TRANSFER ARMORY SITE

Architects Will Begin Work on Lebanon Building

Lebanon, Nov. 11.—The deed has been filed in the Court House, here, for the transfer of the Nutting plot at Third and Chestnut streets, to the local Armory Board at a consideration of $5,000. The members of the committee were obliged to execute a note to make up the deficiency which existed in the purchase price and pledged money collected.

The survey of the ground has already been made and the architects, McCormick and French, of Wilkes-Barre, will come on here this week to make the final arrangements for the construction of the proposed building. The Lebanon Armory will cost $25,000. The front will be handsomely terraced. The Nutting plot is 20 by 198 feet.

AMUSEMENTS

MAJESTIC

To-morrow night, Fannie Ward in "Madam President."

Friday afternoon and evening, Burlesque.

Saturday afternoon and evening, "September Morn."

Friday, November 20, Rose Stahl.

ORPHEUM

Every afternoon and evening, high class vaudeville.

COLONIAL

Daily continuous vaudeville and pictures.

Fannie Ward in "Madam President"

Few plays of modern times have produced characters as complex or variously-sided as that of Gobette, star role of the French farce comedy, "Madam President." This play is to be seen here at the Majestic to-morrow evening with Miss Fannie Ward as the star. Quite naturally, Miss Ward will play the part of Gobette.

Let it be known that Gobette is a Parisian actress. She is appearing with her traveling company, "The Pet of the Harem," in her little French village of Grey. She gives a supper party, several of her guests are a bit too boisterous and she is ejected from the only hotel in the town by order of the village president, Galipaux. The scene changes to the Minister's offices in Paris where complications increase. The play ends in the reception room of the Hotel de la Paix in Paris and with a graceful, happy and altogether satisfactory finale. Adv.

"September Morn"

At last "September Morn" has been dramatized. It was bound to occur at some time and the transforming of Paul Chabas' painting into three acts of girls, music and mirth has happened. Arthur Gillespie did it. He wrote the play; Frank Tannehill, Jr., staged it; Virgil Bennett taught "September Morn" how to dance—but the arch conspirator is Nat Phillips, the original joy germ. He is the star of the big new musical comedy along with Hazel Shannon, Adelyn Estee and other bright comedians.

"September Morn" comes with a LaSalle Opera House, Chicago, reputation where it recently had a big run to the Majestic Saturday matinee and evening. Adv.

At the Orpheum

Stored up in the "think-tank" of every vaudeville lover is a list of popular players who have been here from time to time. And naming over some of them no one will overlook Conlin, Steele and Carr, the youthful and breezy trio of song, dance and comedy artists, who were here on two other occasions and the second time established a re-enforced host of friends. A pretty girl, youthful and full of life, and who wears several interesting costume creations, a comedian who is also a piano player and the third, a youth who sings and dances with the girl, comprise the trio. Their material is snappy and full of life and they seem to get as much fun out of their foolishness as the audience does. Several new song hits are interpolated and their comedy gags are new.

Happily it is not so much the material that the trio has that proves their greatest asset, but it is the way they do it. Vivacity and pleasing personalities that do "get over" are the qualities that always make this act a rock-solid hit. They are one of the big hits on the most popular bill of the Orpheum's new season. Appearing as one of the popular turns with Ruth Roye, the immensely popular singer of popular songs; also with "The Lawn Party," a rattling good juvenile production, and several other interesting attractions. Adv.

At the Colonial

A "nifty" musical comedy duo, comprising a pretty and clever girl and just as pleasing a youth, are scoring at the Colonial with a corking good turn of song, dance and sparking repartee. Another winner of the bill is the Oxford Four, male harmonists, in new song hits and some old favorites. The Brightons offer an interesting "novelty in rags" and J. C. Lewis and his "kiddies" are also delighting immensely. "The Painted Lady", a splendid moving picture feature, with Blanch Sweet and Dorothy Gish in the leading roles, is also an added attraction of a bill that appears for its final engagements at the "Busy Corner" to-night. "The House That Jack Built," the finest and most pretentious musical comedy yet shown at the "Busy Corner," will headline there for the last half of the week. Adv.

ADDITION TO COURT HOUSE

Contract Has Been Let in Carlisle and Work Will Start in Next Few Days

Carlisle, Nov. 11.—Plans, specifications and contracts for a proposed addition to the county Court House yesterday were approved by the Court and will be begun at once. April 15 is given as the date for completing the operations.

The contract covers the erection of an addition at the west end of the present structure, to Court House avenue, of the same style, architecture and material as the old building, and was let in four parts. H. A. Lackey received the contract for the main work at a bid of $9,995 and also that for the electrical work at $225. Neusbaum and Bettilyon received the plumbing contract at a proposal of $1,950 and the heating and ventilating at $365. The entire cost is $12,535.

Hotel Has Been Closed

Carlisle, Nov. 11.—The Washington house, for many years a licensed hotel conducted by the Sheafer family, has been closed. The proprietor, Robert Sheafer, has left town and several weeks ago the household goods were sold. Before that the property was sold at a Sheriff's sale, the purchaser being Dr. Lee, who owns the adjoining property. For the past few weeks the bar only remained open and the conduct at the place was such that it was ordered closed. Detective Bentley was instructed by the Court to lock it up, and this was done. The new owners will use the property for other purposes.

Three Deer Killed in Valley

Carlisle, Nov. 11.—In the initial hours of the 1914 deer hunting season, a beautiful specimen of the antlered monarch of the woods was brought to bay and killed yesterday morning by the party of gunners composing the Eichelberger camp, located along the Bendersville road near Pine Grove. The specimen will weigh approximately 200 pounds. The sons of Silas Danner, of near Barnitz, also shot a large buck. A deer was killed by Josef Harlacher, a student at the State Forestry Academy at Mont Alto, who was hunting alone and shot a hundred pound spike back along the pipe line at the rear of the White Pine sanitarium hospital near Gettysburg.

"Kid" Stricker Is Married

Chambersburg, Nov. 11.—"Kid" Stricker, the hero of the Maroon baseball club of 1914, and Miss Esther Kyle, of town, were quietly married on Monday in Hagerstown and are now visiting at Scotland. Friends of Stricker and Miss Kyle are circulating this marriage announcement: "Consolidated," November 9, 1914, Stricker and Kyle, at Hagerstown, Md. "Dearie" only weighs 195 so you can't mistake her. She is dressed in blue and has feather on her hat, too. I'm dressed in blue, too, except my coat which you see is red to suit my head. We're going to Scotland.

Married? Yes! These are the happy days. "Kid," the Groom.

Mrs. Ege Dead at 88

Carlisle, Nov. 11.—After an illness extending over a period of five weeks, Mrs. Emma K. Ege, widow of the late Michael M. Ege, died at 1 o'clock yesterday morning at her home at Metzgar hall. Death was due to a complication of diseases. She was 88 years old.
