VOTE for a Butler County man for State Senator.

VOTE early.

VOTE the Republican ticket next Tuesday.

PENNSYLVANIA will lead the way on the 3d of November.

FROM this time on it should be the duty of every Republican to do his part towards getting out each and every vote on election day.

"IT is wonderful how well Major McKinley holds up under the great stress to which he is now being subjected, and which he has undergone ever since he was nominated," said a gentleman this morning. Then he continued: "I was out to see him last week, and he was as bright and ruddy and his eye was as clear as if he had no strain on his mind at all. He is always ready to receive delegations and he always has something appropriate to say. I heard him make five speeches, and I noticed that while he always had something to say that was not touched on by the speaker for the delegation, yet he invariably took up the best points the speaker made and commented on them in a clear and intelligent manner. With it all he is as bright and cheerful as if it were a continual picnic for him. I heard him make his first four speeches, and when the delegation had departed we had a conversation of ten minutes. Suddenly he arose quickly and said: "Excuse me a moment, here comes another delegation," and in a few minutes he was shaking hands and listening to an orator from the East who was telling him what his State proposed to do for the Republican candidates in November. Then the Major responded felicitously, throwing in some sound money advice, talking protection, dwelling on the hard times, and winding up with some complimentary reference to the district represented by the delegation It was all over in a short time, there was cheering and music and then the delegation marched away. Enjoy it? McKinley enjoys every minute of it, and his gentle wife is all smiles. It is worth while taking the trip to Canton just to see the crowds and how they are received.

THE quietness of Mr. Bland is a matter of remark in the campaign. Perhaps Mr. Bland is too busily engaged in trying to get back into Congress to do anything for Bro. Bryan.

WHAT our farmers want is a market for their corn and wheat, and not a market for silver. Corn and wheat they have, but silver they are a little short on.

HANG out your flags on Saturday next National Chairman Mark Hanna has requested every citizen of this great country who believes in sound money and in maintaining the integrity of the nation and every man who has a vote to hang out the American flag next Saturday. We hope to see many flags displayed. Every citizen should hang out "Old Glory." Every man who believes in America; every man who opposes Anarchism; every man who believes in the nation's honor; every man who repudiates repudiation; every man who believes that this country is good enough to have a dollar worth one hundred cents; every man who opposes the cutting down of the savings bank dollar, the soldier's pension dollar, the building and loan association dollar, the dollar laid away for a rainy day, will hang out a flag. No matter how big or how little your flag is hang it out; fling it to the breeze and show your patriotism and love of country. Let every house in Butler be decorated with the American colors on nex Saturday.

McKinley's Nature.

Nothing illustrates better the noble nature and kindly impulses of William McKinley than the message which he sent to the destitute and starving coal miners of the Sandy Creek Valley two years ago in response to their appeal for assistance. No sooner had the destitution prevailing in that section of Ohio been called to the attention of the Governor than he sent this message to the representative of the miners:

"NO MAN WOMAN OR CHILD WITHIN THE STATE OF OHIO SHALL BE WITHOUT FOOD SHELTER AND CLOTHING WHILE I AM GOVERNOR."

That was all there was of it but it was enough. That message carried good cheer into hundreds of desolate homes. It was a promise of needed help, and the help followed. The work of relief was at once undertaken, and car loads of provisions and clothing were soon rolling into Sandy Creek Valley. Want and suffering were banished, and the unfortunate miners were tided over the deplorable situation in which they found themselves.

The people of the Sandy Creek Valley have not forgotten that message or the work which Governor McKinley did in their behalf, for the chairman of the delegation of miners which went to Canton called attention to the message in his speech in a most complimentary manner.

So long as we had an American protective tariff law on our statute book, the Republican party maintained the credit of the Government, promptly paid all our current expenses, and kept the gold reserve fund unimpaired.

One of the best meetings in the county was held at Mars Wednesday night. Two hundred men on horseback were in line, the town was beautifully decorated, and addresses were made by Col. Thompson and N. Black.

The meeting at Renfrew Wednesday night was a great success. A large crowd went down in a special from Butler with the Merchants Band. The address by Col. Higgins was very favorably spoken of.

The County Ticket.

Our present Republican county ticket, which may be seen at the head of our editorial column, is a good and worthy collection of men. They are well-known to the voters, and deserve the hearty support of every Republican. Of course, as is usual in political campaigns, attempts are being made to disparage some of them in various ways. But they are men whose lives and characters will bear close scrutiny and who deserve the full confidence and respect of every voter. It is unnecessary to go into details as to their lives. They are well known, and will make faithful, efficient and honest servants of the people. Vote for them.

A former resident of this county who has lived in North Dakota several years, and who is an experienced political observer, sends back the assurance that both North and South Dakota are as reliable McKinley States as is Pennsylvania. He believes that both those young Commonwealths will give good majorities for the Republican ticket, sound money and protection.

SOUND money and protection will win the day on the 3d of November.

IN REPLY TO MR. HEINER.

BUTLER, PA. OCT., 26th, 1896.

MR. EDITOR:—In reply to the letter of D. B. Heiner, chairman of the Armstrong County Republican Committee, to A. B. C. McFarland, Chairman of the Butler County Republican Committee, in which he claims Meredith's Nomination by precedent, is incorrect.

In 1888 the two principals agreed to have the two United State Senators decide the question as to which County's turn it was to have the next Senator. They appointed the present Lieutenant Governor, of Pennsylvania, Hon. Walter Lyon, who decided that it was Butler County's turn. In 1892 Butler County nominated James M. Carson, merely to to hand over the nomination to Armstrong County and Mr Meredith, because it was Armstrong County's turn, so decided by the highest political authority in the state.

In regard to the 1880 matter, Chairman Elkin, of the State Central Committee is entirely wrong. I know personally and was present when Senator Meredith instructed his conferees from Armstrong County to go into the room and into session with the Butler County conferees and the late Harry Byrum, then editor of the Pittsburg Chronicle Telegraph, and at which conference Hon John M. Greer our present President Judge, was nominated. I say positively there never was a precedent for the outrageous act of Mr. Rex at the conference at the Park Hotel in Butler, Sept. 26th, 1896. That all compromises have been made by the wish and consent of the principals, and that when the chairman of the State Central Committee and the Chairman of the Armstrong County Committee and Jere B. Rex claim that there are precedents for the action taken at Butler, they show that they are not well posted on Pennsylvania political history.

W. H. RITTER.

The Heiner letter is cunningly contrived and is about as smart as the Rex voting business of our smart Kittanning neighbors, in fact it is on a par with the Rex work which the court at Harrisburg threw out. Whether our chairman will take any notice of it we do not know We presume not. But the statements it contains are so wide of the truth that they should be corected.

First it states that "W. B. Meredith is the Republican nominee of the district and by precedent the only Republican candidate in the district." Now what are the facts? They are that Mr. Ritter is as much a candidate as Mr. Meredith has the same kind of a nomination paper and unless there is some superior power or virtue in the Republicans of Armstrong county, then the two candidates stand exactly alike before the voters of the two counties.

But "precedent" is claimed, and the contest of 1880 between Judge Greer and Mr. Meredith for the then Senate nomination is referred to. This we think is unfortunate for Mr. Meredith, because in that contest he gave his consent to the action of the State Committee which appointed an umpire to decide between them. And Mr. Meredith appeared before that umpire at Pittsburg with his conferees and consented to the proceeding before the umpire decided. Now Mr Ritter in his contest with Mr. Meredith has given no consent to any such outside reference, but repudiated the coming and action of Rex and all other action or movements that would lessen the right of his county, or deprive the Republicans of Butler county of the present candidate for Senate, which they ought to have. He stands upon the rights of the Republicans of Butler county and will get their votes to a larger extent than Mr. Meredith can get in Armstrong county.

Mr. Meredith has been our Senator for eight years and what has he done for our county?

A REPUBLICAN

The Senatorial Muddle.

The Butler Eagle, an organ pretending to be the mouth-piece of the republican party in this county surprised some of its friends by seeming to endorse, in a recent editorial, the Armstrong county candidate for senator from this district. Just why any Republican or paper should become so disloyal as to go back on our own candidate, whom the party nominated by a good majority in Butler Co., we can't understand unless there is the proverbial "ax to grind," or a mandate from someone higher in authority to obey. Mr. Ritter should have the loyal support of every Republican in this district and of this county. Mr. Meredeth deserves no support from this county, and certainly not from this city, the citizens of which have had to use filthy water for the past two or three years from a plant managed by himself and run for revenue only.

We are for Ritter till the polls close on Nov ember 3d. BUTLER REPUBLICANS.

THERE is something new for the voter in the election law this year. He will find near the head of his ballot a black square. If he wants to vote for the electors in a group he can do so by making a mark in that large square, opposite and to the right of the names of McKinley and Hobart. If the voter desires to vote for any other candidate under the Republican column he must make a cross in the square opposite and to the right of the name of each candidate for whom he desires to vote. The better way is to vote entire Republican ticket by putting a cross in the circle at the top of the first column on the ballot.

A combination is being formed to regulate the production and price of shoes, and a rise in the price of footwear may be shortly looked for.

Li Hung Chang arrived at his home, Pekin, China, a few days ago, and will shortly present a report of his visit to the United States to the Emperor.

The report of the Third Assistant Postmaster General shows two gratifying facts. There was an increase of 7 per cent. in the amount of receipts, and a reduction in the annual deficiency as compared with the previous year of $1,679,956. These results have been attained without impairment of the service, which has been better than ever before. It is evident that this branch of the public business has been most efficiently and economically administered.

The Insult to Carlisle.

Secretary Carlisle in speaking of the egging incident in Covington, showed that he regarded it as more than an accidental occurrence. In his opinion, it was an organized mob. Said he: "I did not know during my speech that any such thing had been done. Of course, I saw the disorder in the hall. It came from a line of men who had gathered in the rear of the hall. The body of the house was decent and well behaved. Indeed many ladies were present. I had heard also the noise on the street, but did not know what it was though my friends seemed to be advised of it. They kept detaining me in various ways after my speech was concluded until, at last, I asked why we did not go. Then they told me that a crowd was gathered outside the hall, and they were waiting till it should disperse. When I heard that I said I was going, and we started. When I got to the door I saw the crowd there. They had been waiting purposely there all the time. There was a rush, and it was with great difficulty that we got out of the building and along the streets. They followed us until within a square of Mr. Helm's house, when the police formed a line across the street and stopped further progress.

"The gathering outside the hall, the following of those two or three hundred men for several squares through the street, was not a mere accident: It was an organized affair".

To a wish expressed that better treatment awaited him at the speeches he is yet to make, he replied: "It makes little difference to me. It is an illustration of what may be expected everywhere if the principles of the Chicago platform prevail. Personal indignity, and even personal violence will hurt those who attempt it more than it can harm me."

Secretary Carlisle found himself the center of widespread attention next day at Covington in consequence of the indignity offered him. The first indications came in sympathetic calls from friends and neighbors. Later messages began to arrive, showing that similar feeling existed in other portions of the state. At length, so great became the crash, Mr. Carlisle was obliged to deny himself to all callers. The Cincinnati chamber of commerce, regardless of political partisanship, called a special meeting and appointed a committee to give Mr. Carlisle an invitation to visit the chamber of commerce before he returns to Washington. A delegation of gold Democrats from Walnut Hills extended a similar invitation. To all requests for speeches Mr. Carlisle was obliged to give a refusal, as the five addresses he had promised in Kentucky would occupy all the time he could spare from his public duties.

THE regular Repub lican ticket contains no name for Senator, therefore you have a right to vote for a candidate for that office on one of the other tickets, by placing an X opposite the name.

THE advent of the twentieth century is to be celebrated by a census of the world an undertaking that would have been deemed impossible even a quarter of a century ago. But within the past few years the spread of civilization has been so rapid, and the intercourse between the various nations has been so largely increased, that it is believed the project can now for the first time, be attempted. The present population of the earth is placed by Professors Behm and Wagner of Gottingen at 1,7000,000,000, but they freely acknowledge that many of their co'umns are filled with guess work.

It is reported from Constantinople that 2,000 Armenians were butchered at Egin and 1,000 houses burned.

J. Park Hays has arranged for the sale of 50 bu. of apples, in Pittsburg, as long as his crop lasts.

The Butler—Armstrong Senatorial contest is very puzzling to some of our Republicans, and things may "burst" on election day.

We believe the institute in the fall is best of all, no over-wraps, no over-shoes, no cold harsh winds, and, if the teachers receive good there, they can use it throughout the term.

George Warren will soon go to Smith's Ferry to take charge of a set of tools for Gen Hartley.

Rev Eakin is moving to his new house and will now be at home to his friends.

T. W. Henshaw was away on a business trip this week looking some oil production.

Alex Stewart, C. M. Edmundson and Os. Shanor are Republican watchers on election day.

WHEN you get your big ballot on election day take it into the booth and mark a cross in the circle at the top of the first column. Then you will have voted the straight Republican ticket, and their can be no mistake in the counting of your vote. There are twelve columns on the ballot, and as the Republican column contains no name State Senator you have a right to x a name for that office in another column.

An old friend in W. Va writes us as follows

"I am a Pennsylvanian, but have been in the W. Va oil fields for the past three years, and feel quite an interest in the state in regard to the present political campaign. In reading some of the papers I see that they have W. Va. booked for Mr. Bryan; I think they will be terribly fooled as we not only intend to give the state to McKinley and Hobart, but will elect a Republican Governor. W. Va. will be another Maine or Vermont. Yours

A 500-pound clock weight crashed through three floors of St. Hedwig's Roman Catholic Church, in Milwaukee, on Sunday afternoon. The church was crowded at the time and a panic ensued, but no one was injured. Archbishop Katzer was administering the sacrament of confirmation at the time.

A noted Chicago burglar, who in his time has opened more than 70 safes, now claims that he can cut through a safe in less than two hours by the aid of electricity, and not make any noise, either. He declares that he is going to prove his claims after he has ended his visit at the Joliet Penitentiary.

The Indiana in a Gale of Wind.

On her trip from Hampton Roads to New York Harbor, the Indiana passed through the heavy gale which recently swept along the Atlantic Seaboard. It was a trying experience for both ship and crew, and the accident which happened showed in a very dramatic way what enormous strain these ships are subject to by the ponderous guns and armor with which they are loaded down. A battleship riding quietly at anchor in a sheltered bay and a battleship rolling 36 degrees in a gale of wind are two very different things, it is in the wrenching and pounding of heavy weather that the strength of structure is tested and any weak spots are developed. The accident which happened to the Indiana has frequently occured in other navies of the world, and indeed, had it not been for the shortness of the time, stronger clamps would have been fitted to the Indiana before she started out on this last cruise.

The story of that night's struggle with the runaway guns and turrets is a thrilling one as told by Captain Evans, and we give a few extracts below:

We tied the two forward turrets together by binding the guns each to the other and fastening the hawsers to the bit, and managed the aft one the same way. It was a hard job. About 2 o'clock the next morning the forward ones snapped their hawsers and got loose again. The storm was then very severe, and the ship was rolling at an angle of 36 degrees. The deck was flooded with water, and this, with the pitching of the ship, made working on deck very dangerous. It was black as ink, and we could not see how to get in order to head to sea. We could only guess.

"To make matters worse, the forward 13 inch gun turret got loose, and those enormous guns began thrashing about in full command of the deck. The 13 inch guns knocked great dents in the scupper pipe broke stanchions and threatened to tear away the entire superstructure.

It was very dangerous to work in that storm. I was afraid of losing two or three dozen men, and if I had not had the best crew in the world I don't know how we would have come out. We fastened a 5 inch hawser on the 13 inch gun and it snapped like a cotton string.

"We finally caught the big guns with an 8 inch hawser and tied them securely to the superstructure. It was an awful job, though, and we were in danger of being washed overboard every minute. And during the work the deck was completely flooded."

THE total vote for President in 1892 was 12,150,274. This year the aggregate will be about 13,000,000. The Populists have never yet cast 1,500,000 votes at any election, but Bryan thinks he can talk 6,000,000 more voters into adopting Popocratic principles. It is the biggest contract ever undertaken by the boy orator, and he will never succe ed.

IF the producer of raw silver can force this Government to manufactnre his product into money, why would it not be just as consistent for the farmer, who produces raw wool, to force the Government to establish mills throughout the United States and manufacture, free of cost, his product of wool into cloth, at 16 pounds to one bolt. That would give employment to some and cheap cloth to all the masses.

The Plankroad Bridge.

EDITOR CITIZEN:—The accident at the Plankroad bridge, South end of Main street, on Saturday night last, should call for immediate attention to that dangerous place. One man has been nearly killed and more accidents there may be looked for at any day. Another railroad is being constructed not only near but over or on grade with the bridge floor. This will make that bridge still more dangerous than it has been It is entirely too narrow for the travel and trade going over it and should be widened to at least double what it is.

That approach where Mr. Morrison went over could be called little less than a death trap. Some party will likely have to pay for this accident. Who is liable? Some say the Plankroad company and some say the Borough of Butler. The object of this is to call the attention of our Town Council to the matter. Danger lurks there and it is time to know who are responsible for the damages that must come. Sidewalks are needed as well as a widening of the bridge. More than a year ago a petition signed by citizens was laid before the Council as to the danger of this bridge and the necessity for sidewalks. Nothing has been done. Action must now be taken by the Company or party liable for possible loss of life. And it should be taken immediately.
