NEWS AND VIEWS.

REV. THOMAS N. BURKE, the well-known priest and lecturer, died yesterday in Dublin. FATHER BURKE attracted considerable attention in this country a few years ago by his disputation with Prostestant divines on doctrinal questions. He was an attractive speaker and a good reasoner, and was possessed of extensive information on secular as well as ecclesiastic topics. In private life he was a delightful man—overflowing with a sparkling, kindly humor, and gifted in an eminent degree with that social benevolence which is commonly called tact. Thousands of Protestants as well as Catholics will be saddened by the news of his death.

MCGEOCH has authorized the offer of fifty cents on the dollar, payable in ten days, and undertakes to raise $450,000 in addition, providing all the creditors will sign an agreement accepting it as a settlement in full, and will withdraw all suits, attachments and injunctions, so that he may realize on his property. The creditors generally express themselves as glad of the opportunity.

A DISPATCH from Galveston quotes Superintendent MILBURN of the South-western Telephone and Telegraph Exchange as saying that among the possibilities of the near future is a system embracing Dallas, Sherman, Fort Worth, Waco, Houston, Austin, San Antonio, with intermediate points of importance.

OUR pride in American smartness has been taken down considerably by the refusal of banks in every part of the country to take the trade dollar. We made thirty millions of that coin topalm off on the heathen Chinese, but overstocked the market, and now five millions have come home to roost and find not where to lay their head.

The July holidays commence in the cotton markets to-day. No futures will be sold or spot quotations given in the Galveston market until Friday next. The New York cotton exchange will be closed on the third, fourth and fifth, and no futures will be sold at New Orleans on the 4th.

SATURDAY'S BIG STEAL.

Further Particulars of the Glaring Robbery—How the Job was Done.

The facts of the glaring robbery of Saturday evening are gradually coming to light, and from present appearances the work can be brought home to the perpetrators. Five men have already been arrested, and only one more remains to be pulled. The names of those in the arms of the law are John Galloway, proprietor of the Star saloon, G. G. McHam, proprietor of the Santa Fe saloon, Bill Cooper, a gambler, George Cooper, a gambler and son of the preceding, and Jack McDonald, commonly known as "Black Jack." The police are in possession of evidence directly implicating each. The sixth member of the gang is supposed to be Peter Smith, who jumped the city at 2:15 Sunday morning. Mr. Smith is the dry young man, who announced that he had been left $12,000 by a defunct relative, notice of which duly found its way into these columns. Smith announced to Chris. Rintleman Saturday evening that a relative of his died a few days previously and left him $12,000. That $500 was sent him to pay his expenses home, and that he would start soon. He deposited $100 with Mr. Rintleman, saying he would take the rest to pay clothes, pay old debts etc., before leaving the city. The fact of his depositing one hundred dollars convinced Mr. Rentleman that he was telling the truth as he had not a cent to show up for many moons previously. Soon after the deposit was made, Jake Riggle informed Mr. Rintleman of the facts of the robbery and he began to smell a mouse. Smith turned up in the course of an hour and Mr. Rintleman, half in joke, half in earnest, accused him of participation in the robbery. He wilted a little, denied it, but said he knew who did it. He then demanded the $100 he had deposited, and as soon as he received it beat a hasty retreat. He has not been seen in the city since. It is more than probable that he is the sixth man. Bill Cooper started for Wichita Falls Sunday morning and was arrested there yesterday, on a telegram from City Marshal Rea. He was brought down last night. Mr. Rea started for Denison yesterday, but the young'un returned to the city on a freight train yesterday morning, and was captured at the depot by officers Scott and Riggles as soon as he alighted. All of them except Bill Cooper are out on $1,000 bail each. They were arraigned for a preliminary examination before justice Furman at 2:30 yesterday afternoon, but in consequence of some hitch in the proceedings, the case was adjourned until 8 o'clock this morning. John Galloway has retained Captain Frank Ball to defend him, and the rest of the gang have secured the services of Henry M. Furman. It was a matter of comman talk on the streets last night that Mr. Furman had received $250 in clear cash before he would touch the case. This shows that the accused are pretty well scared.

The police claim to have good substantial evidence and plenty of it, to bring the crime home to the entire party. A man whose name the GAZETTE is not at liberty to give at present was an eye witness of the whole transaction, and has offered to give evidence for the state. He was a spectator of the whole proceeding without taking any part. After the job was completed, he was offered $10 to "keep his mouth shut." He did not take the bribe. His evidence will be corroborated by other witnesses, and circumstances of a criminating character. The police state that Galloway put up the job and was the head and front of the entire business. It was he, it seems, who "piped him off" for the rest of the gang. When the man was sufficiently stupid not to know whether he was standing on his head or feet, the wad of bills amounting to $2,100 was taken from the inside breast pocket of his coat. According to police accounts, Galloway kept $800 of the swag and and the remaining $1,300 was divided among the others. When this was done, Hudson was towed across the street to the rear room of the Arcade saloon by George Cooper and the sixth member of the gang, supposed to be Smith. The police also assert that George Cooper went through Hudson's pantaloon pockets before he left, and relieved him of what loose silver he had.

Mr. Nash, the proprietor of the Arcade saloon, and his barkeeper, Mr. Kane, are in no way responsible. The room in which Hudson was deposited is a vacant room at the rear of the saloon, and the Arcade folks knew nothing of what was going on. The police say that Mr. Nash is a law-abiding citizen and is doing all he can to bring the thieves to justice. Hudson is still in the city and will remain until after the examining trial. The police force are entitled to credit for the prompt manner in which they worked the case up and coralled the thieves. Every member of the force worked like a beaver to ferret out the thieves, but to Assistant Marshal Scott belongs the credit of capturing three members of the gang.

GALLOWAY JUMPS THE TOWN.

It was rumored in the city last night on what may be considered undoubted authority that Galloway, the chief of the robbers, skipped out about six o'clock. His destination could not be learned as few were taken into confidence. It is also reported that his bond is worthless on account of a flaw in the wording of it.

A STRANGE MARRIAGE.

A Loving Couple United in the Holy Bonds of Matrimony in the Open Street.

"Where there is a will there is a way," is a good old saying, that was exemplified yesterday. A party arrived in the city yesterday morning en route to the west, where they propose to locate. Among them was a young man of twenty or thereabouts, who was desperately smitten with the charms of a young widow, also of the party, of some nineteen years, and she returned his love. On arriving in this city they stopped over for a few hours to rest and recuperate, and while here, the young man, whose name is J. W. Frasure, bethought that no better place, time nor opportunity could be found to take unto himself that wife he so longed to possess. Accordingly he broached the subject to the charming young widow, who agreed, and he at once proceeded to County Clerk Swayne's office, where he procured a marriage license. Armed with this he sought a minister. The Rev. A. L. Johnson was found, and upon being informed that his services were in request, at once assented and proceeded to the spot where the ceremony took place. And now the strange part of the tale comes in. The minister stood in the street, and the bridal party stood up in their buggy, and under the canopy of heaven, on the broad thoroughfare of Houston street, the hands of the loving pair were joined, and the minister pronounced them man and wife. This rather strange affair took place on Houston street between First and Second. The passers-by failed to notice what was going on and the marriage was conducted as quietly as if it had occurred in the privacy of the bride's residence. A brother of the bride was present and witnessed the ceremony, after which the party went down in the bottom west of the town where they partook of a cold lunch, and in the afternoon departed westward.

Found.

Deputy Sheriff Jake Piggle yesterday captured a mare that was stolen from W. J. Parks, who resides near Meridian. The animal was brought into the city yesterday by John Boone and by him sold to Chas. Loucks. Boone says the horse was sold to him recently by a man, supposed to be the one who stole the animal. It was stolen about June 20th. A reward of $25 was offered for the recovery of the horse, which Jake will scoop in very gracefully.

Jailed for Stealing a Cow.

A young man named W. A. Cate was yesterday arrested for stealing a cow from a relative of his. It seems he drove the bovine to this city about a week ago and disposed of her to a butcher. By some mischance the animal was not slaughtered, and the owner turned up on time to identify her. Cate was arrested and arranged before Justice Furman yesterday and waved examination. He was sent to jail to await the action of the grand jury. Cate's father is one of the best known and most respectable citizens of Tarrant county, and many people will regret to learn of his sons escapade.

THE NORMAL SCHOOL.

First Day of the Session—The Faculty and What it is Proposed to do.

The four weeks' session of the Fort Worth normal school began yesterday at the Arnold-Walden school building at the west end of Fourth street. Quite a number were present to reap the benefits of the institution, fifteen of whom were parties who are not in any way at present connected with the schools. Several of them are from different points in the county and state and several from the city. The faculty are as follows: Prof. A. Hogg, principal; Prof. E. C. Snow, mathematics; Mrs. C. Walden, school management, the English language, United States history and elocution; Miss Eva Haywood, geography, penmanship and calesthenics. Mrs. M. W. Waller, vocal music and Miss Dechard drawing. It is hoped that in a few days a teacher of philosophy, physiology and hygiene will be selected and the faculty will then be complete. Arrangements have been made with several prominent men of learning and ability to deliver lectures at night, which at the public generally besides those in attendance at the school will be invited to be present.

It is the purpose of the board of education to make the normal school in every respect a first-class one, affording to all who desire to qualify themselves for the position of teachers, every opportunity for so doing. The session will only be four weeks, and all who desire to profit by the advantages offered them are urged to make immediate application. Each days session will be eight hours and in four weeks parties will have ample opportunity to fit themselves for the arduous duties of a teacher.

At the close of the term, a certificate will be issued to those who have been in attendance, who have been found diligent and praiseworthy. In a few days the institution will be well organized and well under way, and in due time announcements by the lecturer will be made.

THE THIRD WARD.

C. B. Daggett has had a large commodious warehouse erected in the of his store.

Some of the Third warders that the street car line should be tinued out South Main street. say that it would pay the comp handsomely.

A sidewalk down the railroad re vation, from Main street to the depot, is something that is gre needed and would be a great ac modation to pedestrians.

The compress company are re ing their buildings and adding provement thereto. They expect do a business of over fifty thous bales of cotton next sesson.

The bridging of the railroad cr ing is a matter of interest to resid of the Third ward, especially so those living south of the railroad reservation, and they express a hope some action will soon be taken in matter.

The stock pens are about to unde a thorough renovation. Three of th will be floored and will be used sheep. The large amount of st shipped to this point renders it perative that proper accomodati for their reception shall be provided

It is almost impossible to keep with the improvements that constantly going on in Third ward. Vacant lots rapidly being built up, especi south of the railroad reservation the work in consequence is progress so fast in population and spread over so much ground that it will necessary ere long to divide into wards.

A tramp went into the rear of Maddox's ice house, on Main str yesterday, and when requested by proprietor of the establishment to cate the premises, replied that would do so when he pleased and that he generally went where chose. Mr. Maddox informed that he did not allow strangers prowl about his back yard, and asked him to leave, when the truder again refusing, he ceeded to try what effect little slugging would have. Ed powerful fellow and it is hardly necessary to state that he handled his in such artistic style that the loper beat a precipitate retreat.
