CITY ITEMS

Christmas trees bring good prices.

The celebrated Mary Stuart perfume at W. B. Andrews & Co. 56tf

Several bull trains hauling hay to town blocked the streets yesterday.

A big sleighing party were making the main thoroughfares lively last night.

The Glendive Times has arrived and looks bright and newsy, and was enlarged as promised.

Reports reach us from Maginnis, that a twenty-one foot vein has been struck in the Collar mine.

The finest assortment of candy at W. B. Andrews & Co's. In pound boxes, only fifty cents. 56tf

Hank Bloom, the man who always wears a white hat, is again seen promenading on our streets.

J. H. Elliston, the engineer in charge of the Tongue river ditch work, will leave for the east on Sunday.

Bishop Brewer, of the Episcopal church, is expected to visit Miles City early in January, and spend a week or two with us.

There is a good opening in Miles City for a bowling alley, and the lucky inaugurator of this thing will make money.

Henry Slaughter, who had his feet frozen during the recent cold snap, had one of them amputated yesterday by Dr. Lebcher.

G. McLaughlin, the Park street blacksmith, has gone to Davenport, Iowa. He will return in a few weeks with Mrs. McLaughlin.

Ed. Creely, sheriff at Billings, brought a prisoner down yesterday, and placed him under the watchful eye of Sheriff Johnson.

The Merchants hotel will open up a bar to-morrow to prepare for the rush for "alcoholic stimulants" during the near Christmas festivities.

"Jake," the rustler for Orschel Bro's met with a severe injury to his hand yesterday while handling casks in the liquor cellar of the Orschel Bro's. store.

Postmaster Borchardt has received a number of new lock boxes for the postoffice. They are very neat and large and will be a great convenience to the public.

Robert Lyons, of Junction City, is in town purchasing supplies for the winter. Mr. Lyons intends starting in the dairy business on a large scale at Maiden in the early spring.

George Keifer has bought the stock and fixtures of the Tivoli hall from Ocker & Chapman, and has fixed the place up in first-class style, and stocked the bar with the choicest brands of goods that could be found in the market.

By a letter received from Buffalo, Wyoming, we are advised that quite a lively shooting scrape occurred at old Fort McKinney, on the 11th inst., in which Col. Stanford was killed by T. H. Franklin. They were both cow boys, wild and wooly, and hard to curry.

Corkin, the man who robbed Wm. Hamilton at Huntley last spring, and who was tried and acquitted at the last term of court, turned up at the same profession at Livingston, but he did not make it stick. He was hung by a party of masked men in that town on Wednesday night.

Cosmopolitan Theatre.

It is with pleasure that we are now able to state that Mr. W. E. Turner has arranged to open the above theatre, and that he has engaged a good company for the opening night, which will be to-night, at 8 o'clock. It will not be an all night show, nor will there be long waits between the acts. The performance will commence at 8 o'clock sharp, and a continuous change will, we believe, give general satisfaction, thus allowing a good show to be run and the interest kept up until 11:30. It is thought that this show will find great favor with our citizens, and that a much better attendance will result. The price of admission has been reduced to twenty-five and fifty cents, with no free list, and at that rate of admission, no one should expect to be admitted free. We hope our citizens will give Mr. Turner the support and encouragement his theatre deserves, and that it will be so liberal that he will continue to keep the theatre open all the year round.
