Prof. Johnson of Yale College says: "Butterine is free from the tendency to change and taint, which speedily renders a large proportion of butter unfit for human food." Good butter is desirable when fresh, but it turns rancid very quickly.

SILVER CHURN BUTTERINE, containing no butyric acid, is sweet and always remains so. Therefore, Silver Churn Butterine is preferable as an article of food. Our Silver Churn trade mark on each wrapper is a guarantee of excellence.

MARCHED EIGHT MILES.

THE COXEY ARMY STARTS FOR WASHINGTON.

Very Few of the Thousands of Pilgrims Expected Were in at the Start.

SENATOR STEWART ADVISES COXEY TO DISBAND THE ARMY.

Says the Ballot Is the Best and Only Effective Weapon—Unused Freight Trains Tied Up By Irey's Army of Tramps.

Canton, Ohio, March 25.—In the face of a sharp cold wind that brought shivers to the frames of well clad people, Coxey's army marched eight miles today on the road to Washington. There were a few less than a hundred of them. Not to exceed twenty had any coats or gloves. They had slept last night on pallets of straw in the alley and observing circus cent and they were arrested this morning by the disagreeable discovery that no detailed arrangements had been made for feeding them. Several hundred persons watched their departure for Massillon. About 3000 persons assembled at the temporary camp at Reedburn, and a host greeted the crusaders at Canton.

Tonight they are sleeping at Camp Lexington, in the eastern part of Canton. A heavy snow storm set in before the details of the camp had been completed and the tramps huddled around roaring fires. About two-thirds of the men enlisted made the trip. Coxey had turned his disappointment over the non-appearance of the reception committee he had expected and is exulted over the handful who reported for business.

The Massillon camp on the Tuscarawas presented a good sight early this morning. No fire was permitted in the big tent, but there was a heap of blazing logs outside. Every few moments the flap of the tent was parted by a soldier of the commonweal, who visited the fire to drive away the chills. Then he would draw in the straw to take a nap, and others would take his place.

The hobos in the party became known before breakfast and they had sport.

Some of the men washed at the river brink and others carried water in pans and heated it over a fire. They burned stick and talked about life in a troop of boys. A bugle call to breakfast brought them together at the tent with a rush. The bill of fare comprised bread, coffee and easy meat. The latter was affixed to the end of sticks and roasted over the fire. One gram of fire ran away in a body after breakfast and boarded a passing freight train.

Thirty of the commonwealers spent the night as guests at the Massillon police station. There were twenty-two of a group who could not be found when they were needed for picket duty. They were on hand for breakfast.

At 9 o'clock Marshal Louis Smith, others who the unknown, summoned the army to camp together and they were found to number eleven groups. They were organized into a commune. Smith drilled them on the meadows for half an hour. He has added several formalities of military discipline to the rules of the commonweal. One of them is the plan of marching in files of two or more and other surprisingly innovations have been adopted. One man who called "Here Brown," at the California reformed half way across the field, was given a talking over by Smith. Among other things he said that the proper caper was to ask for Chief Marshal Carl Browne and salute when his attention is called. Thus the military spirit is introduced, even though communes are called communes and regiments communities. The eleven groups consolidated today are called the Chicago commune.

Ten hours before the time for departure the tents were pulled down and preparations made for the trip. Outsiders were directed to leave the field and await the commonwealth on the main streets of the town. Camp wagons and saddle horses were brought in from Cleveland and the soldiers had a busy time of it. A diversion was caused by a bulletin from Coxeyana announcing that a steamer had just passed that point laden with recruits from Canton. The steamer made the trip of twenty miles in two and a half hours, but only a few men from Canton were enrolled.

TRAINS TIED UP.

Irey's Army Determined to Ride—Sunset Will Not Hand Them.

San Antonio, Texas, March 25.—The Southern Pacific railway officials have received word tonight that the United States industrial army of 200 men were put off the train at a siding near Finlay Station, on the El Paso division and that trains were run through without stopping.

The so-called army broke the lock on the switch and threw it open, causing the next eastbound freight to make the siding. The men climbed upon the cars and Conductor Martin pulled them to Finlay, where he tied up the train pending the arrival of orders from General Superintendent Van Vleck.

The order came for him to keep the train tied up, as the company had decided not to haul the men. Several other trains have arrived at Finlay since and all are tied up, as the army shows no disposition to let any of the trains depart without them. Finlay is in an isolated section and the army will starve out if they remain there a few days.

STEWART'S LETTER.

Advises Coxey to Disband and Use Ballots in November.

Washington, March 25.—Senator Stewart of Nevada has written the following letter to J. S. Coxey, commander of the army of the commonweal:

General J. S. Coxey, Massillon, Ohio:

"United States Senate, March 24, 1894.—Dear Sir: The preservation of life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness was intrusted to the people under the Constitution of the United States. A free ballot was the means by which the sovereign people could receive the rights acquired by the patriots who achieved the independence and established the government of the United states. There was a time when the ballot placed the control of the government in Washington's, Jefferson's, Jackson's and Lincoln's hands. Such use of the ballot sent terror and dismay to tyrannic despots and plundering oligarchies throughout the world. The enemies of justice and human rights predicted that the success of the ballot was temporary, that man was not capable of self-government. The destruction of ancient republics and the repeated failures of the people to govern themselves was cited in proof of their contention that despotism, oppression and slavery were the fate of the human race.

There have been no Washingtons, Jeffersons, Jacksons or Lincolns elected president of the United States in the last two decades. A soulless despot of alien origin is monarch of the commercial world. His name is money. His instruments of oppression are banks and bonds. His servants are administrative and legislative bodies. The army you are collecting used the ballot to put the army and the treasury department under the control of the bankers and the combinations and place in the hands of colossal representatives to do the bidding of money changers.

The sleepless sentinels are approaching. An opportunity for the people to strike for liberty will again be presented. The older parties, which have surrendered the rights of the people to the rule of concentrated capital, will ask for a renewal of their lease of power at the ballot box. Your movement of the people to obtain relief outside of the forms of the law will be denounced as anarchy. The purse strings of the Nation are held by congress under the dictation of the administration and the president is commander-in-chief of the army and navy of the United States. The attempt of a strange multitude to march to Washington will furnish an excuse for using the power in the governments of the States and of the United States to put down a peaceful protest against robbery.

The laws with which the laws would be executed against starving people will be an argument in the next election for continuing to revere concentrated capital as necessary for the maintenance of law and order.

The sufferings of the people as a result of certain men in office who do the bidding of the money powers, which, by legislation and administration, have devoured more than one-half of the accumulations of the world and corrupted the other half, Twenty years of uninterrupted rule of banks and bondholders has concentrated the wealth of the world in the hands of the few and enabled them to seize the telegraph, the press and nearly every other avenue through which the people can obtain information of the cunning devices by which the parasites absorb what the makers produce. There is but one battlefield where the forces of liberty and equality can meet and overthrow the enemy of human rights. There is no law now on the statute books authorizing the president of the United States to march an army against the people at the ballot box.

Every attempt to use the ballot under the control of the Federal authorities has thus far been successfully resisted. Let your army be reinforced by the millions of the unemployed and by the wealth producers of the Nation, and be thoroughly equipped for the battle in November when a victory for the rights of man against the despotism of banks and bonds is possible.

Abandon the folly of marching an unarmed army of tramps and starving laborers against the modern appliances of war under the control of a soulless money trust. Such folly will augment the power of the oppressor and endanger the safety of the belief itself. Disorder is all that is needed to insure the supremacy of the armed forces of the money powers at the polls.

The constitution of the United States is our charter of liberty. It has been subverted by the machinery of concentrated wealth. False agents of the people have betrayed their trust and brought misery and want where abundance and prosperity seemed assured. Traitors to human rights have usurped the power of the government through the machinery of the party and the arts of demagogues. Hurl them from power. Trust no man who has once deceived. Let the government of the United States administer for and not against the people. Use the ballot to protect liberty, justice and equal rights and not to elevate to power the agents of banks and bonds to perpetuate the rule of an oligarchy of wealth. Yours very truly, Wm. M. Stewart.

COXEY MAY DESERT.

Odds Offered That the Army Will Disband Very Soon.

Alliance, Ohio, March 25.—The followers of Coxey in this city were jubilant at first this afternoon after seeing the number of recruits that started out with the commonweal army in its march, but they became disgusted later when told that most of the number were tramps. Mayor Kaoell has appointed twelve special police-

ANOTHER DISTILLERY LIKELY.

Terre Haute, Ind., March 25.—The readiness with which the Distillery and Cattle Feeding company (whiskey trust) acceded to the demands of the distributing company is likely to lead to the construction of another distillery. Crawford Fairbanks, who has been prime mover in the largest trust projects, has broken with the whisky trust and it is more than probable that another distillery will be at once begun. It now seems probable that the Woolsey anti-trust distillery will be operated by the trust, some other and older distillery being closed up.
