CHICAGO, March 17.—Wet weather and prospective increased demand for feed supplies owing to the provisioning arrangement with Germany, led to sharp advances today in the corn market here. Opening quotations, which ranged from 1⅛ to 4⅛c up with May $1.43@$1.43⅛ and July $1.34@1.35⅛, were followed by additional gains and then a moderate reaction.

Later, both May and March touched new high records for the season. Wet weather, delay to farm work and to the crop movement had a decided bullish influence. The close was strong, 2⅞c to 3⅞c net higher, with May $1.42½@1.42⅞ and July $1.35⅞@1.35⅞.

Oats took the same path as corn. After opening ⅛c to ⅛c higher, with May 61⅛@61⅞c, are market scored a further upturn.

Provisions jumped to the maximum limit. Enlarged business with Europe was looked for.

Strength in the grain market tended to prevent any important reaction.

WALL STREET

NEW YORK, March 17.—Price changes at the opening of today's stock market were extremely confusing, indicating additional selling for profits under cover of bullish operations in the more speculative issues. Oils features the movement attributed to favorable developments in Mexico. Mexican Petroleum, Texas Company and Sinclair oil rose to 2 to 4½ points on the largest initial turnover in that group in many weeks. Equipments, tobaccos and minor specialties were moderately higher than rails, shippings, United States Steel and coppers continued heavy or irregular.

Obstacles to the high trend were overcome during the most active and broader dealings at midday. Renewed buying of oils extended to equipments and other issues previously ignored, including utilities and fertilizer. United States Steel recovered its loss and rails hardened.

COTTON

NEW ORLEANS.

NEW ORLEANS, La., March 17.—Heavy rains in belt caused an upward tendency in cotton today as soon as trading started. In the first half hour of business old contracts were lifted 42 to 80 points and new contracts were lifted 34 to 99 points compared with the close of last week.

Realizing from the long side met the advance and caused a reaction which was widened by moderate short selling based on reports of rather freer spot offerings in the interior. At noon old contracts were 2 points lower to 18 points higher than the close of Saturday and new contracts were 6 to 14 points higher.

With a quiet and steady tone prevailing, the market at 1 o'clock stood at a net advance of 10 to 25 points on the old contracts and a net advance of 2 to 27 points on the new.
