FRENCH IS SURE OF WAR'S RESULT

Field Marshal Confident That Victory For Allies Is In Sight.

DISCUSS AMERICAN GENERALS

Admires Stonewall Jackson, and Robert E. Lee; German Conduct Bad.

(Frederick Palmer, who is at the front in France for the Associated Press, sends the following dispatch)

BRITISH HEADQUARTERS IN FRANCE, March 25.—Field Marshal Sir John French, commander-in-chief of the British expeditionary forces on the continent answering a question today concerning the result of the war said:

"There is no doubt of the outcome. I was never so confident of victory as I am today. I am as confident as General Grant was when he took command of the army of the Potomac. He kept at it and so shall we."

"What were the most important contributing factors making your retreat from Mons secure against overwhelming odds?" he was asked.

"The dogged tenacity of our little regular army which contested every foot of the ground as we fell back," was the answer. "Not once did our soldiers lose heart. They understood we were not defeated but making a strategic retreat and that all the punishment they could inflict was no less valuable than if they were advancing. Next in importance was the work of our cavalry in preventing the cavalry of the enemy from getting around us."

"What to you was the most critical moment of all your campaign in France?" was the next question. One would not have been surprised if he had said when his reserves virtually were exhausted in the battles of Ypres and Armentiers to save the channel ports.

"On the retreat from Mons at Le Cateau," Sir John replied. "We were in the open country in a very dangerous position and the German ambition for the annihilation of our little army might have been realized if our cavalry had not been equal to its task of covering the flanks of our steady disciplined regulars."

Very few Americans probably are as familiar with the campaigns of the

DENIES REPORT OF VIOLATION

French Minister of War Refutes German's Statement Regarding Neglect of Belgian Neutrality.

PARIS, March 25.—The French minister of war issued last night a statement designed to refute assertions made in American newspapers by the German military authority, General Friedrich Von Bernhardi, to the effect that the French plan of concentration showed that the French and British governments had made careful preparations to violate the neutrality of Belgium.

The war minister's statement explains in detail that when war was declared the French army was concentrated along the German frontier and that the Teutonic invasion of Belgium compelled the general staff to change completely the disposition which had been arranged. But for this delay, delay, it says, the Germans never would have been able to cross the Meuse.

The question of the British army taking the field was not considered, the war minister asserts, until after the violation of Belgium on August 3. Its concentration was on August 14. Various orders are quoted to show that the French army was kept six miles from the frontier and ordered to leave the Germans the responsibility for opening hostilities.

An order, issued by the minister of war on August 4, is quoted as reading:

"Germany will attempt by false news to induce us to violate Belgium neutrality. It is strictly forbidden until further orders for patrols or even single scouts to cross the line or for aviators to fly over Belgium territory."

Not until August 5, the statement asserts, at the formal request of the Belgium government, made the preceding day, did the French troops enter Belgium.

MECHANICIAN IS HERE

Harry Coetz, Who Helps Barney Oldfield Win Races, Is Here, and Carlson Will Arrive Soon.

Harry Coetz, chief mechanician for Barney Oldfield, arrived in the city this morning, the first of the great racing team members to arrive for the races which will be held by the Southwestern Auto Racing Association under the sanction of the A. A. A. on April 20-22.

Mechanician Goetz states that he is expecting the two Maxwell cars which will be driven by Oldfield and either Ed Rickenbacher or Carlson to arrive tomorrow and that he will begin at once "tuning" them up for the big events in which his team mates will attempt to capture the prize money of the big races.

Turkish Consul Who Attacked Americans

Mehemed Roghib Bey, Turkish consul at Erzerum, in the naval concerts theatre of the war where Turks and Russians are struggling for supremacy on Armenian soil at that place. He was at the head of seventy Askaris who sacked the American mission about which 15,000 Christians had taken refuge.

MONROE FACING MURDER CHARGE

Marguerite Ellis Died in Chicago Early This Morning, It Is Stated in Telegram Received Here.

Marguerite Ellis died in Chicago at 1:30 this morning at the home of a friend in that city. A telegram received here this morning told of her death.

The girl was taken to Chicago early in the week where it was intended to have her operated on by surgeons in the hope of saving her life. Yesterday information was received here to the effect that she had become insane on the way to Chicago or soon after reaching that city. This was followed by the information that she was dead. She had been paralyzed ever since she was shot and dangerously wounded in a dance resort several weeks ago.

It is presumed that the girl's father, who came here soon after she was shot, will take charge of the body. It is also stated that a charge of murder will now be placed against D. Y. Monroe, the Lindsay merchant who is alleged to have fired the shot. He is now out on bond, having been charged first with assault to kill. It is stated that Monroe will be rearrested at once and that the more serious charge will be placed against him.

When the girl was shot the bullet lodged in the spine and could not be removed. It caused paralysis of the lower limbs. Monroe is known to have been in the place at the time of the shooting and witnesses say he was seen with a smoking revolver in his hand. He had come to the city to buy an automobile for his daughter and visited the dance hall with some friends from Lindsay he met on the street.

The Mexican states in which the moratorium decreed by General Villa will not be effective are Vera Cruz, Tlaxcala, Campecho and Tabasco, which are wholly under the control of General Venustiano Carranza, and the independent states of Oaxaca, Yucatan and Chiapas.

AMERICAN RECALLED

Said That Name of Military Attache Was Signed to Misleading Dispatches; Washington Silent.

WASHINGTON, March 25.—War department officials continued their silence today on the reasons for the recall of Major Langhorne, military attache at Berlin, and the case still is surrounded in mystery.

In the absence of Secretary Garrison today, Acting Secretary Breckenridge would not comment on a published report that the major was recalled because it was discovered that his name was being signed to false dispatches, with intention of having the statements they contained fall into the hands of the allies, while the dispatches were in transit by wireless. The report said the United States decided on the recall of the major as the best way of solving the situation.

Mr. Breckenridge and other officials when shown the report refused to confirm or deny it.

AMERICAN FLAG HALTS KILLING

Missionary Risks Life By Walking Between Battle Lines In Urumiah.

BOYS ARE SLAIN IN GROUPS

Young Women Taken as Slaves By Turks Following Massacre Of Christians.

TIFLIS, Wednesday, March 24, via Petrograd and London, March 25.—Telegrams and letters reaching here from Urumiah, Persia, describe the situation of the American Presbyterian mission station there as desperate. Turkish regular troops and kurds are persecuting and massacring Assyrian Christians.

Henry P. Packard, the doctor of the missionary station at Urumiah, the Presbyterian church risks his life the Presbyterian church risks his life in a supreme effort to prevent a frightful massacre at Geoglupa, where 4000 Assyrians made their last stand. They had fought for three days and all their ammunition was gone, it this province. Dr Packard unfurled American flags and advanced between the lines. His act resulted in the saving of all but 200 Assyrians who had been herded in a church.

Fifteen thousand Assyrian Christians have taken refuge under the protection of the American mission station while 2,000 are at the French mission. A dispatch received at Tiflis from Urumiah yesterday declared that seventy Turkish regular troops had entered the mission hanged the orthodox bishop, Mar Elias, and four orthodox clergymen and beat and insulted a missionary named Allen. Shortly before the sixty refugees had been dragged from the French mission and executed in spite of the tearful pleas of the nuns.

At Gulpashan, the kurds were particularly cruel. This was the last of a group of 107 Assyrian villages to hold out and it was occupied a month ago. The kurds ordered all the Assyrian boys into the streets, tied them in groups of five, marched them to the graveyard and killed them barbarously to the last boy. Girl babies and older women were then executed with great atrocity while the younger women were carried away as slaves.

Those failing of confirmation were Fred S. Caldwell of this city, selected on the commission from the Fourth district, and J. G. Ralls of Atoka, commissioner at large. The proceedings of the court simply announce the action taken, no explanation being assigned.

The names of the new court commissioners were delivered to the members of the high court Wednesday evening, but it was understood they should not be made known until the supreme court made the formal announcement. The appointments were passed on this morning and the court delivered a copy of the proceedings to the clerk of the supreme court soon after.

ATTENTION! BOOTLEGGERS

FAIRMONT, W. Va., March 25.—Representing that their wagon was loaded with nitro glycerine, bootleggers succeeded in hauling a load of liquor from Oakland, Md., to Grafton, W. Va., without being arrested for violating the state's liquor law. Drivers of passing teams stood nearly paralyzed with fear as the outfit passed with its reckless driver bouncing about on the seat, whipping the horses and with the wheels thundering over the rocks. He did not stop until he had arrived at a coal mine near Grafton, where twenty gallons of liquor on board were quickly disposed of. The driver then sold the team and wagon.

War at a Glance

Advices from Petrograd and Berlin today indicate that the struggle in Northern Poland is drawing toward a decisive stage. The Germans who have been attempting to pierce the Russian line at Ossowetz are endeavoring to prevent the Russians from advancing to the north and south of the fortress and interposing troops between it and the Prussian border. The official communication from Berlin today states that Russian attacks in this region were repulsed. Petrograd asserts that considerable progress has been made recently and that Russian troops at places are within a few miles of the border.

Another lull has come along the western battle front where there was spirited artillery fighting yesterday but only small movements of infantry were attempted.

Dispatches from English sources based on stories of refugees from the Dardanelles say that the Turks suffered great losses during the bombardment of March 18, the last general attack by the allied fleet. The forts were under attack are said to have been reduced in greater part. In Berlin it is reported that the allies lost 1,200 men and 134 guns.

The battle in the Carpathians has developed into the most important phase of the land fighting now in progress on either front. Reports from Berlin and Petrograd are incomplete and thus far there are no definite indications which side is gaining the upper hand in the encounter which may decide the mastery of the Carpathian passes, the gateways to Hungary. Estimates of the number of Russians freed by the fall of Przemysl run as high as 180,000 and it is expected that this force will now be sent to foothills of the Carpathians in western Galicia to assist the Russian army there.

A dispatch from Tiflis says the Turks are fortifying a position near Adrianople fearing an attack by Bulgaria. Heavy artillery has been brought in and a new army is being trained by German officers. Fighting in Belgium is becoming active once more and it is suggested in London that the Germans have determined on another attempt to break through the allied lines on this section. Belgian forces attempting to press forward along the Yser are said to have met with some success.

TRADE WITH LATIN AMERICANS IMPROVING

WASHINGTON, March 25.—Commercial and financial conditions in many of the Latin American countries show encouraging improvement, the Pan-American Union announced today after analysis of reports.

"Careful investigation of articles exported," the statement concluded, shows that a large percentage of them are manufactured products which formerly were purchased by South America mostly in Great Britain, Germany and France.

Light rain or snow has fallen in the northern Rocky mountains, northern plains states, upper Mississippi valley and lake region during the past twenty-four hours. The weather has been generally fair in the eastern and southern districts. A low pressure area covers the western slope of the Rocky Mountains, with center over Utah, while a large and energetic "high" overspreads the western Canadian provinces and Missouri valley and is moving southeastward over the plains states and Mississippi valley, attended by decidedly cold weather. This distribution of atmospheric pressure will give cloudy and unsettled weather throughout the southwest during the next thirty-six hours.

KARLSRUHE SANK AS BAND PLAYED

American Given Positive Information That Own Crew Destroyed German Raider.

CRUISER STRUCK A REEF

Teutons Preparing Greatest Naval Surprise of War Says Officer.

WASHINGTON, March 25.—German naval officers at Bremerhaven are quoted as authority for the statement that the cruiser Karlsruhe lies at the bottom of the sea in the West Indies, by Jesse Boyd, second officer of the American steamer Carib, sunk by a mine in the North sea, who reached here today from Rotterdam aboard the steamship Rotterdam. Mr. Boyd said he spent five days at Bremerhaven and through an old time friend now an officer in the German navy obtained positive confirmation of the rumor that the Karlsruhe was no longer afloat.

She went down with the German flag flying from every mast, at her stern and bow, and as she sank the ship's band played martial music. Mr. Boyd quotes his friend as saying. A German bomb sent her to the bottom after she had struck a reef. As the last flag dipped beneath the water German rifles fired a full salute in her honor, a salute that is fired in the burial at sea of naval officers who have fought and fallen in the fight.

Some of her crew now is at Bremerhaven, the naval officer is said to have told Mr. Boyd. The others still are alive somewhere. Mr. Boyd said he did not want to appear too inquisitive, so did not ask many questions, but he inferred that the men who had not made Bremerhaven still were in the West Indies or had been landed in South America. Mr. Boyd's friend said he had seen and talked with members of the Karlsruhe's crew at Bremerhaven and volunteered the information that all who had reached Germany were decorated for valor by order of the emperor.

The Karlsruhe struck the reef that proved to be her burying place, according to Mr. Boyd's informant, in December. For some time her crew tried to free her but were unsuccessful. When it seemed certain that she would be found by warships of the enemy and fall into their hands, it was decided, Mr. Boyd said, to destroy her.

Accordingly the crew was taken off

MAKE SOCIALIST JOIN THE ARMY

Best Known Political Man in Germany Mustered Into Landsturm Regiment; Protests Against Combat.

BERLIN, via London, March 25.—Dr. Karl Liebknecht, a Socialist member of the reichstag, has been mustered into the army as a member of a landsturm regiment and assigned to service in Alsace.

The Copenhagen Politiken printed a story Monday to the effect that Dr. Liebknecht had been ordered to place himself at the disposal of the German military authorities. This action was supposed to have been due to his action in the reichstag on Saturday in voting against the adoption of the budget. The Politiken stated Dr. Liebknecht was directed to consider himself under the military law and was prohibited from writing articles or attending political meetings except those of the reichstag and landtag.

Berlin dispatches received in Amsterdam today said the Socialist party in the reichstag had given out a declaration severely denouncing the breach of discipline committed by Dr. Liebknecht and his colleague, Herr Kuehl in voting against the adoption of the budget.

Dr. Liebknecht probably is the best known Socialist in the country. He has protested vigorously against the war and was reputed in December last to be the leader of a secret German peace movement. Early in January he appealed to the newspapers and labor leaders to end the conflict. He had previously been disavowed by his party associates in the reichstag and a speech he made early this month in the Prussian diet resulted in a protest from other parties. Soon after hostilities began it was reported he had been shot for refusing to do military service.

TWO MAGAZINE PUBLISHERS ON TRIAL IN NORTH DAKOTA

BISMARCK, N. Dak., March 25.—Taking testimony began today in the third trial of Sam Clark and C. H. Crockard, publishers of a monthly magazine charged with sending obscene literature through the mails. Their first trial ended in a disagreement. The verdict of guilty in the second was reversed because the whole of the magazine alleged to have contained the obscene article had not been introduced as evidence.

DRY WEATHER, LOW WATER STOPS SHIPMENTS OF COAL

PITTSBURGH, Pa., March 25.—Owing to unusually dry weather the last six weeks, local rivers are the lowest in years for March, generally a high water month. Two million bushels of coal on barges await a sufficient rise in the Ohio river to be taken south.

Man Who Confesses Killing of Eight

Frederick Mors, the butler at the German home for the aged N. Y. L. O. o. F. in Yonkers has confessed that he poisoned eight old men and women who had become helpless. The case has attracted attention all over the country. The prisoner was declared "mentally unwell" by attendants who had him under observation for several days and at this time he is in the Westchester county jail at White Plains, N. Y.

BRITISH REFUSE REQUEST OF U. S.

Will Not Allow American Consul to Be Placed at Kirkwall to Report on Detained Cargoes.

LONDON, March 25.—The British government has refused the request of the United States that an American consular officer be permitted to take station at the port of Kirkwall in Scotland to report on American cargo ships detained there.

The reason for the refusal is that a similar request has been denied others interested in shipping detained in the Orkneys.

The United States has experienced great difficulty in obtaining information concerning ships detained at Kirkwall for the last three months. Because of Kirkwall's insular location communication with the Scottish mainland is difficult and ships officers frequently are unable to communicate with London until their vessels are taken from Kirkwall to some English or other Scottish port to unload the alleged contraband on board.

Until the opening of the war Kirkwall was an unimportant port, consequently the United States never had a consular representative there. All the North Scottish mainland and the islands here are prohibited areas from which aliens, both neutral and belligerents are barred.

HAS EAR OF ONE MAN

Anti-Suffargettes Should Get Busy and Prevent Homes From Being Broken Up, Says Wickersham.

NEW YORK, March 25.—George Wickersham, formerly attorney general of the United States, addressing a meeting of anti-suffragettes here yesterday said that if women serve on juries or in the militia or assume the other manifold obligations of citizenship "the home will be broken up, for there will be no one to care for the children.

"It becomes a question," he said, "whether the home shall make way for the institution, whether the chivalry, the recognition of the higher qualities of womanhood shall be thrown aside in favor of a lower community in which men and women shall compete in a scramble for positions one above the other.

"Every woman has the care of at least one man," he said, "and if she is opposed to suffrage it is her duty to convince him and make him go forth to the polls. As a general thing, men will do jtus what women ask them to."

HOUSTON JITNEY OWNER APPEAL TO CITY'S VOTERS

HOUSTON, Texas, March 25.—Jitney owners are losing no time in arranging to avail themselves of the referendum clause of the city charter in an effort to nullify the ordinance passed by the city council late yesterday which declares such vehicles to be common carriers and exacts a bond of $10,000 for each machine and imposed a wheel tax as well as prescribes other drastic requirements. Petitions for the necessary appeal to the voters will be circulated at once.

OWEN AT WHITE HOUSE DIFFERS WITH POMERENE

WASHINGTON, March 25.—Senator Owen of Oklahoma, a White House caller today, said he differed from the view announced last night by Senator Pomerene of Ohio, that a constitutional amendment would be necessary for a presidential primary. Senator Owen declared he believed it entirely within the power of congress to enact such a law.

FT. SILL SOLDIER HANGS SELF ON FENCE WITH KERCHIEF

FORT SILL, Ok., March 25.—Joseph Dorsch, a private in the fifth field artillery, hanged himself here last night from a fence post with a handkerchief. It is believed that he had trouble with a young woman recently. His home was in South Bend, Ind.

OSSOWETZ KEY ON EAST FRONT

Great Fortress Pivot Point For German Attacks on Long Battle Line.

AUSTRIANS FEEL FORT'S FALL

Rapid Russian Advance To Carpathian Passes Temporarily Halted By Snowstorm.

LONDON, March 25.—The Evening Chronicle publishes a dispatch from Bucharest, Rumania, saying the Turkish government recently decided to surrender Constantinople and the Dardanelles to the attacking fleet. The surrender was all but arranged, the Chronicle says, when at the last moment it was blocked by Germany.

PETROGRAD, March 25.—The fortress of Ossowetz where the German bombardment continues, remains being the key to the situation on the German front, according to the best opinions of Russian observers. Both to the north and south of this point in the Augustowo and the Omoleff regions respectively, the Germans are developing lively attacks to prevent the Russians from encircling the Ossowetz fortress or from occupying the town of Szczuczyn. This location is directly behind Ossowetz on the east Prussian frontier. Its occupation by the Russians would compel the Germans to abandon the siege.

Official reports of fighting at Vakh, Karask and Jednorosk, towns within ten miles of the East Prussian frontier, indicate that the Germans at least have not been successful in preventing the Russian advance in the vicinity of Omoleff. The Petrograd military authorities today called attention to the retirement of several German army corps to the westward to meet activities on the part of the allies.

The Russian occupation of Domanevitze has an important bearing on the operations in the Pilitza district, since this town commands a strategic position on the left bank of the Pilica river, as well as a bridge and a junction point of five roads.

In the extreme north the Russians are continuing to advance from Tauroggen in the direction of Laugszargen in spite of the increasing German resistance.

Heavy snowstorms south of the river Dniester have caused a temporary lull in the Russian operations against the right wing of the Austrian army but elsewhere on the Carpathian front the effect of the fall of Przemysl has been noted, according to dispatches received in Petrograd, in a rapid Russian advance toward the Carpathian passes.

LEADER OF VICE TRUST ON TRIAL

New Yorker Under Indictment With Others Said to Control Forty Resorts and 2,000 Inmates.

NEW YORK, March 25.—M. Goldberg, whose arraignment was on the calendar today in the court of special sessions, is accused of being an official of a vice trust which maintained more than fort yresorts in this city, contained nearly 2,000 inmates and divided $1,250,000 a year profits. The district attorney's office claims to have evidence that this alleged combine paid nearly $400,000 a year to the police for protection.

Goldberg was to plead to an indictment found in June, 1913. After the finding of the indictment Goldberg and four others accused fled the city and the district attorney was compelled to abandon the inquiry which was begun soon after the murder of Herman Rosenthal, the gambler, of which Police Lieutenant Charles Becker was convicted.

Recently he returned to this city and was arrested.

Alleged confessions in the district attorney's office asserts that the organization maintains fourteen resorts in a single block in Fortieth street, and sixteen on Sixth avenue, besides many others. It had a pension system and a board of arbitration to settle disputes.

NINE DOCTORS JAILED

"Medical Colony" Behind Bars in Houston Happy and Try to Continue Practice.

HOUSTON, Tex., March 25.—The members of what is known as the "medical colony" in the county jail, consisting of nine practicing physicians of Houston, awaiting sentence by Judge Burns of the federal court upon conviction of using the mails to defraud, continue to be cheerful despite the fact that they have been behind the bars almost a month. Some of them are endeavoring, from their places of confinement, to hold the scattered ends of their practice while awaiting the convenience of the court.

Counsel for the doctors have perfected plans for an appeal of the cases to the circuit court of appeals but they can do nothing until final action in the lower courts. Judge Burns may defer passing sentence until the end of the term which may not come for two or three weeks.
