Cotton Prices Move Downward

By The Associated Press.

NEW YORK, June 21.—Prospects for clearing weather was followed by a renewal of more or less general selling in the cotton market and the break of approximately a cent a pound later on the day. October contracts sold down to 34.07. October delivery closed at 34.50, with the general list closing steady at a net decline of 35 to 195 points.

The market was weak on the opening and first prices were 24 to 37 points lower. July broke to 36.70 and December 32.81, with the general list showing net losses of 95 to 116 points in the late trading. The close was only a shade up from the lowest on covering. Port receipts today 5,072; United States port stocks 946,247, exports 4,800, making 6,122,319 so far this season.

H. & B. BEER LETTER.

Special to The Caller.

NEW ORLEANS, June 21.—Unfavorable foreign political developments over Sunday and prospects for better weather in the cotton region, coupled with the heavy traffic trade advices from New England and Manchester, influenced values to a lower level today.

There were further general rains in the interior over the weekend, excessive in localities, but it is claimed that the moisture was beneficial except in South Texas and for weevils.

Some press advices are to the effect that French and British troops and the British fleet will be concentrated for the defense of Constantinople and the straits.

Meanwhile improving weather is indicated for the cotton region, less spot business is in the offing, trade generally has for the eastern belt.

Advices from Texas are to the effect that the recent rains are beneficial except in the south portion and it is here said that the average condition of the cotton crop improved 10 points during the last month, when it was good.

New York appears to remain pessimistic as to outside conditions and Liverpool has been selling freely because of the same feeling in Manchester, due to the unfavorable textile trade outlook.

NEW ORLEANS COTTON.

By The Associated Press.

NEW ORLEANS, June 21. The cotton close showed losses of 105 to 115 points, the winding up at 36.75 and October at 34.60. The main reason for heavy selling was the rear possibility the weather may have by bringing the disposition to sell was the favorable foreign political news and the cablegrams from Liverpool stating that the market had weakened under unfavorable accounts from the Manchester textile market.

Cattle Sales At Small Gain

Special to the Caller.

FORT WORTH, June 21.—An exceptionally small Monday's supply of cattle and calves arrived the estimate being placed at 5,000 cattle including 1,000 on through billing and 1,000 calves. Last week's slump in price, the inability of shippers to obtain cars and the billing of cattle to other markets, were responsible for the decrease. The market opened slow, buyers trying to force a decline on account of lower prices elsewhere. Speculators promised a 15-cent to 25-cent higher opening of the new market but the close was only a shade stronger than last week's settling basis.

Beef steers were slow and steady to a shade lower. Cull prices remained about steady.

Cattle—Beeves $7.25@11.50; stockers $7.50@11.50, cows $4@8.50, heifers $5@11.75, bulls $5@7, calves $5@11.

Thousands Use Rights Under Law To Miss Education

WASHINGTON, June 21.—The legal right to remain kept at home in order to assist in the support of their parents and children, through ignorance of the value of schooling, or else up to take advantage of the actual right to secure an education. In a recent study of school attendance in Cleveland it was found that 3587 children were kept at home on the business of their parents, to interfere with their studies and that the reasons for non-attendance at school were in many cases trivial. Among these were a severe cold, very bad weather, a broken or worn out shoe to go to school in, or because the mother did not want to do it as interpreter for their mothers.

In addition to the school attendance laws, there of the five states permit children 14 years old and younger to go to work, even if they cannot read or write, or have never been taught to read. Two states say that the child applying for work shall have gone to school up to a legal period during the preceding year. Among the other states in the United States, 24 require the completion of a specific grade, and 11 make and the District of Columbia require the ability to read and write.

Three of the five states where children were granted certificates makes no provision for continuation schools in order to make up for defective education in childhood. Only 18 states in the United States have laws which make such provision. England, under the Fisher education act, which went into effect April 1, is rapidly establishing continuation schools throughout the country, and will shortly compel attendance up to the age of 18. Ef[illegible] is being made in that country to get teachers with the best training and to arrange suitable courses of study for working children in order that they may have every opportunity not to grow up illiterate, because they have been unfortunate.

Cooks now get $27 a week, pastry cooks $35 and chefs $40 to $45. $35 is asked for cooks, $40 to $45 for pastry cooks and $50 for chefs.

Grandma Used Sage Tea to Darken Hair

She Mixed Sulphur With It to Restore Color, Gloss, Youthfulness.

Common garden sage brewed into a heavy tea with sulphur added, will turn gray, streaked and faded hair beautifully dark and luxuriant. Just a few applications will prove a revelation if your hair is fading, streaked or gray. Mixing the Sage Tea and Sulphur recipe at home, though, is troublesome. An easier way is to get a bottle of Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound at any drug store all ready for use. This is the old-time recipe improved by the addition of other ingredients.

While wispy, gray, faded hair is not sinful, we all desire to retain our youthful appearance and attractiveness. By darkening your hair with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound no one can tell, because it does it so naturally, so evenly. You just dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair taking one small strand at a time. In a few hours all gray hairs have disappeared, and, after another application or two, your hair becomes beautifully dark, glossy, soft and luxuriant.

Plan for "Middle Credit" in Hand

Special to The Caller.

DALLAS, June 21.—Representatives of farmers organizations, farm implement manufacturers, and manufacturers, bankers and the Texas A. & M. College will meet in Dallas June 23, in answer to a call of James M. George, vice president and general manager of the Texas equipment company, to consider means of obtaining "middle term" credit for farmers who wish to buy equipment.

"The waning man power on the farm," says Mr. George, "must be met as far as possible by supplanting farms with labor saving machinery and implements, and in order to do this as quickly as possible, the farmers must be assured of an ample supply of credit extending over a period of from one to five years."

A recently appointed committee of the Texas chamber of commerce is carrying forward a study campaign for a permanent system of "middle term" credit, based upon personal security.

MEXICO CITY, June 21.—Adolfo de la Huerta, the provisional president, will hold a full cabinet meeting Friday, the first since 1913. Robert A. Pasmore of El Paso, Texas, the foreign bankers financial agent in the United States, has been consulted today.
