WHEN A LIE IS EXCUSABLE.

What the Popular Opinion This Subject—Lots of Instances.

Henry Walton Francis, in the Pacific Monthly, says a lie is popularly considered justified on the following occasions:

When a woman asks you how old you think she is.

When a man asks you if you "have a ten to spare."

When the car conductor asks you if you have paid your fare.

When you are asked if you mailed a letter which was given you to mail.

When you are asked if you received a letter which contained a "dun."

When wifey asks you what time you arrived home—if she was not sitting up for you.

When you are asked if you have read a popular book you tried to and could not.

When an author asks you what you think of his work.

When an editor asks your opinion of his magazine.

When the family inquire what you have done with your money.

When you bet on the wrong horse.

When anyone asks when you are going to pay your indebtedness to him.

When a child asks questions you cannot answer.

When a girl asks if you ever loved another girl.

When you are asked the name of your tailor or dressmaker.

When you are asked where you spent your vacation.

When a girl asks you to take her to the theater and you are "broke."

When you go home with a pair of black eyes or otherwise disfigured.

When a woman asks you what you think of her daughter or her singing or playing.

When a woman wants to know if her baby is not a wonder.

When papa asks if you ever saw such a genius of a boy as his.

When the servant girl asks for a "character."

When you fail to reach home, but it is not because you missed the train.

When your best girl, whose hair is black, wants to know how a golden lock got on your coat shoulder.

When a girl asks you how she looks. Or if you think her photo does her justice.

When you are a party to a law suit.

When you are asked the amount of your salary.

When you are behind in your board money and the landlady asks if the steak isn't delicious.

When "the girl" wants to know where you were last night.

Most any time when the truth would be embarrassing and you are sure a lie will not be found out.

AMOS, THE MIGHTY HUNTER

Tells of "Old Man Scott" Who Fed His Dog "Orter" and Canine Was Made to Consume It.

"About the orter? Well, old man Scott was in the woods and he had killed an orter. Now there ain't nothin' 'll eat a mink, nor a black cat, nor an orter. I've left a carcase hangin' for a year and at the end of that time it was all there, except it was dried up some. A 'gorbie,' or a cow, or a chicken—nothin' 'll eat an orter. The old man killed an orter, and he give a piece to the dog; but the dog wouldn't eat it," says Amos, in Recreation.

"'Eat orter or starve!' said he, but the dog wouldn't touch it. Next meal he fed a piece to the dog; again the dog refused it. 'Eat orter or starve,' said he. Next meal he did the same thing. 'Eat orter or starve!' But the dog wouln't eat the orter. Every day he'd bring out a piece of the orter, and every day the dog would turn his head away. Well, it went on for six days. The dog couldn't stand it no longer, so he eat a piece, and he never give him a bite to eat till he'd eat all that orter!"

Wounds, Bruises and Burns.

By applying an antiseptic dressing to wounds, bruises, burns and like injuries before inflammation sets in, they may be healed without maturation and in about one-third the time required by the old treatment. This is the greatest discovery and triumph of modern surgery. Chamberlain's Pain Balm acts on this same principle. It is an antiseptic and when applied to such injuries, causes them to heal very quickly. It also allays the pain and soreness and prevents any danger of blood poisoning. Keep a bottle of Pain Balm in your home and it will save you time and money, not to mention the inconvenience and suffering such injuries entail. For sale by L. L. Elgin and Anderson & Fowler, the up to date druggists at Hopkinsville.

Many a man will wear wings who cannot tie an Ascot tie.

Nothing to Fear.

The question of injurious substance in medicines which has been agitating minds of many people, does not concern those who use Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. Mothers need have no hesitancy in continuing to give it to their little ones, as it contains absolutely nothing injurious. This remedy is not only perfectly safe to give small children, but is a medicine of great worth and merit. It has a world wide reputation for its cures of coughs, colds and croup and can always be relied upon. For sale by L. L. Elgin and Anderson & Fowler the up to date druggists at Hopkinsville.

Believe that a man is bad and he will not go back on you.

Caution!

Persons when traveling should exercise care in the use of drinking water. As a safeguard it is urged that every traveler secure a bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy, before leaving home, to be carried in the hand luggage. This may prevent distressing sickness and annoying delay. For sale by L. L. Elgin and Anderson & Fowler, the up to date druggists at Hopkinsville.

There is a lot of difference between foresight and fear.

"It was almost a miracle, Burdock Blood Bitters cured me of a terrible breaking out all over the body. I am very grateful." Miss Julia Filbridge, West Cornwell, Conn.
