Hopkinsville Kentuckian.

CHAS. M. MEACHAM, ... Editor.

TUESDAY, FEBRUARY 5, 1889.

HOPKINSVILLE, KENTUCKY.

A live and growing city of 8,000 inhabitants, situated in a county of 40,000. The Louisville and Nashville has two lines of railroad in the county and the people have recently voted aid to two new roads. Largest tobacco growing county in the world. Wheat, corn, hay coal, live stock and fruits produced for export in large quantities. The city has four banks with an aggregate capital of $450,000. A planing mill and wagon factory, three carriage factories, lime factory, tobacco manufactory, two foundries, three brickyards, broom factory, steam laundry, ice factory, two large flouring mills in the city and several in the county. Splendid driving park and fine opera house. Five turnpikes centering in Hopkinsville. Building and Loan Association, Commercial Club, a telephone exchange, numbered streets and houses and city lighted by gas Macadamized streets and brick sidewalks all over the city. Eleven churches, two colleges, a high school and the finest system of public schools, white and colored, in the State. Western Kentucky Lunatic Asylum with a population of 650, two miles east of the city. A $100,000 court house with town clock in the dome A fine fire department and a company of State Guards. Little River furnishes an adequate supply of water for all purposes Real estate low and rents cheap. Fine opening for woolen mill, pork packing establishment, fruit cannery, tanyard and many other enterprises.

Climate mild and invigorating and exceedingly healthful.

Buffalo had a $2,000,000 fire Saturday morning.

Senator Beck is at Tampa, Fla., on his way back from a visit to Cuba in search of health.

The Caldwell Courier intimates that Capt. C. T. Allen may be a candidate for Governor.

Kenna has come within two votes of election in the West Virginia Senatorial contest, but he is still "in the soup."

P. T. Barnum's elegant new home at Bridgeport, Conn., was burned Friday night, entailing a loss upon the old showman of $30,000.

Jos. A. Moore, the Indianapolis insurance agent who defaulted for $500,000, has joined the American colony at Montreal, Canada.

Under the bond purchasing act of April, 1888, $111,000,000 of the government's bonds have been called in at premiums amounting to $20,000,000.

The last formality in the election of President Harrison will be gone through with on the 13th, when Congress will meet to count the electoral votes.

There are 47 Grand Lodges, 2,714 subordinate lodges, 650 endowment sections and 425 uniform divisions of Knights of Pythias in the United States.

The "Oklahoma Bill," opening to settlement some of the finest lands in the west, has passed the House by 46 majority and now goes to the Senate.

E. G. Mandt, editor of a paper at Mt. Horeb, Wis., was called to the door of his residence Friday night and foully shot down by an unknown assassin.

An educational convention for the district composed of Christian, Caldwell, Lyon, Trigg and Hopkins counties will be held at Princeton on the 22nd and 23rd inst.

The nine islands of the Samoan group contain but 1,125 square miles, and are about as large as the State of Rhode Island. The population numbers about 35,000, mostly natives.

"Stonewall" Jackson, the greatest military genius this country has produced, according to Mr. Wendling the lecturer, is to have a $30,000 bronze statue over his grave at Lexington, Va., which for 26 years has been marked only by a plain slab three feet high.

Germany has backed down in the Samoan matter and has withdrawn the proclamation of martial law as it relates to foreigners, and will help preserve the neutrality of the islands. How about the hauling down of the American flag? Is that matter to be passed by without further notice?

The salary of the President's private Secretary has been increased from $3,250 to $5,000 and board. This was probably done to induce Gen. Harrison's Secretary, Lige Halford, to give up his job as an editor. Editors, as a rule, do not throw away pencils to accept common $3,250 offices.

Crown Prince Rudolph, of Austria, who was killed last week was neither murdered nor self-slain as at first reported. It turns out that he fought a duel with Count Ciam Gallas, over an affair of honor involving the Count's wife, in which he received a wound that caused his death a few hours latter. An attempt was made to suppress the truth, but it finally leaked out.

Patrick Bryan, father of the lieutenant governor of Kentucky, who died at Nashville last week, was a poor Irishman who formerly kept a toll-gate near Covington. His son was educated as a beneficiary of the Garth fund of Paris, studied law and, after attaining success in his profession, was elected to the State Senate and at the age of 35 years was elected lieutenant governor of the State. He is an example of what a brainy young man can do in spite of poverty, and his success should encourage many a poor youth to put forth his best endeavors to overcome difficulties that may at first appear to be insurmountable.

THE CRAFT.

Jimmie Richardson, a little son of Mr. J. M. Richardson, editor of the Glasgow Times, was fatally burned one day last week, by having his clothes catch on fire from an open grate while alone in the room. He lived but a short while and suffered terribly till death ended his misery. The stricken parents have the deepest sympathy of the entire press fraternity, with whom Mr. Richardson is very popular.

After 41 days of confinement with a broken thigh, editor W. P. Walton, of the Stanford Interior Journal, is able to be out on crutches.

Mr. Jas. W. Hopper, formerly editor of the Lebanon Standard and Times, has become an editorial writer on the Courier-Journal and Mr. Frank Gregory, late of the Commercial, has accepted a like position with the Evening Times.

Mr. E. G. Logan, of the Louisville Times, has the manuscript of an historical novel left by the late Wallace Gruelle, which he will get a syndicate of Kentucky papers to publish for the benefit of Mrs. Gruelle, who is left in very straightened circumstances.

The Fulton Boomerang has changed hands and editors. Mr. Chas. N. Walker retires, saying among other things that he is proud of the fact that he has made "hundreds of enemies" while discharging his duty as an editor. Mr. Frank R. Cobourn succeeds him and in a poetical salutatory declares that he will "fearlessly fight whoever has face to oppose," etc. As Mr. Cobourn writes like a young and inexperienced member of the fraternity, perhaps he will accept a few friendly suggestions from one who has been in the harness for ten years. Use your talents, young man, to make friends and not enemies. Don't try to regulate the morals of the public. Don't try to revolutionize things by "jumping on" your public officials. Don't carry on any kind of controversy in your paper. Don't say spiteful things to offend any one. Don't inject editorial comments into news items. Don't give impartial or unfair reports of any occurrence and as a rule say nothing when you cannot praise. It is not the province of a newspaper to be the censor of the community in which it is published, but to give its subscribers the news and let them form their own conclusions from the facts. Follow out these instructions and you will find yourself with fewer enemies, more dollars and perhaps a clearer conscience.

Mr. Willis Field, telegraph editor of the Louisville Commercial, was married at Lexington on the 30th inst., to Miss Elizabeth Shryock.

John O. Rust, the Hopkinsville editor who recently entered the ministry, promises to make one of the ablest expounders of the gospel in the Baptist denomination in Kentucky.

CROFTON.

CROFTON, Feb. 2, 1889.—According to tradition we are to have more winter yet, as the ground hog got alarmed at his shadow to-day and returned to his winter home for forty days.

Luther Benson, of Indiana, will speak here Wednesday night and we hope there are none who will refuse to hear him speak.

Miss Della Combs, of your city, is visiting Miss Ivie Bourland.

Mr. Joe P. Bourland, who has been at Red Sulphur Springs, Tenn., for some time is reported to have improved some since he left home.

Esq. Geo. H. Myers, who has been confined to his bed for some time with continued malarial fever, is now convalescent.

Prof. C. B. Pittman returned to his home in Greenville, Ky., this week. His many friends here regretted very much to give him up.

John B. Martin has in his possession a curiosity in the way of a rabbit's skin which is a dark yellow color. It was killed near his home by Monroe Martin.

BUCK.

The assassination of Col. Jno. M. Clayton, at Plummerville, Ark., is the foulest crime of the kind that has occurred for a generation. Clayton was a Republican politician and made the race for Congress against Clifton R. Breckenridge, who was elected by 850 majority. After the polls closed, the Plummerville ballot-box was stolen by four masked men, supposed to have been Democrats, from the fact that the precinct gave Clayton 450 majority. Clayton contested Breckenridge's election and while at Plummerville engaged in collecting evidence he was shot through the window of his boarding house and instantly killed with a charge of buckshot. The assassin is unknown, but whether righteously or not the Democrats have been charged with the crime, though there is no proof to that effect. The state of Arkansas has offered a reward of $5,000 and Mr. Breckenridge should himself supplement this with a private reward and spare no effort to bring the guilty party to the gallows. He was in Washington at the time and condemns the crime in the strongest terms.

Another large flow of gas has been struck near Glasgow at a depth of 800 feet and the operators are highly elated. The well is about five miles from Glasgow near the first well bored last March. Five other wells have been sunk and oil struck at a depth of 400 feet, the wells yielding from 15 to 25 barrels per day. There are now seven oil and two gas wells in Barren county and others are being sunk.

KENTUCKY KNOWLEDGE.

Shelbyville is working to get a new Opera house.

The "Spotted fever" epidemic in Webster county is abating.

A squirrel as "white as snow" was lately killed in Owen county.

A strong company has been organized to bore for oil in Pulaski county.

Dilger, the Louisville murderer, has been sentenced to hang Mar. 15

Wm. Brown, an old bachelor, was found dead at his residence in Larue county.

Two murder cases are to be tried this week in the Smithland Circuit Court.

Daviess county had a matrimonial boom during January, 49 licenses being issued.

Green Richey, aged 45, hanged himself at Cynthiana, leaving a wife and eight children.

W. N. Mason aged 80 years is still actively engaged following his trade, plastering, at Owensboro.

T. M. Baker's distillery of South Carolinton was burned with 338 gallons of whisky. Loss $3,000.

Mrs. Kate Dixon Burbank, daughter of the late Ex-Gov. Dixon, died in Henderson a few days ago.

Mr. W. Scott Glore, one of the most active and successful of Louisville's business men, died Wednesday.

At Stephensport, Geo. Smith set fire to the lockup in which he was confined and narrowly escaped being cremated.

Elijah Bledsoe, col., of Mercer county, claims to be 116 years old. He is one fourth Indian and says he remembers the Revolutionary war.

Mrs. Wallace Sharp, of Lexington, has disappeared with a street car driver. $1,000 of her husband's money disappeared at the same time.

The steamer Bowling Green, a Green river packet, was burned at Rockport, Ky., Friday and is a total loss. She cost $25,000. No lives were lost.

Patrick Bryan, father of Lt. Gov. Bryan, died at Nashville, aged 70 He lived in Bourbon county, and was on a visit to his son, Senator Bryan.

R. W. Crabb, president of the Highland Gun Club, of Uniontown, killed a large gray eagle on Hoovey lake. It measured seven and one-half feet from tip to tip.

The Ohio Valley Railroad Company has arranged with the Newport News and Mississippi Valley folks for the use of their road from Princeton to Paducah, and through trains will soon be put on between Evansville and Paducah.

Glasgow Times: Another of the Gross family died with typhoid fever last week. This makes the sixth one of this most unfortunate family to die with this dreadful disease, and a seventh is now sick. The Times is told that out of a household of seven only a few weeks ago, all are now dead except the unhappy father.

Paducah Standard: The railroad election in Hurricane precinct of Crittenden county, which voted $10,000 to the Princeton, Marion and Ohio River railroad, did not settle the matter. The majority being so close, and there being threats of a contest, the railroad directors have decided not to accept the subscription and have a record of "no election" made.

Beware of Ointments for Catarrh that Contain Mercury, as Mercury will surely destroy the sense of smell and completely derange the whole system when entering it through the mucus surfaces. Such articles should never be used except on prescriptions from reputable physicians, as the damages they will do are ten fold to the good you can possibly derive from them. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, O., contains no mercury, and is taken internally, and acts directly upon the blood and mucus surfaces of the system. In buying Hall's Catarrh Cure be sure you get the genuine, it is taken internally and made in Toledo, Ohio, by F. J. Cheney & Co.

Mathews as Richard III.

Walter S. Mathews was greeted by a good house Thursday evening, and his presentation of the difficult character of Richard was very creditable for an actor who had been on the stage less than two weeks. Mr. Mathews is but 26 years old and in figure is slight and in statue small. He is a decided blonde, in fact his hair very nearly approaches red and his eyes are light blue. The young actor has taken a thorough course of training, but it takes experience more than training to make the great tragedian. His acting shows undoubted talent and there is surely a bright future for him, after he has had experience and corrected minor defects which it is not necessary here to mention. His support is a strong one and the fencing in the last act between Richard and Richmond was very good indeed and the curtain fell in a storm of applause.

The Henderson Gleaner says: "Fifteen or twenty white and colored laborers emigrated to Southern California last fall a year ago, wild over the great demand for labor and the high prices paid therefor. With the collapse of the boom there was no demand for labor; hence the Henderson gang, or some of them, are out of funds and no means of getting any. One colored boy writes that he had worked his way to San Francisco and could find no work there, owing to the great number of Chinese seeking employment. He is in a desperate strait and appeals for aid."

Temperance Speaking.

Luther Benson will begin a series of lectures in this county, on Temperance, next week, as follows:

Hopkinsville, Tuesday night Feb. 5
Crofton, Wednesday night Feb. 6
Casky, Thursday night Feb. 7.
Fairview, Friday night Feb. 8
Vaughan's Chapel, Saturday night Feb. 9.
Pembroke, Sunday night Feb. 10
Speaking to begin at 7:30 p. m.

These will be Free Lectures, and all, especially the ladies, are invited to come out and hear him.

Mr. Benson is a lecturer of national fame and comes with the very highest recommendations.

DEATHS.

Infant child of Richard Smith died in this city Saturday night.

A Two-year-old child of Jno. T. East, near Kelly, died Saturday evening.

Erasmus Blaine, a brother of T. J. Blaine, of this city, died at Madisonville Thursday, of pneumonia, and was brought here Friday and buried at the Ricketts graveyard three miles from town.
