The State Convention.

This is convention day in Harrisburg and ever since Sunday there has been a "pulling and a hauling" there. On Saturday last David Martin, of Philadelphia, announced himself for John Wanamaker, and the Quay men of that town announced for W. A. Stone.

By Monday all the different candidates for all the nominations had opened headquarters at one or the other of the big hotels, and had friends there to talk for them. By Tuesday all the candidates for Governor were in the town, and were holding conferences with their friends. Two Butler men, Messrs. Black and Moore, were in town, and were put in the C. W. Stone camp.

Penrose was said to be slated for Temporary Chairman of the Convention, and Alex McDowell for Permanent Chairman. W. A. Stone's friends were claiming 207 delegates

David Martin said he expected long sessions in the State convention. He proposed fighting the unseating of his delegates from the Third, Fourth and Twenty-fourth wards of Philadelphia, both in the State committee and on the floor of the convention. It was rumored that John Wanamaber would take a substitute as delegate from Philadelphia and go into the convention to help Martin in his fight. According to report, the Quay people would put no indorsement of Gov. Hastings in the platform.

The Wanamaker people charged that Senator Quay was insincere in his advocacy of Gen. Gregg as a possible compromise candidate, inasmuch as he had told Gus High, who controls the seven Berks county delegates, that he must hold them away from Gregg, or he will not get the Reading postmastership, for which High is a candidate. They say that if High took his delegation over to Gregg it would at once break the back of the W. A. Stone movement, and end his fight.

"To sum it all up," said one of Wanamaker's lientenants. "Senator Quay has surrendered to Andrews, W. A. Stone is to be forced upon the people and Quay is simply trying to get under cover and make the voters believe he is not responsible for the result."

The convention will consist of 369 delegates, making 185 votes necessary to nominate.

Yesterday W. A. Stone's friends were claiming 157 votes on first and 206 on second ballot, the C. W. Stone and Wanamaker headquarters were crowded all day. Some of the Lancaster county and two of the Beaver county delegates were wearing C. W. Stone badges; Quay was warned by a number of men of the danger of nominating W. A. Stone and talked about keeping his hands off, which meant nothing; Andrews was not in town and was said to have been told to stay away; twenty-five delegates from Allegheny county agreed to stand by Wanamaker; the State Com. unseated one Wanamaker delegate from Centre county.

WAR RECORD

Late Sunday night the Navy department at Washington received word from Commodore Schley that the Spanish fleet was yet in the harbor of Santiago, and that he was keeping the place closely blockaded.

The war department sent orders to Gen. Shafter to embark the greater part of the troops at Tampa upon the transports.

On Monday the British steamer "Restormel" arrived at Key West, in charge of a prize crew from the St. Paul, which had captured her. She had a cargo of coal from Cardiff, and was trying to evade the blockading squadron at Santiago.

Troops were being embarked at Tampa.

At Manila the natives were getting ready to attack the Spaniards in the city.

On Tuesday Admiral Sampson's ships bombarded the forts at the entrance to Santiago harbor.

Yesterday our squadron was in front of Santiago harbor, the insurgents were gathering on the hills surrounding the harbor, and it looked as though something was going to happen.

Cooperstown.

MAY 30, 1898.

The people of Cooperstown and vicinity rasied an 80 foot flag pole in front of the parsonage on Saturday last. A fine specimen of Old Glory 12x20 feet now floats from its top. The pole also bears a streamer with the words "Remember the Maine." A large and entusiastic crowd was present. Patriotic speeches were made by Alex. Russell, Lev McQuistion and Wm. Findley, of Butler. The Germania Band of Butler rendered patriotic airs and added greatly to the enjoyment of the occasion. Another flag raising will take place at Glade Mills sometime this week.

Two of our young men will tackle the Odd Fellows goat at Saxonburg tonight.

An old soldier by the name of Coxey, who lives at Thos. Lyon's near Glade Mills, was terribly gored by a vicious bull belonging to Mr. Lyon on Monday. He had three ribs broken and received two fractures of the right arm, one of the broken ribs puncured his right lung. His recovery is extremely doubtful. Mr. Coxey is a member of a G. A. R. Post of Butler.

Geo. Shoup, of Glade Mills, is the happy farther of a fine boy ba. baby which arrived on Friday.

Supervisor Truver is doing excellent work on the roads in this township. He is the right man for that business.

Miss Millie Buxton is entertaining some of her young ladies friends from the city.

Hen Blakely has named his new baby Dewey Sampson. He should grow up to be a hummer.

Miss Nora List, of the East End, Pittsburg, is spending a vacation with her mother near Cooperstown. Miss Mary Miller, of Allegheny City, is also a vistor at Mrs. List's.

Born to Mr. and Mrs. H. Davis of the Cowan farm on Wednesday a boy. Mother and child doing well.

W. J. Marks, of Butler, accompanied the Butler delegation to the flag raising on Saturday.

The town is gaily decorated with flags and bunting in honor of Decoration day.

Dr. Elder Crawford, of Hendersonville, was in attendance at the pole raising on Saturday. The doctor leaves for Harrisburg tonight to attend to his duties as delegate to the State Convention. Dr. F. H. Crawford, of Cooperstown, will look after his father's practice until he returns.

The speakers partook of a sumptuous supper at the Snyder house after their exhausting efforts.

OUR BOYS IN CAMP.

Co. E, 15th Regiment, Camp Hastings.

CHAUTAUQUA P. O., LEBANON CO., PA.
SUNDAY, MAY 29, 1898.

This is the brighest Sunday we have had since coming to Mt. Gretna, it seems more like Sunday than any of its predecessors. Everyone is taking a rest, no setting up exercises this morning and no drill, only general review this evening. Even the cooks are taking a rest, coffee being the only thing prepared today. We are eating the contents of the barrels and boxes which our kind friends in Butler sent and which arrived Saturday. We are not going in on "a feast or a famine" procedure, but intend to make the good things last as long as possible. Butler county butter and the many kinds of delicious homemade preserves are indeed welcome improvements to dry bread or hardtack.

Among the contributors to our store or goodthings were Wm. Walker and wife, R. P. Scott, W. C. Thompson, Miss Black, Mrs. W. D. Brandon, J. B. Mechling, C. N. Boyd, J. S. Wick, Alf. Wick, N. B. Jacobs, J. N. Stewart, J. N. Hyle, Wm. Colbert, Adam Kamerer, C. G. Christy, W. Albert, C. A. Hite, Wm. Kirkpatrick, L. S. McJunkin, Andrew Brymer, Phil. Heines, G. C. Stewart, J. R. Lindsey, R. C. McAboy, S. D. Miller, Wm. McClung, Thos. Bester, H. D. Byerly, J. N. Moore, J. O. Martin, G. Wilson Miller, Col. Thompson, Rev. Limburg, and W. H. Goehring, the old veteran. There were many other packages which were not marked with the names of the donors, but all contributors known and unknown to Co. E, have the sincere thanks of the whole company. By the time this is published resolutions formally expressing our thanks to the givers and appreciation of the gifts will without doubt be unanimously adopted.

Thursday last Cos. E and G, or the greater portions of them, were on provost guard. Capt. McJunkin was provost officer for the day. At night the guards at the quartermaster's department and storage cars and the Chautauqua grounds were given loaded cartridges and those at the little building known as Chautauqua Postoffice were armed with loaded revolvers also. However neither roaming beast nor marauding man required their use.

On Friday Jack Thompson returned from Butler with bills and bats, and many stories of his trip. He also had a box of homemade candy which he distributed. He seemed a little confused about the candy, sometimes he would say it was from his girl and sometimes from the '98 girls of High School. Are all the '98 girls his girls? To our baseball armament we have added gloves, mask, and more bats. We have had two battles with Co. G and worsted the enemy badly in both. G is not in our class when it comes to baseball. Poney Moore, McFann, McCandless, Graham, Smith, Buckbaiter, McIntyre, Thompson, Allshouse, Livingstone, Will Faber, Armstrong, Sam Scott and your scribe compose E's team. Roessing and Adams are our star umpires. A game will be played with the Cavalry. Description of. Of course we all feel disapointed that Memorial Day is at hand and none of Co. E can boast that his grave is to be decorated.

Saturday Capt. McJunkin received a check from the State for $1346.88, Co. E's pay. We are glad to say that nearly two thirds of this amount goes by check direct to Butler, so if our friends at home do send us small mountains of good things, we can send them a little cold cash in return. One thing we thought hardly fair although Adjutant Gen. Stewart sent an explanatory letter, we signed the payroll for fifteen days and were paid for only thirteen.

At guardmount this morning out of Co. E's detail of six men, Roessing and Ritter were selected as orderlies and McKee as color guard, which speaks volumes for the soldierly appearance of our boys. There were about forty in the guard to select from. Gen. Miles is now a member of Co. E. He is a Scotch terrier, full of fight, and has whipped Dewey of G and Sampson of D. Little Will Sutton led him about by a string Memorial Day.

Several members of Co. E who are sons of veterans of the Rebellion are at Lebanon today taking part in Memorial services there. This moruing three companies of the 15th, (E was not one of them) made a raid through the woods on the mountain northwest of us to capture some speakeasies which were alleged to be operating there. About three hours later they returned very tired and without any captives.

This afternoon we burned all the brush and rubbish that had accumulated between camp and the railroad. This was necessary as a sanitary precaution and adds greatly to the appearance of the place. Capt. McJunkin is regimental officer of the day and he sees that the camp is policed properly.

At guardmount this morning Fred Shetter was selected as orderly.

Clem Hutchinson of Butler is with Co. H of the 18th, and Claude Ziegler of the South Side is with Co. C of the 18th. Hal. T. Plante who was with Co. E last year is now in G of the 14th. Will Heirron, who has relatives in Butler, is in the 10th Regmt. now on its way to the Philippines. Harry Morrison who went out with Co. E enlisted with Co. D of Clarion.

Rev. Worrel of the Second Presbyterian church is visiting us this afternoon.

At this writing the ballgame between E and the Cavalry is in progress, the score tied, 4 to 4 in the sixth inning. Joe Heineman's coaching is the feature. We are badly handicapped by the absence of McFann, Smith and Scott.

TUESDAY—The ball game last evening was won by Co. E, 11 to 10. When the Troop boys went to bat in the ninth inning the score was 11 to 4 against them. By hard hitting they made six runs and had a man on second when the last man struck out.

We continued our Memorial Day celebration of burning brush, etc., this morning and our camp is now a model of cleanliness.

Rev. Worrel spoke in the Y. M. C. A. tent last evening and will make another address this evening to all in general and Co. E in particular.

Last Sunday Chaplains Long of the 18th, Burnet of the 14th, and Hays held Memorial services in the big pavilion in the Chautauqua grounds. The boys are making good use of the hymn books, and literature presented by Prof. Mackey. A very pretty little volume entitled "Daily Food" was presented to each member of Co. E by the W. C. T. U. and Protected Home Circle of Butler. The book contains two verses from the Bible and one from a hymn for each day in the year.

Capt. H. H. Cummings, of Tideoute, Pa., came over from Harrisburg this morning to see his son Charles. He is attending the Republican State Convention. We expect other Republican visitors during the next few days. Shortly after dinner, Newton Black, one of Butler county's State delegates, found his way into Co. E's street. Later in the afternoon Mrs. A. T. Scott, the Lieutenant's wife, arrived.

We have just come in from our monthly-pay muster-in, something new to us all, officers and men. On the last day of each month each regiment will be paraded and inspected by its commanding officers, after which each man will sign the payroll. We may not be paid for a long time yet.

This afternoon the boys are wondering whether we will receive twenty-five or more new recruits again under the new call and whether six men will occupy one tent then.

POLITICAL.

REPUBLICAN Congressional Conference at Mercer next Tuesday.

Somerset county elected anti-Quay delegates and nominated anti-Quay members of the legislature last Saturday; and Kooser defeated Hicks for congress by a large majority.

Last year the Kooser crowd beat the Scull crowd, but were themselves turned down by the State Committee.

The Purvis Mill Flag.

Last Saturday evening, amid cheers and the booming of the cannon, the employees of S. G. Purvis & Co. raised a 14 x 20 foot flag.

The flag was purchased by the employees, and every man and boy working in the mill was represented in that flag, every one having contributed.

The address of the occasion was made by Jas. M Galbreath Esq.

The employees of this firm are represented in the volunteer army by three of their members, Ira Murphy, Elmer Coon and Jas. Smith. There was a large audience which applauded the speakers frequently.

One remark of Mr. Galbreath's we wish to repeat. "There has nothing happened since the rebellion which has so united the north and south as this war with Spain, and that alone will be worth the entire cost of the war."

There were no Spaniards about and it was a good thing for the Spaniard that he was somewhere else.

Orange Blossoms.

A quiet, but very pleasant wedding occured Wednesday afternoon at 4 o'clock, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. James Wallace, on Main street, which united in the holy bonds of matrimony Mr. Waliace's eldest daughter, Miss Jennie, and Dr. William Rush Cowden, of Renfrew. The contracting parties are well known, popular young people. Miss Wallace is a graceful girl of the blonde type, and has recognized as one of Zelienople's leading society ladies. She is a member of the Presbyterian church and an earnest worker in the C. E., a faithful Sunday school teacher and for years an ardent member of the church choir.

Dr. Cowden is a young physician of a genial disposition, who needs no recommendation, as he practiced here for over a year, and just recently located at Renfrew, having succeeded Dr. McClymonds, who went to the E. E., Pittsburg.

The ceremony was performed by Rev. Paul J. Slonaker, the bride's pastor, and was witnessed by the family: Dr. John V. Cowden and Miss Nellie Cowden, of Middle Lancaster, brother and sister of the groom, Mrs. Slonaker, Miss Grace McKinney and Miss Blanche Zeigler. After partaking of a sumptuous wedding dinner, the happy couple left on the 7 o'clock train for their future home in Renfrew, which was duly furnished and prepared to receive them. The bride was the recepient of some very beautiful and valuable presents.

The Wallace home will not alone miss Jennie, her absence will be felt in the C. E. church and Sabbath school, especially her large class of little girls, and no less by a host of friends, all of whom join The News in wishing the happy couple a continuation of their present happiness through life—News.

DEATHS.

FISHER—At her home in Worth twp. May 30, 1898, Miss Maude Fisher, daughter of Isaac Fisher, aged 15 years.

GRAHAM—At Canton, O. May 29, 1898, Charles C., only son of Hugh C. Graham, of Oil City, aged 38 years.

Mr. Graham was a traveling man and was taken ill of pneumonia at Canton, a few days before his death. He was a son-in-law of W. R. Colbert of Butler.

HENDRICKSON—On May 17, 1898, Viola Marie, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. David Hendrickson of Cranberry twp., aged 9 months and 14 days.

Such a little break in the sod—
So tiny to be a grave;
Oh! how can I render so soon to God
The beautiful gift he gave.

Must I put you away my pet,
My tender bud unblown;
With the dew of the morning upon you yet,
And your blossom all unshown.

My heart is near to break
For the voice I shall not hear—
For the clinging arms around my neck,
And the footsteps drawing near.

Never mind the noisy household.
Nor loud foot-falls on the stair,
Twill not wake the peaceful sleeper,
There's no baby anywhere.

In a casket white as snow flakes,
Nestling all among the flowers,
Is the pure and spotless lily
That a little while was ours.

"A swelling as big as a large marble came under my tongue. Physicians said it was a semi-transparent tumor and must be operated upon. I felt I could not stand it, and as spring came began to take my favorite spring tonic, Hood's Sarsaparilla. The bunch gradually decreased and finally disappeared. I have had no sign of its return. HO! NEIGHBOR!!

What's the matter with that old buggy of yours? It looks all broken. You will go down one of these days, and then your horse run away, and your friends will be blaming providence. Don't do that. Go to Martincourt & Co' Get a new set of wheels and shafts for it, or trade it for a new buggy. Buggies are too cheap now to risk your neck riding in an old rickety thing like that one of yours. And there's your harness, we hadn't noticed them. Several places in them need repairing. Take them along too and get them repaired or buy a new set. We can accommodate you in either. We make and repair all kinds of harness, no difference what you want belonging to a driving or team outfit, come here. Yours respectfully, Extract from Wanamaker's Last Speech.

This may be my last political speech before the Republican state convention, which will be held at Harrisburg on June 2. The campaign, though filled with arduous labors, has grown more interesting and attractive to me every day. The explorations of the labyrinths of machine secrets and iniquities have fascinated me. I close the speechmaking for the present with but one regret, viz.: that the time has been too short to discuss one-half of the abuses I have discovered and the damaging facts I have gathered. I promise you I have been saving the choicest morsels for dessert, but there have been so many courses that it cannot be reached before convention time. The meal may be only temporarily interrupted, and perhaps we may be compelled to finish it later. It has been said that Wanamaker is a very poor politician, and I believe the statement is entirely correct. I became a candidate against the advice of my political friends at a time when I could not count upon the vote of a single delegate in the state.

TRUTH TELLING RISKS.

When I told the people, and told them honestly, that I did not want to be governor, my political friends said I had made an awful blunder. When I made speeches in counties that I knew would elect delegates against me my political friends said my course was well nigh suicidal. When I criticized laws that unjustly discriminated against the weak and in favor of the powerful my political friends said it was poor policy.

When I said that the great corporations of the state were usurping others' rights and robbing the people my political friends said that brewers would expend millions to defeat me.

When I said that the great news channels of the state were under the Quay censorship my political friends said the newspapers would no longer print my speeches.

When I refused to entertain any suggestion of compromise, and declared I would be bound by no deals, my political friends predicted that I would find myself standing very much alone before the end of the canvass.

When I struck at every ugly head that I found exposed, without fear or favor, my political friends said that politicians would become afraid to trust me, and would not dare to give me their support. When I showed that under Republican Quay rule the people were paying over one-third too much taxes, and that an ordinary economical administration would save the taxpayers $1,500,000 annually, my political friends said the my enemies would make the Republican voters believe I was trying to wreck the Republican party. My policy has been at almost constant variance with my political friends. According, therefore, to modern political science and methods, I must have made an awful mess of this campaign.

TO FREE PENNSYLVANIA.

But if I have made mistakes that will cost me the votes of delegates it is all right. The election of delegates for me has been secondary to the real purpose of my campaign. I can truthfully say that I cannot tell within 25 of how many delegates will vote for me in convention. I accepted the commission from the hands of the Bourse meeting, and that commission did not command me to advance the political fortunes of Wanamaker, but to try to free Pennsylvania from a reign of political tyranny, and help to save the Republican party from threatened destruction.

If I have not succeeded in gathering delegates that will stand for me in the state convention I certainly have presented startling and uncontroverted facts that will stand against Quayism in the future. I was mustered in to serve until June 2, and if the battle has not been won I promise you that I shall enlist again, not for a time, but until the war is ended.
