Hopkinsville Kentuckian.

CHAS. M. MEACHAM, ... Editor.

TUESDAY, AUGUST 27, 1889.

HOPKINSVILLE, KENTUCKY.

A live and growing city of 8,000 inhabitants, situated in a county of 49,000. The Louisville and Nashville has two lines of railroad in the county. The largest tobacco growing county in the world. Wheat, corn, hay coal, live stock and fruits produced for export in large quantities. The city has four banks with an aggregate capital of $459,000. A planing mill and wagon factory, three carriage factories, lime factory, tobacco manufactory, two foundries, three brickyards, broom factory, steam laundry, ice factory, two large flouring mills in the city and several in the county. Splendid driving par and fine opera house. Five turnpikes centering in Hopkinsville. Building and Loan Association, Commercial Club, a telephone exchange, numbered streets and houses and city lighted by gas. Macadamized streets and brick sidewalks all over the city. Eleven churches, two colleges, a high school and the finest system of public schools, white and colored, in the State. Western Kentucky Lunatic Asylum with a population of 650, two miles east of the city. A $100,000 court house with town clock in the dome. A fine fire department and a company of State Guards. Little River furnishes an adequate supply of water for all purposes Real estate low and rents cheap. Fine opening for woolen mill, pork packing establishment, fruit cannery, tanyard and many other enterprises.

Climate mild and invigorating and exceedingly healthful.

The President visited Indianapolis last week and presided at a re-union of the 17th Indiana Regiment.

It is said that Harrison will revoke the appointment of Fred Douglass as Minister to Hayti, and appoint a white man.

The Pulliam murder case at Brandenburg was expected to go to the jury yesterday evening and a hung jury was looked for.

The Democratic nominee for Governor of Virginia, Captain Phil. W. McKinney, is a first cousin of Uncle Mat McKinney, of Trigg county.

The death sentence of Mrs. Maybrick, who was to have been hanged in Liverpool yesterday, was commuted on Thursday to life imprisonment.

The meeting of the Knights of Pythias at Owensboro, in September is expected to be the most successful gathering in the history of the order in Kentucky.

Twelve woolen mills in New England and a big cotton mill in Connecticut have failed and shut down within the present month, throwing thousands of hands out of employment.

Frank Standiford, son of the late Dr. E. D. Standiford, who inherited $70 000 from his father's estate and was one of the richest young men in Louisville, died last week of typhoid fever, aged 27 years.

Four murderers were hanged in New York city Friday morning and a fifth was reprieved at the last moment. Why was this quartet not used to illustrate the workings of the new plan of "electrocution?"

The news from Hayti is that Hyppolyte, the rebel leader has captured Port-au-Prince and King Legitime has fled the country on a French vessel. The war is at an end and Hyppolyte will organize a new government.

There are four candidates for the Speakership of the next Legislature—Cox, of Warren; Myers, of Covington; Richardson, of Meade; and Settle, of Owen. Reed, of Marshall, another prospective candidate, was left at home by the late election. Cox is believed to be in the lead, though Meyers is making a very energetic canvass among the 85 Democrats of the next House.

Hon. James A. McKenzie has made formal announcement of his candidacy to succeed Mr. Blackburn in the Senate, and his friends in the pennyrile are rising in response like the warriors of Clan Alpine to the whistle of Rhoderic Dhu. The Standard does not object to this. It recognizes in Mr. McKenzie one of the most scholarly and brilliant men in American politics and a foeman worthy of any man's steel. It insists, however, that Marion has a better in the person of Proctor Knott.—Lebanon Standard and Times.

The Executive Committee of the K. P. A. met at Lexington Saturday and appointed delegates to the National Press Association, which meets at Detroit to day. Of course, the gentlemen named cannot attend on such short notice and the State will not be represented. The delegates appointed were: French Tipton, Chas. M. Meacham, Urey Woodson, Geo. S. Rosser and W. M. Hull. Alternates,—Geo. M. Dittoe, M. B. Bowden, A. A. Lewis, Jno. A. Wood, and D. J. Cromwell. An essay on "Legitimate Circulation" was assigned to Chas. M. Meacham.

In Harlan a week ago yesterday County Judge Lewis summoned a posse of ten men to arrest Wils. Howard, one of the principals in the Howard-Turner feud, who is wanted for murder in both Kentucky and Missouri. The Sheriff and jailer being cousins of Howard refused to perform their duty and hence the county judge undertook the arrest. He found Howard with thirty men armed and waiting for a fight and in the battle the attacking party was repulsed with three men killed. One on the other side was also killed, making four more lives to be charged up to this bloody feud. The time has come for Gov. Buckner to put a stop to this lawlessness in the mountain counties, if it takes the whole military power of the state to do it.

Relation of Candidates to The Press.

For the information of our amiable contemporary, the Owensboro Messenger, we will state that our "attitude" is not the defense of bribe-taking in general or the Elizabethtown case in particular, but we take the broad ground that candidates should be treated like other advertisers and charged for what they get. Of course, this does not apply to the party ticket supported by a paper for political reasons; but even in races between party nominees, independent papers who charge the candidates for advertising their claims are not necessarily corrupt and dishonest. It is no sacrifice of principle to charge a candidate by the line for "locals" that are inserted alongside similar matter for other advertisers. Now, for instance, in the very issue of the Owensboro Messenger before us there are no less than nine patent medicine locals in the editorial columns. Some of these sure cures for catarrh, consumption and other incurable diseases are editorially endorsed by the Messenger in the most unqualified terms, the advertisements being unmarked in any way to distinguish them from the editorial matter before and after them. Surely Brother Woodson has not entered into a corrupt bargain with the proprietors of Smith's Iron Bitters? And yet the Messenger has sold to them, to use his own language, "the expressions of its editorial columns." There is scarcely a paper in the land that does not constantly "run in" editorially such endorsements of patent medicines, one-horse circuses, snide shows, trashy literature and other humbugs, under advertising contracts. Then why should it be corrupt to apply the same rules to office-seekers and charge them card rates for "reading locals?" Ought a conscientious newspaper man, who wants to do business fairly and impartially with all men refuse to insert an advertisement for a candidate for a party nomination, when he is running similar advertisements for patent medicine men? Ought an editor to give his paper's support gratuitously to one man and work to compass the defeat of half a dozen others just as good? Would it not be better to charge all alike? As a rule, candidates are a thankless set and it is a fact that they "work" newspapers oftener than any other class with whom the publisher has to deal. A good many of them are even now circulating over the state getting puffed without even paying for an announcement.

About the Elizabethtown case we know nothing. Stovall may have sold his advertising space, or he may have accepted a bribe. If so the briber was the Democratic nominee for the Senate, Hon. D. L. May, who was elected. It is alleged that Stovall & Duncan agreed also not to vote and we admit the case against them looks bad. There may have been a corrupt bargain and if so both parties to it are equally guilty and should be dealt with alike.

THE CRAFT.

Col. W. H. Polk will help edit the Lexington Transcript

Arch Pool's new paper, the Gibraltar Herald, gets better with every issue.

Lee Elmore, of the Mayfield Democrat, aspires to the distinction of being a "doggerel" poet.

Vasco D. Brown has severed his connection with the Russellville Ledger.

Editor Colgan's Middlesborough paper, the "Cumberland Gap," comes to this office with a one cent stamp on it. Why this reckless waste of money?

It is rumored that a new Sunday paper will be started in Louisville under the editorial management of Mr. Dan E. O'Sullivan, late editor-in chief of the Commercial.

Bob Thomas' leg has had to be set twice already and the chances are that a third surgical operation will have to be performed, and there is danger that the broken limb may never become useful again.

Fred Irvine, a reporter on the Lexington Transcript, was assaulted by the whole staff of the Leader one day last week, as a result of some of his comments on the recent sending of an "infernal machine" to the Leader office, and forced to sign a paper acknowledging himself to be a liar. Irvine in turn had the Leader men arrested and "the plot still thickens."

The present executive committee of the K P. A. has turned out to be a careless and incompetent one. They failed until too late, although repeatedly reminded of their duty, to appoint delegates to the National Association at Detroit, which meets today, consequently Kentucky will not be represented. As the success of the Winchester meeting next year will depend almost entirely upon the efforts of the executive committee, it might not be a bad idea for the President of the association to reorganize the committee and appoint members who will do something.

BOOTH AND BARRETT.

Their Farewell and Joint Appearance.

The Fall Dramatic Festival, to be given in Louisville, week of September 23d 1889, will bring together Edwin Booth and Lawrence Barrett, for their farewell joint appearance. Daniel Quilp, appreciating the fact that Louisville was badly in need of an Auditorium, where great attractions could be presented to the public, has had erected a mmamoth building, which is called "The Amphitheater Auditorium." It is situated on the west side of Fourth Avenue, corner of Hill street. The building has a front of 120 feet on Fourth Avenue, and a depth of 180 feet from front to rear of stage. The seating capacity is between 3,500 and 4,000, seven private boxes on each side of the proscenium opening. The dedication of the building to the Drama by the world's two greatest actors is all that is necessary to make the opening an auspicous one. The engagement is for six nights and two matinees. The following repertory is officially announced correct: Monday Sept. 23d, "Merchant of Venice," Tuesday 24th, "Richelieu;" Wednesday 25th, matinee, "Fools Revenge and David Garrick"; Wednesday night, "Othello"; Thursday, 26th, "Macbeth;" Friday, 27th "Hamlet;" Saturday 28th, matinee "Much Ado About Nothing;" Saturday night, Julius Cæsar." This will surely please the lovers of fine Drama. Such a repertory has seldom been presented in a week's time. The programmes for the matinees have been especially arranged to please the ladies. Wednesday brings a double bill. Booth and Barrett will positively appear at each performance, the supporting Company number over one hundred and ten people, requiring a special train to bring them from New York. The staging of all the productions will be historically correct, the value alone of the costumes and scenery will be over $100,000. James B. Camp, business manager, will give any information to those desiring it. He can be addressed P. O. Box, 63, Louisville, Ky. He is anxious that all shall be pleased. His management of former big attractions has given him great reputation thoughout the country.

To Dispel Colds,

Headaches and Fevers, to cleanse the system effectually, yet gently, when costive or billious, or when the blood is impure or sluggish, to permanently cure habitual constipation, to awaken the kidneys and liver to a healthy activity, without irritating or weakening them, use Syrup of Figs.

Rev. L. L Thomas, an able young minister of Louisville, preached at the Baptist church Sunday morning and evening.

THE HABIT OF LYING.

Falsehoods That Are Really a Credit to Those Who Tell Them.

Have you ever noticed how general the habit of telling falsehoods is among your acquaintances and even with yourself? If not, just set apart one day to keep track of your own sayings and those of others, and if you can not say at the end of the day that this world is made up of people who habitually tell fibs and falsehoods then it can be safely inferred that you have not talked with any body and have been silent yourself, or else that you have grown forgetful and have not tallied correctly. Do not hold up your hands in holy horror at this statement, but read on and find out the use and abuse of untruths. Falsehoods, when used in the proper place, are not, as many suppose, things to be marked up against us in the records by which we shall eventually be judged, but on the contrary, according to my ideas, will entitle us to a bright sunny spot in the great Oklahoma of the future. What can be more noble than the words of the sick man who, although he feels that his malady is growing worse, in order to save is friends anxiety declares that he is getting better, and while pains rack his body declares that he is resting comfortably? What more generous than the words of the child which will give up its sweets to another and say that it does not care for them, while in reality its mouth is fairly "watering" for them? What can cause us to respect a young lady more than to hear her tell her parents, whom she knows are averse to her attending an opera or some other amusement, that she does not care to go, thus relieving the parental minds of the idea that possibly they have caused pain by expressing their wishes? Or who if more deserving of a kindness than the man who, in order to help a fellow-being, will devote valuable time to his assistance and then declare that the act did not inconvenience him in the least and that the time he spent in doing it was valueless? These are the kinds of falsehoods and fibs that are a credit to those who tell them. There are only two other kinds of untruths, and one of those, I think, is the kind which should cause us to pity, not to blame, the one who tells them. These are the malformations of truth which the genus "yarn spinner" gets off, which, although they may be "whoppers," never harm anybody, and you generally find that the man who gets off yarns of this sort is harmless and will not tell a falsehood in order to injure his neighbor. That which has ruined the reputations of fibs, falsehoods, untruths and yarns is the genuine "lie." By that word is meant that which is told by the scandal-monger, the sneak, and those who, although they may bear the appearance and reputation of honest people, have yet that on their tongues which is more dangerous than the venom of the viper. By all means encourage the production of the harmless but useful fib or white lie, and don't discourage the man who is fond of telling yarns, as he derives a pleasure from them himself, even if an outsider does not, and he never harms; but of all things avoid a vicious and deliberate liar.—Chicago Journal.

PAPER IS KING.

Facts that Show the Approach of a Paper Age.

We live in paper houses, wear paper clothing and sit on paper cushions on paper wheels. We do a paper business over a paper counter, buying paper goods, paying with paper money or charging them up in paper books, and deal in paper margins. We row races in paper boats for paper prizes. We go to paper theaters, where paper actors play to paper audiences.

As the age develops, the coming man will be more deeply immeshed in the paper net. He will wake in the morning and creep from under the paper clothing on his paper bed and put on his paper gown and paper slippers. He will walk over paper carpets, down paper stairs, read the paper news in the morning paper.

A paper bell will call him to his breakfast, cooked in a paper oven, served on paper dishes, laid on a paper cloth on a paper table. He will wipe his lips with a paper napkin, and having put on his paper shoes, paper hat and paper coat and taken his paper cane, he will walk on a paper, pavement or ride in a paper carriage to his paper office.

He will organize paper enterprises and make paper profits. He will go to Europe on paper steamships and navigate the air in paper balloons. He will smoke paper tobacco in a pipe, lighted with a paper match. He will write with a paper pencil, whittle paper sticks with a paper knife, go fishing with a paper rod, a paper hook, and put his fish in a paper basket. He will go shooting with a paper gun, loaded with paper cartridges, and defend his country with paper forts, with paper cannon and and paper bombs. Having lived his paper life and achieved a fame and a paper wealth, he will retire to paper leisure and die in paper peace. There will be a paper funeral, at which the mourners, dressed in paper crape, will wipe their eyes with paper hankerchiefs, and a paper preacher will preach a paper sermon in a paper pulpit from a paper text. He will lie in a paper coffin, wrapped in a paper shroud, his name will be engraved on paper plate, and a paper hearse adorned with paper plumes, will carry him to a paper-lined grave, over which will be raised a paper monument.

Scribner's Magazine for September contains the opening chapters of a new serial—an exciting and patriotic romance of colonial days by Harold Frederic, the London correspondent of the New York Times; the last regular article in the successful railway series of twelve papers, which, after through revision, are soon to be published in a handsome volume; another of the Fishing articles, this time describing the picturesque Nepigon region of Canada; an out-of-door paper by W. Hamilton Gibson, with the author's own illustrations; an end paper by the famous Irish leader, historian, and novelist, Justin McCarthy; and other striking papers on literary, educational, and military topics by eminent writers, with short stories and poems.

Best Cough Cure.

For all diseases of the Throat and Lungs, no remedy is so safe, speedy, and certain as Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. An indispensable family medicine.

"I have used Ayer's Cherry Pectoral for bronchitis and for which I believe it to be the greatest medicine in the world."—James Miller, Caraway, N. C.

Lung Diseases,

"My wife had a distressing cough, with pains in the side and breast. We tried various medicines, but none did her any good until I got a bottle of Ayer's Cherry Pectoral which has cured her. A neighbor, Mrs. Glenn, had the measles, and the cough was relieved by the use of Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. I have no hesitation in recommending this medicine."—Robert Horton, Foreman Headlight, Morrillton, Ark.

"Ayer's Cherry Pectoral cured me of a severe cold which had settled on my lungs. My wife says the Pectoral helps her more than any other medicine she ever used."—Enos Clark, Mt. Liberty, Kansas.
