TIA JUANA IN THE LIME LIGHT

(By Associated Press)

SAN DIEGO, Calif., Sept. 29.—Seekers for entertainment of a more unrestrained character than is offered in the United States will be greatly hampered in their efforts to cross the California border into Mexico if the recommendations of the San Diego county grand jury are heeded.

Resolutions passed by the grand jury protest against the establishment in Tijuana, Lower California, of various resorts and ask federal aid in proper border regulations to "prevent Americans crossing the border to patronize resorts not permitted to operate on this side of the international boundary line."

The southern politicians are a unit for free-trade—except for cotton. Cotton is the south's chief industrial asset, you know.

SAVING STOCK OF A RAILROAD

(Correspondence of Associated Press)

OMSK, July 20, via Vladivostok, Aug. 15.—Ninety per cent of the railroad rolling stock in the Perm, Ekaterinburg and Chelliabinskk districts were pulled out before the territory was given over to the bolsheviki, according to General Jack of the [illegible] allied technical committee, who assisted in the evacuation. Over [illegible] freight cars and approximately [illegible] locomotives were saved.

The railroad bridge over the Kama [illegible] was put out of commission by the Siberian [illegible] before leaving. It is not [illegible] generally asserted, however, that [illegible] was easily repaired. One [illegible] span was dumped into the river.

The Kama fleet, thirty-one vessels, several of which had been converted into gunboats but later dismantled, was accidentally burned.

General Jack left Perm four hours before the bolshevik shells began to fall in the town. With him came [illegible] Chinese, American rice cook, who had been asked by the officers committee to remain at his post as long as possible for the moral effect of his presence on the population during the days of evacuation. General Jack was loud in his praises of Hiyson for valuable assistance rendered him in keeping trains moving.

The peasant population as well as the bourgeoisie fled before the bolshevik advance. Families loaded their possessions into carts or boxes and took the road early. Every military road leading out was filled with these carts moving in caravans, leading cows and horses often carrying the poor little folks. It was not unusual to find a family of four in a [illegible] carrying all their worldly possessions and some household goods, turned eastward with no fixed destination.

Practically no stocks of merchandise were saved. The railway machine shops were left intact as were storehouses of oil cloth, no effort having been made to destroy them as [illegible] probably been the case in evacuation in a foreign foe.

DOUGLAS FAIRBANDS AT BUTLER TODAY.

Douglas Fairbanks' last Artcraft picture, "The Knickerbocker Buckaroo," in seven lively and thrilling reels, will be the headline attraction at the Butler today. The production, besides having the energetic Doug in the leading role, can also boast a remarkable supporting cast. Doughie has been in constant training with Bull Montana, Spike Robinson and Kid McCoy and, to quote the screen athlete, "I was in the pink of condition when I made this film."

This production takes him out west where, in an effort to be an [illegible] and do things for other people, he gets into various melodramatic scrapes that create their own comic incidents. While Fairbanks is usually of an enthusiastic nature, he feels that "The Knickerbocker Buckaroo" gives him greater opportunities than were ever afforded him before in his screen career. He purchased a new horse, having retired "Star" from active service, and was in daily practice with it before the start of the regular day at the studio, getting acquainted and trying new stunts. Added to the feature will be the latest Pathe News. Remember, the first show will start promptly at 7 p. m.

Tomorrow, Clara Kimball Young, in "Cheating Cheaters," one of her very best pictures.

LONDON, Sept. 2.—Milk is going to cost 20 cents a quart in London during the coming winter, according to an estimate of the ministry of food. This, according to the ministry, is expected to be resisted by the producers, who do not believe the price is high enough. Infant mortality is expected to increase with the price of milk.

"A Good Buy"
This company has just opened another rich body containing probably a greater amount than the one they recently worked and shipped the highgrade from. It is estimated that they now have over $100,000 worth of rich ore in the present ore shoot with the full dimensions yet unexplored. Florence Divide appears to be an attractive purchase around present price. We have several large specimens on hand for display.
