

THE PRONUNCIATION OF "U."—Nine-ty-nine out of every hundred Northern-ers will say "insulted" instead of "insulted," "daddy for days"—perfect rhyme to the word "daddy." They will call new and new, too and noon—and so on through the dozens and hundreds of similar words. Not a dictionary in the English language authorizes this. In-student and stupid, the "u" has the same sound as in cupid, and should not be pronounced stoned or stooped, as so many teachers are in the habit of sound-ing them.

It is a vulgarism to call a door a doob—as we all admit—isn't it as much of a vulgarism to call a newspaper a noospaper? One vulgarism is North-ern, and the other Southern, that's the only difference. When the London Punch wishes to burlesque the pronun-ciation of servants, it makes them call the duke the dook, the tutor the tooter, and a tobe a toob. You never find the best Northern speakers, such as Wen-dell Phillips, George William Curtis, Emerson, Holmes, and men of that class, saying noo for new, Toosday for Tues-day, avoooc for avenue, or calling a dupe a doop. It is a fault that a South-ern never falls into. He has slips enough of another kind, but he doesn't slip on the long "u." As many of our teachers have never had their attention called to this, I hope they will excuse this notice.—Southern Letter.

MODERN SOCIETY.—Mrs. Julia Ward Howe, in her lecture upon "Modern Society," is severe upon mammas and daughters who go to Europe seeking whom they can catch. She has patience with the butterflies of fashion who fit from the shore of America to the Lon-dons of Paris or the parks of London for enjoyment. Our young women study well abroad, says Mrs. Howe, some of them, but some fly between England and Italy like a feather on the waves, dis-appearing at last. The Daisy Millerish chip is seen in many places under cir-cumstances which reflect no honor on mother or daughter. They are traveling abroad, but their company is marked by the absence of one person—the father—who is about in America, working for their enjoyment. These travelers have an air of homelessness as they wander about from place to place, while the husband and father is at home work-ing like a steam-fan to keep these but-terflies of fashion in motion. Some of these young women go about for the especial purpose of seeking a husband with a title, and the father at home is working hard for the luxury of a titled son-in-law who cannot care for his own bread and has no desire ever to do so. Mrs. Howe urged the better acquaint-ance of American young men and women with each other, with the happy marriages which are likely to result from such ac-quaintance instead of seeking titled po-verty, lack of sympathy, and too often something worse, in the guise of a for-ign Count.

MAKE FRIENDS.—Life is very critical. Any word may be our last. Any farewell, even amid glee and merriment, may be forever. If this truth were but burned into our consciousness, and if it ruled as a deep conviction and real power in our lives, would it not give a new meaning to our human relationship? Would it not make us far more tender than we sometimes are? Would it not offend us to put a ribbon on our rash and impetuous speech? Would we carry in our hearts the miserable suspicions and jealousies that now so often embitter the fountains of our lives? Would we be so impatient of the fault of others? Would we allow trivial misunderstandings to build up a wall between us and those who ought to stand very close to us? Would we keep alive petty quarrels, year after year, which a manly word any day would compass? Would we pass old friends or neighbors on the street without recognition, because of some real or fancied slight, some wounding of pride, or some ancient grudge? Or would we be so chary of the kind words, our com-mendations, our sympathy, our comfort, when weary hearts all about us are breaking for just such expressions of interest or appreciation as we have in our power to give?

A SEDUCER OF VIRTUE.—In the course of his remarks over the corpse of little Frankie Woodward, the way-ward child who committed suicide with her lover in Oakland, California, the other day, Rev. Thomas Guard, in his address, said: "I do not envy the feelings of him who had won her trusting heart, and led her astray, in the first place. What are fallen empires, fallen churches, fallen states, besides a fallen soul? To what a depth of depravity must the heart of man be fallen when he can thus crush the lovely flower of woman-hood and cast it aside to be trampled in the mud and mire of the street. And yet the betrayer stalks arrogantly through the saloons of society, petted and en-couraged by thoughtless, worldly moth-ers, to pluck another victim and treat her as he did the first. He is welcomed with smiles and bows to the home of innocent girlhood when he should be treated as a blighted leper. The woman who has trusted and been betrayed is sneered and spit upon, but who thinks to cast the same contempt upon the tenfold guiltier man who has accom-plished the fearful wrong?"

A promising youth of only seven sum-mers, who had been accused of not always telling the truth, cross-examined his father: "Father, did you use to lie when you were a boy?" "No, my son," said the father, who evidently did not recall the past with any dis-tinctness. "Nor mother, either?" per-sisted the young lawyer. "No; but why?" "Oh, because I don't see how two people who never told a lie could have a boy that tells as many as I do."

"Jennie, did you divide that cho-colate with your little brother?" "Yes," said the child, who evidently did not recall the past with any dis-tinctness. "Nor mother, either?" per-sisted the young lawyer. "No; but why?" "Oh, because I don't see how two people who never told a lie could have a boy that tells as many as I do."

WHAT WE LIVE FOR.—What is life? some one asked Montford. His answer is one of the most charming things ever written: "The present life is sleeping and waking; it is 'good-night' on going to bed, and 'good-morning' on getting up; it is to wonder what the day will bring forth; it is to walk in the garden and see the flowers and hear the birds sing; it is to have news from east, west, north and south; it is to read old books and new books; it is to see pictures and hear music; it is to have Sundays; it is to pray with a family morning and evening; it is to sit in the twilight and meditate; it is to have breakfast and dinner and tea; it is to belong to a town and have neighbors, and to become one in a circle of acquaint-ances; it is to have friends and love; it is to have sight of dear old faces, and, with some men, it is to be kissed with the same loving lips for fifty years, and it is to know themselves thought of many times a day, in many places, by children and grandchildren and many friends."

The empire of Austria is com-posed to-day of the following countries, all of which have at some time enjoyed corporate existence: Archduchy of Aus-tria, duchy of Salzburg, duchy of Styria, principality of the Tyrol, Trent and the Trientine, kingdom of Bohemia, Mar-gravate of Moravia, duchy of Silesia, kingdom of Galicia, and Lodomeria, kingdom of Illyria, kingdom of Dalma-tia, republic of Ragusa, County of Cat-taro and the Primorie, kingdom of Cro-tia and Slavonia, the Military Confin-es, the Voivodina and Banat, kingdom of Hungary proper, principality of Trans-sylvania, Sandjaks of Bosnia, Herzego-vina and Novi-Bazar (Rascia).

The president of the Concord School of Philosophy forwarded a letter to the Lime Kiln Club asking Brother Gardner if his experience with wasps had demonstrated the alleged fact that only female wasps use their stingers and soliciting an early reply. "My experience with wasps runs back over half a century," replied the old man, as he passed along the letter, "an 'it' the only fact ever demonstrated am dat when attacked by wasps I break fur de bushes on de gallop an' neber once stop to ask which sex dey belongs to."

A Tennessee colored preacher held forth recently as follows: "You girls call your sweethearts 'darlings,' and you men call yours 'daisies,' and you girls are afraid to come up here for fear some other girls will get off with your 'darlings,' and you men for fear some other fellow will get away with your 'daisies,' and," said he, "between this 'darling' and 'daisy' busi-ness, lots of you niggers are going straight to hell."

An Iowa paper tells the story of a lady who took her child into the cem-eter for the first time, and upon show-ing him the marble figure of a lamb upon a grave was appalled to hear him exclaim, "I suppose an old sheep is buried there."

A bashful young man was escort-ing a bashful young lady, when she said, extemporarily: "Jabez, don't tell anybody you beamed me home." "Don't be afraid," replied he, "I am as much ashamed of it as you are."

One of our dry goods dealers ad-vertises "something new in corsets." We do not know what it can be that is any better than what was in them be-fore. Not any new thing in corsets for us, if you please.

An exchange asks if we can throw any light upon kissing. We don't want to—the thing is done just as well in the dark.

They said: "She never told her love, but let conceit like a worm in the bud feed on her damask cheek;" but when they found it was not love, but the remnant of a cold that was surely and sadly leading to consumption, they procured for her a bottle of Sines' Syrup of Tar, Wild Cherry and Hoarhound. It is needless to remark that she recovered. 25 Cents per Bottle. Sold by Combs & Spalding, Leonardtown.

Mothers, before giving your little babe cough or croup medicines, remember that Sines' Syrup of Tar, Wild Cherry and Hoarhound is the only Cough Preparation that contains no opium, morphine nor any other narcotic. Sold by Combs & Spalding, Leonardtown.

"Quoth the Raven, never more!" But he had no reference to Sines' Syrup of Tar, Wild Cherry and Hoarhound, for it only needs one trial for people evermore to use it in cases of Colds or Coughs and all affections of the Bronchial Tubes. Sold by Combs & Spalding, Leonardtown.

For Croup, sudden and severe attacks of Cold, take Sines' Syrup of Tar, Wild Cherry and Hoarhound. Sold by Combs & Spalding, Leonardtown.

To be? or not to be? That is the question. Whether 'tis nobler in the mind to suffer the aches and pains that human flesh is heir to, when overtaken by a severe cough or cold, or to choose a bottle of Sines' Syrup of Tar, Wild Cherry and Hoarhound, and thus opposing, end them. 25 and 50 Cents per Bottle. Sold by Combs & Spalding, Leonardtown.
