PREPARE NEW PRICES FOR NEW SUGAR CROP

Equalization Board to Buy at Old Rates and Sell Back at New Prices.

As a consequence of the higher price for domestic beet and cane sugars which will be soon coming into the market, and in order to minimize the inequalities that would result from having the new domestic crop at the new price and the old foreign crop at the old price in the market at the same time, the Food Administration, save the United States sugar equalization board will, on a date to be announced later, purchase all sugars in the country in transit at the old price and immediately resell them to the holders at the new price. The exact date at which the new price will become effective has not been determined, nor has it been settled yet what the new price will be.

By this device the extra profit that would otherwise accrue to the refiners, who purchased at the old price and would sell on the basis of the new, will be absorbed by the sugar equalization board, which is the government agency charged with the equalization of sugar prices, and which is handling the machinery of sugar distribution in this country.

The Food Administration is notifying all distributors of manufactured sugar and all retailers of the impending change and warning the distributors and manufacturers that no date should be made subject to any change in price that is authorized. It is reminding the distributors also of the rule that requires them to sell on the basis of invoice cost without regard to market or replacement value.

The price difficulty which this action is designed to meet comes about through the fact that the sugar from Cuba sent to the United States refineries and the sugar from the domestic beet and cane fields overlap in the market. The Food Administration some time ago agreed with the domestic producers that an increase in price was justified on the new crop.

The Food Administration also announced that at the same time the new sugar price becomes effective refiners will be allowed an increased margin for cost and profit over the present margin of $1.25 a hundred pounds. The new margin will be retroactive, dating from August 1.

AMERICANS IN FRANCE BUILD IMMENSE SHOPS

Brought across the ocean with all the shifts and moving between docks.

We watched one of these locomotives as it was taken from its crane giant boxes, and gradually grew into a massive engine. Soon thereafter the locomotive was moving through the yards on its own steam, and soon after that was on its way to re-equip the State Railways of France, which is one of the vital links of the war game. First of all the American double track road up to the front was equipped, and then the French state railway took its turn, for they are all a part of the network of freedom for the allied war service.

"We turn out six to ten complete locomotives a day," said the Baron, and in a short time it will be twenty a day, the largest construction of this kind in the world."

Now the Baron led the way to some of the detailed processes of the huge plant. Boilers were up and the fire boilers were being tested after their voyage across the ocean to see if the sea water had opened any joints or loosened any rivets. It was marvelling, said the Baron, how well they stood the voyage with no loosening of parts and in practically perfect condition when they arrived.

Besides the industry of such a huge concern there is the equipment of living quarters for the army of soldier-workmen. This a good sized city has sprung up with streets and sidewalks lined with barracks, mess rooms, canteens, barber shops, dentists' offices, clothes, and all the activities of a flourishing frontier town.

Beyond the shops and barracks are the great stretches of railway tracks and siding for this is the first step in this intricate system of transportation by which American troops and supplies are moved to the front. When the Americans came here there were two tracks, said Mr. Hoover, a network of 21 tracks. Hundreds of American engines and cars were moving over these lines as we went through the yards today, and some forty newly equipped locomotives just turned out at the works shops were starting on their way. And as these went out, long trains were bringing in more of the long crates with the bodies and wheels and boilers, soon to be put together in this vast stream of war requisition.

Pershing headquarters, word had long come by telephone that a German offensive had begun on an 80 kilometer front. Soon it passed from idea to step and the whole establishment was stirred and stimulated. Officers and men learned at the moment that the fight was on, with a feeling of confidence that knows no such thing as failure, and a feeling also that these soldier-workmen in their sphere were doing their part in winning the fight.

CHRISTIAN UNIVERSITY IS TO BE IN SESSION ENTIRE YEAR

FORT WORTH, Texas, Sept. 4.—Under the new government regime of Texas Christian University, which is combining Bible college and military training to young men of college standing in the new draft, Texas Christian University will no longer be a co-ed college school, as in the past, according to President E. M. Waits. The school will be in session full twelve months, just the same as other national army camps. This announcement applies only to the men, of course, the young women being in no way affected by the government's military plan. It is thought, however, that the young women students will be greatly interested in the military program, and plans are being made at the university to have some of the lecture courses open to them.

GIVEN AMERICAN APPELLATIONS GERMAN NAMED STREETS ARE

BEAUMONT, Texas, Sept. 4.—Acting upon a petition from the realty company owning the property along Bismarck and Berlin streets the city council today changed the names to Wilson and Pershing. While the changes might have been made for patriotic reasons, it is said that prospective purchasers often turned away, declaring they would rather rent on a good American street than to own a home on a German-named thoroughfare.

Presentation Ceremonies For Service Flag Was Held Sunday

CALDWELL, Texas, Sept. 4.—There was a presentation of a service flag at King Tabor Sunday in the lodge hall. Three hundred people came to see the flag, on which were eighteen stars. Rev. J. M. Dawson made an address which was very patriotic. This is a Christian congregation church, and the people were there. Money was taken as a collection for the Christian church camp in Illinois and the sum of $19 was raised. It was a patriotic day for the Dobesmiers.

I read of Cardui, and after taking one bottle, or before taking quite all, I felt much better. I took 3 or 4 bottles at that time, and was able to do my work. I take it in the spring when rundown. I had no appetite, and I commenced eating. It is the best tonic I ever saw." Try Cardui.
