opened during the past two weeks at the 475-foot point and it is probable that the new management will run a crosscut from the 575 level to get under the present orebody. The mine has been opened by a shaft reaching the 775-foot point.

Joseph Hutchinson has spent almost six weeks in Tonopah looking around and examining various properties before he began negotiating for the California. In southern Nevada he is known as the man who organized the Mohawk Jumbo of Goldfield, which he sold to J. P. Loftus and who also received 300,000 shares of Goldfield Consolidated mine stock that was worth at the time $10 a share for delivering the Combination mine to Wingfield and Nixon to be incorporated in the Goldfield Consolidated Mines company. Hutchinson had sued to establish his claim and through a decision written by Judge J. P. O'Brien and unanimously concurred by the supreme court of Nevada, with Justices Sweeney, Talbot and Norcross sitting on the bench, his contention was upheld.

When Hutchinson received judgment on the Round Mountain Mining company for $100,000 Hutchinson compromised with Davidson who was laid off and all litigation on the Lee claim ended. Mr. Hutchinson also compromised the claim held by H. H. Kind & Co. against the Nevada Queen and in several minor cases distinguished himself by preventing producing properties from being tied up in the courts. While in Idaho where he was elected superintendent of the Traded Dollar mine, Mr. Hutchinson was appointed superintendent of the last six months acted as governor of the state.

In southern Nevada Governor Hutchinson has always taken a prominent part in public affairs and has been active in promoting a boosting spirit among those with whom he came in contact. By his acquisition of the California Tonopah this camp is assured of a permanent producer which had been overlooked by those who were supposed to be familiar with the resources of this property.

The claims included in the sale are the Maggie O. Drummond, Iroquois, California Fraction, Ajax, Maud S. Drummond Fraction, Contact and Silver Belle.

WANT INFORMATION ABOUT THE DIVIDE

"Nobody knows there is such a place as the Divide" is the substance of an interview with E. H. McMurray who returned from an extended eastern trip this morning after an absence of three weeks.

"We must have a Chamber of Commerce organized under the auspices of the mining companies interested in the welfare of the camp," added Mr. McMurray, after expatiating on the lack of information in the eastern country. "My first stop was in Chicago where I did not find more than a dozen men who ever heard of the Divide except in a vague way that there had been some sort of a new strike in Tonopah. In Cincinnati I found two men who knew something had happened around here. In Philadelphia the Divide is known among a certain class. In New York a few are familiar and in eastern towns around Boston they did not know what I was talking about when I spoke of Divide investments. It is necessary that we should organize at once to promote a central body that would be responsible for published statements through page advertisements in the big eastern newspapers. The life of the camp depends on our getting together. The people are hungry for information about mines and only ask for a square deal."

The Airdome will be well ventilated tonight; almost an open air pavilion. Ask the floor men to have the orchestra play your favorite selection. —AdvM14t1
