STREETS OF TONOPAH LIVELY LAST EVENING

The streets of Tonopah presented a lively appearance last night as a result of a large sum of money being distributed among the mine and mill workers of the district. All men were paid by check and a majority of the workers visited the various mercantile establishments and transacted business in a quiet and orderly way. There was no disorder of any kind except for one fistic encounter that was brought about through a misunderstanding.

Mr. Borcherding says that there are [illegible] a village of 200 miners and [illegible] prospectors in that section, and [illegible] ground has been staked for [illegible] in every direction and he predicts a real old-fashioned mining [illegible] will develop within the next [illegible] weeks as a result of the many [illegible] that have been made of [illegible] and the further fact that the [illegible] property is to undergo a thorough systematic campaign of development by the Orleans Hornsilver Mines company.

Mr. Borcherding has been interested at Hornsilver for the last nine [illegible] and is the owner of the Jacks group of three claims, situated two miles south of the Orleans property. The Jacks has been developed by a 250-foot shaft and in the bottom of the workings there is showing a [illegible] foot body of ore which gives assay values of $213.70 a ton in silver. The vein has a width of from [illegible] to 12 feet and the surface croppings for 200 feet show average values of $18.90 a ton. At a distance of 2000 feet to the northwest of the shaft workings a new mineral find has just been made, one foot of ore being exposed in a prospect hole that returns assay values of $87.50 a ton, with 88 ounces in gold, the balance being silver. In the bottom of the Jacks shaft there is also showing four feet of ore that assays $34.50 a ton.

Mr. Borcherding also owns the Hornsilver Pay group of six claims upon which a 30-foot shaft has been sunk. The vein at this depth has a width of from four to six feet and assay values vary from $10 to $50 a ton.

Six properties now are undergoing development in the Hornsilver district, according to Mr. Borcherding, and the entire country is alive with prospectors. Harry Devotie is employing four men on his property and is drifting on a big vein of ore from the bottom of the 250-foot shaft that carries average values of $40 a ton in silver.

COTTONWOOD IS COMING SILVER ORE PRODUCER

Advices from the range of Cottonwood indicate 318 miles from Tonopah, on the revenue canyon and of Mr. Kelly, are to be convinced that the showing on the New Era property is most promising. The shaft has now attained a depth of 67 feet and for approximately 12 feet a body of silver-lead ore has been exposed assaying [illegible] while assay values of [illegible] are contained.

The New Era group consists of 12 claims and has been undergoing development for the last three years, being owned by Jack Whitman, Pete Wysocki and Frank Sharp, the discoverers of the mines, and the boys feel they have a coming top producer in the making. Jackrabbit is the nearest shipping point being connected by the Pioche Pacific which connects with the Clark road at Caliente.

Jack Whitman, who has been in Tonopah for the last three weeks awaiting word from his two associates, whom he has been expecting to arrive here every day, was informed yesterday through a letter that the boys were stranded at the [illegible] owing to the stripping of the [illegible] on their automobile. The mishap occurred at McCutcheon Springs nearly a month ago and Pete and Frank found it necessary to walk 12 miles to Pine creek, where they secured help. PIOCHE MAKES BIG PROGRESS SHIPPING ORES

In the year 1906, just 15 years ago, mining engineers employed by Senator W. A. Clark, president of the Salt Lake route, made an extensive examination of the mines of the Pioche district with the object of determining the advisability of building the Pioche & Caliente branch line. The submitted report showed that 292,000 tons of ore were available for shipment. Senator Clark had previously agreed with the Nevada Utah Mine & Smelters corporation that if they would supply the material for the proposed railroad that his company would build it and rebate to the mining company the cost of such material in transportation of ore and supplies. After receiving these flattering reports of competent mining engineers, Senator Clark announced that he would not hold the Nevada Utah company to its agreement, but that the Salt Lake road would build without any assistance.

Since December, 1907, when the first cars of ore were transported over the road, the total tonnage of ore transported to the Salt Lake smelters has reached the large total of [illegible] tons with a revenue to the transportation of over $5,000,000. Today the Pioche district has available for shipment 550,000 tons of shipping ore, twice the tonnage promised by Senator Clark's mining engineers 15 years ago. Engineering advices were the basis of the building of the best paying branch of the Salt Lake route, and engineering advices should cause the [illegible] and the assistance of [illegible] adjusted rates to enable [illegible] large [illegible] a profit to all concerned [illegible] Record.
