YARD NOTES—Stock yards and packinghouses throughout the country will on Thursday observe Thanksgiving as a holiday. There will be no buying or selling at Oklahoma City, but stock arriving will be cared for the same as customary, and handled on Friday's market.

The reappearance of several large operators in beef finishing at the yards is the encouraging feature of this week's trade. The country has been waiting for a lower market on heavy stockers and feeders. This materialized Monday when for 25c crash took place. Leaders thereto had been too high to permit any broad activity among thrifty producers.

Livestock exchanges throughout the country are backing a strenuous campaign for the eliminating of country loafing by big packers. The argument is that this evil means a greater saving to livestock producers than the old time packer monopoly. With packers going direct to the producer for supplies, he of course, can shop upon purchase, and permit others to buy as they will. It would not be long, say the thinkers, that killers would be splitting up the country, giving one company this territory and another that so as there would be no sign of competition, something that has worried packers for a long time.

CATTLE MARKET—Now is the time to come in and buy, for one profiting on monition to country folk given by the trade talent at the stock yards. Stock cattle are selling cheaper right now than any time in years and according to the knowing ones, cheaper than they will be for a long time to come, once the present changed market is restored. There is a liberal assortment of all classes on display here. Farmers with lots of rough feed as well as those with the finishing nutriments who have been waiting for the low spot, had best get busy. There are several thousand stocker cattle on hand that brokers are going to turn loose at first opportunity and at especially attractive prices if they can be moved before saturday. Today's good grade supply of cattle sold steady, packers getting a fair line of the stock with $6.75 for heifers and $6 for the steers. In the stocker line brokers were willing to protect the market and added to their holdings, paying steady prices. A bunch of fancy Panhandle calves again brought $9.000 which shows there are a few individual cases which are not as bad off as the rank and file.

CHICAGO GRAIN

CHICAGO, Nov. 24.—WHEAT EASED off in price Wednesday as a result of the fact that cables were disappointing to the bulls. Opening quotations here which ranged from ¼ to ⅜c lower with December at $1.03⅝ to $1.03½ were followed by a moderate further decline before a reaction began.

Corn rose to new high record prices for this year's crop. Unsatisfactory husking returns and a prediction of unseasonable weather had a good deal to do with the boosting. After opening ⅛c off to a shade advance, the market scored gains all around despite temporary setbacks in sympathy with wheat.

Oats responded to the changes in corn. Provisions averaged higher.

THAD STEVENS

Believed He Is Character Impersonated by "Stoneman" in Film Play, "The Birth of a Nation"

Many persons who have witnessed the film production, "The Birth of a Nation," at the Overholser theater, have wondered what historical personage is represented by the character, "Hon. Austin Stoneman, leader of the house." It is generally believed that the impersonation is that of Thaddeus Stevens of Vermont, who consistently opposed the "presidential plan" for reconstruction of the seceding states as favored by Lincoln and later by Johnson. Opposing the almost universal theory that the war was prosecuted only to enforce the constitution, Stevens insisted consistently that armed resistance to the constitution had the effect of suspending it within the area of resistance; that the success of the resistance would show whether the suspension should be temporary or permanent; that, in the meantime, those who resisted the constitution were entitled to no rights under it—in fact, to no rights except those reserved under the laws of war. The methods on which he proposed to conduct the war were always drastic; the wholesale confiscation of lands in the seceding states; disfranchisement of insurgent citizens, and emancipation and enfranchisement of the negroes. His program was too radical even for the war party, but at the close of the war his pronounced ability gave him the leadership of the house committee on reconstruction. Even in this position, however, he never obtained a formal endorsement of his theory. He died shortly after the reconstruction period, in 1868. He was an inveterate opponent of President Johnson, but failed to secure the latter's impeachment.
