HAVE YOU ANSWERED, "HERE?"

The Red Cross membership roll for 1919 is being called this week in every state and territory under the protecting folds of the Star-Spangled Banner.

Have you answered, "here?"

If you have, where is your Red Cross button?

If you haven't answered, why?

The purpose of the Roll Call is "Universal membership." It means that every man, woman and child in the United States (who has the heart and the dollar) shall become part and parcel in the spirit and purpose of this great agency of mercy and service.

To be sure, the war is over, but PEACE is not yet realized. And the need for the Red Cross still exists. Millions of American boys are still under arms. Thousand of them are sick and wounded.

And then there remains the relief work in the devastated areas of France, Belgium, Italy and the rest.

The work of the Red Cross will not be finished until every American boy is home again and until every wound is healed, every hungry child of want has been fed, every fainting heart has been comforted "over there."

Do you want to have a part in this mission of mercy, this labor of love?

If you do, answer "here." Pay your dollar and put on a membership button.

And then if you can afford it, send in an additional contribution and answer "here" for some of the 1843 unfortunate ones in Corpus Christi, who haven't the dollar.

The time is short! Act today!

SELLING LIBERTY BONDS.

The action of Secretary of the Treasury Glass in asking charitable organizations seeking funds by public subscriptions to refrain from making any suggestion to the public that they will accept Liberty Bonds or War Savings Stamps unless they intend to use these subscriptions as endowment funds to be held for investment, is both pertinent and timely.

Now that the armistice has been signed many people are so prone to forget the financial necessities of the government that they are immediately looking for a market for the few bonds that they have contrived to purchase.

This principle is all wrong.

The practice, started within the past few weeks, of urging people to part with these government securities must be discouraged.

The government asks all Americans to hold tight to their Liberty Bonds and War Savings Stamps unless it is imperative that they be disposed of by some pressing financial obligation that cannot be met otherwise.

Hold your Liberty Bonds!

"MA" SUNDAY AS A BOOSTER.

The women of Texas are urged by Mrs. William ("Billy") A. Sunday to "get into the game" from now until December 31 and assist the government in their communities in the collection of War Savings Stamp pledges which are now due. Mrs. Sunday asks every Texas woman to give her time and thought to this work "that 'your boy and my boy' may have the tickets home which paid War Savings Stamp pledges mean to them."

To Texas women, Mrs. Sunday, wife of Rev. "Billy" Sunday who is now preaching in Fort Worth, says:

"The big fight has been won and I know, women of Texas, you rejoice that your brave Texas fighting lads are no longer in danger on the battle field. They have done their duty gloriously; but, mothers and wives and sweethearts of Texas men, we over here have not done our duty until we have discharged that solemn obligation we made to invest in United States government war savings stamps. I have bought the limit."

"The end of this wonderful 1918 campaign of saving and lending these savings to our government is near. The boys—your boys, the United States—your country, are waiting to see what you have done. See to it, I would ask you, that every war savings stamp pledge in your community or town is paid by Christmas. During these last few days of December won't you give your time and thought to this great work?

"Paid War Savings pledges are tickets home 'for your boy and my boy.' You have done great things, women of Texas, and from now until the end of the year will you not make of this war savings campaign the success which you can make of it by your help?"

The government has issued its official proclamation calling for the payment of war savings stamps pledges. The last day of grace is December 31.

The quota for Nueces county in this campaign for the sale of war savings stamps amounts to $312,000. Chairman W. C. Bailey estimates that not less than $75,000 additional stamps must be sold between now and December 31 if this obligation that we people of Nueces county owe to the government, is met.

Our duty in this matter is plain!

Those of us who have agreed to purchase a definite amount of stamps, must keep faith with our government.

Those of us who have not made pledges must also "go the limit" in helping to carry Nueces county "over the top."

AERIAL MAIL SERVICE.

Whether the aerial mail service shall be under the direction and control of the war department or of the postoffice department, there will be general agreement with the contention that the equipment and personnel of the war department should be used.

Naturally we should suppose that the postoffice department would control and operate the mail service, and so it may, perhaps, without operating the airplanes in which the aerial mail is carried, the postal plane occupying about the same relation to the postal service as the railway mail to the railroads.

Congressman Laguardia, who served as an aviator on the Italian front, argues that the army must maintain its air service, must keep its aviators in training, and that it would be a matter of economy to utilize both the army planes and aviators for carrying the mails, instead of going to the expense of providing and maintaining a separate establishment to be controlled and operated exclusively by and for the postal service. It is further contended that turning over the mail service to the army will afford practical training for the army aviators and bring about development of material through the experience gained by many hours of flying under widely varying conditions.

It is highly probable that before very long there will be airship lines with carrying capacity for both freight and passengers. In fact, companies are said to be already in process of formation for the establishment of such lines, with airships that will carry forty passengers, or an equal weight in freight. Possibly the carrying of mail, instead of being the sole purpose of the airship, might be merely an incident of its traffic. In the meantime, of course, it would be well for the postoffice department to go ahead, unhindered, in employing such air planes as are now, or may presently become, available for delivering mail on the short routes and await developments and the working out of plans for the long routes, instead of going to an enormous expense that may later prove to have been wholly unnecessary.—San Antonio Express.

Some Late Ones

He Knew.

"The man who gives in when he is wrong," said the street orator, "is a wise man, but he who gives in when he is right is—"

"Married," said a meek voice in the crowd.—London Tattler.

An Advertiser.

"Waiter," said the indignant customer "what does this mean? Yesterday I was served with a portion of chicken twice the size of this."

"Yes, sir," answered the waiter. "Where did you sit?"

"Over by that window."

"Then that accounts for it. We always give people who sit by the windows large portions. It's an advertisement."—New York Evening Post.

Leave It to the Jewelry.

We're a resourceful nation. An American girl in Paris once hailed her millionaire father before a jeweler's shop in the Rue de la Paix and pointed to a tiara surmounted by a coronet.

"Pa, buy me that," she said.

"Buy you that?" her father chuckled. "Why, girlie, you've got to be a duchess to wear that."

The girl tossed her head.

"You buy it" she said; "I'll find the duke."—Detroit Free Press.

Return to America for the American soldiers who have camped in England for half a year without ever seeing the French front means a return to a land where paper money looks like their idea of money. One disconsolate private was accosted at Eagle Hut, London, the big Y. M. C. A. center.

"What's the matter, son?" asked a Red Triangle secretary.

"I was just thinking I'd like some of those pancakes, sir," the private answered mournfully.

"And you're broke, huh?" the Red Triangle man guessed from long experience.

"Yes, sir."

"Been a long time since pay day?"

"No sir, we were paid last Saturday."

"Lose your money?"

"Well, you might call it that."

"Stolen?"

"No sir. You see, sir, there was some of us walking home last night and I pulled out my cigarettes and passed them around. I thought they tasted a bit funny, at the time. And then this morning I discovered that I'd burned up all my money. It was those blame little ten shilling notes, made out of tissue paper."

REJOICES OVER THE END OF THE TROUBLE

MRS. McKENZIE TELLS HOW SHE HAD SUFFERED SINCE SHE WAS A CHILD—DECLARES TANLAC HAS RESTORED HER HEALTH

"I am thirty-four pounds heavier than I was when I began taking Tanlac and I just can't express the joy I feel over my wonderful recovery," said Mrs. Emily McKenzie, 601 East Second street, Fort Worth, Texas.

"Ever since I was a child, I had been afflicted with catarrh," she continued. "About two years ago my stomach began to get out of order and everything I ate would sour and form gas that burned and distressed me until I hardly got any sleep or rest day or night. My kidneys worried me constantly and my back hurt until I couldn't straighten up without it hurting me until I would cry out loud with pain. My feet and ankles were swollen and gave me a lot of trouble and I was in a nightly bad shape every way.

"My friends recommended Tanlac to me and I began to take it and have improved since the very start. My stomach is entirely relieved of all that gassy upset condition and I can eat anything I want without trouble. The kidney disorders have disappeared, the catarrh does not bother me like it did and I am feeling so strong that I just want to tell everybody about my recovery and how much Tanlac has done for me."

Tanlac is sold in Corpus Christi by Bluff Drug Store.

BERLIN PAPERS ANGRY AT INVASION OF NEW CONGRESS BY SOLDIERS

By The Associated Press.

Berlin, Wednesday, Dec. 18.—Evidently reflecting the views of the Ebert-Scheidmann group, Vorwaerts takes the most serious view of the incident of yesterday when the congress of soldiers and workmen was invaded by soldiers. It accuses the extreme left of aiming to disrupt the congress.

"It must be decided openly," says the newspaper. "There is danger of the whole government apparatus crumbling and the armistice and peace negotiations being broken off on the ground that no competent German government exists, and that all Germany would be occupied by entente troops."

The Freiheit, on the contrary, declares the invasion of the congress could be explained by the indignation of soldiers and the counter revolutionary activities by the officers of certain troops.

The demonstration by soldiers was so in accord with the utterance of Ledebour, Barth, and other radicals at Tuesday's session as to suggest more than a coincidence.

WHISKEY SENT TO GEORGIA PACKED IN BARRELS OF TAR

By The Associated Press.

Cincinnati, O., Dec. 19.—Government agents, who today sealed up a cellar here which they claimed contains a large amount of contraband liquor, say they have put a stop to the shipping of $20,000 worth of whiskey a month into Georgia. The liquor was shipped, according to the government men, in bottles imbedded in barrels of tar.
