Here are two of the latest French importations to the land of frocks, shoes and wraps for fall. Full wear they emphasize the straight front although it is not universally adopted. Some seem to find more practical than the contour effect.

New Sports Corset

A charming sports skirt of smoothly pleated felt is worn with a long lines about designed corsetette, for use with separate skirt and blouse combos.

The skirt is blue and white with a blue band of white stitched and buttons. The accordion pleated one has to be worked in a color that is certain to succeed in the fall, navy-Sudan, contrasting about the hips. The corset referred to being made with good instead of boned, does not interfere with the trim effect as is so frequently the fault with the sports skirt and properly corseted is in Paris claims.

The skirt has a "deep" pocket over either hip and on left.

Two New Colors

Peacock and jade two of the season's new and attractive colors are assembled in this little Parisian suit of crepe and pussy-willow silk.

Over a straight and comfortable wide skirt is draped at the side. The coat, which, like the skirt, is of the heavier colored crepe and fastens at the side, with sleeves that hard to match the end of their quite-quarter length. An odd square collar that rolls up to form and covers the upper half of the back, and is held in a distinctive bodice.

The mode that adorns the costume are cut from pale silky satinette in the crepe with a harmonious and attractive contrast in the matter of shape.

They are very youthful, these low crown, silky and our American women as well as young girls will look as charmingly well in them.

Blocks and Stripes

Striking stripes and block patterns seem to have taken a firm hold both here and in Paris and certainly nothing is more smart than these were ever so attractive made up in Cory and this season.

Here is a Paris design of Dame color and blue, a beautiful Sidewear blue white and bold quite as military does with the bodice outlined up the side, the short straight, sleeves that are long close fitted and fastened at the wrist.

As for the neck treatment, Paris is endeavoring to persuade folk to wear that rather fade the throat considered so lately since a few years is either in front or back.
