PERSONAL

W. R. GIBSON, the attorney, and Frank J. Cavanaugh, returned last evening from Round Mountain where they were called by legal business.

JOHN H. MILLER, of the Divide Cons., and other Divide companies, motored in last evening from his home in Hawthorne.

F. A. SIMON, president of the Simon Silver Lead Mines company, motored up from his home in Mina last evening. Mr. Simon has not been in Tonopah since his trip east and assures the people of Nevada that the interest in mining properties is growing steadily in New York and that he looks for greater activity as soon as the political situation clears up.

MISS NORA REDINGTON, the affable day clerk of the Mizpah hotel, is back at her former post after a short vacation.

THOMAS O'DONOGHUE, the commercial man from San Francisco, is visiting the local merchants.

GOODWIN TRENT, of San Francisco, representing a machinery house, is spending a few days in camp.

M. J. SCANLAN, the Reno attorney, was among the arrivals here today.

MR. AND MRS. M. B. ASTON were visitors from Goldfield last evening.

R. T. ROCHFORD, of Silver Peak, commissioner of Esmeralda county, is here today attending a joint meeting with the Nye county board.

R. J. DAVEY, Chauncey Booth and Robert McAfee, formed a party that left this afternoon to visit Lafayette. Mr. McAfee is the pioneer shipper of that district as he mined and shipped considerable tonnage twelve years ago.

ROUGH STUFF ALL CUT OUT

(By Associated Press)

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 7.—Those who may come to San Francisco at the time of the democratic convention the latter part of June with the idea of experiencing a thrill by visiting the "Barbary Coast" will be disappointed.

Many of the resorts celebrated in story and verse as the scenes of desperate adventure, where cheap boarding house operators, commonly known as "crimps," freely plied their trade of shanghaiing sailors for unscrupulous sea captains, are permanently closed. Others have but the name of the places that once flamed with color, music and revelry.

Long before national prohibition was generally considered a possibility, "Barbary Coast," a section of Pacific street extending back from the bay front a half dozen blocks to where Chinatown touches the Italian district, had been rendered innocuous by the prohibition of the sale of liquor in the long row of dance halls there.

The main artery from this district to Market street, San Francisco's principal thoroughfare, is Keraney street, where once it is declared, within an hour enough reckless spirits could be picked up to start almost any sort of desperate enterprise. Now Kearney is one of the quietest and most respectable business streets.

Learn Road Building From Romans

Good and properly permanent roads are still something of an unsolved problem. It has been suggested in Scientific American that road engineers might get much useful instruction in road building by studying the roads built by the Romans a thousand years ago, which, except for neglect of the surface, are still giving good service.

AMUSEMENTS

A GREAT BILL AT THE BUTLER TONIGHT.

There will be a great bill at the Butler tonight—"Will Rogers, in "Almost a Husband," and a cast of thoroughbreds in a great dog drama which is the novelty of the year.

Who is Will Rogers? He is the world's champion lariat thrower; he is one of America's most popular humorists; he is a star of the Ziegfeld Follies; he is the homliest man on the screen—and the funniest. "Almost a Husband" which will be shown today, is his latest picture. Don't miss it, for it's the comedy treat of the season. A human star in a human picture about human people. It was strange that the prettiest girl in Ebenezer, the daughter of a banker, should have married the homeliest man in town and as poor as a church-mouse, and wasn't it still stranger that she decided that she wanted to stay married. Did you ever hear of anyone legally married in a game of forfeits; and without an ordained clergyman and a marriage license? Can it be done? See this picture and have the time of your life—laughs, surprises, entertainment—all the way through. And do not overlook the big dog show, the novelty of the year. A big dog drama put on by an entire cast of dogs—no one else in sight. Let's go to the dogs—just today.

Tomorrow, Enid Bennett, in one of the very best pictures that she—or any other star, ever appeared. Its name is "Stepping Out," and it is some picture—absolutely guaranteed. The other attraction of tomorrow's bill is Pearl White, in "The Black Secret."

Monday, "The Spoilers." First night show at 6:45.

Location books are now for sale at The Bonanza office.

I. W. W. DEMURRED IS OVERRULED BY COURT

standing" can easily understand every word of the indictment and its meaning except possibly certain words mentioned herein later, and these he can acquaint himself with readily. A person of "common understanding" is not one merely ignorant, but one who can read and write what is going on in the world about him and the language used in connection with current events as detailed in newspapers and magazines including some acquaintance with the dictionary and its use.

6. The usual words not defined in the indictment are syndicalism and sabotage, as I understand the argument. Syndicalism is defined by the statute of 1919, and that particular form of the crime with which the defendant is charged is clearly defined in the indictment, "helping to organize, etc." Sabotage is defined in Webster's International Dictionary, 1916 edition, page 1864: "Malicious waste or destruction of an employer's property by workmen during labor troubles," and by the Century dictionary, Vol. VIII, page 5288: "Malicious injury done by an employe to the industrial establishment of his employer." The latter definition appeared prior to 1911, allowing plenty of time for persons of common understanding to get acquainted with it.

7. This is probably the most serious criticism of the indictment in that the wording used is "an organization . . . former to teach and advocate and which does teach and advocate sabotage, etc.," and here we have nothing more than the wording of the statute. But I believe the words "teach and advocate" are sufficient, and that it is not at all necessary to describe the method of teaching, how or when it was done, or its results. To organize or help organize a society that teaches sabotage is the gist of the crime as charged against the defendant, and the I. W. W. and one of its allied unions are named as such group of persons in the indictment.

Criminal syndicalism may consist of four elements: Organize or help organize; society; to teach; sabotage, etc.

These are all included in the indictment clearly and fully enough to acquaint the defendant with what is charged against him, to put him on his defense, and to prevent his conviction a second time for the same offense.

8. The crime of criminal syndicalism having been described by our legislature, we must all be presumed to know enough about it to avoid a violation of it, or take the consequences. It is not necessary to charge in the indictment that the defendant was familiar with it or that he knew his methods were unlawful or knew that he was committing a felony or that he knew the I. W. W. teaches sabotage. If he did commit a felony and the indictment makes that charge clear and complete, it is enough. If the I. W. W. does not teach sabotage, etc., the prosecution against him will fail, because an essential element will be lacking. He is charged with being a member of it, and if it does teach such things, then he as a member must have known that face—no other view is tenable or sensible.

The demurrer is overruled.
