MISCEL' ANEOUS.

THE W. C. T. U. COLUMN.

A Washington Letter.

Saturday, February 28 the Senate Committee granted the W C T U a hearing in favor of the Bill to prohibit the manufacture and sale of spirituous and intoxicating liquors in the District of Columbia Senator Platt, who had this Bill in the Senate, said: "I believe Congress ought to pass a prohibitory law for the District of Columbia. The universal sentiment of the people favors some kind of legislation against the sale of liquor The people of the District have no vote; therefore it seems to me prohibition is the only logical legislation that can be adopted. There is no local option possible where none can vote. * * * I think it can be enforced here"

Senator Ingalls, the chairman of the District Committee, inquired if any of the representatives of the organizations opposed to prohibition were present. Mr. Schade answering in the affirmative, Mr Ingalls decided that the opposition should have one half of the time.

Mrs. LaFetra remembered that the liquor dealers have every hour in the day, upon almost every street corner—that they are in every lobby of every Congress; and sighed over the fact that our National President, who came so far to plead for what every body knows to be right, could have only "half a chance."

Mrs. Bittenbender presented letters from the president of "Willow Springs Distilling Company," and from "Metz and Bro., Brewers and Maltsters," to show that high license does not lessen the amount of liquor sold, and is really a protection against prohibition. She read a part of Gov Martin's message to the legislature of Kansas to prove that prohibition is both a success and a blessing in that state. She quoted Senator Ingalls upon the "Economic Effects of the Saloon," as found in the February Chautauquan, and thanked the honorable Senator for such strong evidence in favor of prohibition. She quoted Governor Larrabee's grand words against the licensed saloon, and closed with these words: "The people of the District of Columbia desire to have the traffic outlawed here They do not want to experiment with high license."

Mrs Margaret A. Weaver, our local superintendent of legislation, "asked leave to print" her argument and give her time to Miss Willard

Hon. H B. Moulton gave statistics to prove the increase of crime in proportion to the increase of the liquor business, and presented letters from Judge MacArthur, Judge Snell and Judge Cox against saloons and pool rooms; also the following from Judge Crocker, the warden of the jail:

"The result of my observation and experience as warden of the jail in the District for the last seventeen years has been to convince my judgment that more men become depraved in their habits and morals, and are led to enter upon a career of crime by the evil influences connected with drinking saloons, pool rooms and other gambling places, than from all other causes."

Miss Willard seemed the very embodiment of home purity and love, as she said: "In this unaccustomed presence I doubt not there are loyal and devoted friends of the cause so dear to me; but the wistful, winsome faces that are in spirit looking in upon this scene—the gentle girls, the hallowed Madonna groups where child and mother exalt to heavenly heights the cause of home protection, the saints of God crowned with the glory of gray hairs, who pray for me to-day—all these make the cloud of witnesses that buoy me up, and bear me on while for their sakes I plead." Of her argument, strong with unanswerable facts, and eloquent with the womanly tenderness and yearning that only such great hearts ever know, I can give little conception in the space of this letter. She closed with the following plea. "In the name of boyhood bewildered and manhood betrayed; in the name of womanhood tortured and home violated and destroyed, I denounce high license as a high crime in these high places of the nation, and pronounce upon it the anathema maranatha of the American homes. It is the devil's counterfeit for the pure gold of prohibition. It blinds men to moral distinctions, sells them to the demon of expediency, and sets its grinding heel upon the pure face of righteousness and truth. It merits the malediction uttered by the gentlest lips that ever pronounced a curse. 'Woe unto them that call evil good, and good evil, that put darkness for light and light for darkness.' Honored brothers, I thank you for this kind and courteous hearing, in which I have not meant to utter one harsh word concerning those who represent the other side, but only to state the steadfast position and earnest belief of the nation's home people. May God bless every Senator with whom the solemn power of this august decision rests, and may each stand like a soldier on duty to guard the weak, the unrepresented, and the voiceless"

A Cure for Founder.

A correspondent writes: Take some old woolen blankets or rags—if woolen rags are not handy take straw—and wrap the legs tight up as high as you can conveniently, then take water hot enough to scald the hair off a well horse, pouring it around the horse's legs until they are well soaked; then in one hour serve the same way, except not hot, and the in two hours he will be as well as ever. This I know to be a sure cure, and there is no danger of injuring the animal as would be the case with turpentine. The horse is paralyzed; the limbs are cold and the hot water will start the perspiration. I have taken boiling water and applied it, and never injured a hair.

The Lessons of "Unser Fritz" Case.

The greatest doctors in Europe don't seem to know what ails "Unser Fritz"

Thus are the Garfield and Grant episodes repeated, and public confidence in "expert" medical knowledge is again shaken.

The effect is a revulsion.

Since the fatal days of 1883, many of the doctrines of the schoolmen concerning extensive medication have been abandoned, and all schools of practice are more and more relying upon old-fashioned simple root and herb preparations and careful nursing—the only reliances known to our ancestors

These methods and reliances are illustrated today in a series of old-fashioned roots and herb preparations recently given to the world by the well-known proprietors of Warner's safe cure—preparations made from formulæ possessed by many of our oldest families, and rescued for popular use, and issued under the happy designation of Warner's Log Cabin Remedies.

"My son" exclaimed a venerable woman to the writer when he was a boy, "my son, you'r yeller and pale and weak like loookin', you'r needin' a good shaking up with some sas'parill'."

A jug of spring sarsparilla was just as necessary in the "winter supplies" of fifty years ago as was a barrel of pork, and a famous medical authority says that the very general prevalence of the use of such a preparation as Log Cabin Sarsaparilla explains the rugged health of our ancestors.

While Warner's Log Cabin Sarsaparilla is an excellent remedy for all seasons of the year, it is particularly valuable in the spring, when the system is full of sluggish blood and requires a natural constitutional tonic and invigorator to resist colds and pneumonia, and the effects of a long winter. Philo M Parsons, clerk of the City Hotel of Hartford, Conn., was prostrated with a cold which, he says, "seemed to settle through my body. I neglected it and the result was my blood became impoverished and poisoned, indicated by inflamed eyes I was treated but my eyes grew worse. I was obliged to wear a shade over them. I feared that I would be obliged to give up work."

"Under the operation of Warner's Log Cabin Sarsaparilla and Liver Pills," he says, "The sore and inflamed eyes disappeared. My blood, I know, is in a healthier condition than it has been for years. I have a much better appetite. I shall take several more bottles for safety's sake. Warner's Log Cabin Sarsaparilla is a great blood purifier and I most heartily recommend it."

A few bottles of Warner's Log Cabin Sarsaparilla used in the family now will save many a week of sickness and many a dollar of bills Use no other. This is the oldest, most thoroughly tested, and the best, is put up in largest sarsaparilla bottle on the market, containing 120 doses There is no other preparation of similar name that can equal it. The name of its manufacturers is a guarantee of its superior worth.

While the great doctors wrangle over the technicalities of an advanced medical science that can not cure disease, such simple preparations yearly snatch millions from untimely graves.

Facts for the Farmer.--Dr. Loring Shows How a Protective Tariff is for their Benefit.

In his address to the New England Agricultural Society, Dr George B. Loring, of Salem, proved conclusively that American farmers got their boots and shoes, clothing and all agricultural tools cheaper than the same can be bought anywhere else in the world.

He then said that if the farmers of America raised a surplus and were forced to supply an over-stocked market they might disturb their minds with schemes of foreign trade But this is not the case. They enjoy the benefit of protection—twenty per cent. on live animals, one cent a pound on beef and pork, twenty per cent on mutton, twenty cents a bushel on wheat, ten cents a bushel on corn, rye, oats and barley, $2 a ton on hay, fifteen cents a pound on stems and $1 a pound on leaf tobacco, and are stimulated to every exertion to supply the market around them

And yet we imported during the year ending January 30th, 1877, $213 973 334 worth of food and live animals, two millions and a half of vegetables, two millions of dairy products, ninety thousand tons of hay, nearly eight millions of breadstuff, and nearly seventeen million pounds of wool from the lesser civilized lands. He even now meets this competition, and if he requires any change at all for his benefit it is in the way of an increase instead of a reduction of duties.

In concluding Dr. Loring said: "I can't occupy your time longer, and I submit to you in detail the points I have endeavored to lay down for your consideration."

First—The value of the farmer's land and crops is vastly increased by neighboring manufactures, diversified industry being the law.

Second—The home market is the farmer's reliance, both for his staples and his local crops

Third—A protective tariff develops the home market

Fourth—An unprotected industry cannot succeed in this or any other country.

Fifth—The reduction of the tariff below the point of protection has been fatal to the industries to which it has been applied

Sixth—The American producer can sell dearest and buy cheapest in the market of his country, and the foreign market is to him unimportant.

Seventh—A policy which depresses labor destroys the farmer's market

The address was greeted with hearty applause at the close, and a vote of thanks was unanimously adopted.

Whipping Horses Dangerous.

I would caution those who train or use horses, against exciting the ill-will of the animal. Many think they are doing finely, and are proud of their success in horse training by means of severe whipping, or otherwise arousing and stimulating the passions, and then, from necessity, crushing the will through which the resistance is prompted. No mistake can be greater than this, and there is nothing that so fully exhibits the ability, judgment and skill of the real horseman, as the care and tact displayed in winning, instead of repelling the action of the mind Although it may be necessary to use the whip sometimes, it should always be applied judiciously, and great care should be taken not to rouse the passions or excite the will to obstinacy.

The legitimate and proper use of a whip is calculated to operate upon the sense of fear almost entirely. The affections and better nature must be appealed to in training a horse, as well as in training a child. A reproof given may be intended for the good of the child, but, if only the passions are excited, the effect is depraving and injurious. This is a vital principle, and can be disregarded in the management of sensitive, courageous horses, only at the imminent risk of spoiling them. I have known many horses of naturally good character to be spoiled by whipping once; and one horse that was vicious by being struck with a whip once, while standing in its stall.

Sensitive horses should never be left after they have been excited by the whip or other means, until calmed down by rubbing or patting the head or neck, and giving apples, sugar or something of which the animal is fond. Remember the whip must be used with great care, or it is liable to do mischief and may cause irreparable injury.—Professor Manger.

—A single blast at Fair Haven, Vt, recently moved a block of slate weighing 400 tons and containing 100 000 feet of good material. It was 60 feet long, 40 feet wide and 20 feet thick.

—With more coal than either Pennsylvania or Great Britain, West Virginia produced in 1886 only about one-fifteenth as much as Pennsylvania and one-fortieth as much as Great Britain.

—In Northern Illinois, where the coal miners are organized, they make from $56 to $60 a month, while in the Southern end, where the men are unorganized, the most of them average but $1 a day.

—A noticeable feature of the modern transportation development of this country is a much more rapid increase in the number of freight cars than in the number of passenger cars.

—Springfield, Mo., has a bull dog that makes some pretensions in the way of being intelligent. When the fire burns low and the dog begins to get chilly he goes to the woodbox, seizes a stick of wood and places it on the coals.

—New Orleans (La.) contains the largest electric light plant in the world. The power is furnished by two engines, with a capacity of 1200 horse-power. There are 1500 arc lamps in use in that city operated by the plant.

—The four furnaces that are in course of erection at Emsley City, near Birmingham, Ala, are to produce 720 tons of pig-iron a day. Two thousand men will be employed This great establishment will cost nearly $1,000,000 for construction.

—In the three cities, Grasse, Cannes and Nice, in the south of France over 3,000,000 pounds of orange flowers are used annually to manufacture oil, pomades, etc, and used principally in perfumery The value of this enormous amount of flower is about $300,000

OH! MY HEAD.

The pain from Neuralgia and its companion disease Rheumatism is excruciating. Thousands who could be quickly cured are needlessly suffering. Ath-lo-pho-ros will do for others what it did for the following parties:

Williamsport, Ind., Oct. 2, 1887. Having been afflicted with neuralgia for the past four years, and trying almost everything, but in vain, I finally heard of Athlophoros. After taking one bottle I found it to be helping me, and after taking four bottles of Athlophoros and one of Pills, I found that I was entirely well. I think the medicine is positively a sure cure. GREATHOUSE B. REDDICK.

Mt. Carmel, Ill., Dec 26, 1887. I have used Athlophoros in my family and find it to be the greatest medicine for neuralgia in existence and having had its fangs fastened upon me for the past 30 years I know whereof I speak. MRS. JULIA CHILTON.
