SUGAR

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, Feb. 23.—The feature of the sugar market today was a report from Cuba to the effect that the sugar committee was in operation, which would indicate that Cuban producers are to be through the committee. The report was bullish and it was reported that Japan had purchased some sugar in Cuba at 4.45, c. i. f. There were sales here estimated at 18,000 bags of Cuban through operations to refinery at 5.50, cost and freight equal to 5.21 for centrifugal.

The market for refined was quieter, some refiners were out of the market pending further development in regard to the holdings of the Cuban committee. Prices were quoted at 7.15 to 7.25 for fine granulated.

Sugar futures were easier early, in the forenoon liquidation with prices at one time 8 to 10 net lower, although there was a rallying with the close, at a net decline of 1 to 4 points lower. Closing bids: March, 4.42; May, 4.57; July, 4.67. Sales, 22.

COFFEE.

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, Feb. 23.—The market for coffee futures opened at a decline of 21 to 31 points, in response to easier Brazilian cables and near month liquidation, in preparation for possible March notice tomorrow. The market closed at a net decline of 20 to 24 points. Closing bids: March, 8.14; May, 8.41; July, 8.64; September, 8.41; December, 8.24; November, 8.21.

Spot coffee unsettled. Rio 7s, 9½@9¾; Santos 4s, 9¾@10.

Receipts port receipts 35,000; Jundiahy receipts 12,000. Ports cleared 70,000 bags for the United States and Canadian ports.

COTTONSEED OIL.

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, Feb. 23.—Cottonseed oil was easier, March losing half a cent a pound through liquidation ahead of tender day. Numerous stop loss orders were uncovered throughout the day on the decline. Closing bids were 5 to 10 points net lower. Spot trade was dull and crude markets soft. Sales 16,000 barrels, prime crude, $7.25 asked; prime summer yellow spot, 8.00; March, 8.81; May 7.86; July 7.91; sales 100.

Cotton Market Looks Stronger

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, Feb. 23.—The attention of cotton traders here was almost entirely monopolized by the behavior and results of March notices today and trading was largely attributed to covering from now to late months. Delivery March and May contracts made new low records at the opening. The general market ruled steady with points lower to 10 points higher, the latter being on May and later deliveries.

The March notices were estimated at around 15,000 to 20,000 bales, the bulk of them being taken by the Prime interests, up to the January notice. Spot houses, including those who usually deal in cotton, were good buyers of the maturing contracts against sales of later deliveries. This absorbed the March liquidation and the discount as compared with May narrowed to about 60 points during the session of the day. But as low were kept in sympathy by the unfavorable advices from Manchester and with Liverpool selling.

The market opened at a decline of 15 points to an advance of 10 points. The close was 10 to 15 points off from the best under continuing liquidation. The crowded fertilizer sales did not report and there was neither selling nor buying. Japanese today: Low middling 5.82 142 as for the week. Port receipts 9,249. United States port stocks 1,419,229.

H. AND B. BEER LETTER.

Special to The Caller.

NEW ORLEANS, Feb. 23.—Twenty-five or twenty-six points of the total in New York and about half of the total in New Orleans for March delivery disappeared the market on notice holdings but as the holders were credited in some instances, trading appeared a shade fairly steady in the session. Liquidation in March was attributable to the unfavorable outlook of the cotton as regards conditions and a belief in Manchester, indeed, that there would be no demand for the March notices. Some expected that the holders would try to market that the contract notices in the New Bed will convert in the cotton the Prince which would cause British trade cotton long.

Meanwhile American markets were inclined to act independent of the strength of the English market, because of the gradual improvement in trade in America and prospects for a big reduction in the cotton acreage in the spring. The Egyptian industrial situation appeared a marked improvement in the spinning to a revival in the demand for textiles and yarns, due to the lifting of the automatic price control.

The fact was that the opportunity of buying cotton on spots at near the prevailing low levels of the month, an average of which should be taken by these investigators against the present and prospectively low prices, seemed to be with the cost of growing cotton under existing conditions.

NEW ORLEANS COTTON.

Special to The Caller.

NEW ORLEANS, Feb. 23.—March tenders were the top and bottom of the cotton market today and they were close one with that the price was and to higher levels following a brief period of the opening. Prices in the market were based for about 5,000 bales and more attention was given the outlook in the New York market than was paid to Dixie news. Liquidation the commercial was the source of the Bull and gave rather mixed views of 12.20 to 60 points.

When it was seen that cotton was being stopped the market strengthened and the per advances which finally amounted to 12 to 16 points. In the late session some weakness was displayed when tenders in New York were estimated all the way from 75,000 up to 85,000 bales and prices slipped from the highest, the net finally closing 1 to 5 points net higher on the day.

Wheat Closes At Declines

CHICAGO, Feb. 23.—Bearish tendencies as to farm reserves in North Dakota tended to weaken the grain markets today, and options which had taken place failed to last. The close was steady, 3c to 5c lower, with March 1.71½ to 1.71¾. Corn net lost 2c to 3c and oats 3c to 4c. In provisions the outcome was unchanged to 5c higher.

At first the wheat market displayed considerable strength, being chiefly in evidence that 1,000,000 bushels of wheat had been sold for export to Greece and the country at once, however, support became very sparingly rendered for the time being on a forecast from a trade authority indicating that, as a result of increased consumption, farm reserves then officially announced would be larger than had been looked for. Crop reports from Kansas and Nebraska during the latter half of the day were bullish.

Corn and oats as well as wheat, sagged after an early bulge. Liberal cash sales of corn helped somewhat to check the decline.

Higher quotations on hogs gave firmness to provisions.
