accordingly, they will be tried before Judge Henry.

RIOTOUS GUESTS.

Two Who Attended a Church Social and Oyster Supper Under Arrest.

There was a social in the Christian church at Sheffield Friday evening, to which all the young people assembled, in will anticipation of spending several pleasant hours with each other. It was an oyster social and the absence of oysters tended in no manner to allay the merriment, so there was great rejoicing at all times. Among those present were Charles Besley and Charles Pruty, two bad boys, who, for the use of too much artificial exhilaration, tried to put an abrupt stop to the church social. They raised such a disturbance that Marshal J. Tomlinson, of Sheffield, came to Kansas City Saturday and returned warrants to be issued before Justice Walls, charging the two young men with disturbing the peace. They were arrested and arraigned, whereon they pleaded not guilty. The court judged contrary, however, and fined them $10 and costs, in the amount of $10 each, which they gave up a bearing next Tuesday.

Papers Served in the Rigney Cases.

Deputy United States Marshal McCrary returned last evening from a trip to Carroll and Lafayette counties where he went to serve the papers on the defendants in the suits brought in the federal court recently, in which Mrs. Alice Rigney seeks to recover possession of 5,000 acres of land formerly owned there by her deceased husband. The suits were not a surprise to the defendants, as the examination of the titles have been made there, and they were apprised of the probable proceedings and are making preparations to fight the cases.

To Compare the Old and the New.

The county court has ordered the justices of the peace of Kansas City to make separate reports of all the business transacted by them during the six months and ten days in which the salary law has been in effect in 1895. The reports are supposed to be in by January 15, but several of them will be delayed owing to the inability of the justices and their clerks to finish the work which, in some cases, is very heavy.

Bondsman Scott Given Time.

Burt Scott, the bondsman of George Madden, the diamond nipper, who stole James Finlay's diamond on a Ninth street car three weeks ago, was before Justice Spitz yesterday on a citation demanding that he either produce the defendant or make good the amount of the $500 bond. Scott said he would be able to find Madden if given thirty days in which to do it, and the court allowed him that much time.

Plead Guilty and Was Given Four Years.

The prisoners indicted by the grand jury last week for various offenses were arraigned before Judge Wofford yesterday on the charges expressed in the indictments against them. Every one of them pleaded not guilty, save Henry White, who pleaded guilty to burglary in the second degree and grand larceny, and was sentenced to four years in the penitentiary.

More Complaints Against Meyer.

Four additional warrants, charging Jake Meyer, the alleged fence, at 522 Grand avenue, with receiving stolen property, were sworn out yesterday before Justice Cox. The complainants were J. C. Simmons, E. W. Fraley, A. Churchland and George Harvey, who have all identified horses at the police station which was found in Meyer's joint.

Mrs. George W. Boien Granted a Divorce.

A divorce has been granted by the courts of Fargo, S. D., to Mrs. Margaret Boien from George W. Boien, a member of the live stock commission firm of Schwartz, Boien & Co., of this city. In her petition Mrs. Boien set up that she had been married to Mr. Boien in Indianapolis, Ind., in 1881. Mrs. Boien is 36 years old and Mr. Boien 42. They have no children.

Court Notes.

William Clark was yesterday given fifteen days in the county jail by Justice Spitz for assaulting William Robinson.

Joseph Stewart was yesterday sentenced to ninety days in the county jail by Justice Spitz for stealing $1.90 from Fannie Jackson.

Criminal Clerk Thomson yesterday and Friday paid out nearly all of the money ascribed for the witnesses in the Sattley case, and now has on hand but a few hundred dollars of the original $2,500.

A rather peculiar fact came to light Friday afternoon, when the grand jury had finished its report of the business transacted for the week. It was found that out of the twenty-one indictments returned, fifteen of them were upon cases bound over from Justice Walls' court.

Harry Stone and Jake Robinsky fought in Harney Stevens' saloon, 1202 Grand avenue, Friday night, over the price of a beer. The latter claims the former tried to end his life by inserting a knife under his ribs, and yesterday had him arrested. He was arraigned before Justice Hawthorne, and gave bond for his appearance Wednesday.

Justice Hawthorne yesterday decided that he would, on January 22, summon the witnesses in the Cliff Bowman abandonment case, and proceed with the trial, which was continued so abruptly last Tuesday. He will hear the evidence of the defense before making his decision whether or not Bowman had good grounds for desertion.

E. George Allen, the much wanted porter in Hedricks's dying store at Springfield avenue and Holmes street, who is charged in Justice Spitz' court with having committed felonious assault upon Bertha Harper because she would not submit to a proposition to become his common law wife, surrendered himself to Clerk Waters, of Justice Spitz' court, yesterday, as he had telephoned he would. He gave $300 bond for his appearance Wednesday for trial, and was again released.

TWO VIGOROUS PROTESTS.

TWO WOMEN'S ORGANIZATIONS DEMAND CLOSING OF WINE ROOMS.

Called the Attention of the Board to Violations of the Law—Chief Irwin Promises to See That Guilty Saloonkeepers Are Punished.

The members of the Women's Christian Temperance Union and the George H. Thomas Relief Corps, No. 11, are very much interested in the enforcement of the law prohibiting women from frequenting the wine rooms of saloons. Not many months ago the board passed in order to the effect that any saloonkeeper who permitted women to drink in his wine rooms would be denied the privilege of conducting a saloon in Kansas City. The order was made at the earnest request of Christian women, who were shocked by the frequent announcement in the daily newspapers of wine room raids by the police, coupled with the numerous complaints of strangers who had been invegled to the wine rooms by women, given drugged liquor and robbed.

After the order was made there was a noticeable decrease in the number of complaints of robberies of citizens. Of late saloonkeepers in different parts of the city have surreptitiously defied the order and one saloonkeeper's license is hanging in the balance now. This saloonkeeper is Walter Haddock, whose place of business is at the corner of Missouri avenue and Walnut street. Last week three young women were found by the police drinking in his wine rooms and arrested. In police court they were fined $5 each, which they paid. At a recent meeting of George H. Thomas Relief Corps, No. 11, this order was unanimously adopted:

"To the Board of Police Commissioners.

"The members of the George H. Thomas Corps, No. 11, as an organized body of women, resolved to ask your honorable body to not let Haddock or any other saloonkeeper escape legal punishment that disobeys the law in regard to women frequenting saloon rooms. Respectfully,

"MATTIE RIEDI, Secretary."

The Women's Christian Temperance Union followed in the wake of the Relief Corps by directing this communication to the police commissioners:

"To the Honorable Mayor and Police Commissioners.

"Gentlemen—At a meeting of the Central union of the W. C. T. U., held the 9th inst., the ladies voted unanimously to send you a vehement protest against the open wine rooms in violation of the law, conducted with the saloons. We earnestly call your attention to it and ask that you will promptly enforce the law in the closing of these dens of vice and shame which are ruining so many of our young girls. As women and women alone, we cannot remain silent until such flagrant places of evil are running the contrary to law, to the disgrace of our city and the ruin of our people. Very respectfully,

"MRS. M. J. NEAL, W. C. T. U."

When the board met yesterday Mrs. Frances E. Jenkins, accompanied by Miss Ellen Morris, appeared and presented the communication from the union. Mrs. Jenkins shook hands with all the commissioners and Chief Irwin, who was in the room. She told them that she had come to Kansas City at the request of the Christian women of the city to enter a vigorous protest against the commissioners granting a license to any saloon man who allowed women to frequent his wine rooms. She said she had been approached by many young women, who had been led to these wine rooms by unscrupulous men and who wished to have the rooms abolished forever.

"Women have put their arms around my neck," said Mrs. Jenkins, "and begged me to ask the commissioners to keep the liquor from their husbands, and the young women are fast started on the downward path in many instances in these rooms."

Chief Irwin became much interested in Mrs. Jenkins' recital of wine room horrors, and asked her if she had any evidence against any saloonkeeper who permitted women to go to his wine rooms. She replied that she had no such evidence. She said she had not thought to take down addresses, but wished to enter a protest in a general way against wine rooms; she made no specific charges. Chief Irwin asked her to refer the next complaint she received to him, and he would see if the saloonkeeper could not be compelled to respect the law. Mrs. Jenkins promised to do so, and, with Miss Morris, left the commissioners' office.

Walter Haddock, in whose wine rooms women had been caught, said that he had kept a saloon in Kansas City for eight years, and that was the first complaint that had been lodged against his place. Policeman Johnson testified to arresting three women in Haddock's saloon while in the act of drinking. Policeman McHale had arrested a woman in a room above his saloon for robbing a stranger of $3. He had walked the Walnut street beat for six months and had passed Haddock's place every half hour, but he had never seen any women in the wine rooms, although he had made it a point to be on the lookout for any who might be there.

The commissioners reserved their decision until next Saturday, when they will hear Haddock. Whether Haddock will be permitted to run a saloon.

One hundred and twenty-one saloon licenses were granted at yesterday's meeting. Harry Walker, Sr., proprietor of the Gilmore theatre, was granted a license as the journal intimated he would be several weeks ago. The other licenses granted were:

BIBLICAL ART GALLERY.

Interesting Paintings of Merit Now on Exhibition in This City.

Interest in a truly commendable display of works of art is never found wanting among connoisseurs and the art appreciating public. This is evidenced to a marked degree by the oil painting exhibition now before the people at rooms 25 and 27 Dederick building. The pictures are mostly Bible scenes. Mr. R. A. Ivinson, the author of these most interesting paintings, is modest in her claims for their merit, but from the flattering spoken encomiums by the critics who have visited the place last week she can justly claim a prominent rank among the artists of America. She is seriously contemplating the removal of this magnificent collection to Chicago or New York. The people of Kansas City are as well as the lovers of the art should take steps toward obtaining possession of the greater part of the collection with an idea of establishing a permanent Biblical art gallery. Mrs. Ivinson does not care to show the pictures for any financial return, as the admission fee, 10 cents, is to defray current expenses only.

A Bad Case of Rheumatism Cured.

On the morning of February 29, 1895, A. T. Moreaux, of Lafayette, Minn., was sick with rheumatism, and was in bed until May, when he got a bottle of Chamberlain's Pain Balm. The first application of it relieved him almost entirely from the pain, and the second afforded complete relief. In a short time he was able to be up and about again.

The Twin City Special.

Commencing December 15, the Chicago Great Western Maple Leaf route will place in service a new train to the Mohnes, St. Paul and Minneapolis, and all intermediate Iowa and Minnesota points, leaving Grand Central station at Second and Wyandotte streets, every night at 8:00. Electric lighted, steam heated compartment sleepers and parlor cars and dining room sleepers to the Twin Cities. Only one meal en route necessary. Cafe dining car on train. Two hours the fastest train over run to the Northwest from Kansas City.

Andrew Erickson Missing.

Andrew Erickson, 12 years old, of 1831 Terrace street, has been missing from his home since last Friday morning and his parents have appealed to the police to find him, as they cannot account for his strange absence. When he left home he was dressed in a suit of gray and wore a black cap. He is small for his age.

IS IT A TRIFLE?

That Common Trouble, Sour Stomach, Now Known to Be the Source of Serious Disease.

"Sour Stomach" is the common name for acid dyspepsia, and because it is a common everyday trouble with many people, they have come to look upon it as of little consequence, as affecting the general health. Nevertheless, the most serious diseases have their beginning from this very condition. It is caused in the first place from weakness of the stomach, which, instead of promptly digesting and disposing of the food, allows it to lie in the stomach for hours fermenting, causing gas, sour rising in the mouth, heart burn, headaches, oppression, despondency, dizziness, etc.

The blood is thin, impure, and circulation poor simply because it is overstocked with this mass of fermenting, half digested food. This condition of the stomach cannot continue very long without debasing the nervous system, the kidneys, heart, liver or lungs. Which ever is weakest will break down first.

Pure blood, strong nerves and muscles, firm, healthy flesh can only come from wholesome food well digested. "Elbol pills Bers" and "nerve tonics" do not reach the cause of the mischief. The stomach is the point to be looked after. The safest and surest way to cure any form of indigestion is to take after each meal some harmless preparation which will of itself digest food. There is an excellent preparation of this kind composed of vegetable catchers, pure pepsin, Golden Seal and bran salts, sold by druggists under the name of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets and these tablets taken after meals assist digestion wonderfully because they will digest the food promptly before it has time to ferment and sour, and the weak stomach, relieved and assisted in this way, soon becomes strong and vigorous again.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets are superior to any secret patent medicines, because you know what you are taking into your stomach. They are sold by druggists everywhere at 50 cents per package.

THE REX MILLS REBUILT.

NEW AND COMPLETE STRUCTURES HAVE BEEN COMPLETED.

Are Handsomer and Better Than the Ones Burned in November—A Capacity of 1,000 Barrels Daily—For Export Trade.

The work of rebuilding the Rex flour mills that were destroyed by fire November 6, 1895, has been completed, and every piece of machinery necessary for the running of that mammoth enterprise has been put in position, tested and found equal to every emergency, and the great mill will begin its busy existence during the coming week.

The real work of construction was completed ten days since, but the intervening time has been used in testing the machinery and appliances.

The mill is an exact duplicate of the one that was burned, with every application of advanced milling ideas, and is declared by its owners to be the finest and most complete mill in the world. No attention was paid to the cost of an article or appliance or improvement that was considered necessary for the enterprise, and the result is the mammoth mill is a model of beauty and completeness and ready to do its illest bidding. It will be a great addition to the flour and wheat trade of the West.

The capacity of the mill is 1,000 barrels per day. To manufacture that amount of flour will require several thousand bushels of wheat and more than a train load of wheat will be got out of the way every twenty-four hours when the mill runs. It is the purpose of the owners to run it at its full capacity.

The partially burned structure was taken down and the excavation carried to the point where a solid foundation of natural rock was secured, and on this the walls of brick and steel frame were built. The machinery for the manufacture of flour rest on cast-iron steel columns, erected inside the building.

The mill will manufacture the celebrated flex brands of export flour and will use nothing but Kansas hard wheat that made the reputation of the former mill.

The mill is located just across the state line in Kansas City, Kas., in the southwest portion of the city called Tom's Ledge. It is located at a convenient place for switching and has every advantage that is needed for the rapid and easy handling of a large volume of trade. Its products are almost entirely for export. The mill is the property of Kohler Bros., who also operate a large mill at East St. Louis.

Lectures by Professor Dyche.

Professor L. L. Dyche, the well known naturalist and explorer of the Kansas State university, will give two lectures in the Y. M. C. A. auditorium on Friday of the present week; he will deliver a special lecture to the children of this city at 4 o'clock in the afternoon, at which a nominal charge of admission will be made. In the evening he will give his celebrated lecture on "Greenland and the Arctic Regions." The lecture will be superbly illustrated with views taken by the professor himself, and yesterday he received from Boston a box of this country from the Polar regions will be exhibited at both the afternoon and evening lecture. The professor is soon to make another journey North in search of the pole, and doubtless his present lecture in Kansas City will be attended by large numbers of people who have become interested in his work.
