

Local Dettings.

To Correspondents.

"Why Aunt Don't Never Married," "The Empty Cradle," the latter in verse and both by L. A. J., received and accepted will be published hereafter, as will also an ode to "Spring," contributed by a little eleven-year-old girl.

Thanks.

Our thanks are due to Dr. Edward M. Millard, of Grand Cotuit, La., for copies of late issues of New Orleans papers.

Beauty's Organ Factory.

It is said that Beauty's large organ factory, at Washington, N. J., is turning out over 50 organs a day, and that the demand for the Beauty instrument is on the increase. The factory is running night and day to fill orders promptly.

Lost by Elms.

A dwelling, occupied by J. Walter Carpenter, at Bead's Creek, belonging to John P. Ching, took fire on the 22nd inst., but was discovered in time to prevent serious damage. The loss is very slight and is fully insured in the Royal of Liverpool.

From Sergeant to Surgeon.

Among the graduates of the College of Physicians and Surgeons, Baltimore, we notice the name of Dr. J. T. Heard, of this county, who has been a policeman in that city since 1872 and is now a Sergeant on the Force. He has been a most efficient officer, and his friends are confident that he will wear his diploma with as much honor as he has worn his star.

Journalists.

The Hon. Geo. Colton has retired from the editorial management of the Baltimore Gazette. Mr. Crossland, who succeeds him, is a veteran journalist and we hope that he may meet with every success. The Gazette will be, as heretofore, an outspoken exponent of true democracy.

We are in receipt of copies of the Star, a new Baltimore evening journal. It is small in size but bright and new. We hope that it may meet with the success it deserves.

A Narrow Escape.

Jerry, a little son of Mr. Jas. W. Wrightson, whilst crossing St. Jerome's creek on Friday last, in a canoe loaded with oysters, was overtaken by a squall of wind and the sail in jibing suddenly, threw him over in the water about ten yards from the boat. In the meantime, the boat sank, and the little boy, after a desperate struggle, succeeded in catching the top of the mast, which he held until assistance from the shore reached him.

Recovered.

It will be remembered that in our report of the capture of the pleasure boat Edith, published in the Beacon some weeks ago, we made mention of the loss of a valuable gun belonging to Mr. Richard Moore, of our village, which was thrown into the water when the vessel occurred. Though diligent search was made for its recovery at the time, it proved to be without effect. A few days ago, however, a Mr. Bland, whilst oystering near the place of the capture, found the gun, recovered it and restored it to its owner.

Our Hay Scales.

Our Hay Scales are in rapid progress towards completion, and ere this notice reaches the reader, will be in condition to do all the weighing you want. A slight tariff, we suppose, will be levied on all who use them, but it will doubtless be so trifling that none will object to paying it. It is the enterprise of a joint stock association of our citizens, not to make money, but to secure fair dealing in all matters of heavy weight traffic. The Scales are located in the main street of the village, near the old Saw Pit, and nearly between the Big Brown and the store of Mrs. Hammett.

Pub. Decs.

We are reminded to thank our immediate representative in Congress, Gen. Chapman, for sending us the daily "Record" of the debates in Congress. We also return thanks, to whomsoever due, for the daily journals of our State Legislature. In making a similar acknowledgment for the receipt of these journals of Legislative proceedings, the Port Tobacco Independent recklessly asserts that they make most excellent wrapping paper for newspaper mailing purposes. We never employ any but the best article in this office. Seriously, the accounts they furnish of Legislative proceedings are so mixed and muddled that it is difficult to tell "whether from which" what has been done or to what extent done. But, then, we are no Philadelphia lawyer, you know.

The Whipping Post.

The bill to punish wife-beaters at the whipping post, passed the Senate on Friday morning last. The bill originated in the House of Delegates, and passed that body with but slight opposition, but in the Senate it met with much objection from certain Senators although a decided majority were in favor of the bill. The Senate considered the bill on its third reading on Thursday evening, and it provoked such a discussion that the evening session was continued until next day. Among the Senators who dissented from the measure, were Messrs. Brattan, Allison, Lloyd, Steiner and Race in opposition, and Messrs. Wells, Vandewater, Gill, Bond, and several others in favor. The vote was taken about 10 minutes after midnight, and resulted in the passage of the bill, by yeas 16, nays 7.

Soldier Meetings.

A meeting of all persons, resident of the county, who served in the Army and Navy of the United States during the late Civil War is called in another column to assemble at the Court House on Tuesday, the 21st of March, next, for the purpose of forming an association "to better the condition of those who are justly entitled to the merit of saving the Union." We hope there may be a full attendance on hand and that a successful association may be formed. The mention of this meeting suggests to us, that though the Confederates have already formed a similar association in the county and have organized by the adoption of a Constitution and the election of officers, it is still small in numbers and in an embryonic condition. It would not be well for the President to issue a call, designating a day in March Court for a meeting of members and all entitled to become members? We think it would prove a most eligible occasion for increasing our membership and infusing new life into our association.

Land Transfers.

The property known as Watt's, in this district, has been lately sold at private sale by the owner, Col. Miles, to James Cooper, Jas. E. and H. O. Greenwell, for $1,200. Col. Miles also sold within the past few days a tract of land in St. Andrew's Forest known as the Globe to Capt. A. A. Lawrence. Price unknown. Capt. Lawrence sold to Col. Miles within the past week a bit of land, lying immediately behind the property of Mrs. Downs and the late purchase of Mr. Boyd, in our village, containing about three-fourths of an acre, for $150. Mr. Boyd subsequently purchased of Col. Miles the property at the same price the Col. paid for it.

A Rare Gold Coin.

We were shown the other day a ten dollar gold piece of the obverse of 1861. It is said that coins of this kind and date are in great demand among coin collectors on account of the rarity of these issues now to be found, the extrinsic value being even greater than the real. Whether the present owner would dispose of it, we did not inquire. There is quite an interesting history connected with this coin, which we may refer to in the future.

Scientific American.

We are pleased to learn that the Scientific American has risen Phoenix like from the ashes of the recent great fire in New York, and is now regularly issued from its new quarters No. 261 Broadway, corner of Warren Street. Its subscription lists, &c., were preserved in fire-proof safes, while its types, plates, &c., being in another building were unharmed. The suspension for even a brief season of such a journal as this would be a public calamity.

There will be considerable change left in your pocket books this season, if you will patronize the acknowledged leaders in the clothing trade in Baltimore. Their superior garments for men, boys and children, insure a style and elegance not obtainable elsewhere, and they carry the largest stock of clothing in the State, and sell it for the least money. When you go to the city, go at once to C. N. Oehm & Son, Hanover and Pratt streets, who also give a handsome souvenir to each patron.

St. Inigoer's Items.

It is certainly a shame—and this is an exceedingly moderate expression—to let the last resting place of hundreds of brave men, who left their homes to battle with a strong and implacable foe, pass into disrepute. The Point Lookout Cemetery has been neglected for years. Weeds, briars, &c., have taken the place of the rose and verbenas. If, from one short word (love) all pleasures flow, would it not be a testimony of grateful affection to the memory of those self-sacrificing heroes who, "far now from home, and their native shore,—sleep in death, and bear of wars no pulse?" to beautify the surroundings of their sepulchre? A little cleaning up, and planting a few varieties of roses, lilies, &c., in season, we opine, would be a pleasant task for the young gentlemen and ladies of the district. We do not ask a transplantation of the stately oaks of Babylon and the red-eyed cedars of Lebanon. No! But we do request that something be done to render beautiful, Point Lookout Cemetery.

We have no marriages and deaths to chronicle, but sickness in the way of inflammatory rheumatism is increasing. The weather—ah! well, it is raining at present, and the cold winds from the frozen regions are anything but pleasant. It is predicted by a few of our would-be-vevor-wice citizens that mother earth will soon give with the cloud-capped Hump in whiteness; that is, a great snow storm will, ere long, visit us. Never did Ulysses take more pains with his beloved Telephus, that our local weather prophets exercise in endeavoring to impress their "signs" of prospective changes of the atmosphere upon the minds of their credulous admirers. News scarce, and travelers are frequently thrown in a paroxysm of rage in consequence of delay and otherwise disagreeable toads.

(Local Correspondence.) St. Inigoer's Bay, March 7th, 1882. Messrs. Editors—Tommy Greenwell's Art Gallery has a great attraction to children as well as for grown up people who have judgment and artistic taste. Any one who appreciates art can spend hours in viewing and admiring his wonderful, elegant and varied paintings. They are all works of merit and master-pieces of art. The most attractive point in the gallery is the Sleighing Scene. He has lately added several very beautiful Chromes to his collection. The following are a few of the most interesting ones. The Little Surgeon, the Neapolitan Boy, Among the Blossoms, The Angel of Mercy, Pot Luck, The Fox and Ducks, and many other beautiful and interesting paintings, at which the visitors can gaze for hours with increasing interest. He intends soon to add to this collection the Statue of the "Greek Slave," which he intends to place in juxtaposition with the "American Amazon." Any person, who appreciates art, will be amply repaid for calling, especially if they should be in want of good local or real. Dr. Bickhams has at last finished removing all the rubbish of his old house and leveling the foundation, and has built upon the site of the "Old Tavern" a new monument as a memorial of departed worth. It is a great improvement to the old place and adds greatly to its appearance. There has been a great many deaths this Winter. Diphtheria, pleurisy, pneumonia, and all the other ills that mortal flesh is heir to, has been doing their work of death, and many a prone head has been laid low. The grim monster, death with expanded wings is always hovering near, ready to seize upon the unwary victim and bear him to the cold and silent tomb. How often do we see the strong man and beautiful young maiden who have just entered upon the arena of life, buoyant and elastic with life and hope, who have pictured to themselves a long life of pleasure and happiness. In a moment, the grim monster is upon them and they are laid upon the cold and pale in the embrace of death. Life is short and uncertain. How important then that we should improve each passing hour? If we would pause occasionally and consider that we have immortal souls; if we would look beyond this earth and see what a beautiful home is awaiting our coming; if we would permit our hearts to be true to themselves; to feel that there are sweet companionship to be found there—perhaps some loved ones—what a happy change would be wrought in our nature! How much better fitted we would then be to enjoy the blessings of this life and to prepare ourselves for the life to come!

In speaking of The Grave, Irving says: "It buries every error, covers every defect, extinguishes every resentment. From its peaceful bosom springs anew but fond regret and tender recollections. Who can look down upon the grave of an enemy and not feel a compassion that he should have wandered with the poor husband of earth's shallow mourning before him?" H. B.

The American Farmer for March 14, still further improved in appearance and convenience by having its leaves stitched and trimmed, in full of seasonable articles—the important subjects of live stock, fruit growing and gardening, and the application of commercial and domestic fertilizers, receiving, as is the rule in this practical journal, the largest share of space and attention. Dr. Thomas Pollard, ex-Commissioner of Agriculture of Virginia, now one of the editors, addresses himself to the needs and opportunities of agriculture in Maryland, Virginia and the other States of the eastern South. Dwelling with emphasis upon the desirability and adaptability for them of grass, stock raising and mixed husbandry. An attractive home department is provided for the ladies of the farm on a mixed farming, improved live stock, fruit growing, tacking and tobacco, and the editors say a treat is in store for their readers. The Farmer is a friend whose semi-monthly visits should be welcomed by every farmer. It is published by Sam'l Sands & Son, Baltimore, at $1.50 a year, or at $1 to clubs of five or more.

Sarsaparilla. It is a compound of the virtues of sarsaparilla, milling, mandarin, yucca, with the iodine of potash and iron, all powerful blood-making, blood-cleansing, and life-sustaining elements. It is the purest, safest, and most effective alterative medicine known or available to the public. The action of medicine and chemistry have never produced so valuable a remedy, nor one so potent to cure all diseases resulting from impure blood. It cures Scrofula and all scrofulous diseases, Erysipelas, Rose or St. Anthony's Fire, Pimples and Face-grubs, Fustulas, Blotches, Boils, Tumors, Tetter, Humors, Salt Rheum, Scald-head, Ring-worm, Ulcers, Sores, Rheumatism, Mercurial Diseases, Neuralgia, Female Weakness and Irregularities, Jaundice, Affections of the Liver, Dyspepsia, Emaciation, and General Debility. By its searching and cleansing quality it purges out the foul corruptions which contaminate the blood and cause derangement and decay. It stimulates and calibrates the vital functions, promotes energy and strength, restores and preserves health, and induces new life and vigor throughout the whole system. No sufferer from any disease which arises from impurity of the blood need despair who will give AYER'S SARSAPARILLA a fair trial. It is fully to experiment with the numerous low-priced mixtures of cheap materials, and without medicinal virtues, offered as blood-purifiers, while disease becomes more firmly seated. AYER'S SARSAPARILLA is a medicine of such concentrated curative power that it is shown to be far the best, cheapest, and most reliable blood-purifier known. Physicians know its composition, and prescribe it. It has been widely used for forty years, and has won the unqualified confidence of millions whom it has benefited. Prepared by Dr. J. C. Ayer & Co., Lowell, Mass. SOLD BY ALL DRUGGISTS EVERYWHERE.
