WHAT WAS EXPECTED.

Rapid [illegible] of Divide stocks should not be treated as a surprising development. It is just what was expected. The only difference is that the boom overestimated between two and three months behind time. This is the stimulation forecast last spring when so many strong companies were launched and speculators began figuring when they might reasonably anticipate results from deep development. It was held that in three months, when most of the big companies would reach the brecciated zone, they would be in a position to announce surprises based on important ore discoveries. [illegible] which it most of these companies would reach an interesting stage in their development but the early [illegible] premature when a stoppage of work ensued. After allowing for the period of idleness it will be seen that the prospects for psychological moment for something to happen. That they will happen is hoped and seem as promising for most of the companies now on Divide as from the same distance to go. The equipment [illegible] therefore, is not presuming too much [illegible] reverses that will strike the optimistic [illegible] engaged in boosting stocks. The situation is [illegible] any investor is bound to reap his reward [illegible] the harvest, it would be natural to bring into prominence half a dozen names as important as that of the Jim Butler [illegible] Extension. The further fact that the [illegible] from the outside properties does not militate against [illegible] tenacity for the optimism engendered will radiate [illegible] Recognized limitations of [illegible] will not be confined to any one [illegible] Nature has been lavish in bestowing her wealth and it is remarkable that some companies carrying the name [illegible] articles of incorporation are actually mining [illegible] of fourteen to twenty miles from the Divide mines. [illegible] fall because at hand and investors and speculators can look forward entirely to an activity that will [illegible] their confidence.

WHAT IS A WILDCAT?

A Boston [illegible] visiting Tonopah discussing the feline tendell [illegible] speculation the other afternoon sprang a new idea [illegible] to wildcat investments. He contended that wildcats [illegible] offering of companies engaged in opening a mining property [illegible] where there had not been any shippers or tonnage to [illegible] stockholders [illegible] placing their money on the chance of [illegible] something. When informed that a wildcat in Nevada meant [illegible] stock where the sellers planted all the money in their guns and put nothing in the ground, the Boston man was extremely surprised and persisted in declaring that a [illegible] at was nothing investment in a new field. However [illegible] country the people take that view of it and [illegible] a sympathetic ear to the man who is engaged in [illegible] opening a new area of wealth. The Bonanza [illegible] statements and this paper is backed by the weapons of the numerous blue sky laws, many of which specifically [illegible] the danger of companies wildcatting. This did not [illegible] of the men engaged in new mining enterprises were to be classed as outlaws for if this construction were placed on the primary [illegible] of young mining companies, few mines would be developed. In the old business the term "wildcat" has a special significance. People are invited and urged to subscribe to wildcat oil stocks and the name is freely plastered all over the literature of such companies. The oil driller defines a company operation [illegible] as a "wildcat" and this does not necessarily imply that there is any rascality, deception or premeditated fraud. A "wildcat" oil promotion advertises its location as a long shot and the buyer of stock naturally expects to receive a greater allotment for his investment than would be the case were the well in a recognized gusher belt. It all depends on the point of view. If the Boston people are so warped in their mining knowledge that they style every prospect a "wildcat" it is time for Nevada promoters to prepare fresh literature that will stack away to the low standard of the Massachusetts intellect.

LET'S PULL TOGETHER.

After listening to many conflicting reports from gossips engaged in mischievously circulating reports damaging to the camp it is pleasant to state that the stage in Tonopah and the Divide is now set for a long period of prosperity. The advance of fifty cents a day and collateral concessions will operate to bring about a better state of affairs. The wage advance alone may not mean as much as the experiment of establishing a commissary for married men and fixing boarding house rates for the single men. This is a radical departure from anything that the camp has ever experienced but it is believed that the system will work out to mutual advantage. In the first place the new order of affairs brings home to the management of each company economic conditions to which they had not been [illegible]. The experimental period of sixty days may [illegible] sufficient to test out the new idea, but the experience of the first few months will suggest modifications and changes that will serve to manifold the advantages.

The proposition of the mine managers received the warmest encouragement from the men, who took occasion to offer various useful suggestions by which the scheme was rounded out to as near perfection as any preliminary could. In connection with the mooted point of a wage advance and reiterated reports that a strike was impending it should be said that from the beginning nothing but the best feeling prevailed, that at no time was there any thought of an ultimatum or the issuance of a strike order and that it was evident from the first conference that both sides would come together on common ground. Strike reports were wired from Tonopah by representatives of outside brokerage houses. These reports naturally caused some disquietude but the conference committees never had any doubt of the result which was reached last night and now merely awaits for the endorsement of the crafts.

Josephus Daniels' newspaper says: "McKinley was a very different kind of republican from Borah and Lodge!" He was like them in this, that Josephus Daniels' paper [illegible] never any good in him until after he was dead.

24 HOUR DIALS FINDING FAVOR

(Correspondence Associated Press)

LONDON, Oct. 12.—A committee has been appointed by the government to report on the advisability of adopting the twenty-four-hour method of expressing time which was put into effect about twelve years ago in western Canada and which is said to have many advocates in the United States. Italy for a long time has used the system and it is extensively employed on the continent for railway, postal and telegraph purposes. Astronomers always use it.

0 is the starting point of the twenty-four-hour method, representing midnight. The hours are then counted as on the ordinary clock face up to 12. After that 13 takes the place of 1, 14 of 2 and so on up to 23 and the reappearance of zero.

LARGEST WARSHIP IN THE WORLD IS LAID BY THE JAPS

(Correspondence Associated Press)

TOKIO, Oct. 9.—The 40,000-ton battleship Nagato, largest warship yet built in Japan and said to be the largest fighting ship in the world, will be launched from the naval yard at Kure on November 9. However, it is understood here that the American navy has projected dreadnaughts that will be even larger than the Nagato.

The Japanese leviathan will be armed with sixteen-inch guns having a range of forty miles and her engines are expected to develop a speed of twenty-five knots. She will carry several airplanes and will be armed with six anti-aircraft guns.

Building of the huge vessel has been delayed by the scarcity of workers and changes in the plan of construction as a result of lessons from the Jutland battle.

When the Nagato is completed, building of the Kaga, her sister ship, will be commenced.

Governor Lowden, one of the aspirants for the presidency, was the son of a blacksmith and had a poor start in the world but he made up for lost time by marrying a rich woman. But we have heard of freak men doing that very thing.

POTATOES HIGHGRADE AROUND VIENNA

(Correspondence Associated Press)

VIENNA, Oct. 2.—Herr Stockler, minister of agriculture and peasant member of parliament, declared recently that it was not possible for the peasantry to supply Vienna with another pound of potatoes. This week he was driving at fast speed late at night [illegible] car was stopped by a guard of the Workmen and Soldiers' Searchers and 165 pounds of potatoes taken from him. He violated all the food laws in trying to bring into Vienna such a quantity of potatoes.

Now [illegible] the people had the old-fashioned potatoes and sugar to fall back on we would hear about the alleged shortage of the beet and cane varieties.
