LOCALS.

Court Week.—Court commences on Monday the 18th inst., i. e. next week. Our delinquent subscribers are reminded that we still live in Tunkhannock, the county seat, and would be happy to receive a call from them—if nothing more. Call in, gentlemen, and see us; we're growing better looking every day.

Another Company to be Raised.—Mr. I S. Little hopes to save Wyoming from a draft by raising another volunteer company. It is said that a draft will be resorted to without regard to the numbers already sent from this county. Mr. Little, however, has gone to Harrisburg to inquire into the matter, and if successful in affecting an arrangement to save drafting, will immediately return and resume the enlistments, which have been so auspiciously commenced by him, for another full company. Mr. Little is one of our most accomplished, energetic, and thorough business men. A captain in whatever he undertakes, and we doubt not would be entirely successful in raising our full quota by volunteering.

☞ That the American people are appreciative of any substantial service rendered them, is seen in the result of Dr. Ayer's enterprise. It was something of a venture for a chemist of his splendid reputation among the literati of the world, to risk it in the production of Cough Drops and Pills. But he boldly threw himself into the gap where his talents could best subserve the public weal, and it is now easy to see that he did not misjudge the temper of his countrymen. Throughout this nation and some foreign lands, his name is foremost at the bedside of sickness—while in the good he scatters, he is second to no living man. He wins the brightest laurels man can wear, and enjoys in untold measure the luxury of doing good.—Observer. Debuque, Iowa.

Hardware for the Million.—During a short visit to Scranton last week, we called upon Hunt, Brothers & Blair, the proprietors of the largest and most extensive Hardware establishment in the country. We were shown through the establishment from cellar to garret by the gentlemanly proprietors, and found everything, in their line, that we had ever seen, and many things that we had never seen nor heard of. To attempt anything like even a general enumeration, by us, would be entirely futile—suffice to say, that the Carpenter, the Blacksmith, the Shoemaker, and Harness-maker can find all their tools there. The Wagon-maker, everything that pertains to a wagon, from the felloes, spokes, and hubs, to the tassels, tacks, and trimmings. The House-builder will find his paints, oils, window-sash and glass, door-knobs and bells, sash locks, grates, furnaces, mantles, &c. The Mill-wright will find his belting-rivets, bolts, &c. Indeed we can think of nothing in the line of a large Hardware Store, that cannot be found with or obtained from Hunt, Brothers & Blair, of Scranton, Pa.

STARK—At the Regimental Hospital of the 57th Regiment, P. V., near Harrison's Landing, Va., on Sunday, Aug 3d, BENTLY STARK, son of Seth B. Stark, of Niven, Susquehanna County. Aged about 20 years.

Bently enlisted to serve his Country early in the fall of 1861, joining the Company known as the "Wyoming Rifles," Capt. P. Sides, and with them left for the seat of war. Soon after reaching Camp Curtin, he succeeded by his upright deportment, in gaining not only the esteem, but the entire confidence of his company; the officers soon noticing in him the true mark of a soldier gave him at once the office of Corporal, the first step to promotion. To say that he ever performed his duty as a soldier, honorably, faithfully, and bravely, is saying nothing more than is justly his due. His health continued good up to the battle of Fair Oaks, May 31, but the morning after the battle unmistakeable signs of disease were plainly visible, his countenance being very pale and haggard, yet a few days' rest partially restored him to health. As soon as his strength would permit, he again shouldered his musket and entered the ranks of his company—continuing to perform the most dangerous and arduious duties up to Monday's fight, near White Oak Swamp. But the hardships of the seven days' battles were more than his already slender frame could bear. He barely succeeded, by great efforts, in reaching Harrison's Landing, where he entered the hospital—remaining a few days until he had gained sufficient strength to again join his regiment, where he remained up to his death. During the last few days he had been sinking gradually and peacefully away. On the morning of his death he was visited by several members of his company; but that sleepy-like stupor had taken possession of his faculties, from which nothing could arouse him. Thus he passed away, merely sinking into a quiet, peaceful sleep, never again to be awakened by the sound of the war bugle, or call to arms.

The relatives of the deceased have the sympathy of the entire company—all feeling that we have lost a kind and obliging friend, and a true and noble brother in arms.

L. W. AVERY.

BLACKMAR—Of Consumption, at Meshoppen, Wyoming County, Pa., July 3d, 1862, JOHN A. BLACKMAR, in the 33d year of his age.

Mr. Blackmar was esteemed, by all who knew him, as an honest and upright man—a worthy and highly respected citizen, whose loss will be severely felt in our community. He was not unmindful of his approaching dissolution, though his disease, Consumption, perhaps the most deceptive of all that afflict our race—made slow, but sure progress. He saw that he must soon pass through the dark vally and shadow of death, and felt that he needed a Savior. He sought and obtained a hope of eternal life, and died, leaving evidence that all was well. A wife and three children are left to mourn his loss. May their loss be his eternal gain Communicated.

MARRIAGE.—ITS LOVES AND hates, sorrows and angers, hopes and fears, regrets and joys; MANHOOD, how lost, how restored; the nature, treatment and radical cure of spermatorrhœa or seminal Weakness; involuntary emissions, sexual debility and impediments to marriage generally; nervousness, consumption, fits, mental and physical incapacity, resulting from SELF-ABUSE—are fully explained in the MARRIAGE GUIDE, by WM. YOUNG, M. D.—This most extraordinary book should be in the hands of every young person contemplating marriage, and every man or woman who desires to limit the number of their offspring to their circumstances Every pain, disease and ache incidental to youth, maturity and old age, is fully explained; every particle of knowledge that should be known is here given. It is full of engraving. In fact, it discloses secrets that every one should know; still it is a book that must be locked up, and not lie about the house. It will be sent to any one on the receipt of twenty-five cents in specie or postage stamps. Address DR WM. YOUNG, No. 416 SPRUCE Street above Fourth, Philadelphia.

☞ AFFLICTED AND UNFORTUNATE, no matter what may be your disease, before you place yourself under the care of any of the notorious Quacks—native or foreign—who advertise in this or any other paper, get a copy of Dr. Young's book, and read it carefully. It will be the means of saving you many a dollar, your health, and possibly your life.

DR. YOUNG can be consulted on any of the diseases described in his publication, at his office, No. 416 SPRUCE Street, above Fourth, Philadelphia.

Office hours from 9 to 3, daily. v1n30ly
