Determined not to miss a single bet in their up hill fight for a chance at the 1915 pennant, Maag's Senators brought the bacon into camp Wednesday by twice overcoming a lead pounded out by the slugging Mets and took the second game of the series 6-4. Dennis was in hot water continually but the hard hitting of his mates and the displays of the Twins enabled him to chalk up his seventh straight victory.

Tommy Robinson, continuing his hitting streak of Tuesday, popped a blow first up yesterday and was advanced on Leininger's out. McCarty then delivered himself of a blow scoring Robinson. McCarty advanced to second on Adams out and counted when Swamps Thompson poled a hit through third. Two hits were made by the Twins in the second but resulted in no score and in the third and fourth they were let down hitless and runless. In the fifth, however, Dennis walked Robinson and Leininger who scored a moment later on McCarty's doubling to center, which Jawn King raced over and kicked out of Hall's hands. After this, but one hit was gathered by the Twins and fast fielding on the part of the Senators kept them from a chance to score.

Oklahoma City started out in the old lackadaisical way for the first three innings getting but two hits and no chances to score, but in the fourth Maag lived on Leininger's error and after Dameron had popped a fly to Adams, Nig Hall gathered unto himself a run from scoring the foreman, himself and gathering some change from the crowd. King then hit took second on Thompson's error, third on Brady's wild pitch and scored on Kohlick's hit.

There was nothing stirring for the Senators until the seventh after this, and the fans in the face of a one run lead, began to get nervous. However Bob Dowie proved himself a hero and cracked a double scoring a minute later an Allen's hit. Dameron lived on Webber's error while Allen counted on the same play. Hall then closed the frame by perishing Webber to Thompson.

Each team made two double plays, one of them a joke affair in the third. Adams got on through Kolnick's error and sprinted to second on Thompson's grounder to Maag. Maag tossed to Kilduff, trying to double Adams and Kilduff whipped to Dameron, catching Thompson. As Cy Morgan yelled out for Thompson, Adams, whom he had declared safe, started to walk off the bag and Dameron whipped the pill to F. K. thus completing the double. Maag to Kilduff to Dameron to Kilduff.

Oberhart is slated to work for the Senators Thursday in the last game of the season in Saratoga park. Gorham, Schulz crack pitcher, will probably oppose him. In order to let both teams catch seven o'clock trains the game will be called at 3:30.

Another Thriller at Detroit

DETROIT, Aug. 26.—A double for Scott in the scoreboard in the Detroit-Boston game Wednesday gave Boston another thrilling victory over Detroit. The score was 2 to 1. Boston's defense, which was almost as remarkable as Tuesday, was as much responsible for the victory as was Scott's timely hit. With two out in the Detroit half of the thirteenth, Cobb doubled to left but Speaker raced nearly into the next county to hand down the drive.

For six innings James and Cash fought a deadlock battle, each allowing only two hits and neither granting a run. In the seventh Gardner singled, advanced on Harris's sacrifice and scored on Thomas' single to left. Two were out in the ninth before Detroit could tie the score. Bush walked and took second on Crawford's infield out, scoring on Veach's single.

Lewis robbed Burns of a three-base hit by a leaping one hand catch in the seventh. Veach was on first at the time. Score:

A LA PURPUS

CLEVELAND, Aug. 26.—The Indian American association team will be a road team for the remainder of the present season. President Charles W. Somers announced today that all the team's remaining home games have been transferred and will be played on foreign fields. Poor attendance here is the reason given. Somers has tried to sell the team to Toledo capitalists since early in the season but every effort failed.

An effort will be made to transfer the team elsewhere this winter. The team was transferred here from Toledo at the start of last season to fraternity entrance of the Federal league here and because of lack of support in Toledo.

It is said that Owner Somers plans to take other members of the association team in an effort to bolster the Cleveland American league team, which is anchored. He has already taken Outfielders Wills and Roth with first baseman Kirk, third baseman Evans and Pitchers Coumbe and Brenton.

Southern Meeting Saturday

LITTLE ROCK, Aug. 26.—It was learned here today that an important meeting of the Southern league officials will be held at New Orleans Saturday, largely for making plans for the 1916 season with particular reference to Mobile remaining in the association.

Now Take It From Me,-

By "Bal"

Perhaps it had just occurred to Nig Hall that several scouts were looking over the Senators. Or, it may be was afraid to leave the foreman stranded on the sacks. Anyway, he got a most satisfactory safety clear when it was needed.

Perritt had a kind of bad arm as well as a bad egg after the game Wednesday. Winning three games in five days, two of them shutouts, is no mean task for any hurler.

It looked like the same old story for a few innings in Detroit. Twins scored in the first and gave a Senator treatment. Then Nig Hall poked the pill over the wall. However the help were as anxious to return chances as winner as was the pitcher himself.

This figuring on how we're going to win that flag is getting to be a nightmare. While we are sitting but two games behind Denison to win it is necessary for us to win four straight while the leaders are dividing even of five, which looks nearly impossible w in the Texans on their own home lot.

Should the Railroaders lose that lot, while we were taking all the remaining contests, the standing would be: Depend upon, 2nd to Denison, and 2nd for Oklahoma City, which with one difference might be construed as shoving the rag for Denison.

Owner Pappas has reconsidered his decision not to play those games at McAlester. The fact that such an action gave the directors of the league and the business men of Tulsa a chance to vent him from W. A. circles must have darkened on him just in time.

"Rumors" of rather fa-lo which were shown Tuesday morning after Fagan had taken the four o'clock morning train for Chicago, were set at rest by Chicago assurances that Fagan had reported to the White Sox Wednesday. With the return of President Wiley, the terms and price should be learned.

Seemingly the scouts and minor league magnates were afflicted up on this year. For years the sale limit date has been August 26 and for this reason the sale of Fagan on the 23 was kept silent. However it was later learned that the date had been advanced to August 31, so there was no fear of some one "commanding" the sale.

The Phillies, viewing with alarm the rapid climb of the Braves, took a brace and swiped a couple from the Cincinnati Reds thus combining Buck Herzog's team back into the racing two points behind the Giants.

Walter Johnson again demonstrated that he has not slipped from the highest pedestal in pitcherdom. He crowned Clarke from the onslaught of the Sox and started a rally in the fourteenth which lost the Nationals, lose not on Chicago.

Again class triumphed over plugging strength and the Red Sox set the Tigers back another notch in the American league race. All of which makes residents of Brooklyn sure that they will see some world series games at home in Dalton.

While both the Braves and Phillies were winning the best Brooklyn's hard luck artists could do was break even with the Cards. Cardinals. The sigh of Lewis goat getters just one game behind them shouting serve the Superbas in great deals.

Fans are assured of at least four more games on the home lot and possibly eight. Manager will come for September 1, 2 and 6, and possibly Denison will be called on to prove her superiority (which we all agree does not exist).

Games with several Oklahoma teams, Chickasha, Enid, Guthrie and other ambitious hamlets also may be arranged by the management. As long as the old series check comes in twice per month the partisans assert that they are willing to battle until Thanksgiving.

Not always is the baseball correspondent of the fraternal lady fan so free with nonsense as the string of gling cartoons in issue.

At a league game the other day one of the aforementioned chap did a her record, following a play in which the runner, starting with the pitch had raced from first to third on a short single to the outfield.

"Why do they call that the hit-and-run play?" she asked when her partner had quieted himself after the usual exertions in appreciation of a sensational play, during which exertions he shouted to some unknown kid "great".

"Why, er, you see it is a hit and then run play," was his enlightening reply.

"But it's not," she argued. "He ran first and then the other man hit it. I would understand it better if you called it the run-and-hit play." How about it?

An assistant stenographer than he one that serves Hal Maggert, Pacific Coast League star, on to the majors, is keeping him in the coast league.

That assistant is to make his wife happy. Connie Mack gave Maggert a try out in the Atlantic infield, but Mrs. Maggert tired of the east and longed for the coast. Hart's playing fell off and he was shipped to Los Angeles. Mrs. Maggert, though sorry to see Hart go back to the minors, was happy back at the Pacific. She felt at home with Los Angeles. Hart played like a demon and became the star of the circuit.

The Sox got a line on him and tried to buy him. But Maggert refused to go either major league club owners begged of him and they too offered good money to him, but Hart turned them all down.

He's contented to remain in the coast league as long as Mrs. Maggert is contented.

The value of Cobb, Collins and Speaker can be understood. Cobb is batting .400, Collins is batting around .350, fielding brilliantly and stealing many bases.

But the case of Evers is the most remarkable in baseball. Here is a ball player rated of unbold cause to his team yet he is batting under .200, has stolen comparatively few bases and carries a fielding average of only six-one worth. This abiding value of Evers, minus any unusual physical brilliance is final evidence to his unsurpassed mentality and magnetism. For he is a great ball player where with the same physical records the average human would be only a fielder.

The case of Evers reveals in a manner that of a certain second baseman who once toiled for Comiskey.

"He's good to the fellas at second," a friend once asked the old Roman.

"He can't hit," replied Connie. "He isn't much of an infielder, he is lame and has a weak arm. But he is one of the greatest ball players I ever saw." As much depends on the shape of the head as upon the batting eye, the sagacity which on the head Comiskey referred to itself.

Clark Griffith, Washington manager, who does not want any more trouble than he can handle, failed to find a single player in the minors who could be of use to the Washington club this season.

Mike Kelley, who scouted for Griff for six years, has been allowed to go to another club. Griff may be still get his information on minor leaguers from players, managers and coaches in the minors who are his friends.

From out of the heated confines of Tucson, Ariz., comes a story of a wonderful invention—the jumping Mexican golf ball.

The ball is so constructed that when it rolls into the shade of long grass, or sinks into rascal or other water, it immediately begins to bounce and it jumps so high that it clears the shade or grass and is plainly visible to the sequelae.

The Mexicans hereabouts have formed the club together with a little gesh worth. Now, three worms dislike shade and as soon as a ball goes into a shady place, such as high grass or water, the worm begins to flap the tail. In flapping it accurately will hit the jumping bean attach upon being flapped, immediately begin to jump.

This new invention is expected to prove a great boon to golfers who have a faculty of driving wild and sending their balls into dark, damp places.

Clemons to St. Louis

LOUISVILLE, Aug. 26.—Vernon Clemons, for the past three years catcher for the Louisville American association club, has been traded to the St. Louis Americans for five players, it was announced today. Clemons will report to the St. Louis club at the close of the association season. The players to be secured from St. Louis will be named at the opening of the association season next year.

Church is regarded as one of the likely finalists for the national championship next week.

COBB TEN YEARS IN BIG LEAGUE

Baseball's Most Famous Player Today Celebrates a Decade of Service With the Detroit Tigers

DETROIT, Mich., Aug. 26.—Tyrus Raymond Cobb, often referred to as the greatest baseball player in the world, today celebrates the tenth anniversary of his debut as a major league player. It was expected that Cobb would receive an unusual demonstration and probably something more substantial from his friends. He is expected to be slapped on the plate in the last game of the important series with Boston.

Cobb's path of fame probably never has been equalled in the history of baseball. For eight successive seasons he has been the batting king of the American league. His average for the present season is about .380 and it seems almost an impossibility for any of his rivals to wrest the crown from him this year.

August 29, 1905, a lanky, nervous appearing boy of 19 years from Augusta, Ga., made his a class "D" league, donned a Detroit uniform and was sent to centerfield to Manager Armour to replace Rick Cooley.

The player was Cobb. Cooley never got his job back.

Only once in these ten years has Cobb been replaced by a pinch hitter. When he was a youngster Doc White, of the Chicago club, was his nemesis. He let Freddie Payne was send to bat for Cobb against White on the single occasion in 1906. His first full season Cobb hit .320. That has since been his low mark.

Cobb has always played right or centerfield. Only one day during his Detroit career did he perform elsewhere. He acted as volunteer second baseman and Cobb, as well as Manager Jennings, admitted after the game that the infield did not lose anything when the Georgian's first manager made an outfielder of him.
