DEMOCRATS DECEIVING THE WOMEN

The most amazing feature of the campaign being waged against the enactment of an American protective tariff is the brazen admission of the democratic press and the importing interests that they count upon successfully deceiving the women and the retail interests and to the ultimate woman consumer.

If the women and the retailers would stop for a moment to reason sales the situation they would not escape the conclusion that the campaign of the importing interests is inherently deceptive. These interests are openly spending hundreds of thousands of dollars to defeat the enactment of the proposed tariff.

They are keeping a corps of speakers traveling throughout the country addressing merchant associations, conventions, chambers of commerce, etc., in opposition to the proposed tariff. They are sending out tons of literature to the local retail interests and to membership of clubs, etc., against the proposed tariff. They are sending out letters under first class postage to hundreds of thousands of people protesting against the enactment of the proposed tariff. They are employing writers to produce feature articles against the proposed tariff. Even the merest amateur knows that this sort of a campaign is costing tremendous sums of money.

These lines of it claim they are animated only by the unselfish desire to save the woman consumer money by the high purpose of preventing her being robbed by the American manufacturer. That the importing interests of this country should expend such enormous sums for the wholly disinterested and altruistic purpose of saving money to the American woman and the American retailer is too silly a proposition to be considered seriously by anyone giving it a second thought.

The conclusion is logical and unescapable that importing interests which are spending these enormous sums of money to defeat a protective tariff must be profiting many times those sums of money by the free trade law which we now have. They are financing the tremendous campaign against the pending tariff bill not out of a desire to save the American women any money but out of a desire to continue conditions that enable them to rob the American consumers by buying cheaply made goods abroad and selling them in this country at profits amounting from 200 to several thousand per cent.

The retailer outside of the metropolitan cities has cause for grave alarm at this campaign. The large importing interests, who also conduct a mail order business, are buying abroad in ship load lots. The ultimate destination of a great percentage of and there is no gainsaying the of the local merchant in the average American city and the smaller towns. There is not the least doubt but that the local trade territory of the home merchant will soon be flooded with these cheap goods purchased abroad, flooded by the large department stores and importing interests that are now trying to enlist the support of the home merchant to defeat the pending protective tariff.

The successful culmination of this program of the importing interests and large department stores which have a mail order business means not only the invasion of the trade territory of the home merchant, which in itself would be disastrous, but it means the throwing out of employment of American working people who cannot produce articles in competition with the articles bought abroad. This will deprive the local merchants of the patronage of the working people who will be without a job and therefore without the means wherewith to buy.

IMMIGRATION

Representative Johnson announces that at the next session of congress he will introduce a bill to make our restrictive immigration law considerably more exclusive and stringent and to render it permanent. It now has two years to run on its present basis of three per cent. These goods is the trade territory fact that public sentiment will favor the enactment of just such a statute as Mr. Johnson has in mind. It is undeniable that the great majority of immigrants now seeking admission are undesirables. They are the off scourings of Russia and of southern Europe and they come through our gates with a feeling of distinct hostility to American institutions. They are again the government and they immediately proceed to demonstrate. Imbued with communistic ideas and anarchic schemes of domining they assail our too liberal laws and proceed on the theory that they enjoy rights which the descendants of revolutionary sires never even claimed. They boldly and openly seek to destroy our government and to set up in its place some such miserable rule as that which obtains in Russia. Mr. Johnson proposes greatly to reduce the per cent of immigration and to submit those that are admitted to the severest tests of fitness including an intensive examination of their records as citizens of the countries of their nativity. There is no questioning the fact that our country has not been capable of assimilating the great mass to sodden matter that has been herded through Ellis Island during the past few years and that it is not digesting even the greatly reduced quantity that it has taken into its system during the two years just ended. There is already too much toxic matter from previous years left in our innards to take any addition whatsoever with advantage or even harmlessly. The trouble is that today far too many Americans need to be schooled in the principles of Americanism to talk of instructing foreigners.

FOREIGN INVASION

Foreign propagandists invaded this country to drag us into the league of nations. Foreign propagandists are still active in their efforts to effect cancellation of the foreign debts to the United States.

The country is swarming with foreign commissions besieging the state department and circulating publicity material designed to sway American foreign policy. Foreign emisarries have not ceased to importune the American government for loans.

Foreign agents, even foreign ambassadors, have been working to prevent the passage of the protective tariff bill which would carry out a distinctively American and domestic policy. Foreign influences are at work to defeat the ship subsidy measure. And, finally, mischiefmakers of foreign birth have united in an attack on the federal constitution and have pledged themselves to work for the emasculation of the United States supreme court.

Is it not time the American people got together and told these foreign meddlers where they belong?

ENOUGH FOOD, BUT DIVERTED

According to some reports, there is to be a big harvest of foodstuffs in Russia this year, amply sufficient to feed the population if it is properly distributed. Improper distribution and conservation was one of the principle causes of the recent famine. The soviet government confiscated much of the food in the form of a tax, and a great deal of it was used to feed huge armies while the peasants who raised it were permitted to starve. The soviet theories of government are as destructive of agriculture as they are of any other private enterprise, and until they undergo a change the food problem in Russia will probably persist.

GREAT DEMAND FOR BONDS

Every week witnesses the absorption by the people of huge new issues of bonds. They are of all sorts, foreign, railroad, industrial, public utility and municipal, and all find a ready market. The purchase of new bonds average ten million a day. Evidently the country is highly prosperous, despite the efforts of some classes of our citizens to stem the rising tide of business.
