AMUSEMENTS

"A PRIVATE SCANDAL" AT BUTLER THEATRE TODAY

When the Realart company determined to celebrate its second anniversary with a special production, they combed the industry for someone to fittingly occupy the star part in the story written by Hector Turnbull. It was not mere chance that Miss DeAvoy was chosen to play the role of the petite French model, Jeanne Malleret, in "A Private Scandal," which will be the feature offering at the Butler today. Miss DeAvoy has already made a reputation for herself in Sentimental Tommy, "The Devil's Garden," "Truth About Husbands," "Enchanted Valley" and other pictures. In "A Private Scandal" Miss DeAvoy is called upon to portray a sophisticated role, that of an [illegible] who [illegible] Williams, who has [illegible] Tonopah News.

AMERICANS TRADING BLAGOVESHCHENSK

(By Associated Press)

VLADIVOSTOK, Sept. 1.—The Daily News agency reports that various American and British firms have been established in Sakhalin on the border between China and the Amur province—intend to start trading with Blagoveshchensk.

Philadelphia will take a straw vote on whether its citizens want beer and light wine. Probably, regardless of the result, there will be charges that ballot boxes were stuffed.

BULLET FOUND THAT HIT MARK 58 YEARS AGO

(By Associated Press)

KELSO, Wash., Sept. 1.—P. J. Knapp, a Civil war veteran after 58 years has traced the course of a bullet he fired at the siege of Vicksburg.

Some time ago Mr. Knapp read a news dispatch saying that W. A. Meadows, a Confederate veteran of Lincoln, Alabama, had coughed up a bullet which was shot into his eye at Vicksburg. Mr. Meadows, the dispatch said, was a member of the [illegible] regiment. Mr. Knapp recalled an incident at the siege when he and three other members of the 20th Iowa volunteers were called upon to silence a sharpshooter [illegible] who was firing through a small hole in a house at some point.

After the firing stopped, the sharpshooter came down. He was disarmed and it was discovered that he had been shot in the eye.

Writing to Meadows, Knapp wrote: "If we recall to mind the man behind the rifle plate and the bullet entered his right eye, I hearing received a photograph of Meadows and a few shadows. The two veterans have entered a correspondence and are going to meet the [illegible]."

WOMAN SAID BOOZE DOSED WITH ACID

(By Associated Press)

TACOMA, Wash., Sept. 1.—The "case of Richard the Prince John" is now on trial for the third time, and he is willing to prove it angels and saints. Mrs. Mary Hunter, who was before his honor recently, asserted that liquor found at her home had been mixed with carbolic acid and lye to make it undrinkable. She said she was going to have a home [illegible]. Hulbert remarked the [illegible]. He produced a bottle of [illegible] and took a double-sized drink.
